An extra man was added because of a tie in the voting for the centre position. Sarnia's Don Mattingley and Jack O'Toole of London tied for the berth. The votes were weighted to give equal balloting strength to each of the four ORFU cities.

UNANIMOUS CHOICES

Two of the Dutchmen were unanimous choices, Quarterback Bob Celeri was the first choice of all selectors as he won his third straight all-star berth. Halfback Billy Graham, one of the three native Canadians to make the team, was also picked by all voters.

Graham, playing his second year with Kitchener - Waterloo, shattered the Canadian scoring record by piling up 157 points in 11 games. The 30-year-old native of Hamilton had 19 touchdowns, three field goals, 22 converts and two singles during the regular season.

There were three repeaters from last year's team — Celeri, guard Larry Cardonick of Sarnia and Mattingley.

The team:

Flying Wing — Dick Dixon, Sarnia

Half—Billy Graham, Kitchener
Half—George Elliott, London
Half—Bernie Custiss, Toronto
Quarter—Bob Celeri, Kitchener
Centre—Don Mattingley, Sarnia, and Jack O'Toole, London (tie)
Guard — Larry Cardonick, Sarnia

Guard—Tom Mooney, Kitchener
Tackle—Don Sharpe, London
Tackle — Roger Bisiel, Kitchener

End—Ed De'Armon, London
End—Harry Babcock, Toronto
Flying Wing — Elliott, Currie, Celeri, O'Toole, Cardonick, Mooney, Selmon, Elliott, Currie, Celeri, O'Toole, Cardonick, Mooney, Selmon, De'Armon and Babcock are United States imports. Each team was allowed a maximum of five imports on their rosters.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

As early-season struggle between Guelph Biltmores and Toronto Marlboros for first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series seems to be moving nowhere fast. ●

Both teams won their games Tuesday night. Biltmores rode to a 4-0 win over Barrie Flyers at Guelph while Marlboros stopped Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 1-0.

The loss left Barrie in seventh place in the eight-team league with only a single point. St. Michael's is in a second-place tie with Hamilton Cubs.

Danny Bellale paced Guelph with two goals, bringing his total to six. Gord Brown and Bob Robertson scored the other Guelph goals. Goaltender Bruce Gamble blanked the Barrie shots to rack up his first shutout.

Marlboro centre Henry Marczak scored the only goal of the Toronto game at 10:18 of the second period to keep Marlies in the struggle for top position. The puck was shot across the goalmouth by a collegian defender and Marczak tipped it into the corner of the net.

At Guelph, Biltmores used Ed Shack on defence for the first time and the converted winger turned in a hard-hitting effort.

Jack Kinsella drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty over a disputed goal that was nullified by referee Hugh McLean in the second period.

At Toronto, Marlboros Len Broderick, in recording his first shutout, stopped 23 shots. Goalkeeper Bob Savage of St. Michael's kicked out 33 drives, 16 in the first period.

A'S SIGN FIELDER

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Athletics announced Tuesday that outfielder Harry Simpson, the club's leading hitter, has become the first player to sign his 1957 contract. Simpson, who signed Monday, batted .322, hit 21 home runs and led the A's in runs batted in with 105.

WESTERN FINAL

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Huskies and Winnipeg Rods will meet at Winnipeg Saturday in the sudden-death game for the Western Interprovincial Football Union Junior committee announced Tuesday.

Eskimos Coach Can't Compare This Year's Team With Others

"It's just impossible to compare two clubs like that," said Ivy. "All the circumstances are different and I never try to make such a comparison."

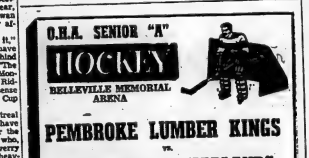
The circumstances, of course, change every year as clubs switch personnel and strategy and today, as Eskimos prepare for the first game of their fourth straight Western Interprovincial Football Union final Ivy is facing a new assignment.

In his first two stints in the years with Eskimos, the former Oklahoma University assistant sent his charges against Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the best-of-three WIFU final. This year, Eskimos meet Calgary Stampeders Roughriders, starting Saturday afternoon at Regina.

"There's one thing about it," said Ivy, noting that Riders have an excellent passing attack behind quarter Frank Tripucka, "The Riders are very similar to Montreal. If we can't beat the Riders' style, then there's no sense in us going to the Grey Cup game."

The coach referred to Montreal Alouettes, whom Eskimos have beaten the last two years for the Canadian championship, and who, with pass expert Sam Etcheverry leading the way again, are heavily favored to take the eastern title for a third straight year.

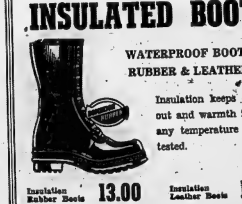
Eskimos have only eight changes from last year's Grey Cup lineup, which stopped Montreal 34-19.



Ivy's championship backfield, with exception of Canadian Ray Willsey, is intact: Americans Noble Miles, Johnny Bright, Earl Lindley and Jackie Parker and Canadians Normie Kwong, Don Getty, Don Simon, Oscar Kruger, Con Kelly and Bob Kimoff. Willsey is coaching in the U.S.

In addition, Ivy has fullback Gino Fracas, out last year and most of this with injury, and rookies Jim Shipka, Leigh McMillan and John Woyat among his Canadians.

His replacement problem this season was along the line where he lost imports Bob Heydenfeldt, Dale Meinert and tackle Don Glantz to the U.S. service and Burt Burris to a year of inactivity because of injury.



Hugo Andrews and Bob Dean were dropped.

Ivy recruited the following to fill the gaps: centre Johnny Tatum, from Texas University; tackles Reed Henderson from Utah and Roger Nelson from Oklahoma and Bill Rowekamp from West Point and Missouri. A rule change now allows a team 12 Americans in the final.

Two Nations Withdraw From Olympic Games

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) Spain and The Netherlands withdrew from the Olympic Games Tuesday as a protest against Russia's suppression of Hungary. Holland voted instead to donate 100,000 guilders ($25,000) to Hungarian relief.

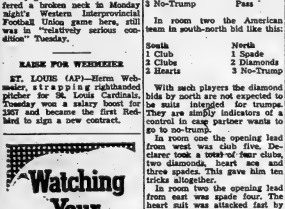
They were the first countries to withdraw from the Games because of the Russian-Hungarian situation, although Iraq dropped out last week when Israel invaded Egypt. The Egyptians withdrew several weeks ago, saying they had little chance to win medals and Red China dropped out Tuesday protesting Chinese Nationalist participation.

Norway and Sweden are reported contemplating withdrawal because of the Russian onslaught in Hungary and have called for reduced participation to a token entry of three.

Seventy-four countries originally accepted invitations to the Games, scheduled to start Nov. 22.

In Madrid, a Spanish Sports Federation official said it is not fitting for Spanish athletes to engage in sports events of Olympic character "while the liberty of peoples is being trampled on."

Ironically, the Hungarian team left Prague Tuesday in a chartered plane for the Australian vance parties of the huge Russian team already are in Melbourne. The Hungarian party was permitted to leave its homeland last week and spent the time since then training in Czechoslovakia.



SPORT IN BRIEF

SERIOUS INJURY

RARE FOR WEEMEIER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Herm Wehmeier, a strapping right-handed pitcher for the Louis Cardinals, Tuesday won a salary bout for 1957 and became the first Redbird to sign a new contract.

Five Nations Have Withdrawn From Olympics in Protest

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

In the world championship match, each pair on each team had its own oddities in bidding. The peculiarities of one player, however, did not fit with those of each of the other players.

The Swedish team pair of Amulf-Lilliholm consider all suits biddable with any four cards even 5, 4, 3, 2. The lowest forcing bid possible may be in a suit containing less than four cards.

From the match here is deal number ten:

NORTH
♥Q 9 3
♦K J 6
♣Q 7

WEST
♠K
♦A 9 8 3 2
♣J 10 6 5 4

EAST
♠9 10 7 6 4 2
♥K J 8 7
♦7 5 4
♣A 7

SOUTH
♥A 10 4 2
♦Q 10
♣A K 9 8 3

This pair sat south and north in room one with this bidding:

South	North
1 Heart	1 Spade
2 Clubs	3 Diamonds
3 No-Trump	Pass

In room two the American team in south-north bid like this:

South	North
1 Club	1 Spade
2 Clubs	2 Diamonds
2 Hearts	3 No-Trump

With such players the diamond bids by north are not expected to be suits intended for trumps. They are simply indications of control in case partner wants to go to no-trump.

In room one the opening lead from west was club five. Declarer took a total of four clubs, two diamonds, heart ace and three spades. This gave him ten tricks altogether.

In room two the opening lead from east was spade four. The heart suit was attacked fast by declarer and he took 11 tricks with two of his diamonds, two hearts, four clubs, three spades.

Not all good players see the same plan of taking tricks with the same cards. They might if they had it to do over again.

LONDON (AP) — Five teams have withdrawn from the Olympic Games and one other is debating pulling out as time for the world's biggest sports spectacle approaches in Australia under the black cloud of increasing international tension.

Latest to quit the Olympic Games are Communist China, Holland and Spain.

Peiping Radio said today China refused to send a team "because the International Olympic Committee persists in recognizing the Olympic committees of two cliques and allows Chiang Kai-shek's gangs to send a team to the Olympics."

Egypt withdrew its team Aug. 12. Iraq pulled out Nov. 3 because of the grave Middle Eastern situation.

SWISS UNDER PRESSURE

Switzerland is under pressure to return from groups protesting against the Russian suppression of the Hungarian freedom movement.

Several prominent members of the Swiss Olympic Committee have expressed the belief that Swiss athletes should not compete against Russians.

Holland withdrew the advice of the Dutch Sports Federation which is a member of the Olympic Committee to withdraw unless the Soviet Union is barred from the Games. Soviet troops moved into Budapest Nov. 22.

From many countries came news of uncertainty about Olympic Games participation.

DANES CONCERNED

Hungary nearly stopped Denmark from competing. Finally, after considering protests against Danes competing with the Russians, the Danish Olympic Committee decided to send 32 athletes and leave the decision whether to compete to five Olympic officials. They will decide after arrival in Melbourne.

Norway also agreed to send a team but committee members will decide whether to compete after assessing the international situation.

Britain and France have decided to continue with their Olympic plans despite the Middle East flareup. The second batch of British Olympic squad left London airport today.

Golden Gaels Ready for Varsity Blues

KINGSTON (CP) — Queen's Golden Gaels will be virtually at full strength here Saturday when they meet University of Toronto Blues in a key game of the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union.

Only absentee, says coach Frank Tindall, will be backfielder Dave Hawshaw, who was sold in the first four games of the season while Halfback Bill Surphlis was on the sidelines.

No replacement was announced for Hawshaw but it is expected Chuck Sarkanen, injured slightly against McGill Redmen two weeks ago, will be fully recovered.

Gaels need a win or a tie to force a playoff against Blues for the Intercollegiate crown. Blues are in first spot, Queen's second.

FINAL GAME

If will be all or nothing for Gaels Saturday in the final engagement of the schedule.

Referees will call the first three games with a broken collarbone, received in an exhibition game.

The last tickets to go on sale were 200 bleacher seats in the end zones with only standing room left, it is expected that the record attendance of 11,000 will be approached.

Tindall has had difficulty firing up his defensive champions throughout the season but with the crown resting in the balance, a squad at near full strength and the home grounds in their favor, Gaels have a good chance to make it two championships in a row.

SLUGGER ENGAGED

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The engagement of first baseman Joe Adcock of Milwaukee Braves to Joan James, a doctor's secretary he met last year when his forearm was fractured by a pitched ball, was announced Tuesday by the prospective bride's father.

END HORSE SHOW

NEW YORK (AP)—A faultless ride by Mexico's Brig.-Gen. Humberto Mariles, last of 15 competitors, clinched the Perpetual Challenge Trophy for the Mexican team in the National Horse Show ended Tuesday night.

VOTE DOWN UNDER

MELBOURNE (AP) — Two Americans in Australia voted Tuesday in the U.S. presidential election. They were U.S. Olympic rowing technician George O. Pocock and his wife, of Seattle, who mailed their ballot papers at the Olympic Village.

Exchange Halts Company Trading In Common Shares

TORONTO (CP)—The common shares of Chatco Steel Products Ltd., which soared by more than $18 from a low of $3.30 this year, have been suspended from the Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges for what officials say, is the protection of American investors.

He said an investigation conducted by the TSE revealed a "high-pressure stock-selling campaign" operated from New York City and carried on over long distance telephone to United States investors and that recently the stock was sold in at least 32 states.

"The board of governors will not permit the facilities of the stock exchange to be used in stock selling campaigns of this nature," Mr. Trebilcock said.

STATED IN U.S.

"The entire campaign originated in the United States and all recent sales were made to residents of the United States and not to Canadians. The suspension was made to protect the interests of American investors."

Chatco common shares closed at 16½ on the Toronto Stock Exchange Monday, their last day before the suspension.

Senator Salter A. Hayden, vice-president of the company, said the suspension has no relation to the company.

"I can see no reason for any shareholder to be upset. The stock is still trading well on the unlisted market and the price is holding up."

On the unlisted market Tuesday the stock opened at 16, rose to 16 and closed at 15½ to 16. The 816 range was typical of capitalization of 600,000 common shares, while the $3.30 low was when common shares numbered only 60,000.

INCREASED STOCK

The common stock was increased to 600,000 from 60,000 shares June 5, at which time the old stock was trading around $6 a share. Since then the stock began its climb despite an annual report disclosure Sept. 7 that the company suffered a consolidated net loss for the year ended March 31 of nearly $40,000 compared to a net profit of more than $19,000 the year before.

The company manufactures sheet metal products and metal stampings, heating, air conditioning and refrigerating equipment, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, truck bodies and farm equipment.

H. S. Shannon, president of Chatco, said the company's interest was in its operation and not the market action of its shares.

He said, however, that there are rumors circulated that short sellers have been at work in the market in an unsuccessful effort to depress the stock's price.

The company is making satisfactory progress in a previously announced decision to transfer from contract steel fabricating to the production and sale of Chatco trade mark products, he said.

CONSOLIDATED PLANS

Consolidation of its operations in plants at Tilbury, Ont., and sale of plants at Chatham, Ont., and Lindsay, Ont., were recently announced.

Mr. Shannon said $ sale of a block of common stock last spring, to increase working capital by $450,000, had brought in a new controlling interest which has subsequently assured the company of further substantial sums of money if needed for expanding operations.

When the capital increase was approved four new directors were appointed to the board. They are: Robert Leonhard, New York, chairman; William Blair, New York;Garland L. Culpepper, New York; and Louis Levin, Montreal.

The other directors are Mr. Shannon, Senator Hayden and A. G. House, all of Toronto.

The Toronto Stock Exchange investigation shows there now are 160,000 shares outstanding of the authorized 600,000.

Y Basketball

Captained by Stu Muirhead the 'Y' Clowns won over the Little Hound Dogs 22 to 10 in their second game of the Belleville YMCA Junior Basketball Hound League Saturday afternoon. The 'Y' Clowns led the scoring all the way to the third quarter when John Peoples, captain of the Little Hound Dogs, started scoring, but the lead was too great and the 'Y' Clowns came out on top. Top scorers were S. Muirhead 12, B. McMartin, 10, J. Peoples 8.

Playing their first game of the season the Hillbilly Boys, coached by Robbie Blaker, came up with a decisive win over the Nightriders with the final score, Hillbillys 38, Nightriders 13. Very few fouls were handed out and a better brand of ball is being played by the youngsters each week. High scorers of the game were R. Blaker with 18, D. Skinner 11, B. Avery 8.

Teams: 'Y' Clowns 38 — Capt. S. Muirhead 12, B. McMartin 10, R. Turner, G. Kinkaid, G. Rainbird, R. Green, M. Angus and D. Shorti.

Dodgers Can Move If They So Desire

GIFU, Japan (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers have learned how to evacuate a training camp in one minute—through the windows.

The team—30 strong including officials—rolled into Gifu Tuesday aboard the "Tsubame" (swallow), Japan's finest express train which doesn't change its schedule for anyone.

The Dodgers threw open the coach windows, grabbed their heavy duffel bags and bailed out when the train stopped. In a cloud of baggage, the coach was emptied in less than one minute.

The Dodgers were greeted by rain and the game was cancelled.

Quebec League

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, Nov. 8, 1956

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Gentlemfolk and geniality can further your progress where too much assurance or overaggressiveness will not. Put Aries' finer nature to work and see how fast and pleasantly good results are achieved.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your inborn common sense and natural industry can put you in the lead today. Don't permit irritability to get the better of you. Business, trades, research, study, everyday matters favored.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This day's influences are neither stimulating nor, too restrictive. So much is up to you and the way you use things. Your disposition will count, too. Home, domestic affairs, finance favorable. Care in confidential matters.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't let trifles conflict with essentials. Personal affairs, business, occupational matters can bring happiness and achievement. It's up to you, your management and attitude.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You may have to study details carefully now. It will pay if you do not grumble. Be determined, sincere, and don't fail to heed sound advice and profit by the experience of others.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — This can be a smooth, profitable day if you are your usual affable, willing self. Cooks, nurses, grocers, clerks among those benefited. Work harder; it will pay.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You can "cash in" on friendly influences (Moon and Jupiter), but you will have to be alert, keen in judgment and willing to work hard — and cheerfully.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Today's accomplishments will depend largely on how you accept responsibilities, now and later. Good humor always an asset. Give all matters the attention they deserve.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — There are fresh opportunities, honest ways to make money or increase assets. Reflect long enough to get the right start, then pause occasionally to determine how you are doing.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Don't think today will be difficult. Start with the thought that you can make a fine showing in whatever your schedule. Be progressive; don't strain, do smile.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Heavy program? Forget it! Push trouble aside, sing and whistle toward bigger achievements. Take advantage of everyday opportunities that are always around if we look for them.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You can attain greatly by staying close to essentials. This is a good time to make money (honestly, of course) and increase chances for advancement.

You born today have a vivid, magnetic personality and strong characteristics. If well trained, you are roundly capable and can rise above handicaps, poor beginnings. Some of our most successful jurists, business executives, journalists and industrial giants are Scorpio-born. But they learned how to control their emotions, to curb dominating tendencies and to realize that they are not infallible.

Marmora

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

MARMORA. — Overflow congregations attended St. Andrew's United Church anniversary services in Marmora, on Sunday.

The Rev. F. E. Madden, resident minister, conducted both services. The morning discourse was on "The Credentials of a Christian."

The choir under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Fraser, rendered the anthems "My God and Father While I Sing", and Mr. Earl Kappes of Deloro, enhanced the devotions by his solo "I Come to Thee."

At the evening service, two young people were taken into full membership of the church, and the junior choir sang in harmony "The Lord is My Shepherd." The sermon was "Christ Between the Thieves."

Mrs. Gideon Warren spent the weekend in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan McGarvey of Toronto, visited their son, Ronald McGarvey, Mrs. McGarvey and new twin granddaughters over the weekend.

Mrs. R. Vanbinder has returned to Marmora after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. R. Wright and Mr. Wright at Belleville.

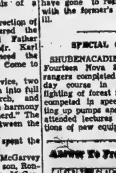
Lac. Harold O'Neill of Falconbridge, is spending a week at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lavender and children of Scarboro, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Lavender over the weekend.

Mrs. Fred Burks of Toronto, returned home to Toronto after spending a week here.

Mrs. M. Newton and Darlene of Bonarlaw are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. R. McGarvey.

Dr. Hilary Wilkinson of Toronto, treasurer of the Ontario Temperance Federation, attended the Temperance conclave in Belleville on Saturday night and spent the weekend with his nephew, the Rev. and Mrs. Madden and Mrs. Madden Sr., in Marmora.



A number of young people from here attended the temperance meeting in Belleville, on Saturday night.

Mrs. James Nobes and son, Garry, have gone to reside in Kingston with the former's mother, who is ill.

SPECIAL COURSE

SHUBENACADIE, N. S. (CP)—Fourteen Nova Scotia forest rangers completed the latest four-day course in prevention and fighting of forest fires here. They competed in speed tests of setting up pumps and hose lines and attended lectures and demonstrations of new equipment.

That's when the liver needs good gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay mad. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand.

Israel Premier Determined to Hold Area Seized

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Premier David Ben-Gurion declared today that Israel is determined to hold the territories seized from Egypt in the recent invasion across the Sinai Peninsula.

He added: "We will not allow any foreign force, whatever it be called, to enter territories occupied by Israeli defence forces."

Speaking in the Israeli parliament, he said Israel is determined to hold the 2,000 square miles of territory occupied by Israeli forces during the operations which ended two days ago—an area almost three times the area of Israel a week ago.

In a hushed House, Ben-Gurion opened his speech: "Two days ago opened the glorious campaign of Gaza and Sinai."

NOT EGYPTIAN

Israel had not attacked the territory of Egypt and had no intention to do so, he said, implying that in his view there was no considered Egyptian territory.

In an apparent reference to Britain's demands that Israel withdraw to the original armistice line he said: "Since the armistice agreements are dead so also are the armistice lines."

Israeli forces meanwhile were standing by in the Sinai Peninsula which they won from Egypt in a week of fighting at—a cost, they claimed, of only 231 dead.

Israeli casualties listed Tuesday night also included 700 wounded and 1,000 taken as prisoners.

TROOPS BITTER

Observers believe Israel will do its utmost to hold the peninsula at least for "bargaining purposes" at any future peace talks, with Egypt.

Alex Valentine, Reuters correspondent, reported Tuesday night that Israeli troops to whom he talked during a tour of advance positions spoke bitterly of the British insistance that the Israelis should leave Sinai.

Montreal Area Councillors Face Goon' Threats

MONTREAL (CP)—A renewal of "goon") threats and violence has been reported in two Montreal suburbs, it was learned today.

Alderman Roger Valade of Ville Jacques Cartier, in an emotional speech, resigned from town council Tuesday night, declaring: "I am forced to choose between my duty as the head of my bagpe and as an alderman. I choose the former. I resign."

Mr. Valade, 45-year-old federal government employee, said bricks were thrown through the windows of his home, causing severe shock to his wife and daughter, who is pregnant and in danger of losing her child.

Aldermen said they believe the attack was ordered by a man with a criminal record who hopes to run next June for mayor of the south shore municipality. Threats have been made against several other aldermen.

Meanwhile, similar threats were made in Laval West, where three politically-prominent families were promised violence unless certain aldermen resign from town council.

Mayor Edouard Cyr confirmed the threats, but insisted the "situation is well in hand" and arrests are due shortly. He said hoodlums —making threats over the telephone—are members of a faction which failed last month to have town council withdraw charges of substantially higher than it was 10 years ago.

Cease-Fire Not Quite Complete In Port Said

PORT SAID (Reuters) — The cease-fire was not quite complete this morning when the sun broke through the smoke haze which still drifts to the east across the canal and Port Said.

The occasional shot told of well-concealed snipers who might not have heard of the official cease-fire since midnight.

No British or French soldiers—and there are thousands of them—were now in the canal zone—have fired except in self-defence. High points in the town are still occupied by watchful commandos and tanks were in the streets.

SOLDIERS IDENTIFIED

Tuesday night the glow of fires lit the sky well out to sea, but with daylight damage was much less than one expected. Black smoke still billowed from a big oil fire on the banks of the canal.

The sudden cease-fire has left British servicemen a little mystified.

"It is a political move," they say, and wait to hear how and why it was made.

The Royal Navy has moved into Port Said harbor.

SEES HIGHER GAS

TORONTO (CP) —The oil industry is fast reaching the point where higher gasoline quality will have to be reflected in higher prices, W. O. Twaits, executive vice-president of Imperial Oil Ltd. said Tuesday night. He told a meeting of the Junior Investment Dealers' Association of Canada the cost of building a refinery is

Despite Israel's Defiance UN Proceeds With Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations pushed ahead today with its plans for formation of a Middle East police force despite Israel defiance and British-French refusal to withdraw from the Suez Canal Zone until the UN troops are on the spot.

The General Assembly, after an all-day debate, Wednesday night approved Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's plan for the emergency force to police the cease-fire in Egypt and supervise withdrawal of foreign troops.

The assembly resolution asked the new UN command, headed by Canadian Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, "to proceed forthwith with the full organization" of the force.

The assembly also adopted a resolution calling on Britain and France "immediately to withdraw their forces from Egyptian territory" and to refrain from "any future hostile action in Egypt."

Early this week, it is said, the Canadian prime minister sent Gordon Graydon, Conservative party leader, to Canada's uneasiness over aspects of the Anglo-French intervention in Egypt.

The message was said to have been in reply to one from Eden thanking the Canadian government for the efforts at mediation made in the United Nations General Assembly by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

The reply said in effect that if Eden persisted in his present policies, there wouldn't be much left that Pearson could do to help things.

COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS

The reported Ottawa-communication is mentioned today in The News Chronicle, a Liberal newspaper. Parliament in Ottawa. Labor member of Parliament, says in a feature article that the Commonwealth is the most blistering personal telegram" that has ever passed between two Commonwealth countries.

"It played a large part in forcing the British prime minister to climb down," writes Gordon Walker.

The reference to the telegram is a passing one in the article mainly devoted to the strains on the Commonwealth caused by recent events. No further details are given.

FEAR FOR CONFERENCE

Privately, Labor MPs told a reporter that one of the parliamentary Labor party's greatest fears at present in the present situation is that the Commonwealth may fall apart.

Great significance is attached in these quarters to the statement by Indian Premier Bulgopalachari that India should leave the Commonwealth in protest over the Anglo-French intervention.

Rajgopalachari is a respected Indian statesman who has been friendly to the West.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent today said he had never had anything but "friendly" communications with Eden.

Rumors that Eden said to be circulating in London are quite ridiculous," the prime minister said in a statement. "I have never had anything but friendly, though frank, communications with Sir Anthony Eden.

LONDON (Reuters) — Eight thousand dock workers are temporarily employed in British ports today, chiefly because of shipping delays and the diversion from the Suez Canal.

Prime Minister Denies Report He Rebuked Eden

LONDON (CP) — A report circulated today in parliamentary circles that Prime Minister St. Laurent has sharply rebuked Prime Minister Eden over British action in the Middle East.

Early this week, it is said, the Canadian prime minister sent Gordon Graydon, Conservative party leader, to Canada's uneasiness over aspects of the Anglo-French intervention in Egypt.

The message was said to have been in reply to one from Eden thanking the Canadian government for the efforts at mediation made in the United Nations General Assembly by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Sharks Awful Says Carolina Angler Who Survived 12 Days in Open Boat

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — "Those sharks were awful. They came in droves, bumped their heads against the boat, kept whipping about in the water. When a buddy died I laid down in the bottom of the boat. I didn't want the sharks to see me."

Through cracked lips, 20-year-old Douglas Boone of Laurel Bay, N.C., thus described his 12 days at sea in a 14-foot homemade boat.

"I don't remember exactly," said the young tree surgeon who landed here early today by a coast guard boat, "just when it all started. Eddie (Eddie Bond) and I believe it was on the third day."

Douglas said the 34-year-old Boone had set out Oct. 27 on a short fishing excursion. Rough seas washed out their outboard to a coast guard boat.

motor and a receding tide pulled them to sea.

"The first day Boone was awfully nauseated," Sessoms, described with skin covered with blisters. "The next day he began showing signs of delirium. He was out of his head from then on. I think that's the day he died. I slept with my head on his body that night. I'm sure the odor got too strong I buried him at sea.

"The next day I couldn't think about anything but food and land and (drinking) water." He said he caught sufficient rainwater in the motor cover to fill his drinking needs. He was without food nine days.

The freighter, Hess Petrel picked him up 125 miles east of the South Carolina-Georgia border. The Petrel transferred him here, washed out their outboard to a coast guard boat.

DEMOCRATS SURE OF MAJORITY IN HOUSE, SENATE

Eisenhower Wins by Over 9,000,000 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower faces the prospect of an increasingly unfriendly Congress in the aftermath of his sweeping re-election victory.

Although Eisenhower defeated Adlai E. Stevenson by more than 9,000,000 votes to win a second term, the president's Republican party took a political defeat when Democrats won margins in both houses of Congress.

Neither is there concrete evidence to support the Eisenhower-er's contention that "modern Republicanism" is the nation's future policy. On the contrary, the personal popularity which gave him 41 states and 457 electoral votes did not sift down to the general run of Republican candidates.

Increased antagonism by the new Congress — above that displayed by the administration's caustic one—to some of Eisenhower's proposals is held to have played a toll primarily on domestic issues.

COALITIONS NEEDED

The narrowness of party margins in both Senate and House of Representatives also is held to mean that on most issues final decisions will be made by bi-partisan coalitions rather than on strict party lines.

Eisenhower's own victory surpassed his 1952 triumph over Stevenson in both popular and electoral votes. With some 10,000 precincts not yet tallied, the popular vote today was 35,611,512 for Eisenhower to 24,651,172 for Stevenson.

A still-undecided Kentucky senatorial race seemed likely to decide the fairness of the present control over that body.

A Republican victory would make the Senate count 49 Democrats, 47 Republicans, the same bare majority Democrats now hold.

In the House, the Democrats elected 229 members — 11 more than the necessary majority — in the Republican defeat. They were leading today in all six undecided races. The present division is 222 to 203.

Mine Disaster Death Toll 38

HALIFAX (CP)—The death toll of last week's Springhill, N. S., coal mine disaster rose to 38 Wednesday when William Jones, a surface worker injured in the explosion that resulted in 18 men being trapped, died in hospital here.

Jones was flown here by helicopter after he was carried from the burning rubble around the pit head of No. 4 Cumberland Colliery. A total of 27 miners died during the explosion, during rescue operations or while trapped in the gas-filled mine.

Twenty-four miners are still below the mine which has been sealed to prevent another explosion.

CONVICT MORE DRUNKS

LONDON (Reuters) — More drunks were convicted in England and Wales last year than in any year since 1938, the government said today. In 1955, there were 54,118 in 1938, the figure declined steadily to 30,554 in 1946 and then made a sharp jump reaching 54,210 in 1955.

Paris Mob Sacks and Burns Headquarters of Communists

PARIS (CP)—Armed riot police in convoys of 20 trucks converged on the centre of Paris today as the population swatted sharp reaction from French Communists following the sacking and burning of their party headquarters Wednesday night.

The attack—coupled with shouts from the crowd for the hanging of Maurice Thorez, the French Communist chief—was part of a series of demonstrations and street fights set in many parts of the city in protest against the Soviet Russian suppression of the Hungarian nationalist revolt.

The fire in Paris followed the burning of the Soviet Embassy in Luxembourg by some 2,000 students Tuesday night.

In Sweden, youthful demonstrators threw stones and smashed in Stockholm when police forcibly prevented them from marching on the Russian Embassy.

Prime Minister Tage Erlander later said "it would be unfortunate if that the government will go ahead with plans for a proposed visit to Sweden by Soviet leaders next January.

Italian students, demonstrating in Rome for the third day, hooted at Soviet messages to the president, the prime minister and the foreign minister.

The Italian left-wing Socialist party broke clearly with the Communists Wednesday for the first time in eight years when its leader, Pietro Nenni, denounced their vigor "Soviet repression" in Hungary.

Vatican Radio, commenting on the Hungarian situation, said "the Communist system condemns itself" "unmasked the true face of so-called Soviet pacifism."

Canberra, Australia Wednesday night decided to send food ordered by the Russian Embassy in Delhi for its "October Revolution" cocktail party to Hungarians suffering from starvation instead. All Western ambassadors turned down invitations to the party.

In Ottawa, Canadian and Western diplomats say the Russian Embassy's party held Wednesday night to celebrate the 39th anniversary of the 1917 revolution that overthrew the czar and set up the world's first Communist government.

The ground floor of the Soviet consulate in Montreal Wednesday was wrecked Wednesday night by a crowd of about 200, who brushed aside a lone policeman to storm the premises.

Goodfellow Tells Federation To Stengthen Organization

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian farmers must strengthen their organization if they are to reap a fair share of the national economy says Hon. William Goodfellow, Ontario minister of agriculture.

He told the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Wednesday that farmers must adopt a better system of public relations if they are to impress upon the urban population agriculture's importance to the whole economy.

"Farmers have fallen down in their responsibility to the non-farm solid city people on what agriculture means to them and the nation's economy," he said.

One of the main aspects of improving agriculture's position, he said, should be to interest young people in farming and in organization, through such organizations as the Junior Farmers Association and Future Farmers.

Another move suggested to strengthen the Ontario farmer's position was a union between the OFA and the Ontario Farmers' Union.

Earlier, Dr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, told delegates that government price supports on farm products are only one part of a policy aimed to bring farm income to a par with other industries.

He warned against too-high supports for farm products, saying that fixed guarantees could lead to overproduction and surpluses harmful to the country's economy.

Besides price supports, or floor prices, he listed greater use of the federation's marketing boards and farm co-operatives as the best methods of achieving parity income for the farmer.

Leading the items for discussion today will be the consideration of policy resolutions that were expected to go to the floor Wednesday. They call for amendment of the Ontario Pipe Lines Act to improve the farmer's position in dealing with companies seeking property for pipeline routes, and also seek amendment of the Ontario Act to deliver to farmers on action they should take on company property.

The convention Wednesday approved the formation of a branch, or corporation and, in submitting it to the board of directors for ratification, delegates voted that the board of governors be increased by one representative from each executive of the Ontario Federated Women's Institutes. The 18 directors, will increases the number to 19, including the new board member, board to three.

A report from the standing committee on financial assessment and taxation recommended adoption of the principle of "equalized assessment" manual, commended by this committee. By giving farmers a fairer assessment and levy.

Business Takes Another Nip of Confidence Brew

NEW YORK (AP)—Business in the United States has taken another nip of the brew of confidence.

The Eisenhower victory is widely expected to bring up the plans for expansion. This jn turn may step up inflationary pressures.

Confidence in domestic affairs grows there.

Rightly or wrongly, most leaders of industry and trade feel that with the Democrats in control of the executive branch the climate for business will be favorable.

The outlook then for the next two years is much the same as it has been, characterized by a big and large business found to its liking.

SUEZ UPSETS LIBERACE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Liberace has returned from a five-week overseas tour, disappointed that the Middle East crisis prevented him from appearing before the Queen while in London. British fans in the Near East gave just two hours before his scheduled command performance, said the pianist, who arrived home Wednesday. The show was cancelled.

HUNGARY PUPPET REGIME ADMITS REBELS FIGHT ON

Appeals to Workers To Avert Starvation

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—Hungary's Soviet-backed government today admitted that armed resistance is still holding out and said the anti-Russian revolt is threatening the nation with starvation.

Budapest radio appealed to all workers in food industries to return to their jobs immediately to avert starvation.

A short time earlier, Gyoergi Marosan, a minister of state in the Communist government formed Sunday, made the first admission by any member of the new regime that the insurgents are still fighting.

He told listeners in a radio broadcast to be thankful for the "heroic help" of Soviet tanks and troops in trying to re-establish order.

UN MUST DECIDE

Marosan, the right police force said it is up to the United Nations to decide where in the Middle East the station a planned international police force.

A spokesman expressed this view when he was asked to comment on Prime Minister Anthony Eden-Gurion's statement Wednesday that Israel would not permit the stationing of foreign troops on territory or territory taken from Egypt in the past week's military operations.

The spokesman denied that Britain and France disagreed on when the Israeli forces should be withdrawn to within their own borders. He said that, as far as he knew, France also wanted Israel to leave Egyptian territory.

DEBATE CENSURE MOTIONS

Renewed censure motions from the Labor opposition may be debated today both in the House of Lords and the Commons.

The Commons debate will be followed by a vote in which the government, with its majority of 62, is unlikely to be defeated.

But political commentators were saying the vote would be a crucial test of the unity of Eden's Conservative party.

PRESS ADVISOR RESIGNS

Anthony Nutting, minister of state at the foreign office, already has resigned in protest over the government's policy in Egypt.

Meanwhile, the rights and wrongs of Eden's intervention policy remain the major debating topic in British newspapers.

Correspondents writing in newspapers varying political allegiances are also discussing the reports of a split in the cabinet.

These reports were circulating widely in parliamentary circles Wednesday night. It was being said that the cease-fire in Egypt was ordered because of the insistent opposition of some ministers at a cabinet meeting on Tuesday to the acceptance of military action in Egypt.

LED BY BUTLER

Sources close to the government discounted talk of a "major split," but it was said denied that there might have been differences of opinion.

The Daily Herald, official Labor party organ, says the moderates in the cabinet, "led by Mr. R. A. Butler, (lord privy seal and House leader) insisted that the Anglo-French matter must draw back from a war which could easily become a general war."

Marshall Field Dies in New York

Field underwent brain surgery at the hospital Oct. 21. Until today he had been described as in fair condition.

Report Eden May Visit Eisenhower; Fear War's Spread

Israeli Army Says Arabs Stage Raids From Jordan

LONDON (CP) — The Middle East conflict gave signs today of spreading to the Israel-Jordan border, even before the precarious cease-fire in Egypt had become solidly established.

The Israeli Army said Arab raiders from Jordan shelled across a six-mile stretch of the Israel border Wednesday night, blowing up a water pipeline and three empty houses and attempting to sabotage a railway line and bridge.

This added new anxiety to a situation already endangered by the threat of Soviet military intervention.

Allied headquarters in Cyprus said the cease-fire in the Sinai area was broken Wednesday by a skirmish between an Egyptian patrol and British troops.

SOME BOMBERS WITHDRAWN

An air ministry spokesman in London said some RAF bombers here had been withdrawn from the Suez area—an indication that British forces in the mid-scale military operations are unlikely to be stepped up.

But in some capitals there was immediate concern lest the withdrawal order mar lead to a full-scale attack by one side or the other.

Israel's Premier Ben-Gurion called a cabinet meeting after reporting reports from his foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, in Paris. Mrs. Meir, who was on her way to United Nations headquarters in New York, was reported to have turned back to Israel.

Plane Rescues Lost Tourists

HAILEYBURY (CP) — Two United States tourists, lost in the bush Scotland since Monday morning, were rescued Wednesday afternoon by a plane spotted a fire on the isolated shore of Angler Lake.

Floyd Allen and Milton W. Austin, both in their early 40s and both from Cincinnati, Ohio, went into the bush 30 miles west of Hailey bury 175 miles north of North Bay on a deer-hunting trip Monday morning. Fred Mitchell, operator of the lodge where the tourists stayed, expressed fears for the safety of the pair when they set out Tuesday morning and a land air search of the area.

WERE 36 BUSH FIRES IN TWEED DISTRICT

Human carelessness was responsible for two-thirds of the 36 forest fires which caused considerable damage this year in the Tweed area according to a report from that district. These 24 preventable fires were started by campers, settlers, loggers, prospectors and railways.

The greatest period of danger, according to R. E. Passmore, district forester, is during the spring months when dried vegetation provides ready fuel. He requests hunters and travellers in the bush to prevent fires by being careful.

REV. I. K. DANIEL DISCUSSION LEADER

Rev. I. K. Daniel, was the group discussion leader at the November meeting of the Triangle Club of the Y. M. C. A., held Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. This month's topic of discussion centered around the "Religious Growth of a Child".

The business part of the meeting dealt with discussion and decisions as to the December Community Chest Blitz Night by about 30 canvassers; to buy a vacuum cleaner for the Y residence; to have a second rummage sale on Nov. 30th; and to serve refreshments to the parents attending the Y.M.C.A. boys and girls parents night on Nov. 18th and Dec. 7th.

The "Y" Triangle Club meets every fourth Tuesday of each month and is open to all parents of "Y" members.

Mrs. Helen E. Lewis, regular president of the club chaired this month's meeting.

GIVEN SEVEN DAYS FOR DRUNK DRIVING

John T. Edgars, of Middleton Park, Trenton, was given a week to seven days in jail this morning to date from November 4 after being found guilty by Magistrate Irving Wills of driving while intoxicated. Conviction on a charge of having an opened bottle of whiskey in his car was dismissed. O.P.P. apprehended him on Sunday brought Edgars a fine of $10 and costs or the choice of spending an additional six days in confinement.

Edgars pleaded guilty to both charges.

DISLOCATES ANKLE IN FALL INTO HOLE

A fall into an excavation at the rear of a Bridge Street place of business resulted in a dislocated ankle for a local businessman yesterday.

Arthur Campbell, employed at the Colonial Homes sales office was leaving the building by way of a rear door when he slipped off a plank into the excavation. He was taken to Belleville General Hospital for treatment.

Canadians Killed in Two Wars Remembered at Legion Dinner

Tributes was paid to Canadian soldiers killed in two world wars by Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell at the Remembrance Day Dinner held by the Canadian Legion branch 90 held at the Knights of Columbus Hall last night.

Canon McConnell who is rector of St. Thomas' Church and Padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, based his moving talk with a picture of the men he saw in action overseas.

He told of his faults and frailties, his vitality in living life to the hilt, his great pride in being a Canadian, his constant fears but even greater courage which made him "the greatest soldier of them all. He brought you VE Day".

Canon McConnell recounted the almost stunned disbelief of the fighting men to the order signalling the end of the war. The tanks churn over and the men not trusting even the official order, started to dig in the soggy ground.

It was the evening of May 4th, It was our VE Day.

And then the memorable words of Churchill: "I have never promised anything but blood and tears. Now, however, we have a new experience. We have Victory — a remarkable and definite victory. The bright gleam has caught the helmets of the soldiers and warmed and cheered our hearts."

STILL JUST CANADIANS

The speaker then spoke of the transition of the soldier to civilian life as follows:

"After 11 years we have settled down to the ordinary things of life. They still call us veterans. We have the odd party and we talk a little about the days when all we were just Canadians and we want that every real Canadian wants— a decent living, a wife and family; a car; a TV set, a home of our own, a chance to go fishing and see a good ball game, an opportunity to raise healthy well-educated children, and the peace and happiness of our Canadian way of life.

Then Canon McConnell paused in tribute to those who cannot partake of this happiness.

"But there is one thing we will never have — the faces of comrades over there. And because I can do little to it, I'm going to give you the concluding lines of Line Obituary written by a Canadian, Jean Pouliot.

It was the Italian Front. The small of the barnyard was heavy and still the air damp. The deep rolled through the mud puddles around the sodden haystack and stopped before the door of a dilapidated house. Bill James stepped out of a room. The first thing he said was, "Did you know that Bert got it in our last show?"

That's the way those things are told, casually and yet with a soldier's deep regard underlying the words, everyone of which personal memory of a guy you'd joined up with.

"What happens inside a man when he hears one of his best friends is gone? The listener's stomach becomes not so much empty as strangely still — just as if it wasn't part of you.

Everything goes quiet while your mind fastens on the thought that the guy you thought was one of those who'd never get it had come up like the rest.

And you say aloud 'well, I'll be damned,' or something strong-er. And the words keep repeating themselves within your brain.

And after a while you begin to remember the guy, the lumbering guy you sweated on during the fatigue with, the fellow who used to go on the pub crawls in Holland and in the canteens across Canada.

"He had his full share of faults and virtues. Because of them he was a real man. Nothing was ever written about him before and nothing probably ever will again. It would be good to say that he was handsome, that he was faithful to his superiors and that he wrote to his mother every week.

"His independence of spirit placed him among those who have given Canadians a name. And because he wasn't amenable to discipline they took him out of his tank troop and made him teach him a lesson.

"But they must have let him in behind the tiller again. Because he was a tiller hand. He got it clean—cut in two by an 88.

And he's buried with a lot of his kind beside the church north of the Conca River. He was a hell of a good guy."

CLOSES WITH POEM

Canon McConnell closed with this poem of remembrance:

Lord grant this gallant company
The rest and peace they won,
Reward their just Deliverance
With hope that war is done,
And let their alms forever be Warmed by memories of Head table guests were: Alderman Frank W. Grandaron, chairman of the dinner; Col. and Mrs. E. S. Fairman, Padre Eric Strain and Mrs. Strain, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Liddle, Canon A. S. McConnell and Mrs. McConnell, Mayor Jane Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, Stan Broughton, Frank Follwell, Mr. and Mrs. L. Legerry.

The ceremonies of the evening were opened by chairman Alderman Frank V. Grandaron. Rev. Eric Strain gave the invocation and Everett Liddle welcomed the comrades, their wives and guests. The toast to the fallen was proposed by Comrade R. Madden. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Comrade Armand Duffy, when two minutes' silence was observed.

The speaker was thanked by Rev. Eric Strain and Everett Liddle extended a warm vote of thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary for the turkey dinner provided by them. The dinner was followed by an evening of dancing.

Children Hurt As Truck Upset By Collision

Two small children, passengers in a light delivery panel truck, suffered shock and bruises Wednesday afternoon when the truck was involved in a two - vehicle collision at the intersection of Bleecker and Pine streets.

Shaken up in the crash which saw the small delivery truck wrecked on its side in the middle of the intersection, Mrs. and Mary McEvoy, aged three and four years, of Pine street.

With an older sister Susan, aged five, the McEvoy children, were passengers in a panel delivery driven by their father, Gerrard McEvoy, which was a southbound on Bleecker when a car eastbound on Pine street, and driven by Mrs. Eleanor Hollingsworth, Wellington, was said to have failed to stop at a stop sign.

Mrs. Robinson was taking her 10-year-old son Larry to see a doctor when the accident occurred.

Mr. McEvoy was taking the children for a ride while delivering grocery orders, following the impact the vehicle spun around and turned on its side, tossing grocery orders and children together.

Neighbors in the area took the children to their homes where they were taken to hospital for a check-up. Damage to the vehicles is amounted to about $300 and to the passenger car, $150.

Police Constable Carman Cook investigated.

Curling Club To Hold Meeting Monday Evening

Despite the fact that the Curling Club is having difficulties in obtaining a club for this city, the project has in no way died and there will be a meeting at the city hall at eight bells, the final plans will be laid there and action taken on the project and there is a possibility the members will be curling in their new club premises after the new year.

The meeting on Monday evening is for the whole membership and every member is requested to be present at the meeting as on hand, take part in the discussion and help put their shoulders to the wheel, in order that the building, ice plant and clubhouse can be built as early as possible next year.

The Curling Club directorate has decided to proceed with the erection of the building under its own membership, that it will be built in sections at the cost of six as originally intended and that it will be modern in every respect. Another four sheets will be added as finances permit.

Through the kind efforts of the Parks Board, a piece of land at the southwest corner of the city grounds has been promised under certain conditions being undertaken by the club. The directorate has met the conditions themselves to accept these conditions, which are not stringent, and everything points to a successful completion of the project.

The Parks Board plans of the directorate on Monday evening at the Queens Hotel, it was decided to ask the Parks Board for a parcel of land on which to erect the curling rink. This was formerly sent to the board and on Tuesday evening the Parks Board gave hearty approval to the request. President Bill Gault reported the visit at the meeting and after acceptance of the request was granted, Mr. Gault personally thanking the members for their co-operation and interest. All the members present expressed the opinion that a curling club in the city was badly needed and they were willing to assist in any way possible.

WILL PRESENT FACTS

At the meeting on Monday evening the directors heard several firms with prices quoting on supplying materials for the new rink and in some cases firm prices were given. These and other facts will be presented to the meeting to be held on Monday evening at the city hall.

At the present time nearly two hundred residents of the city and district have signified their intention of joining the new club and all have paid their initial payment. There is an opening for another hundred members and that will be all the club can accommodate with the exception of the women's club, which promises to be a strong one. A drive to secure that extra membership will be made starting on Tuesday morning after the meeting and anyone wishing to join should get in touch with Mr. Jarrett at the Bank of Montreal or any of the directors or members already signed.

The enthusiasm for a new curling rink has not died in this city by any means. A number of men who have had curling experience in other centres, are the ones who are giving this project the lift. In fact curling has made rapid strides in this country in the last five years and practically every municipality in the province now has a curling rink to take care of recreation for

Arthritis, Rheumatism Society Operates Two Clinics in Area

Another of the seven agencies in Belleville which will benefit from the 1956 Community Chest drive is the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, which is situated at 344 Front Street.

At the present time there are two mobile clinics operating in Belleville and outlying areas. One is staffed by Miss Pat Perkins and the other by Miss Peggy Kingland on November 26, and the other is operated by Miss Phyllis Carleton who goes to Toronto on the first of December. She will be replaced by Miss Betty Draycott who will then be in charge of the only mobile clinic remaining in this area.

Three young women are trained physiotherapists and have a good deal of experience in treating arthritis and rheumatic ills.

From the first of the year to the end of October 884 treatments have been given to 57 arthritis in Belleville and district. 27 of these patients have received 547 visits.

The Belleville unit was started in October, 1955 and since then 1,558 physiotherapy treatments have been given to 93 patients in Belleton and Miss Perkins to 93 arthritics. The Belleville - Roslyn Clinic is also used by nurses as a service by their crippled children's clinics. Over 100 of the first 13 months of operation 29 doctors referred 86 patients to the mobile clinic.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society was established in late 1942 as a result of a conference called by the Dominion Council of Health welfare, at which representatives of leading medical, social, welfare and nursing associations attended.

Since its beginning, the Ontario division has established several clinics and by consultation with leading hospitals and nine mobile units are on the road which more than double the future.

The CARS physiotherapists assist at the bi-monthly orthopaedic clinic at Belleville General Hospital.

There are eight provincial divisions of the society in Canada. Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland are the only provinces which do not have a division.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has four basic objectives: To increase and expand service for the diagnosis and treatment and welfare of sufferers from rheumatic diseases; to provide patients and the general public with information regarding early signs of these diseases and the need for prompt attention; to promote a program of research and professional education in the rheumatic diseases to discover their causes, development of prevention and extend knowledge about their treatment; and to raise funds for these purposes.

In Belleville Miss Perkins and Miss Carleton are treating patients in their homes under the guidance of the family physician. Exercises extend the range of movements of swollen joints, prevent deformity, correct disabilities, Splints and other devices are made to fit. The physiotherapists are often made right in the home.

The society's needs are urgent. At present its 65 existing mobile clinics serve 100 communities across the nation, covering an estimated 45 per cent of the population. It needs an additional 35 units. More hospital beds are required for chronic and specialized treatments of arthritic patients. Improved social and vocational rehabilitation services are on the urgently needed list. There must be more intensified medical research into the causes and cures of arthritis.

To satisfy all these demands the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society needs to have all the financial support it can get. You can do your share by giving generously to the 1956 Belleville Community Chest.

The gift of hope is within the power of all to bestow. You can give hope to arthritics by donating freely to the 1956 campaign.

Thirteen District Schools Take Part In COSSA Girls' Volleyball Jamboree

Trenton High School walked off with two major honors from a field of thirteen schools in the COSSA Girls' Senior "A" and "B" annual girls' volleyball jamboree held in the Ontario School for the Deaf yesterday.

Trenton teams achieved the junior "A" and senior "A" titles instead of the junior "B" cup. Stirling's performance was all the more creditable since it is the first time the school has been represented in the jamboree in the past few years.

Twenty-six teams playing for the first time in "A" and "B" sectional games took part in a total of 39 games during the day. Six of the school's four courts were in action simultaneously with games starting every thirty minutes.

Over 400 girl players from the district schools took part in the jamboree held under the supervision of Miss Beth Wilson, of the O.S.D. staff. The jamboree was excellently arranged and run off without a hitch.

Presenting the trophies were two new ones for senior "A" and junior "B". Awards were presented following the jamboree by Miss Lemoyne West, Medoc, vice-president of the Bay of Quinte COSSA District.

The schools represented included, BCI, Quinte Secondary School, OSD, Napanee, Picton, Wellington, Deseronto, Brighton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed and Campbellford.

Mayor Forrester To Seek Second Term in Office

Mayor Jane Forrester will seek a second term of office at the forthcoming municipal election, she was learned today.

Although there have been rumors that one or possibly two aldermen are contemplating contesting the mayor's office, Mayor Forrester, with her announcement today that she will definitely seek re-election, is the first candidate officially in the field.

As the first woman to be elected as mayor of the city, Mayor Forrester last year became also one of the largest votes ever received by a candidate for the mayoralty.

Township of Thurlow

Remembrance Day Service

A Remembrance Day Service will be held at the Canniffon Township Hall, on Sunday, November 11th, 1956, beginning at 10.00 a.m. The service will be in charge of the Rev. R. J. McCrea of Canniffon, and the laying of the wreath will take place at 11.00 a.m. at the Cenotaph.

Peasants Told Ceylon Invasion Just for Movies

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)— Peasants fled from their mud-thatched homes today as paratroop descended on a village 12 miles from Colombo today. They set the temple bells pealing with cries of "the invasion of Ceylon has begun."

Police hurried to the village to explain that the "invaders" were playing parts in the British film "Bridge Over River Kawi."

groups enjoying the pastime. There is a lot of work to be done, there must be co-operation and enthusiasm and no doubt this will be evident at the meeting. Take a night off, come on down to the city hall, hear what has been done and what is proposed for the immediate future.

42 Dogs, Cats Placed in Permanent Homes

Some kind of a record for placement of pets has been established at the new city animal shelter at the local fair grounds, where since the new building went into use, permanent homes have been secured for no less than 42 dogs and cats.

In fact the only animals destroyed have been those brought to the pound injured, and a few other old animals which pound officials thought wise not to place.

But the city pound is not confined to dogs and cats. Recently a rabbit was brought in, while last week city pound keeper Charles Thorn found an injured sea gull and brought it in. The gull was nursed back to health, then allowed to again fend for itself.

Only two kittens are at the pound at the moment, one a two-month-old grey tabby cat, and the other a part Persian, now undergoing treatment by a city veterinarian for a scratched leg. Both kittens are up for adoption.

The new city animal shelter is very much up to date. This week new all stove was installed, new kennels are being built, and a telephone has been installed. Attendants will be on hand at the shelter from 1.30 to 5 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons.

Anyone interested in the two kittens is asked to phone the shelter at Woodland 8-9494, or Mrs. William Gardiner at Woodland 8-5263.

North Viet Nam May Break From Moscow Control

HONG KONG (CP)—A Hanoi broadcast heard here today indicated that the Communist Indochina state of North Viet Nam was following Hungary and Poland in an attempt to break away from Moscow control.

The North Viet Nam radio broadcast an unusual government decree ordering the release of all Stalin-era political prisoners and offering full freedom of worship.

"These policies are based on the present political line of the Viet Nam Lao Dong (Workers) party government and state laws and the Viet Nam fatherland (Communist) front political program," Hanoi radio said.

50th Anniversary Of Wedding Is Celebrated

TRENTON (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cunnell received relatives and friends Sunday on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Cunnell, local welfare officer, has been in welfare work in Trenton for 27 years.

The town council sent best wishes to the well-known couple and Mrs. Cunnell received a bouquet of roses with the compliments of the corporation.

Mr. Cunnell is a former president of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. He served overseas in the First World War with the 21st Battalion.

The Cunnells have three children, Mrs. R. J. Webb (Nellie), Miss Ruby Cunnell and Albert Cunnell. They came to Canada from England in 1911 and after living in Bloomfield several years, moved to Trenton. They have resided here 38 years. Their present address is 34 Gotha street.

Naughty Book Not for Pastor But for Herself

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP)—Mrs. Harvey Oldfield of the United States Air Defence Command was autographing copies of his book "Never a Shot in Anger," in a bookshop.

A woman asked him if it would be a suitable present for her minister.

"Well, it's sort of a naughty book in spots," Oldfield said.

"All right, recommend something else for my preacher," the woman said. "I'll take this myself."

Hungarians Given Rough Time at Brantford Home

BRANTFORD (CP) — Michael Nadas, 54, a Hungarian who returned from his homeland this week and said he saw nothing of revolt or bloodshed there, says he is not a Communist nor a Communist sympathizer.

He added Wednesday that he would not call himself an anti-Communist either. "I'm not anti-anyone," he said.

Hungarian Canadians paraded in front of Nadas' Brantford home Tuesday night carrying placards which read: "Go back to Russia." The group was dispersed by police.

Nadas and his wife rode out of Hungary, where they were visiting last weekend, on a Red Cross truck returning to Vienna.

He was quoted in an interview Tuesday as saying that he was in Budapest last Friday and that it was peaceful and he could see no cause for alarm.

(News reports that day from Budapest reported no daytime fighting but Budapest radio was later reported as saying fierce fighting had broken out in the capital Friday night.)

DENIES CHARGE

Nadas said the demonstrators thought he was a Communist because he made the trip to Hungary. He denied a charge that he went there to attend a Communist congress. He said he was visiting his wife's parents.

Nadas reported that he and his wife had been threatened over the telephone and told that his house would be burned down. Earlier a threat that he would be knifed if he did not tell the truth about what he saw in Hungary was reported to police.

Nadas said he opposed the Russian intervention in Hungary but did not condemn communism as a whole.

In Vienna, after he got out of Hungary, he said he was told that most of the people in Budapest had gone back to work.

VIENNA REPORT

(A Reuters story from Vienna Friday said that many persons were reported to have resumed work, including 4,000 workers in a Budapest tractor factory and at an iron and steel works which employed about 20,000.)

They had not known about the Russian tanks taking over the country until they saw newspapers in New York, Nadas said.

James Byrnes, a spokesman for the demonstrators, claimed that the demonstrators were not responsible for the reported threats

Accused Tells Of Events Leading Up to Slaying

OWEN SOUND (CP) — James Howey Brown, 37, Sydenham farmer accused of the March 19 gunshot slaying of his brother Milton, 27, testified Wednesday he had no intention of doing his brother harm, but "just didn't want anything to do with him."

Brown said he and his brother got along well until he learned from his wife Thelma, Milton was not married, was the father of his wife's third child, Jim Boy, about 2.

On the night of March 19, Brown said, he ordered Milton away from his wife, Rose, but Milton wanted to fight.

He said he got the gun and tried to scare Milton by breaking a kitchen window, then went outside the house because he thought Milton would take the gun away from him.

Milton jumped through the window, Brown testified, and said to Rose: "He's a coward. I've ducked more bullets than he's ever seen."

KEPT BACKING UP

Brown said he kept backing up because "I was scared he would get the gun and beat me up like he did once before when he got drunk."

"I don't know whether he grabbed the gun or just grabbed at it, but it went off," Brown said. "I didn't think the gun had been pointed at him. I don't remember cocking it."

"I just couldn't believe it. It just went off. I started to run away, but when I looked, Milton was staggering. Then he fell."

On cross-examination, Brown said he wanted to scare his brother by firing a few shots in the air.

The trial is continuing.

NO PEACE PRIZE

OSLO (Reuters) — The Norwegian Nobel Peace Prize committee announced Wednesday that no Peace Prize will be awarded this year. The prize was not awarded last year either. The money for 1956 will be reserved until 1957, the committee said.

U.S. Urges Speed In Forming Force For Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported urging all possible speed today in replacing British, French and Israeli forces in Egypt with peace-keeping troops under the flag of the United Nations.

The UN General Assembly voted Wednesday night to create an international emergency police force for that purpose, and approved an order to "proceed with the full organization" of it. A dozen countries have offered troops.

Unless the switch can be made and the situation brought under control within a few days, official Washington believes there is grave danger of Soviet intervention with "volunteers" on the side of Egypt. This could prolong and spread the conflict, and increase the threat of a third world war.

WANTS NO CLASH

The present estimate of President Eisenhower and his most trusted advisers is that the Soviet Union does not want and is not seeking the kind of clash which would involve that country and the U.S. in a global H-bomb war.

But they are grave danger that limited fighting in the Middle East might set in motion forces which could go beyond the control of any government.

Eisenhower arranged to preside over a meeting today of the National Security Council at which the American role in the UN police effort seemed certain to be discussed.

U.S. armed forces have been cautioned to take "preparatory" measures to increase the nation's defence readiness.

A spokesman for the joint chiefs of staff, in telling Hanlon reporters, said he wanted to put emphasis "on the word defence." He added that "We do not want to be caught flat-footed, and at the same time we want to take care that any provocative action which would get us involved."

U.S. commanders at home and overseas have been kept advised of the world situation and given "guidance" in putting their forces in a state of readiness.

EISENHOWER RE-ELECTED

Dwight D. Eisenhower has been re-elected president of the United States. That is hardly a surprise. What may surprise some observers is the size of his majority, particularly in view of the International attack which developed during the latter part of the campaign. The voting public has a tendency to blame a government for events, even when these events may be largely beyond the government's control. Now, however, it appears that the Middle East crisis, far from hurting Eisenhower, actually helped him, in spite of an earlier report from Washington that the President felt he had been "double-crossed" by Eden on the eve of the election. The people of the U.S. appeared to feel that, if there was a danger of war, General Eisenhower was better equipped to serve as commander-in-chief than was ex-Governor Stevenson.

It is true that, during the last few days, there has been criticism in the U.S. of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy, it being said that the manner in which John Foster Dulles handled the Suez Canal crisis had paved the way for the Anglo-French decision to intervene in that area when Israel attacked Egypt. This criticism is striking in view of the fact that on numerous occasions in the past four years, when much criticism was heard in other countries about the west over Dulles' policies, few echoes of this criticism were heard in the U.S. However, it is doubtful whether misgivings about the administration's foreign policies were widespread in the U.S. at the time of the election. Dulles applied more to past decisions than to those made during the present crises in Hungary and the Middle East. After all, Eisenhower has been thus far unopposed in what he has been, amongst members of both Republican and Democratic parties, in Washington and even the Canadian cabinet appears to have felt that in opposing any Anglo-French intervention in Egypt Dulles was right—his critics may be tempted to add "for once."

Stevenson's handling of the situation left much to be desired. For many it created a quandary which he had been created by other facets of his campaign. He appeared to have converted himself from an "egghead" into a politician. The change, if it was made, did him no good. His defeat in all 1952 Stevenson was generally recognized as being a man of unquestioned integrity. There were some, this time, who questioned that integrity. For him, it was the last measure a personal defeat. He ran well behind his party.

The sudden development of the threat of a new war must have had a great influence on the decisions of many Americans in favor of Stevenson's proposal for a mutual cessation of tests of nuclear weapons. Many voters almost certainly felt that the events of the past week or so proved that the time to end the testing of these terrible weapons. Yet if Stevenson's proposal deserved consideration at all, its validity was not altered by the crises. As a means of preventing war it was completely beside the consideration. The only sound reason for the cessation of such tests would be on the grounds that the tests themselves constitute a danger not only to the health of the present generation through the world-wide fall-out but future of the whole human race. It may be that the tests are dangerous—some scientists think so. If this be so not only Russia and the United States but also Britain, on a lesser scale, are acting in a completely irresponsible manner. No single nation, or group of nations, however large or powerful, has the moral right to jeopardize the future of the race. The chance of a world war, even the nuclear tests, however, was lost sight of in the fog of controversy over the more immediate threat of a new world war.

WHY NOT MOBILIZE THE RETIRED?

"There is no reason why a person's contribution do the development of civilization should—and at a fixed period in his life—be ended by the Gantry Act, without questioning the wisdom of a compulsory retirement age.

There have been numerous criticisms of compulsory retirement policies. Still, the trend is going to be difficult to reverse. Too many people fancy they dislike work and dream of the period when they will be freed of the necessity of toiling for a living. Too many of these people will fear that any effort to relieve them of the necessity of retiring at 65 will also relieve them of the opportunity to do so. And few of the critics of retirement plans have suggested that a man or woman ought not to be able to retire if he or she wishes to do so.

Strangely enough, little thought appears to have been given to what would appear to be a feasible alternative to a system of pensioned retirement plans. That is the mobilization of retired men and women for the many tasks which need to be done but for which society never seems to be able to find enough people, funds or time.

If retired people were given not merely an opportunity but encouragement to enlist their services in support of these causes, their "contribution to the development of society," in the words of the Gantry Mercury, would not end at a fixed period of life, but the nature of their contribution would be altered, in many cases to the distinct benefit not only of society but of the individual.

The argument may be advanced that no man wants to work without being paid for it, but in the case of people of retirement age it is not at all certain that this is true. There are many people who could retire on pension who prefer to work, and yet who do not spend the additional income they acquire from their labors. The whole argument against compulsory retirement is based on the fact that people are happier when they are working, when they feel that they are being useful to society than when they are living in enforced idleness. The satisfaction derived from doing useful work does not depend solely upon the pay envelope.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

I've put the boots and creel away,
The minnow pail and rod and line,
I've loved the sport, and I can say
The same old fishing luck was mine.

I've had my share of good and bad;
Of failure, and at times success.
But, day to date I've never had
My picture in the daily press.
I've had the big ones get away,
To smaller ones I've lost my bait,
But not one fish has come my way
That anglers would consider great.

At times I've done right well, I've
And held my catch for friends to see.
But, with some monster I have caught
No camera man has pictured me.

Letters To The Editor

Makes Plea for Aid To Hungary in Need

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

About two thousand years ago, a great Man was asked the question, "Who is my neighbor?" The Man answered the question by telling a parable of "The Good Samaritan" which pointed out that whoever needed our help was our neighbor whether or not we had ever seen them before.

Generally speaking, we have no political or economic ties with Hungary, yet this gallant country has "fallen among thieves" and has begged for help from the free world.

I would be ashamed to call myself a citizen of a free country should we turn our heads and pass by on the far side of the road" for the sake of peace.

The issue is no longer one of trying to keep the peace, but rather one of mercy, freedom, justice and duty.

I am still a young man and have absolutely no desire to sacrifice my chance of a long and bright future for an early death on a battlefield, but if mercy, freedom, justice and duty are not worth fighting and dying for, then there is no future but only a perhaps peaceful, but guilty, mere existence.

Poppy Day Chairman Appeals for Support

371 Bridge St. East,
Belleville.

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Next Friday evening and on Saturday the citizens of Belleville will have the chance to remember the glorious dead of the World Wars. By the purchase of wearing the blood red poppy and in more positive, by displaying in places of business churches, schools and in the windows of homes a poppy memorial wreath.

The National Poppy Campaign is to the dead and a duty to the living. In perpetuating the memory of those who died, it focuses attention on the awful consequences of war. It tries to give meaning to the sacrifice made by some 100,000 Canadians who died in war.

In Queen Victoria's day, all women wore cages indoors. This stifled their movements but also Britain, on a lesser scale, are acting in a completely irresponsible manner. No single nation, or group of nations, however large or powerful, has the moral right to jeopardize the future of the race. The chance of a world war, however, was lost sight of in the fog of controversy over the more immediate threat of a new world war.

To-day under the spectre of the atom bomb reminds us that the price of another war would be horrifyingly high.

Such a reminder is necessary for at least two reasons, both of which are vital to the future of peace and paying tribute to those who died.

To more than four-and-a-half million Canadians the war is something of yesterday, but an active part of today. Almost four-and-a-half million children were born between 1939. The remainder probably started to school the week World War II was declared.

Even under normal circumstances these children would be expected to have a full appreciation of the horrible impact of war.

The second need for Remembrance is found in the attitude of some people who are so-called sophisticates who live in a sterile world in which spiritual sensitivity is regarded as boorish. To these the custom of Remembrance is but a relic of primitive rite. The war never touched them personally. They feel that is why they feel self-conscious about it, and to sell decorations is repellent for decry "the pagan custom of Remembrance."

In Belleville the poppy campaign is conducted by the Belleville Poppy Committee comprised of representatives from all veterans' organizations in the city.

All profits derived from the sale of poppies and wreaths, which are purchased from the Veterans' Shops, are retained in the Belleville Poppy Fund and administered by the committee to provide assistance to needy veterans, their dependents and the dependents of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Local assistance takes many forms. It may be aid to a disabled veteran temporarily unable to provide for his family until the necessities of life, payment of medical bills for a veteran in financial straits when D.V.A. hospitalization is not available and so on. Whatever the cause, as long as it is a just one, all veterans and their dependents may look to the Poppy Fund for assistance. Since all work is done voluntarily all the profits are reserved for this work.

Canada asks very little in the way of sacrifice from the ordinary citizens. We, of the Belleville Poppy Committee and the other organizations united with us in this national campaign say to you that you give generously to the Poppy Fund, and wear your poppy proudly so that all Canadians may be thought at least

Surgeon Defends Fees

St. Thomas Times-Journal

A Cleveland surgeon who was irked by a patient protesting against his fee for performing a major operation upon him that saved his life, writes to the Cleveland Plain Dealer as follows:

If a man has an auto accident, he resents paying a surgeon $200 to have his life, but he never quibbles when he studies his rebuilt damaged auto even though the repair bill might have been $1,000.

"Also, if a truck driver has an accident and punctures his liver, the State of Ohio compensation bureau will pay a surgeon about $150 for spending six hours in surgery stopping the hemorrhages of a ruptured liver. Also, we get $150 for saving the life of a man with appendicitis.

"Yet, by law, a real estate agent gets 5% commission which means about $1,000 for selling a house. Also, if the lawyer supplies the deed and the agent merely attends to the transferring of title, etc., his fee is still $1,000.

"Who has done more good for humanity—the man who is begrudged his $150 or the accomplished real estate agent who gets over $1,000?

The Cleveland man puts forth a good and reasonable case for surgical fees. Many people complain about a surgeon's fee for an operation without which they would be dead, and they will take a long time to pay for it if they pay the full amount at all. But they will blithely pay twice or thrice that sum for an impressive new automobile that they do not really need.

Why Nurses Wear Caps

Perth Courier

Why does a nurse wear a cap? Why do styles vary in different hospitals? What is the significance of the band?

From history and from fact it is known that the lineage of a nurse's cap dates back to the days when a bridal veil signified a young woman's purity and obedience to her husband. This custom was common to the Romans and since many centuries matrons gained renown for their interest in nursing, the veil became a symbol of their service to humanity.

In Queen Victoria's day, all women wore cages indoors. This stifled their movements but also Britain, on a lesser scale, are acting in a completely irresponsible manner. No single nation, or group of nations, however large or powerful, has the moral right to jeopardize the future of the race. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

WORRY IS A KILLER

Worry is undoubtedly one of the greatest enemies the human race has ever had. Or ever will have. But worry can easily be routed by paying no attention to it! Worry hates being ignored. Especially it wants attention. Then it gets in its deadly work. It creates within the mind an endless number of other worries.

Fear is not a disease, but it is a breeder of diseases. Therefore it is something you should avoid as you would an ugly plague. There is not a single good that fear has ever accomplished. Most worries are about things that never happen. Most of the rest of our ills are imaginary, as well.

Worry gets people down—it never helps them up. There is not a single bit of merit to warrant its presence in the mind of anyone. It's just plain uselessness to harbor it for a moment, for if it gets the least encouragement it jumps in on all fours and takes immediate possession. If we do our best, and honestly follow out our inclinations, and make our decisions with intelligence, we can well let worry alone.

It is well, and natural, that we be concerned about our health, but worry about it is not the way. Worrying is not going to help us at any time, nor is it going to help mind or endless number of other worries.

We must learn the gospel of acceptance. We must learn the wonderful machine of ours, this human body, and give it all the encouragement possible. Worry always always promises dire results. An absolute absence of it in the mind gives every evidence of hope, and incentive.

You know what static is that you sometimes get over your radio. Well, that's what worry is to the mind, and which rattles its destructive way throughout the entire nervous system. No rest, no peace —no clear vision ahead. Just confusion and fear. Then why not dismiss all worry? It hasn't one single thing to offer.

Paints Deer's Antlers Red

Ottawa Journal

Out in Wyoming a chap who owns a pet deer named Bimbo was taking pains to paint and save his pride and joy from the attentions of hunters. He has painted the deer's red his favorite antlers.

That may save Bimbo in Wyoming, but we doubt that it would be effective in these parts where a man in red jacket, could be taken for a deer or a duck by a zealous hunter who shoots first and investigates afterwards.

Even in Wyoming Bimbo had better not put too much confidence in his red antlers. They will make him conspicuous and accessory to a spy in short—in mistake for a man!

BE WISE

Tranquilizers! By the time they come to occupy a prominent place in medical practice today, Doctors have found that psychotic patients who are actually suffering from severe mental disturbances—can often be helped by such drugs, and the good news is that many people who ordinarily would be out of circulation, and the many who have been, are now returned to normal activities. In most cases the tranquilizing drugs appear to confer a real blessing upon people formerly afflicted, and often hopelessly so.

But there is a tendency for many people who are downcast, or discouraged to feel that they can whip themselves up, banish their gloom, and find substantially tranquilizing by taking a pill. Many years ago Thomas Carlyle wrote about the people who when they got in any sort of distress immediately began calling for a pill to put them right. Pills no doubt have their use, but that use is never to do for us what we can do for ourselves and are duty bound to try to do for ourselves. If all we have to do is to keep ourselves cheerful and

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Pyorrhea Is Not A Disease

Unfortunately a great many poor misguided or unteachable persons have a good deal of trouble with gums, tooth sockets, jaw bone, and health, which they and their dentists call Signs of disease, chronic gingivitis, pardontitis, and perhaps most frequently pyorrhea alveolaris.

John M. Riggs was a dentist in the early part of the 19th century. He wrote about the condition, but his views have been forgotten, although his name is still remembered. Gingivitis means inflammation of gums. Pardontitis means inflammation of the tissues surrounding a tooth. No particular reason for using this term, except that it impresses the customer.

Whenever I refer to pyorrhea, numerous dentists get a pain in the neck, and some of them blindly endeavor to enlighten me on technical aspects of the condition, but it seems that each expert on pyorrhea has his or her own idea, which is generally quite different from others to keep everybody confused.

The word pyorrhea means discharge or flow of pus and alveolaris means from the tooth sockets. Forty years ago someone made up with a new medicine theory, complete with specific cure; pyorrhea was caused by bacillus gingivalis, a kind of pus protozoan found in the mouth, about the gums and the tartar on the teeth; and emetine, the alkaloid of ipecac, the old-time emetic which was first taken aboat to China, was the specific cure. For a time, medicine makers flooded the market with emetine preparations for internal and local use against pyorrhea, but the trouble continued unabated and the Emdamoeba was forgotten.

Aside from opening, cleaning out, or draining pus pockets, destruction of granulation tissue with the minimum of surgery, and whatever measures the dentist deems necessary to keep the teeth free from tartar and the mouth in the best possible hygienic condition, no other line of treatment, so far as I have been able to ascertain, is more effective than periodic application of Talbot's solution. Eugene Talbot, M.D., D.D.S. (in my opinion every dentist should be a physician before he takes up such a specialty as dentistry), was a distinguished oral surgeon way back when Topsy was a colt. He recommended (J A M A, 4-3-10) for periodic application to the gums a solution of iodin, zinc iodid, glycerin and water. This is strong stuff and only your dentist or physician can apply it or perhaps teach you how to apply the weaker Talbot's solution—known in the National Formulary as Glycerite of Iodine and Zinc Iodids. This is no way curative. It is merely a means of keeping the tissues as nearly sterile or germ-free as possible, and Dr. Talbot recommended its use particularly in the physical degeneration of the mastication structures—teeth, mucous membranes, muscles, blood vessels, jaw bone. The inevitable cause is generally nutritional deficiency through the years, but the most acute something familiar about this, for I explained on it here as the explanation for chronic joint disability, the condition I call rheumatism.

Once the degeneration has advanced far enough to impair the can coarse on board there is no individual's capacity to maintain—caught in a vicious circle, for such foods are generally the best sources of the vitamins and minerals that are most essential for good nutrition.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Among the many advantages of marriage are the countless excuses that can be thought up, on the spur of the moment, for the invitations you don't want to do.

"I'll have to consult my wife," says the hippy benedict whenever a high pressure salesman gets him into a corner.

"I'm afraid," says the virtuously henpecked husband, "I'm afraid my husband wouldn't approve."

This is when she has been having a rough time of it, nagging at him and seeing how she would look in his place at some exclusive shop. Actually, she hadn't the faintest notion of buying anything. In fact, she has sighted a dress in a window and vowed that she'll be darned if she'll ever be seen dead in it. But now that the inviter, a picture of a female battle-axe. And he feels perhaps a little derision for the refuser, but also a sudden envy and admiration.

Chances are, the refuser goes home to a lonely supper with his charming wife, his mother-in-law is a thousand miles away in Montreal, and his wife is a cocktail together, the refuser thinks how wonderful it is that being a couple with a very tiresome guy down town.

Assessment up Half Million While Population Climbs 466

TRENTON (Special) A report from assessor Kenneth K. Kenny met with the approval of council here. Mr. Kenny who conducted his assessment without an assistant, pointed out that the figures in the report covered the year up to September 30. He expects there will be another $100,000 in building permits issued by the end of the year.

The total assessment for 1956 amounted to $11,414,281 for an increase of $583,412 over 1955. Building permits to date total $1,300,000.

Comparing figures, Mr. Kenny noted that the 1955 building touched a high of $1,992,000 while the assessment reached $10,830,849 with an increase over the preceding term of $415,770.

The trend indicates that the unprecedented building boom of '55 is levelling off, although still considerably higher than in 1954.

The assessor's report showed that the town population had increased by 466, with the total population standing at 11,240 at the time the census was taken.

Council set the date for the nomination meeting for candidates seeking public office. Nomination for council will be on Thursday, November 22, between the hours of 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. Candidates for mayor will register an hour later between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Commenting on the report, Mayor Ross Burtt said: "I think you have done a good job."

Councillor Vahn Lange, chairman of the Court of Revision added to the mayor's remarks: "Everything he said here is true. The Court of Revision had a very easy year."

"Yes it is to be congratulated on not having too many appeals," councillor Claude Gretum observed.

ARMOURY NEED VOICED

A request from the Army for consent to use a local site for a recruiting drive here on Thursday November 15, reopened the armoury discussion of long standing. Mayor Burtt asked: "If we are good enough to let them come in here and get recruits maybe they will prompt the government to build an armoury here. Then they wouldn't have to trespass on Department of Transport property". The mayor was told that the army preferred the location on the west end of the town bridge in the dock area, belonging to the D.O.T.

On the same subject clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry said Frank Follwell, M.P., had been into the municipal office and advised that he was contacting the Defence Department to ascertain if the department contemplates an armoury for Trenton in the not too distant future. If he received a report to the contrary he would see that the land on Sidney street was returned to the town without further controversy.

Mayor Burtt asked Mr. Larry if he would request Mr. Follwell to put his intention in writing. Calling for the settlement of the subject once and for all, Mr. Burtt reminded council the town gave the government the 480 square feet piece on the understanding a permanent armoury was to be built there.

WILL REVISE MAPS

Council gave the consulting firm of Gore and Storrie the authority to go ahead and revise maps and plans of the town up to date.

Councillor Grant Gooding, chairman of sanitation and waste, advised that the salary of Bill Stacey, a worker in his department, be increased 10c an hour. His request was approved by fellow councillors. Mr. Gooding pointed out Mr. Stacey was a hard worker with valuable knowledge of the town's sewage system.

Trenton's new parking lot, formerly the B. W. Powers and Son coal yard along Front Street from Elgin Street, will be put on a paying basis this weekend. Mayor Burtt wanted to see the property start paying and the expense of maintaining the site taken off the other meters in town. The same people now park there all day long without charge when normally they have had to pay at one of the street meters for eight hours a day, the mayor charged.

Canadian factories shipped $9,385,000 worth of javelle water in 1955 an increase of more than 27 per cent over 1954.

Soviet Russia's Ottawa Party Is Dismal Flop

OTTAWA (CP) — Among Ottawa's diplomatic set, the Soviet ambassador's annual reception marking the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution may go down as the biggest social flop of the season.

Not only did most of the 1,800 invited guests fail to arrive, but outside, on the curb, a small corps of placard-bearers paraded silently, their signs bitterly condemning the Soviet massacre in Hungary.

It was, to some Western observers, a dismal affair. One Soviet military officer noted with a grin that there appeared to be a bigger party outdoors than inside.

The usual outward glitter was there. The tables were loaded with liquor and delicacies. But the gaiety, the mingling of East and West, was missing. The Western boycott was on. Most of the Western diplomats didn't show up.

The East-West strain caused by the Soviet bloodshed in Hungary and by the veiled Russian threat of using rocket war against Britain and France if they did not get out of Egypt was evident. Prime Minister St. Laurent said earlier Canada would not be officially represented at the annual gala event. None of his ministers turned out. Neither did senior Canadian civil servants. The sole federal officer at the event was a junior official of the external affairs department.

ANCIENT METHOD

The hour-glass, using sand, was a popular timepiece in Egypt centuries before the Christian era.

AXES NEHRU

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Eisenhower has urged India's Premier Nehru to use his influence with Britain and Russia to halt conflict in Egypt and Hungary, the Times of India News Service reported Wednesday. The report added that Nehru has replied he would do what he could to urge peaceful methods.

District Public Speaking Winners Repeat at H-S

Prince of Wales Home and School Association held its November meeting on Tuesday evening. Mrs. May was in the chair. Mrs. McKim read the minutes of the previous meeting. Roll call was taken and Mrs. Slaats was won the record with 14 parents present.

Mrs. Cook gave a report from the regional conference which she attended in Kingston.

Business included a discussion on the project for the year, as well as plans for the school fair to be held on November 31st.

Tea dates are awarded to the Minor Hockey Association in Belleville.

The program consisted of a public speaking contest entered by 11 pupils who had prepared their talks for the annual public speaking contest in Thurlow.

Mr. Sproule introduced Mr. Ken Ross, barrister, of Belleville, who was adjudicator. He spoke most highly of the children's work and pointed out a few improvements they might bear in mind in future.

Joan McMullin and Marina Bongard received the highest points. Each child received a gift certificate presented on behalf of the school board by Mr. Sproule.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Soroptimist Club Presents Delightful 'Fashion Fantasy'

Something refreshingly new in fashion shows was presented to a delighted audience in the Collegiate auditorium last evening by the Soroptimists International "Fashion Fantasy" which took the form of a kind of delineation of woman's day at home, beginning with the breakfast scene, the coffee break; the luncheon hour; the cocktail hour, and lastly, the house party. Each scene showed off clothes adapted to the occasion, which were both exotic and pleasingly durable.

The narrator was CJBQ's Harriet Stevens, nattily attired in black taffeta with white hat and shoulder corsage of roses, who, from a bower of ferns and white and yellow chrysanthemums softly described each model's outfit, noting the salient points of today's fashions.

The show, which was opened by her worship Mayor Jane Forrester, was preceded by a soft organ music, with Mrs. Miller at the console of the organ, who also assisted at various points during the presentation. Mayor Forrester extended greetings to the fine assembly, noting the projects and aims of the Soroptimist Club and mentioning some of the fine work already done by it, the placing of a TV in the County Home being of two hearing aids to the Ontario School for the Deaf; and the presenting of a scholarship to a commercial student and for international education in some particular field, adding that those present were also assisting the club, financially. Mayor Forrester was presented with a sheaf of red and white roses by little Leslie Inscon, a veritable fairy in her grey, green and white lace delighted all with her solo dancing.

The opening scene depicted the mother in her morning house coat of coral material with white background flecked with pink roses, featuring a full, flowing skirt; the daughter in a beautiful red robe, a perfect foil for her jet black hair, and little sister in a royal blue duster; the school girl sister in a pink orlon sweater with reversible grey and pink plaid skirt, and the man of the family in grey trousers with black vest and white shirt.

The next scene was the "Coffee Break," in which neighbors arrived for a tete-a-tete in early morning hogs; one in reversible emerald green and grey skirt, pleated, with white blouse; another in a red coat with black skirt, and one in beige, all-purpose skirt, and blue checked dress with black yoke and black outlined pockets. Another was to be in a pink, brocaded smock with black hat and skirt, and another in pink tweed effect in empire style.

LUXURIOUS FURS

At the "Luncheon hour" the guests arrived wearing furs, in lovely style, and richly luxurious, with muskrat much in vogue. Grey Persian lamb, still in "tops" with the teen-agers and young matrons. These were shown in short coats, and full length styles, worn with intriguing dresses featuring the latest trends with sheath skirts, some hidden pleats for ease in walking. Sloles were soft and rich looking, another "must" for the well-groomed woman.

Following the luncheon hour, four little girls in green, blue, red and yellow, did a charming dance, as did the little green fairy mentioned previously.

The cocktail hour guests arrived also in furs, consisting of mink stoles, and lovely gowns. Bridal satin, each gowned in delightful light, or white. During this time an entrancing waltz was presented by Miss Beverley Murray and Mr. Harry Morrison, of the Morrison Dance Studio.

Other interludes of dance comprised a Spanish number by Sheryll Madden, and Cossack, Claire Smithson, of Trenton, which was delightfully executed, the dance by the little girls in blue and pink with matching hats, and the "Jive" number.

MODELS

Those who modelled included: Mrs. Lazletta Sirland, Mrs. Anne McDonald, Miss Beverley Durno, Mrs. Audrene Moorman, Miss Nan Elvins, Miss Lynda Bush, Miss Jane Ireland, Mrs. Beverley Mott, Mrs. Ruth Denton, Mrs. Lois Taylor, Miss Barbara Ireland, Miss Joannne Clarke, Miss Pat Brearley, Carol Fisher, Dana Hatley, Judy Schneider, Robert Lazier and Mary Beth Follwell.

Miss Helen Symons, president of the club, extended appreciative thanks to Mayor Forrester, to CJBQ's Harriet Stevens, — to Ch'ado Elliott, to Woodley Furs, to the Esther Lillian School of Ballet, to Harry Morrison School of Dance, to Mrs. Miller for her organ preludes, to the young ladies, and children who had modelled so well, to Lattimer's for the make-up; to Barber and Sons and Weilers for coat material

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

"THE BRIDE CUTS THE CAKE!"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When the bride cuts the wedding cake at a simple home-wedding dinner, who is given this first piece? — Dorothy

The up-important romantic tradition is that the bride cuts the first piece of the wedding cake . . . the groom's right hand placed over her right hand. They then break this slice and eat together. This significant act of eating from the same piece of cake is to symbolize their always-sharing. After the bride and groom have cut this first slice, a waiter or caterer's assistant, or a friend, finishes cutting the cake, and it is passed to the members of the bridal party and then to the wedding guests.

THE PROSPECTIVE GROOM'S PARENTS GREET HIS FIANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our son's engagement is to be announced very soon, and we would very much appreciate your help in answering our questions concerning this.

1. On this very important day of the announcement, what would be an appropriate gift for us to give this charming girl?

2. On the card to be enclosed, I would like to write a personal note welcoming her into the family, but just don't know how to word it . . . so how should my husband and I sign this card?

3. Should my husband and I invite the girl and her parents to our home after the engagement announcement, or would we be considered too forward by making the first move? — R.J.

1. An engagement gift (unlike a wedding gift) is usually something for the girl's personal use. For example, you and your husband might like to give her a lovely white evening bag (beaded perhaps, or of white satin or brocade), a crystal photograph frame, for the wedding photograph later; an article for her dressing-table or something for her desk; a white pen and pencil set with her name imprinted on them; a piece of jewelry, real or costume; something for her trousseau (lingerie, for example, embroidered with her initials or her name; a piece of luggage, perhaps a white leather hat box or inconspicuous medium-size square box; comb-in-case for her purse; compact; short key-chain, initialed.

2. On the card you might write something like this: "From your Phil's mother and father, with dearest love, and most happily and broadly welcoming you, dear Marie, into our family. Every good wish always for your happiness." With this wording there need be no signature. However, if you wish to sign this or some other message, you may correctly sign "Henry and Rosemary Johnson." (The one who signs the card signs her name as name last.)

3. It will be a correct gesture, and very charming and hospitable, for you to invite the girl and her parents to your home for any occasion and as soon as you wish. This social move is very appropriately made by the prospective groom's parents, who may have either a get-together for the family, or a party to introduce their son's fiancee to their relatives and friends.

SEVEN PRESENTS FOR SEVEN SHOWERS . . . AND NOW THE EIGHTH!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a close and long-time friend of the mother of the bride-to-be. The wedding is to take place in about five weeks, and already the girl has been given seven showers, to each of which I have gone and brought her a thoughtfully-chosen and quite expensive gift. And now of course my husband and I are planning to send her wedding present. But today I received an invitation to the eighth shower, the invitation stating that since the bride-to-be particularly wishes to have two matching pair.) of silver candlesticks (mentioning the name of the silver and the design) the boat-sending invitation writer states that she 'will give her one pair, and the guests invited to the eighth shower are to give the other pair as a "joint" present. Then the last line of the invitation states "Your share is four dollars." No "if you wish to contribute," or anything like this. Somehow I object to this peremptory kind of invitation for a "joint" gift, and I'm not sure I'll accept the invitation or send the four dollars. What is your reaction to such an invitation? — A.M.

You've used the perfect word for this invitation—"peremptory." It's fairly demanding, I think, for the same guests to be invited to eight showers, and I think you've done your duty to have given seven shower presents. As to this latest, if you don't wish to go to the shower, you may "regret" the invitation and therefore just take it for granted that you would not be expected to send the four dollars. This procedure, quite customary, could not justifiably be criticized.

Armchair Travelogue With Refreshments

By Mary Moore

Concentrate while you follow the Elder Shaw telephoned on Monday morning to say the Outerbridges were my new neighbors on whom she and Fred had called on Sunday, leaving with them their guests the Mom's from New York. The Outerbridges and the Moss' had met on a ship out of Yokohama on which they were all sailing to cross the Pacific, destined for the same city—Hamilton, Canada. The Outerbridges were newly retired after 46 years of missionary work in Japan. Latterly he was president of Kwansei Gakuin University at Nishinomiya.

The Moss's took colour pictures to which the Outerbridges were included, and on their return to New York had received them from the Kodak people, bought a projector, brought it to Shaw's in Hamilton, arranged the year's tour worth of slides in chronological order for the first showing.

So I could meet my new neighbors we were invited to the picture show with 20 others at the Shaw's. I really had an arm chair in which to watch this glorious armchair travelogue beside the projector operator, Jerry Moss. We had 3 1-3 hours to go 44,000 miles! Of course it took Edna and Jerry a year and a week to gather this entertainment for us, going from New York via the Atlantic, Mediterranean, Suez, Indian Ocean, Pacific with hundreds of stops en route and all types of travel accommodation from camel to turbojet.

Of course it is the lucky Elder served in her perennial calm and organized fashion that I want to describe. For 25 she prepared loaves of various kinds of sandwiches, including white bread, whole wheat and dark rye. The fillings were chicken—two breasts steamed and chopped and mixed with celery etc.—2 boiled and mixed with onion and salad dressing; ham—1-1/4 pieces of pasmalled bacon simmered, ground and mixed with corn relish.

Elder, the artist, cut these in sharp triangles and arranged them on huge platters. If any had 2 pins to arrange she would do it artistically with celery etc.—5 boiled a picture, as was the whole low very long coffee table down in their recreation room turned picture show. She also served homemade water melon rind pickle, made from rinds saved in the nick of time from her neighbors' garbage tins. Jerry roared at her economies and especially at her remembrance when he brought home three 77 cent jars of olives: "Oh, Jerry, our friends will think we are putting on the dog if we serve all those olives!" Unperturbedly Elder said that she knew they would be gadding during the Mom's one-week visit and made six pies and put them in the freezer, unbaked, along with four 5-rib roasts, for the Moss's are partial to beef. When they would go out for the afternoon the roast went in the oven at 250 deg. When they returned the heat was turned up to finish it, while the vegetables cooked, then in went the frozen pie! Elder has that rare faculty of organizing without scaring you with her efficiency. The hostess with the mostest — controlled, smiling, charming, and what's best—enjoying every minute of it.

INVENTING sandwiches every morning for school lunches can be a chore that adds to the confusion of the general exodus. How about making — and freezing — a whole week's supply at once? Put them in labeled individual bags. They can go into the lunchbox frozen, and will be thawed and fresh-tasting by noon.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FOR YOU, YOUR DECISION IS RIGHT

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'd like to put my two cents worth in about girls who rush around with married men.

I know what I'm talking about, as my own husband has been running around with a girl he works with. She keeps telephoning him and if I answer she says she has the wrong number. I had the phone number changed, but it did not help as my husband gave her the new one.

My husband and I have been married 15 years and have one child, a 12-year-old boy. I've always been a good wife, have a good name in the community and attend church regularly. We own our own home and have something put away that we wouldn't have if I didn't manage carefully and do without lots of things and good times.

As I see it, there's no reason in the world for my husband to behave as he does, as we've always gotten along together. But I guess some men just can't pass up a pretty face. I imagine my husband has been telling the girl he's been taking out that he's going to divorce me, but I know he would have to give up his home for anyone. I'm perfectly willing to let him have a divorce, but he doesn't want one. He just likes to feel that he isn't growing old, that he can still charm the girls.

You may say I'm a fool to put up with him, but there's our boy to consider and he'd be the one to suffer, so sometimes it's best not to see too much. Also, I feel that some day my husband will wake up as well as grow up.

I'd like to say to the girls who go out with married men that they had better wake up to the fact that they'll be taken for a ride. Even if the man tells them that he's going to divorce his wife, if he really meant it, he wouldn't keep the girl dangling. I really feel sorry for these girls, but it's up to them to wake up. If I were in their place, I'd give a man a reasonable length of time to arrange things with his wife and if he did not come through then, I'd drop him like a hot cake, because it would show he didn't mean what he said. But they say love is blind, and I guess some of us need a while cane for our heart to show us the way. — Mrs. T.L.

Dear Mrs. T.L.:

I'm very much impressed with your letter, and think you're a woman of great character and remarkable insight. Moreover, you're also a woman who seems to take a problem realistically, decides what she is going to do about it and then goes steadfastly about with that decision. It's not only a very admirable quality, but one that's all too rare.

You say I might think you a fool to put up with your husband's philandering. But that isn't the way I feel about it at all. What I think is that a problem of this sort has to be answered individually; that a wife has to analyze it for herself, decide where her own best interests and those of her family—in your case, your young son—lie, and make her decision on that basis. This you've done and so, for you, your decision is right. Another woman might conceivably come to an entirely different decision, and hers could be just as right for her as yours for you.

Of course you're absolutely right about girls who go out with married men, and I can only hope that what you say may perhaps have some effect upon any such girls who might read this column.

I feel that the mature attitude you're taking toward your husband may, in time, bring its reward by having him—as you put it—"wake up as well as grow up." If, however, you shouldn't be so successful in that respect, you'll still be fortunate in having developed a philosophy that will enable you, I feel sure, to make a rich and full life for yourself anyhow.

The best of luck to you and, if you feel like it, let me know from time to time how things go.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

BEAUTY AND FASHION HINTS FOR THE PLUMP WOMAN

Upswept hairdos and long V-neck-lines are most flattering to the woman with round face and short neck.

If a woman is overweight, she should, "do," of course—and only for the sake of her looks but for the sake of her health. There are, however, some women who, while not genuinely overweight, give the impression of carrying too many pounds because they are stockily built—short of stature, round-faced, short-necked and definitely not willowy through the midriff. For these ladies, as well as for the woman who is dieting but has not yet achieved the measurements she'd like, here are a few tips which will help her to look more slender and to offset the appearance of "dumpiness" which overweight or a stockybuild creates.

Her first concern, of course, must be neatness and good grooming. Neatness and good grooming are important to every woman but they are doubly important where the heavier types are concerned. An ill-pressed frock, collar or cuffs which are not spanking fresh, a badly placed belt are twice as noticeable on the plump girl as they are on a slender one. And, speaking of clothes, heavy women should never wear clothes that are too tight—whether in the midriff, over the hips or over the bosom. Just because she can squeeze into a half size smaller than her normal size, makes many a woman feel she looks slimmer. But she's only fooling herself. Actually, she looks heavier because, poured into a tight dress, she bulges in all directions.

We might also caution the plump or stocky woman against sweaters which they fill all too well. The figure-hugging lines of a sweater are only for figures that deserve to be spotlighted. Splashy prints, bold colors, ruffles and frills should also be avoided.

Where hairdos are concerned, the woman with a round, full face and short neck should never go in for styles which are long and low about the neck—no matter how glamorous they may appear on others. Page boy cuts and similar "dos" are out. The coiffure that's most flattering to this type is one with an upward line, one that sweeps back from the face doesn't frame it in curls, which by widen its ample dimensions. To prevent vogue for upswept coiffures with a highly placed chignon (ideal for smaller heads).

As for necklines, it's best to stick to the "V's". They lend illusion of length to the throat and with the upswept hairdo, give the appearance of greater height orally. Jewelry should never be the massive or chunky type. Accurate necklaces and earrings are better because they're less flowering in their delicacy. And don't get, when choosing such accessories as hats, bags, etc., the large size in mind. If you're on the short, stocky side, large bags and "dos" can be pretty overwhelming too.

Contact Club Plans Future Activities

The weekly meeting of the Contact Club was held Monday in the British hall.

Business was conducted by president, Catherine Boulet, and the programs for the remaining meetings were discussed.

Mrs. Stewart is the new secretary, replacing Win Taylor. Thank you' notes were read from Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Wareham.

It was voted on that the profit from the new project which is selling peanuts, be used to buy a refrigerator for the kitchen. This certainly a worthwhile aim.

On November 13, the parcel for Bloore Factory will be packed and will also be a handicraft evening.

On November 19, Mr. Joseph Rowe of the Ontario School for the Deaf, will lecture and members may bring a friend.

November 26 will be a study group in the form of questions and answers and Alice Wonnacott would like all questions in next week so Archdeacon J. B. Creegan may have them.

December 3rd will be election of officers and an exhibition of the handicraft work. December 10th will be the final meeting for the year and the Christmas party.

A rummage sale will be held in November under Margaret Wiggins' group.

Hostesses for the evening were: Nadine Thorn, Evelyn Wareham, and Isobel Murray.

Kiwanis LA. Announces 1957 Directors

The November meeting of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary was held at the Kiwanis Centre with the president, Mrs. E. Vogan, presiding.

After the usual reports were given, Mrs. W. Slack, convener of the social, held recently at the Kiwanis Centre, gave special thanks to the co-convener, Mrs. R. Trow, and thanked everyone who helped in any way to make the day successful. Mrs. Vogan presented Mrs. Slack with the president's rose as a token of appreciation for all her work in planning the bazaar.

It was decided to give a donation to the Quinte Welare Organization.

The new directors for 1957 were announced as follows: Mrs. C. Arg; Mrs. J. Allan; Mrs. K. Burkitt; Mrs. E. Fidler; Mrs. C. Hyde; Mrs. L. McDougall; Mrs. J. C. Pinchard, Mrs. S. Quinney.

The December meeting will be in the form of a pot-luck supper to which the Bayette Club will be invited as guests.

After the meeting, Court Whist was enjoyed, winners being: Mrs. McDougall and Mrs. H. Emerson.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. S. McKenna and her committee.

The Empire line is defined by a high-line belt effect, there are smooth raglan shoulders and bell-shaped sleeves for this rich yet extremely practical fashion.

Alpha Lambda Sorority Holds Monthly Meeting

The regular meeting of the Alpha Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Lance Read, 33 Fairway.

Mrs. Gordon Thompson and Miss Chris Rutherford spoke on the International Endowment Fund and Loan Fund.

Mrs. Donald Carr was in charge of the program for the evening; her topic being "Oratory."

The members were then called upon to give a two minute impromptu speech on "What Friendship Means to Me".

The president, Mrs. Earle Kuntze, received word from International that during the silver anniversary year 1955-56, five new chapters were formed throughout the world.

The baby clothes in the Samaritan cupboard at the Belleville hospital are being replenished by the members, as there will now be more space in the new wing.

Tickets are being distributed for the Doll Draw in December and some are now available in Kuntze's Appliance Store.

The closing ritual was said by the members and refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. L. Read and co-hostess, Mrs. W. Simpson.

Phalanx Club Holds Supper Meeting

The Phalanx Club met for its monthly supper meeting at the Queen's Motel on Wednesday night.

After a fine supper, the members returned to the "Y" for their business meeting. Bill Muirhead presided as president.

The members of the last meeting were read by secretary Merle Massey.

A report of the regional conference held in Brantford was read by Jack Kane and Ron Green. This was well discussed with many facts under issue.

Volunteers were asked for the Blitz canvass to take place in Belleville shortly with Bill Muirhead to represent the club at the committee meeting.

An executive meeting will be held at Ron Elmy's, Sunday night, November 11 and a project committee meeting headed by Jack Mathews will be held at Jack Kane's, on Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Other business was discussed and the meeting was adjourned.

EGGLETON W.M.S. AND W.A.

MADOC JUNCTION — The November meeting of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bruce Stapley.

The president, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, presided over a program which had been prepared by Mrs. Gordon Nelson, and opened the meeting.

The pastor, Rev. G. Dyson, led in prayer. For the Scripture lesson, Mrs. Gordon Nelson read selected verses from Matthew, chapters 15, 19 and 20, and gave the commentary on the lesson using the theme, "The Touch of the Master's Hand."

A poem, "The Test," was read by Mrs. William McMullen.

Mrs. Clarence Fitchett gave a report of the W.M.S. rally held at Bethel-Zion, in October. She also read a letter from the November Missionary Monthly written by Lidia Jose Wandi, a worker at the Means School in Africa. This letter had been sent with and translated by Miss Edith Clarke, a missionary home on furlough, who was the guest speaker at the rally.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy read a letter in the October Missionary Monthly, written by Maria Chelo, who also is assisting with the work at the Means Girls' School in Africa, while Miss Clarke is home.

All enjoyed the solo, "There Were Ninety and Nine," sung my Mrs. Dyson.

Mrs. Murrey Kirkey read a poem, "The Little Things."

The offering, gathered by Miss Joyce Stapley, was dedicated by singing "We Give Thee Back Thine Own."

Mrs. Carl Bridges and Mrs. George Jervis were appointed to prepare the program. It was decided that each member would bring a small gift to the December meeting for a gift exchange.

Bills, as follows, were then presented: one for repairs and tuning of the church piano; another for ads in the News-Argus for the anniversary services and the bake sale held the following Saturday; a third for the new Study Book for the year 1956-57.

Mr. Dyson conducted the election of officers for the W.M.S. and the W.A. The installation of the officers will take place at the church at a later date.

Mrs. M. Clancy thanked Mr. Dyson; the program convener, Mrs. Nelson; Mrs. Dyson for the lovely solo, and all others who had assisted with the program; also Mrs. Bruce Stapley for opening her home for the meeting.

The ladies served refreshments, and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Thousand Canadian Soldiers May Spend Yule in Palestine

OTTAWA (CP)—It looks like Christmas in Palestine for more than 1,000 Canadian soldiers.

The government Wednesday ordered a battalion group and supporting contribution to the United Nations police force designed to maintain a truce between Israel and the Arab states.

The Canadian contribution will likely be the largest and Canada may also have to look after supply of the entire UN force which may reach a strength of 10,000 men.

Canada was first in with an offer for the UN force and only two days after passage of a Canadian-sponsored resolution in the United Nations General Assembly for creation of the international police. The force was set up by the Assembly Wednesday night.

It will be a few weeks before the Canadian contingent is ready to be flown overseas by RCAF transports.

The defence department was working on the assumption that the Canadian contingent would be sent to the Middle East and preparations were in progress for its move.

MAY USE "BOXCARS"

No. 426 Squadron of Edmonton, comprising C119 Flying Boxcars, was ordered to move east to help, if needed, the North Star planes of Air Transport Command in the airlift.

The aircraft carrier Magnificent will carry some supplies to the Middle East and act as a mobile base for the Canadian contingent, at least in the first phases of what the government planners called "policing operations."

With this picture, the government gave a clear indication it does not expect—or want—the Canadian force to get into any fighting. It said the carrier will also provide a small hospital to accommodate the sick and "injured"—not "wounded"—in the force.

The army was expected to announce soon its selection of the men for the UN job. It will be augmented by ordnance, army service corps, medical and dental detachments to ensure that the battalion group is self-contained and can operate independently. The battalion personnel will be drawn from the army's home forces, not the 3rd Infantry Brigade in Europe.

There will be myriad details to work out before the contingent can move. Inoculations for one thing. Advance parties will have to arrange for the contingent's arrival.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the government's plans after a three-hour morning cabinet meeting Wednesday. The cabinet convened for another 3½ hours in the afternoon.

STH SIDNEY — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seeney and Mr. Leonard Carr, Campbellford, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Carr.

Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. M. Carr and granddaughter, Margaret Jane, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Carr, Glen Miller.

Mr. Harvey Johnston spent Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. M. Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bush, Sid Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martyn were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Rees Dafoe and Mrs. H. Dafoe.

Mrs. Rees Dafoe spent Tuesday with Mrs. S. Lloyd and Mrs. H. Gray.

Mr. Perry Sine and Miss Phyllis Sine, Frankford, called on Mrs. H. Dafoe Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland and John were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Twiddy, Canniffton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Faul played host to Brookdale Farm Forum Monday evening.

Several women attended Uniondale Women's Institute meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bush, fourth line.

Mrs. J. A. Loucks died recently from a heart attack. Sympathy is extended to the family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McIlroy and boys, Marmora, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morley and boys, Peterborough were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Sine, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wright, Ricky and Susan, Stirling, spent the dinner hour Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Morley Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dafoe called on Mr. and Mrs. Bob Flindall and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flindall, Kingston, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frost and Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martyn attended the the services in Belleville Sunday afternoon for the laying of the cornerstone of the new Zion Methodist church.

Mrs. W. Yateman, Belleville, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Rex Frost.

Mr. George Pollard will be away for two weeks at London. Mrs. George Pollard is spending a few days in Oshawa.

Sunday afternoon Mr. McConnell of the Ontario Temperance Federation took the service in Scott's church. He read from Genesis 3rd chapter, the story of the expulsion from the garden of Eden. Figurative language he showed the province of Ontario as this garden of Eden and the people here representing Adam and Eve and all is lovely. Then Satan, as represented by beverage alcohol, comes along. In place of the serpent his helpers are radio, television, government control, social acceptance, and newspaper and magazine advertisements. In all these beverage alcohol is made to appear nice to the eye, to be a food, and to be altogether desirable. None of the results are shown.

Alcoholics Anonymous is doing good work in rehabilitation of the drink addict; but the temperance federation firmly believes that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure". End starts to work at the other end to prevent drinking.

There are 18,000 alcoholics in the province with an annual increase of 2,000. This situation is serious.

Help and prayers are needed.

DESERONTO

Councillors Hear Two Delegations

DESERONTO — Town council met in regular session on Monday night. Reeve Dr. D. C. McPicken occupied the chair in the absence of Mayor T. S. Scott.

O. W. Larry of Trenton, representing the Lake Ontario Development Association, addressed the council. He outlined the work being done by the association and pointed out the advantages to the town of being a member of the organization. Some members of the council spoke very favorably of joining the Development Association.

E. Luck, local Civil Defence Co-ordinator, also addressed council and outlined the progress being made by that organization. He presented council with a request for an appropriation to establish a suitable headquarters. Council moved that the Finance Committee meet with the Co-ordinator to examine the solmization on costs and report back to the next meeting for immediate action.

A letter from Mrs. L. O. Roy regarding bread in front of her home on Green Street, was referred to the Streets' Committee.

Three by-laws were passed one appointing the polling booths, returning officers etc., for the election in December. Nomination day for council and other public offices has been set for November 23rd.

Another by-law passed set the fee payable for indigent funerals at $150 and the last by-law concerned the sale of land to W. Rutan.

FINANCIAL POSITION GIVEN

Councillor S. W. Spence, chairman of the finance committee gave a financial report to the end of October and also an estimated report to December 31st. According to his figures the town should end the fiscal year with an anticipated surplus of $5,300.00. Mr. Spence stated that this surplus was due to unforeseen revenue and was especially notable as almost all committees had exceeded their appropriation. In his opinion deficits in each department was the result of poor financing and could be attributed to the policy of keeping the estimates low in order to keep the mill rate down. Council accepted his report to the end of October.

Several members of the Council spoke in favor of using the speed timer more frequently on Dundas St, since the police department has curtailed its use the motorists have been having a holiday through the town and many cars along Dundas St, at speeds in excess of 70 miles an hour. It was moved that the Police Commission work out a suitable program with the Police Department in an effort to force motorists to adhere to the speed law.

There was also some discussion regarding the non-co-operation of the Medical Officer of Health but action on this matter was deferred to the next meeting of the council.

A meeting of the Civil Defence Committee was held last weekend with the Area Co-ordinator, Major Broadbent of Brockville in attendance. The main discussions centred about the purpose and work of each committee and the equipment required for the work. Major Broadbent assisted each committee in outlining their requirements. He advised that this area was to be classified as an evacuation area and should be prepared to accommodate a certain number of persons from target areas.

The local co-ordinator E. Luck stated that the local authorities would be approached immediately regarding a suitable headquarters for the unit. The group were complimented by Major Broadbent on their quiet enthusiastic and comprehensive approach to the organization of the committee.

About 2:30 Tuesday morning the Fire Department were called to the home of Charles Cole, Fourth St., where an oil burner was giving a little trouble. There was no damage and the firemen were able to return to the hall almost immediately.

STIRLING

Agricultural Film 'Enough for All' Enjoyed at River Valley W.I.

STIRLING — The postponed meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held last Friday at the home of Mrs. Alex Bush, with 19 members and several children in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Roy Bush, presided.

The assistant secretary, Mrs. J. R. Donohoe, gave a full report of the recent Hallowe'en party and other details.

Mrs. Glenn Bush and Mrs. Ernest Carr voiced thanks on behalf of their children, who had been remembered when ill.

The girls' 4-H Club has 17 members and have begun their autumn project. The first of a series of euchre parties at the school house will commence on Friday evening, November 16th, under the leadership of Mrs. Ed. Heasman and Mrs. John Kaze.

Plans were completed for "Community Night" at the school next Friday evening, November 23rd, at 8.15 p.m. when Mr. A. Cummins, Belleville public school inspector, will be the special speaker. The evening is for the River Valley folk and other Institute members outside the section and a few invited guests. The ladies are asked to bring sandwiches or cake.

The fall issue of "Home and Country" magazine was distributed. It contains an enlarged picture of the home of Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, (founder of the Institute movement) at St. George, Ontario, where she was born in 1857. There is also a discriptive account of Mrs. Alice Sibley, president A.C.W.W. and her visit in Ontario.

A special donation of a jar of home canned food was brought in at the "thanksgiving season," and a committee was appointed to distribute it to folks in the valley. Other members can bring their donation to the next meeting.

It was decided to again remember the older folk at the Christmas season from the Institute funds.

The reports of the 30th area convention, recently held in Belleville, were given by Mrs. Dod Donohoe, and Mrs. Roy Irven. Plans are to broadcast via radio and television for the 60th anniversary in February, 1957. The expenses of delegates, and a car each day for transportation was authorized to be paid.

AGRICULTURAL FILM

Miss Marion Carlisle presided over the program in "Agriculture," and introduced Mr. Allan Francis, associate agricultural representative.

Mr. Francis spoke briefly and then presented an interesting and colorful film entitled, "Enough for All." This presentation gave the modern conception of our daily bread. "True, there is concern expressed in many ways, that we will always have an abundance of food at all times in Canada. Then, too, it is hoped that someday all the people of the world will be able to enjoy the fruits of the land as more up-to-date agricultural methods are used to speed up production of food.

The film pictured agriculture activities centuries ago when primitive tools were used. Following the hard work done by hand, came the machine age, and now there is powerful modern equipment.

Ways and means have been devised to stop the water erosion which carries off the rich top soil. The scientist has helped greatly to produce more bushels of wheat. Great progress has been made in poultry research and more ducklings are produced. Better breeds of beef cattle; the dairy cow, with a more productive flow of milk and more butter fat content.

The milking machine age has been a great factor in milk production as well as better food for the dairy cow.

NUTRITIONAL RESEARCH

The research in nutrition has given farmers a better idea of what to grow, and they have learned how to build better rations and thus have healthier animals.

Valuable nutrients have been saved through up-to-date hay harvesting, which preserves the succulent green feed in the silo. Tractors have replaced horses.

Then too, scientists have helped to improve the qualities of the soil, and they assist in good soil management. The cultivation between fruit trees, the use of fertilizer, good irrigation methods, and the irradiation of noxious weeds, were all explained in the film as well as spraying by airplane to deal death to weeds. The various insecticides for the control of plant pests are also another great help to those who produce food.

WHEAT STORY

The closing section of the film was donated to "The Story of Wheat," from the wavy heads of golden grain to the finished product, bread. The large modern drills that sowed an acre of ground in seven minutes, to the crowning achievement, large power combines, gave a vivid story of 100 years experience in this line of agriculture.

Lastly, there were close-up scenes of the vast production of bread, milk, butter, cheese, eggs, beef, pork, tomatoes and numerous other vegetables with scenes in modern marketerias in the larger cities.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen voiced thanks to Mr. Francis, on behalf of the members, for presenting such an interesting and educational film which all had greatly enjoyed.

The refreshments committee served fruit bread, jello and angel cake.

Mrs. Stanley Irven voiced thanks for hospitality, program and refreshments.

Had Indigestion, Headaches, Nervous, Couldn't Sleep

This Woman Tells of Good Results She Got By Taking Syntona.

Year after year Syntona Herbal Compound is becoming more popular with men and women who suffer from minor disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, nervousness or tired, run-down condition.

"Remarkable Improvement"

Mrs. Margaret Carlisle, 727 College Street, Woodstock, Ontario, said in a recent interview:

"I used to suffer all the time with indigestion, and I would say that I had headaches all the time. I became nervous, couldn't keep at night and my nerves were all on edge. Nearly every morning I'd have a throbbing headache.

"But Syntona has given me wonderful results. It cleared up the gas and nose and throat trouble. I now eat and sleep well, enjoy my work and I am getting sound sleep. It also put us in and to the headaches and tired, rundown feeling."

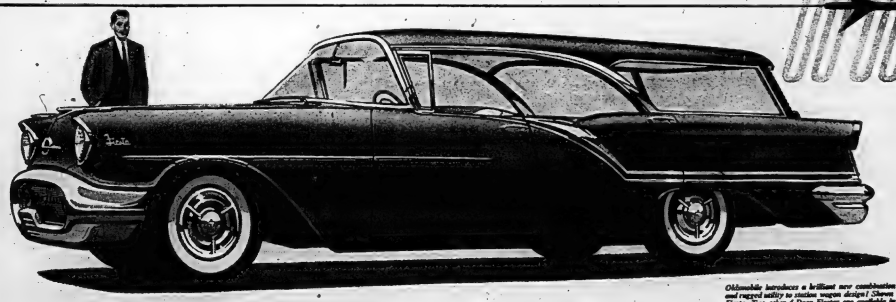
NEW 1957 OLDSMOBILES!

This year,
the accent's on Oldsmobile
the car that puts the accent on you!



Just look! It's the completely new Oldsmobile for '57! The car with the styling that spotlights you . . . the car with the features that benefit you . . . NEW PROFILE—longer, far lower to wrap you in high style . . . give you a wonderful "low-level" ride • NEW TWIN-STRUT REAR WINDOW—an exciting new accent in smart style and around-the-corner visibility • PIVOT-POISE FRONT SUSPENSION WITH COUNTER DIVE—bringing you new precision handling and smooth, on-the-level stops • STRUT-MOUNTED INSTRUMENTS—for easily accessible controls • 17 MODELS . . . 3 SERIES . . . GOLDEN ROCKET 88, SUPER 88, STARFIRE 98. In every model you'll find the new styling values—the new engineering values that tell why . . . Only Olds could be so New!

Unmistakably the accent's on luxury in the Starfire 98 Series. Available in four glamorous models. Jetaway Hydra-Matic, Power Steering, Pedal-Ease Power Brakes and many other extra-value features are standard equipment.

FOR '57 . . . THE Accents ON

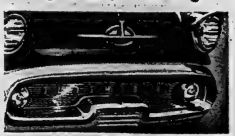
OLDSMOBILE

Oldsmobile introduces a brilliant new combination of sporting glamour and rugged utility in station wagon design! Shown above, the Super 88 Fiesta. Two other 4-Door Fiestas are available in the Golden Rocket 88 Series.



Only Olds could be so New!

NEW SPAN-A-RAMIC WINDSHIELD . . . a new slant on an Olds idea for style and safety! Over 10% more glass area gives you better, wider visibility . . . and wraps every beautiful view around you.

EXCLUSIVE ACCENT STRIPE . . . another reflection of Olds styling leadership and your own good taste. This distinctive "accent" styling is mirrored inside, too, in smart new Tech-Style Interiors!

NEW 98-LO BUMPER . . . functional and handsome, too! A double bumper completely frames the new recessed grille and parking lights . . . gives twice the protection of an ordinary bumper.

NEW WIDE-STANCE CHASSIS . . . heavier, wider, with a lower centre of gravity. Wider chassis and spring base means greater stability, flatter cornering and more all-around comfort for you.

DELETE SKIT

NEW YORK (AP)—A skit satirizing a United Nations session has been deleted from the Broadway revue, New Faces of 1956, because of the current international crisis.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was making something out of the cookbook, and I came in the back way and started to watch, saying, say ma, Sam Cross's mother is so lazy—easy, with him. It's fierce how easy he is with him, I said.

I quite agree, ma said. It's the talk of the neyborhood how she allows that boy to walk over her, she said, and I said, fierce, ma, she even lets him ease her back when she says anything to him. It's fierce to listen to, ma, I said.

It's a good thing you realize it for your own peace and comfort, ma said, and I said, fierce, G, you should of heard him just a little while ago. There was a lot of tar in the street where it got spilt by a truck, and Sam walked in it and tracked so he was a fly stuck on fly paper, and then he went in the house and got tar all over the front room, and his mother started to yell at him and he yelled back at her, and she didn't punish him a thing, I said.

That's dizkraceful, a woman like that either has no backbone or no sense, ma said, and I said, Well, she walks ziraks, so her backbone must be all right, so it must be her sense.

I agree with you, although it's not nice for a child to criticize his elders, ma said, and I said, No maam, but anyways, ma, I pretended I was a fly too, but I know darn well you'll have more sense than Mrs. Cross, say maybe more backbone too. But anyways I had enough sense and backbone myself to come in the back way and leave my shoes in the yard. I guess you didn't notice I haven't got shoes on. Maybe you can get the stuff off of the bottoms with cleeshay stuff, I said.

Not being quite the end of the subject.

FOOTBALL INJURY FATAL

CANTON, S.D. (AP) — A high school sophomore died Tuesday night of an injury suffered in a football game Friday night in Plandreau, S.D. The victim was Clifford Ness of Canton, who was injured in the fourth quarter of his team's 13-13 tie to Flandreau. The boy told his coach shortly after the play that a knee struck him just above the hip as he was carrying the ball.

Surprise Package OF '57 ...Pontiac!

Pontiac Laurentian 4-door Sport Sedan

Six Great Series • Five Super-Smooth Transmissions • Mighty New Engines

It's the biggest surprise of any year . . . 1957's bright, brand-new Pontiac with a lean, new cleanness of line—a great new gaiety of color—and a lifting new lift in performance!

One glance at these slim, trim sidelines, happily highlighted with bold color spears, will convince your mind and your heart that this is the ultimate in newness and the only car on the road for you!

Because Pontiac for 1957 is completely new—from power to personality . . . completely yours—from pricing to possessing!

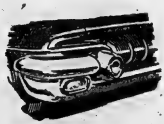
Completely new in power, did we say? Well, yes . . . with a brand-new choice of engines, from the economical dependability of Pontiac's famous Strato-Six with 148 horsepower, right up to the newest thing in automobiles—the 283 horsepower Power Chief Fuel Injection V8 engine* . . . all the reserve power you'll ever need!

Completely new in personality, too? Surely, with Pontiac's new Star Flight Body Design . . . the only new car in the lowest-priced field with uncluttered, clean lines that betoken supreme quality and style. And inside, Pontiac's new interiors, new trim, new everything create a classic combination of comfort, luxury and beauty!



And completely new all the way in between? Definitely—with some striking new "firsts" on Pontiac for 1957. Triple-turbine Turboglide*, for one example . . . and revolutionary Fuel Injection*—the newest ideas yet in production cars!

But get the full story—first hand. The newest car of any year is on display now at your Pontiac dealer's!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

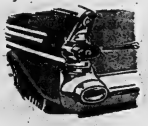
On Pontiac for 1957 there's the added safety of constant-speed electric windshield wipers . . . offered as an accessory on all models.



The newness of Pontiac styling extends to these boldly-designed tail-lamp units as well. Striking, but not gaudy, they keep your safety in mind.

All Pontiac models for 1957 have new deep-dish steering wheels, another example of clean Pontiac styling with a practical purpose.

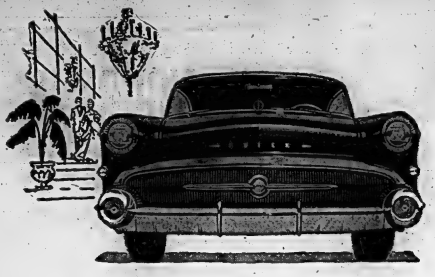
Pontiac's new fuel filler door hides behind a glamorous exterior! Neatly tucked away in the windsplit, it's readily accessible when needed.

A new three-position switch provides an accessory position to operate the radio, heater and other accessories with engine and ignition turned off.



A "first" on Pontiac for 1957, Fuel Injection is the newest of new engine advancements in production cars. Eliminates carburetors completely.*

Newest Buick Yet

Buick Roadmaster 4-door Riviera

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

You know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true—gospel true.

And we bring them to you with a soaring enthusiasm we can hardly contain—the newest new Buicks ever built.

All New—and Then some!

We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that poise on new nodal-point mountings for peak freedom from vibration—that "feed" through a rust-free fuel system—that breathe freer and deeper to deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive" that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.*

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Come learn about the host of wonders to be had here—including a true work-wagon with the racy and airy grace of a pillarless 4-Door hardtop Riviera—the most beautiful Estate Wagon you ever beheld.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all—and how catching this excitement can be.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

RAWDON

Mt. Pleasant United Church Marks Eighty-Fifth Anniversary

RAWDON — On Sunday the 85th anniversary of Mount Pleasant United Church on the Rawdon Circuit was held. The day was ideal with a bright sky and a warm atmosphere. Worshippers gathered from all nearby centres, several of whom were former members at Mount Pleasant.

The church was filled to capacity with an overflow in the church basement.

Baskets of various shades of mums were used for decoration.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver officiated at the piano and rendered as a prelude, "In the Garden," by Miles, and for offertory, "Have Thine Own Way," by Lorenz.

The choir of 15 voices, which included Mr. Harry Brown of Carmel, contributed two anthems, "Come Thou Almighty King," by Landon, and "Have You Any Room for Jesus?" by Williams.

The minister, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., presided and officially welcomed the large audience.

The opening hymn was "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The offering was gathered by Messrs. Raymond McConnell, Bert Sharp, Harry McAdam and James Hoard.

Charles Wesley's hymn, "Love Divine," preceded the anniversary message given by Mr. John McMurray of Knox College, Toronto, who chose as his text, found in Revelation 4, "And behold a throne was set in heaven, and there was a rainbow like unto an emerald."

The speaker said, "The rainbow shows the mercy of God." He pointed out that God's mercy always overshadows God's judgment.

The mercy of God is a thing of exquisite beauty, and quoted that old familiar hymn, "I'll Bless the Hand that Guarded and Planned." He pictured the streets of heaven with familiar figures from the Bible: patriarchs, prophets, apostles; also martyrs which included men like Martin Luther and also such names as Wesley, Knox and others who have contributed so much to this world of ours, stressing the marvellous and wonderful power of the love of Jesus, and gave a graphic picture of the rainbow and its mission.

He closed with a vivid narrative based on God's mercy and followed with a challenge to the audience to be ready for the time when the frail curtain falls, adding "this 85th anniversary should be a time for rededication of service to your church."

The morning service closed with the rendition of "Through every period of my life," Thy goodness I'll pursue, and after death in distant worlds, the glorious theme renew."

EVENING SERVICE

At the evening service the church was filled to capacity. The pianist used as a prelude Thompson's arrangement of "I Need Thee Every Hour," and the offertory selection was, "The Old Rugged Cross," by Bernard.

The choir rendered, "Lord I Want to be a Christian in My Heart," with Mrs. Mac Sharp taking the solo part. The ladies' quartet, Mrs. Marguerite McMullen, Miss Betty McConnell, Mrs. Eric Summers and Mrs. Clinton Potts, sang "At Close of Day," by Fox.

Mr. Orno Sharp assisted with gathering the offering, and the total contributions were most gratifying with over $800 received.

Mr. John McMurray gave another excellent address on the theme "The Place Called Calvary." He opened with a narrative dealing with "the servants who were sent to collect the Lord's rightful dues," and then pictured how, in the course of time, Christ Jesus was sent into the world to redeem sinners.

True, this redemption was purchased at a terrible price, and there has been a spirit of conflict down through the ages. The old hymn aptly pictures how Christ the Saviour sealed each individual's pardon with His blood.

CALVARY

Calvary was a place of conversion, and the speaker gave a vivid picture of that much-discussed word "conversion," and quoted the hymn, "at the cross where I first saw the light and the burden of my sins rolled away." Then, too, Calvary is a place of confession, and the speaker challenged his audience with the question, "Have you personally been to the Cross of Calvary?" He gave a vivid story based on the theme, "The Way of the Cross Leads Home," and closed with a favorite hymn, "All This I Did for Thee. What Will You Do for Me?"

The pastor presided over the service which opened with "Stand Up and Bless the Lord." The Bible lesson was read from St. Luke 23. Previous to the message, the congregation sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

The anniversary services closed in the theme of being faithful to God and His church, and carrying on the fine traditions laid down by all those who have passed on to their reward.

At the close, all sang "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross, Till I Reach the Golden Street, Just Beyond the River."

Roberts Suggests Retail Sales Tax By Municipalities

TORONTO (CP)—A municipal retail sales tax could be a big aid to communities lacking adequate tax sources, Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario said Wednesday night.

Mr. Roberts said in a speech to the Ontario Property Owners' Association that the tax was beneficial because "it provides a means whereby persons working and shopping in the city and benefiting from various municipal services, but living in the suburbs may be compelled to contribute to the taxes of the city."

He stressed that he discussed the tax "merely for the purpose of bringing the subject before you, as one of interest, perhaps worthy of study."

The attorney-general said the retail sales tax is used in 33 states of the United States, the District of Columbia and five Canadian provinces — Saskatchewan, Quebec, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland.

FOLLOWS U.S.

The provinces have modelled their retail sales tax acts on U.S. practice, Mr. Roberts said. They were prompted because of failure of other tax yields to keep pace with inflationary trends in prices, wages and continued pressure for property tax relief.

He outlined objections to the tax as: Further burdening of low-income groups; difficulty of collection because retailers outnumber wholesalers and manufacturers; inadequately kept records; shifting of shopping from a taxing municipality to a nearby non-taxing community.

In a resolution dealing with taxes, the association decided to ask the provincial government to furnish all money for education out of provincial tax revenues.

The resolution was prompted by the association's assertion that control of education by local authorities has resulted in wide differences in the quality of and facilities for education as well as in the cost of education to taxpayers.

In another resolution the association resolved to ask the provincial government to make all grants for municipal purposes, including education, directly to the municipalities, rather than to such groups as school boards.

The association charged that grants given to the school boards resulted in most cases in increased spending by the boards.

TWEED

Old Landmarks Replaced by Modern Buildings

TWEED — On Monday another business in Tweed changed hands when Dick Vesey Motor Sales, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile Dealer was taken over by Mr. C. E. Way, proprietor of Tweed Motor City Sales.

Mr. Vesey, with his wife and family, came to Tweed five years ago and leased the LeSage Bros. property on North Victoria St. Mr. Vesey has not stated what his plans are for the future, but the family will be staying in Tweed for the time being.

Last week, Mr. Way purchased the Central Bakery property owned by Brooke Clarke and also the buildings owned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherry which have been operated as a grocery store for many years. On or about December the 1st, the buildings will be dismantled to make additional space beside his present property on Main Street to display his used cars.

The old landmarks are fast disappearing from the business sections and are being replaced by more modern structures such as the new post office and municipal buildings. Where Mr. Way's show rooms and garage are located, a block of buildings were owned by Mr. Fred Arber and occupied by J. J. Luifman and Staff Cassidy as barber shops, and Tweed Public Library, also a brick building owned by Jack McNaught as a blacksmith shop.

IVANHOE

Bethesda United W.A. Bazaar Most Successful

IVANHOE — Bethesda United W.A. held a successful bazaar and tea on Thursday afternoon.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. S. Wickens and Mrs. Earl Holland.

Mrs. Leslie Blakely, W.A. president, presided and extended a welcome to all present.

The program opened by the singing of "Let the Beauty of Jesus be Seen in Me," followed by "The Lord's Prayer."

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Elmer Wood, who read Psalm 46. A reading, "Religion and Life," Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, St. Thomas' Anglican; solo, "This Is My Task," Mrs. Perry Bronson, Trinity United, Madoc; reading, "Molly Jane the W.A.," Mrs. Harold Holden, Salem United; solo, "It Took a Miracle," Mrs. William Donnan, St. Andrew's W.M.S.; piano solo, Mrs. Keith Bray, Beulah United W.M.S.; solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," Mrs. Wesley Hamilton, Tweed United W.M.S.

The guest speaker, Mrs. R. C. Jackson, of Madoc, vice-president of Belleville Presbytery, brought greetings on behalf of the Presbytery.

The subject of Mrs. Jackson's interesting address was, "What Does Your W.A. Mean to You?"

THE W.A.

"The W.A. is the mother organization of the church. It is to the church, what the mother is to the home, concerned with the comfort and well being of every member. It should prove a training ground and challenge women to assist in the church school.

"It is the duty of W.A. members to assist the pastor in his work, visiting newcomers, the aged, the lonely and the sick.

"It is the responsibility of the W.A. to provide the minister with a comfortable and well furnished home.

"Every member should strive to make the church a friendly church; they should radiate goodwill and hospitality — so that all who enter may sense the warmth and friendly atmosphere.

"The spirit of goodwill should reach beyond the church doors. Christ, our great example, was interested in people. The raising of money should never be allowed to be of paramount importance.

"The work of the W.A. can only reach out when each member has dedicated her life to the work of the Master."

Mrs. Jackson closed her fine address with an earnest prayer that all might serve faithfully and well.

Mrs. Harold Francis expressed thanks to the guest speaker and to all who had contributed to the program.

The bazaar and tea were held in the church parlors. The tea table was attractively arranged. Delicious refreshments were served.

The bazaar tables were nicely arranged. Mrs. Elvin Holland was in charge of the white elephant table with plants and vegetables also sold here.

The fancy work table was convened by Mrs. Carman Mullett; braided mats, quilts, babies' knitted wear, aprons, dainty and practical, children's dresses, pot holders, and towels were on display.

Mrs. Percy Dowsey and Mrs. Earl Holland were in charge of the home cooking booth, which was well supplied with pies, layer cakes, cookies, tarts, candy, buns, cup cakes, relishes and horse radish.

The proceeds amounted to $70.

ides apples, fruits grown Okanagan cherries, apricots— only place in Canada where are grown commercially— hes, plums, peaches, pears, es, crabapples and berry e fruit is shipped under re- ration to markets throughout Canada and, in the case of apples, the world.

Although all it takes is one acre to be registered as a grower with the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, veteran growers say between 15 and 30 acres are the minimum for a successful farm.

NEED BIG INVESTMENT

Now the other side:

Virgin land capable of being irrigated is all but gone. If a newcomer is determined, however, to "pioneer"—his own farm some new land selling from $120 to $200 an acre may still be found. After clearing land of pine trees and rocks, he plants from $1,000 to $2,000 worth of nursery stock. Forty-eight trees to the acre, aligned with surveyor's instruments, are considered about right for apples.

A sprinkler system will cost about $3,500 and cost of bringing water to his land is at least $18 an acre annually. The orchardist needs a small $2,000 tractor, a $2,500 spraying machine, $600 worth of smaller implements and possibly a $3,250 truck and trailer. His house may cost $7,000.

The orchardist is then faced with years of careful culture before the trees produce profitable crops. Year after year the trees must be pruned to develop a large, healthy bearing surface, well exposed to sunshine at a height convenient for spraying, thinning and harvesting operations.

Apple orchards must be regularly cultivated and irrigated until the trees reach the age of 10 years at which time they should produce worthwhile quantities, but it is 15 years before an apple tree can be considered in full production. Stone fruits come into bearing more quickly.

SPRAYS ARE VITAL

Roland Reid, a Penticton fruit farmer who runs 30 acres, said he sprayed each of his trees 13 times last year; this year when insect and fungus enemies were less active, eight times. He estimated he spends $1,000 annually on protective sprays.

"If you miss by as much as three days on some of these pest controls, you've had it," says L. G. Butler, east Kelowna farmer. "The timing has to be on the button."

The orchardist tends his trees week in and week out until autumn. Fruit must be picked at correct maturity and farmers spend anxious days and nights in the fall because some years high winds strip pears and apples from the trees before picking time. This year a late September wind reduced the already small B.C. apple crop by 300,000 bushels.

These fruits are a total loss if they are bruised. Even B.C. Fruit growers, which uses "culls" for fruit juices, will not accept bruised fruit.

And every 20 years or so growers can expect a severe frost which will severely cut production. When frost damage is severe, fruit and growers die. The 1949-50 winter and last November as an example, some orchardists may be completely wiped out, others set back at least four years.

And finally, as in the last few years, growers' profits can be diminished by high costs of production, distribution and selling. Despite all the difficulties new farms are being planted and older, larger ones are being sub-divided into units so small that veteran growers consider them uneconomic—to meet the demand.

Cleveland Barons Register 8-4 Victory Over McFarlands

The smooth-passing, fast-skating Cleveland Barons, five, tonight by 8-4 score, a spotlight view of hockey as it is played in the American League in Memorial Arena last night.

The blue-shirted Barons skated to an 8-4 decision in an exhibition tilt with the McFarlands in hard-fought game that should have had a closer score.

The McFarlands came up with a fine performance that proved a good pre-game warm-up for the important battle here tomorrow night with the Pembroke Lumber Kings. They should have had a couple of extra goals but they were up against a club that plays outstanding hockey going both ways. At that the Barons only outshot the McFarlands 36-31.

Cleveland held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period and the McFarlands came back with a fast, if brief surge of scoring power, early in the second frame rimming home two goals within minutes to take a temporary 3-2 lead. The Barons got that one back within a couple of minutes, then opened up and shoved home a goal without a contest to win a 6-3 period-end lead.

They made it 7-3 after three minutes of play in the third period, but the McFarlands got that one back five minutes later only to have the Barons score their final tally with less than eight minutes to go.

The game was rough in spots, with Referee Mac Carson and Bill Hurst doling out sixteen penalties, nine to the McFarlands. Six of the sentences were majors, assessed after fisticuffs broke out on a couple of occasions.

MacDonald, Morrisette, McLellan and McQueen drew concurrent majors after a brief bout in a corner. Later Davy Jones and Hayden drew five-minute sentences for pushing each other around.

The McFarlands lost the services of playing coach Bep Guidolin early in the game when he accidentally cut on the head. The wound necessitated six stitches.

The McFarlands trotted out two new faces in Johnny Muretich and Johnny Whalen, who showed well in their initial workout.

Paul Payette paced the McFarlands' attack with a brace of goals with Maurice Benoit and Minnie Menard getting the others. Coach Guidolin set up two of the markers with Muretich also getting two assists and Dave Jones, Keith MacDonald and Floyd Crawford being credited with helpers.

Milne and Moore were top performers for the Barons each getting two goals with Gordon Kratchuck, Silk and Morgan getting singles. Fred Glover got three assists with Cushman and Moore having two each.

The passing plays of the Barons were a treat to watch while their penalty-killing left little to be desired. Both teams bounced a few off the goal posts on not a few occasions.

Maurice Benoit's sizzling slapshot for the McFarland's first goal was a standout, as was the all-round defencemen's general play and shooting all night.

The McFarlands came out of the fray with no injuries, with the exception of Goldolin, and should be in good shape for tomorrow night's game with Pembroke. Saturday they cross hockey swords for the first time this season with the Kingston CKLC-ites in the latter's Community Centre.

The line-up:

Cleveland — Paille, Kratchuck, McQueen, Morgan, Cushman, Silk, Glover, Gordon, Shevets, Hayden, Moore, Polinsal, Milne, Stearns, McLellan.

Referees—Red Carson, Bill Hurst.

Call Americans For Track Wins In Olympics

LONDON (AP)—The best minds on the subject say without hesitation that the United States can beat the world in men's track and field and that in the Olympic Games starting in Melbourne Nov. 22, U.S. athletes will outscore all other nations combined by two to one.

The U.S. record in the 12 games of the modern olympics backs them up. American men should win the 100, 200 and 400 metres; the 400 and 1,600-metre relays; the 110- and 400-metre hurdles; the high and broad jumps; pole vault, shot put and decathlon.

They have better than even chances of adding the 800 metres, the discus and possibly that Russian specialty, the hammer throw.

Since mid-March of 1896, when the Olympic Games were revived in Athens, there have been 281 men's track and field events. U.S. athletes won 159 of them.

FINLAND CLOSEST

Closest to the U.S. in victories is Finland. The small north country where you can see the ground only seven months of the year has produced victors in 37 events in addition to producing the greatest individual Olympian of them all—Paavo Nurmi.

Third in the winning parade is Great Britain with 28 victories. Then come this order: Sweden 15, Canada seven, Italy six, South Africa, Japan, Czechoslovakia and Australia four each, Ireland, Germany, France, Jamaica and Hungary three each, Argentina, Norway and Greece, two each and one each for Belgium, Brazil, Poland.

Indians Tie With Chatham; Wolves Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top standings remained virtually unchanged in Ontario senior hockey after three games Wednesday night.

Sudbury Wolves, who have been chasing North Bay Trappers for the lead of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A series since the start of the season, blew a chance to cut Trappers' four-point lead.

In the western division of the OHA senior A series, Stratford Indians preserved their two-point league lead over Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Chatham Maroons, tied at 5-5 after a 6-4 overtime tie with Chatham at Stratford.

Timmins moved Chatham into sole occupancy of second place, with Dutchmen a point back in third.

MAY TIMMINS

The only game in the Porcupine Mines Senior League saw Abitibi Eskimos move into a second-place tie on the strength of a 5-4 win over Timmins Flyers. Both Porcupine Porkies lead the loop, with Abitibi and Timmins the runners-up.

At Stratford, Tom Walker of Indians tied the game 3-3 when he scored with less than four minutes remaining in regulation time. Doug Kilburn scored for Maroons early in overtime, but Billy Flick notched the equaliser. It was Flick's second goal.

Other scorers for Chatham were Jim Connelly, Eddie Rauch and Len Ronson. Also counting for Stratford was Bob Davidson.

The win over Sudbury gave the Indians third place in the standings, two points ahead of Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds.

Rochester Wins Over Springfield

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Americans, newest member of the American Hockey League, are beginning to toss their weight around after a slow start.

Following five defeats and two ties in their first seven games, the Americans have come up with victories in their last two outings. The latest was a 5-1 decision over Springfield Indians in the loop's lone game Wednesday night.

The victory tied Rochester for fifth place with the Indians.

Four goals in the second period settled the issue. After Earl Balfour put the Americans ahead in the first period, Bronco Horvath, Gary Collins, Gordie Hannigan and Ab McDonald registered in the second session. Indians' goal was scored by Bob McCord.

Sophomore of Year In American Loop Is Herb Score

NEW YORK (AP)—Herb Score, Cleveland's fastballing lefthander, had even a better season in 1956 than he had in 1955 when he was named American League rookie-of-the-year.

For his 1956 performance, Score today was voted the sophomore-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press poll. Herb and Frank Lary of Detroit received the bulk of the votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Score was named on 323 ballots. Lary on 63 and Johnny Kucks of New York Yankees on 32.

A 15-game winner in 1955 when he set an American League record for first-year pitchers by striking out 263 batters, Score won 20 games in his sophomore campaign while losing only nine. He again topped the junior circuit in strikeouts with 263 and finished second to the Yanks' Whitey Ford in the earned-run competition with a 2.57 average.

The 23-year-old southpaw was assigned to Indianapolis of the American Association and won only two games and lost five. Score was dropped to Reading, Pa., of the Eastern League the following season, winning seven and losing three games. In 1954, he starred for Indianapolis, compiling a 22-5 record while establishing a strikeout mark with 330 for the year.

Dickie Moore Powers Canadiens To 4-3 Victory Over Toronto Leafs

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The smooth-passing, fast-skating Cleveland Barons gave ample evidence here last night why they are rated one of the top teams in the American League. They defeated our side 8-4 in a fast game that proved a good workout for both teams.

The McFarlands played good hockey against their more polished opponents and rated a better fate on the score sheet. John Marotich and Johnny Whalen, two newcomers to the McFarlands, looked promising in their initial trial.

Genial Jim Hendy, manager of the Barons, paid his first visit to Belleville and met some former colleagues and friends. "Red" Dornan and Hendy talked old times when the former was a playing member of the Barons.

Hendy told this department in press-box chatter that he was pleased with this corner's suggestion that the two-referee system replace the one-referee-two-linesmen now in vogue.

"We have had it and we do not like it. It's something started by Conn Smythe and Clarence Campbell of the NHL and it may work all right in their league."

Hendy has a delightful sense of humor too. "See that big fellow out there?" pointing to a big husky in Barons' blue. "He owns half a racehorse. We are trying to fatten him up, but whenever he hears the word 'feed' he's up with the dawn riding the nag, and taking off weight."

Contrary to reports, the Barons had no surplus of players. Hendy said he was looking for a husky defenceman who shoots right, and "do you know where I can get one?"

Hendy shook his head. "The trouble is," he said, "too many of these young players are making the big jump to pro ranks from junior clubs. In my experience with them you get maybe one in five who will make good. I believe a player should have senior hockey experience before he goes in the pros."

He had experience in his 22-year-old scoring star, "Bo" Elik, he said. "Tals fellow was practically buried for four years in a senior B club here in Ontario. I came across him by accident. His experience in senior hockey fitted him for the Barons. Right now he is the top scorer in the American League."

MINOR HOCKEY

Continuing its campaign to keep minor hockey clean, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association executive plans to submit to its annual meeting on November 17th a suggestion which is intended to increase the severity of a penalty. Delegates to the 32rd annual convention of the "World's Largest Minor Hockey Organization" will be given an opportunity to voice their opinions of the suggestion.

The executive committee will ask teams and affiliated leagues to try out an experimental basis a rule to eliminate long the puck during a penalty. It is felt that an offending team is given an advantage when it decided the right to use the puck after committing an offence. This advantage stops the penalty and the OMHA feels there will be fewer penalties—hence fewer offences—if the full effect of the penalty is felt. The OMHA will submit the suggestion to the minor committees last spring. The minor committees in turn passed it along to the general session of the CAHA annual meeting, where it was suggested that the Ontario Minor try it out for a year and report back.

The OMHA executive has decided to ask all teams taking part in exhibition games or group games, and all affiliated leagues, to play group and league games with the "no icing" rule in effect. Teams will then revert to regular CAHA rules for group play-offs and provincial playdowns. A questionnaire will be sent to all teams taking part in the experiment, and the result submitted to the CAHA in time for the next annual meeting of the Canadian body.

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens, with stars missing fore and aft, were supposed to act like cripples, but it seems is forward by the name of Dickie Moore didn't read the papers.

Rightwinger Bernie Geoffrion, a 62-point man last season, and goalie Jacques Plante were missing when Canadiens rolled into Toronto for Wednesday night's game with the Maple Leafs. Plante has the flu and Geoffrion is recovering from an operation on his injured elbow.

Moore shot the Habs into a lead with the game less than five minutes old and tacked on two more goals later to power his team to a 4-3 win.

Toronto, with a chance for a share of first place with the idle Detroit Red Wings, was then dropped to fourth spot while Canadiens moved into a second-place deadlock with Boston Bruins, who defeated the Rangers 4-2 at New York in Wednesday night's other game.

The race remains close, the second and third place clubs separated by one-point edge over Boston and Montreal with the Leafs a point back at 12. The Rangers stayed in fifth spot with nine points and are followed by Chicago Hawks, who have had only one victory and one tie so far this season, remain in the basement with three points.

Penalties helped the Bruins rack up their margin in less than two minutes of the second period. Down 1-0 at the time Red Sullivan's second-period goal, Boston pilled on the power when Lou Fontinato with a pair of minors and Jack Evans went to the box. Vic Stasiuk slapped one past Lorne Worsley on a pass from Cal Gardner and Leo Labine scored from 10 feet out.

Johnny Peirson widened the gap at 5:42 of the third period. Rookie Jerry Foley scored for the Rangers two minutes later but Doug Mohns fired into an empty net with five seconds remaining to put the game on ice and hand the Rangers their fourth straight loss.

At Toronto, Moore's second spree was backed up by a sparkling performance from Gerry McNeil, Plante's replacement in the Montreal nets.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard scored Montreal's other goal. Fourteen minutes of the first period, Toronto, it was Leaf Smith, Gary Aldcorn and Rudy Migay.

It was a heartbreaker for the Leafs, who were tied 1-1 after the first period and led 2-1 after the second. Canadiens scored twice in the third, scoring three times while Toronto was getting only a single tally.

All of Moore's goals were scored with the Leafs a man shy. Dickie Duff was off for tripping when he opened the scoring, Jerry Jarmyn was in the box when he sent the Canadiens ahead 3-2 in the third after Richard had tied it up, and James was off again for interference when Moore fired the winner at 17:25.

First American Contingent Arrives at Olympics Site

By Murray Rose

MELBOURNE (AP)—The first big planeload of the mighty Yank team arrived today as international Olympic officials sought to head off the withdrawal of nations back into the Melbourne fold.

The group of 64 Americans headed by Kenneth Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, landed in Australia airport to lift the hopes of harrassed organizing officials that the wasbrushed aside by Russia's iron smash success.

Some sparkle had gone out of the preparations for the massive international sports spectacle opening Nov. 22 by the withdrawals of Holland, Spain, Red China and Iraq. Egypt has since started today by Wilfred Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, and Otto Mayer, chancellor of the international Olympic Committee to lure some countries, especially Holland, back into the games.

Kent-Hughes who appealed to the nations of the world Wednesday to overcome international distrust and jealousies in the true spirit of the Olympics, set the wheels in motion by cabling the Dutch national Olympic Committee to reconsider its decision not to take part in the games. He sent a copy to Mayer.

Mayer replied he was urging the pulled out and hesitating nations to "do their utmost to participate. I shall intervene again with Holland."

Mayer has been received yet from the Dutch committee but the nation's flag is still flying in the Olympic village and small group of six Netherlanders here are still hoping against hope they will be able to stay.

The American main vanguard today consisted of 16 wrestlers and 11 canoeists plus administrative officials and newspapermen.

Friday two more planeloads will land in the afternoon and early evening carrying some of the biggest names in track and field and swimming. Among them are sculler Jack B. Kelly, Jr., American champion and brother of Grace, the outstanding Yale eight which is in for a tough fight to maintain American supremacy in this rowing classic, track and fielders Parry O'Brien, world record holding shotputter, and Lou Jones, fastest 400 meter runner of all Americans.

Questioned by newsmen at the airport on the American team, Wilson said "This is the greatest Olympic team we have ever had. We are very much impressed with the showing and condition of the track and field team in California before we left. They broke records coming and going. I am confident we can duplicate our performances at Helsinki in 1952 when we won 14 track and field medals. . . ."

In addition to the Americans, 76 Poles and 64 South Africans landed at the airport and were quickly installed at Heidelberg Village. The chief ceremony at the village today was the official raising of the Soviet hammer and sickle on a pole fronting the Russian's quarters. The ceremony went off without incident.

"Never before in the history of the Olympics have the Games been staged under such difficult conditions," Kent-Hughes said. His statement was issued a short time before the Russian ship Gruzia, five days overdue on a voyage from Odessa, sailed into the harbor carrying delegations of Russian and Hungarian athletes and officials. The Gruzia, pulled in a dock rarely used, presumably to avoid possible incidents.

At Olympic press spokesman, who was permitted on the ship, said she carried 101 Russians, 11 Hungarians, four Bulgarians and two Albanians.

Imre Unger, secretary of the Hungarian Olympic Association, said there was "no hard feelings on the boat" between Hungarians and Russians. He said he had been unable to get radio news from Budapest but received reports from both Eastern and Western sources.

London Lords Meet Dutchies In ORFU Final

By The Canadian Press

London Lords, playing their first season of senior football, will meet Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, two-time title winners, for the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series championship.

Lords, in fourth place all year, fought their way into the final Wednesday night with a 35-19 upset over Toronto Beaches in a sudden-death semi - final while Dutchmen, returning to mid-season form, buried Sarnia Golden Bears under a 29-7 score.

The 6,000 fans who turned out to watch London's triumph got full reward for their support through a season that saw Lords win only three games, as quarterback-coach Jackie Jacks rallied and kicked his team to victory over the second - place Beaches.

In all, Jacobs kicked four converts and two field goals, passed for one touchdown and set up another by the same route, Halven Bercic touchdown. Ed D'Arnon, and Dale Creighton scored London touchdowns and tackle Jack Cole got the fourth after intercepting a pass.

SCORED TWO

"Speedy Bernie Custis got two for Beaches, the latter block got the other and Tommy Urowitz added a single on an attempted field goal that was wide.

Lords led only 20-19 at the three-quarter mark but formed ahead on a 15-point drive as O'Toole took Gene Rossi's pass and Ed Johnson kicked a single.

The game was tight until then as the lead changed hands twice in the first half and Toronto went into the second leading 18-17.

But the skilful passing of the former Winnipeg Blue Bomber quarter was too much for Beaches and at the final gun Lords were still pressing.

Rossi almost matched Jacobs over the first half, throwing 33 and 35-yard touchdown passes to Curtis and Babcock and handing off to Custis for the third before Beaches got into with under London's aerial offensive.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Montreal Winged Wheelers won the eastern Big Four football championship with a 4-1 victory over Toronto Argonauts 25 years ago today at Montreal. Then, with Warren Stevens throwing forward passes, they blanked Regina 22-0 on a frozen Montreal field in the Grey Cup final.

Hockey Player Socks Cop Wears Handcuffs

SEATTLE (CP)—The wild and sometimes woolly Western Hockey League added an oddity to its weekday night—a player in the penalty box wearing handcuffs.

The "criminal" was George Senick of Seattle Americans who socked referee Mike Pollesello and was detailed to sit between him and the bench.

George later got back on the ice and started a quick rally which netted two goals in 36 seconds for Seattle. But it was too late. The rally failed to push his team to a win against New Westminster Royals who emerged with a 3-2 edge.

WITHIN A POINT

The victory brought second-place New Westminster to within a point of league-leading Seattle in the coast division standings. The pace-setters have taken up with forensics and fights, starring Senick and Jim Hay, New Westminster defenceman.

Senick had been banished at 10:34 for 10 minutes because he used undesirable language on the ice. Hay followed him a few seconds later and pretty soon the two were whanging away at each other in spite of the policeman.

The officer and a spectator got the worst of it, both absorbing the wildly-aimed haymakers. It ended with Senick wearing the handcuffs.

CAN SET MARK

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Haughton, who led United States harness race drivers with 168 victories last year, is virtually certain to set a new mark this season. He equalled his 1955 record last night by winning the sixth race at Yonkers Raceway with Master Fingo.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats Crush Ottawa 46-21

Wipe Out Early 14-0 Lead With Running, Passing Plays; Meet Larks in Big 4 Final

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats, supreme and cocky and their disorganized, mid-season a hazy memory, today were set for another crack at the Big Four title. It was shaded down every year except one in the last six they've been in the play-offs.

The Ticats, sparked by the tremendous running of Cookie Gilchrist and the sparkling passing of Tony Curcillo, fought their way into the Big Four final by crushing Ottawa Rough Riders 46-21 Wednesday in their Eastern Conference semi-final. They did it the hard way by coming from behind twice.

The first time wiping out an early 14-0 Ottawa lead and again when the Riders went ahead 21-18 in the opening minutes of the third quarter.

The victory set the powerful Tiger-Cats up for another smack at Montreal Alouettes for the right to represent the East in the Grey Cup final here. They will meet the Alouettes, first-place finishers in the regular schedule, in the first game of the two-game total-points league final here Saturday and in the second at Montreal Nov. 17.

THIRD IN 4 YEARS

It is the third time in the four years that these two clubs have tangled for eastern championship. The only year Hamilton beat the Als was in 1952 and they went on then to edge Winnipeg Blue Bombers 12-6 in the cup classic.

A mid-season — July 12,121 saw Tiger-Cats batter the Rough Riders into submission by scoring four converted touchdowns and two singles in the second half to go with two touchdowns, a field goal and a convert they racked up in the second quarter.

Gilchrist, hard - hitting Negro halfback, rammed over for the first three touchdowns and his running set up Curillo for the first of the two scored by the Ticats' quarterback. Rookie halfback Tommy Grant snatched up a fumble and raced 36 yards to score Hamilton's final touchdown.

Steve Oszeshuk contributed two of the six touchdowns and also kicked a 35-yard field goal in the second quarter to get Hamilton's scoring parade under way. Can Hrynkiw booted two singles for the Tiger-Cats' other points.

TOOK EARLY LEAD

The Riders, in the playoffs for the first time since 1951, appeared headed for a stunning upset as they outclassed the Bengals in the first quarter to take a 14-0 lead on converted touchdowns by Don Jeffrey and Avatus Stone. After the Ticats went ahead 16-14 by halftime the Riders came back to go in front 21-16 on a touchdown by Tommy Lewis early in the third quarter and appeared to have turned the tide their way for good.

However, the undermanned Riders, obviously tiring as the game went on, couldn't get rolling after that and the Tiger-Cats scored 13 points before the third quarter ended and another 15 in the fourth quarter. The three Ottawa touchdowns were converted by Bod Korchak.

The Riders had trouble hanging on to the ball and five of their eight fumbles were recovered by the Tiger-Cats. Two of the miscues in particular hurt them, leading directly to touchdown. Don Jeffrey fumbled five times and Cliff Johnston twice on end of Pinder's error setting up Curcillo's second touchdown.

The Ottawa halfback lost the ball on the Riders' 10 and Curcillo plunged over from the five. Grant's 36-yard touchdown run came off a fumble when Gary Schreiber dropped the ball in a tricky, criss-cross handoff from Pinder on a punt from Fraser.

OTHERS WELL EARNED

The Tiger-Cats' other touchdown, however, were well earned. Gilchrist, who carried the ball 21 times for a total of 122 yards, crashed over from the five-yard line to score his first two and top off his day of 81 and 63 yards. A four-yard plunge for his third touchdown ended a 57-yard march and Curcillo's first touchdown on a one-yard line crack climaxed a 45-yard surge.

Leftyard's passing and the running of John and Lewis sparked the Riders' fine first-quarter performance and their opening touchdown was scored on a 108-yard march with St. John going over from the one-yard line. Stone took a three-yard pass from Leftyard for Ottawa's next score and the windup of a 65-yard drive. Lewis barged over from the one for his touchdown which he set up himself when he intercepted Curcillo pass and ran to the Tiger-Cats' 30-yard line.

Coach Frank Clair of the Riders said he didn't like the officiating but he blamed the defeat on his fumbles. Debates before the game the Ottawa club had protested the selection of Cliff Simpson as one of the officials and he was involved in three calls the Riders weren't happy about.

CALLED PENALTY

He called a third-down pass interference penalty against the Riders on their five and on the next play the Tiger-Cats got a touchdown. Then when Ottawa recovered a wide lateral by Paul Dekker it was Simpson who declared the play dead and allowed Hamilton to keep possession. Another time Gilchrist fumbled on the Ottawa goalline and Simpson ruled it Hamilton's ball although an Ottawa player came up with it.

Curcillo, recovering from a bad start, clicked on 14 of 25 passes and connecting - string quarterback Bobby Dawson completed two of three to give the Tiger-Cats a total of 228 yards through the air. Ledyard, who connected on his first 10 passes, was rushed more often in the second half and wound up with a mark of 15 completions in 31 Ottawa's 39 attempts for a total of 228 yards.

The two teams were also fairly even along the ground, the Tiger-Cats rolling up 249 yards and Riders 221. Hamilton had a 29-25 edge in first downs.

Officials Want No More Games Says Wilson

HAMILTON (CP) — Seymour Wilson, referee-in-chief of the Big Four Football Union, said Wednesday night two of his officials, under fire from Hamilton and Ottawa, have asked that they be relieved of officiating duties in any further playoff games this season.

Wilson said he had accepted the requests from Jimmy Simpson of Hamilton and John Munro of Toronto, and that replacements will be named later in the week for the two-game, home - and - home final between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes that opens next Friday.

Wilson said the requests were made voluntarily, and that "no pressure of any nature was brought to bear on me, by any club or league official."

A tussle over the two officials here Tuesday when Simpson was appointed an umpire and Munro judge of play for Wednesday's sudden-death semi-final here between the Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders, Hamilton won 46-21.

President Sam Berger of the Riders protested the naming of Simpson and Jim McCaffrey, Ottawa general manager and Big Four president, said "We think he (Simpson) is too biased in favor of Hamilton."

Wilson said Tuesday night he refused to be influenced by "tampering" from the teams and let the appointments stand for Wednesday's game.

Wednesday night he released the texts of letters he received from the two officials.

Simpson: "In view of the importance of the two playoff games between Montreal and Hamilton, and in view of the fact that certain criticism has been brought to bear on Mr. Seymour Wilson, I have informed Mr. Wilson that in the best interests of football, I feel it would be better if I were not appointed to either game."

Munro: "Mr. Seymour Wilson, the referee-in-chief, has in my opinion done an excellent job under adverse conditions. In order not to embarrass him, and due to the protest of Mr. Jake Gaudaur, regardless of its lack of basis in fact, I voluntarily disqualify myself from the Big Four playoffs in 1956."

Japs Edge Dodgers 3-2

SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP)—Japan All-Stars pushed across a run in the last of the ninth inning today and again beat Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 before 20,000 fans.

It was the Dodgers' fourth loss against 20 wins and one tie on their Japan tour.

With the score tied 2-2, Masao Morishita of the Nankai Hawks opened the bottom half of the ninth with a single to centre. Takaaki Iwamoto of the Yomiuri Giants bunted and Dodger pitcher Fred Kipp tried to force Morishita at second base. His throw was too late.

Mitsuharu Sugiyama of the Nankai Hawks then singled to right to place the winning run.

Swim Money Shared by Five Bodies

TORONTO (CP) — Five Ontario organizations with programs in water safety will share $6,500 disbursed today by the Lake Ontario marathon swim committee.

Committee chairman William Harwood named the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association to receive $3,500; the water safety program of the Ontario division of the Red Cross, $1,000; the Alderwood, Ont., swimming pool project, $1,000; the Royal Lifesaving Society, Ontario branch, $500, and St. Alban's Boys' Sports Club, $500.

The $6,500 is part of the $27,000 prize money donated by a brewing firm for a marathon swim across Lake Ontario last August.

When none of the 10 contestants in the swim finished the course, the committee shared $10,000 among them as consolation prizes. Another $10,000 was donated to the Olympics Fund.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, Nov. 9, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Encouraging for home affairs, duties concerning loved ones, necessary obligations. Don't waste time on unnecessary matters which could upset your schedule.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Good results from ably directed endeavors. Despite auspicious rays, avoid extremes, unfair attitudes, needless risks. Have faith in yourself.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Sharpen efforts during this mixed period; make the best of available opportunities. Some splendid influences could help projects requiring concentration, time and energy.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Sincere students, persons in business and all who work in a practical, business-like manner will reap rewards. Don't let petty annoyances irritate you.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be careful not to overbid your hand or insist that you are right when closer study might prove otherwise. Miscalculation, overstrain could set you back. "Slow but sure" is the best way now.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Need signs and indications that can save you time, worry, and money. You are innately discriminating and fair but, if misled, you could miss out on real opportunities. Analyze first; count ten before speaking.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — There should be smooth going now — and reward for conscientious effort. Benefic aspects can help personal affairs but you must cooperate. Don't count on big business boosts, however.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Very friendly rays for original ideas and social matters. This can also be a benefic period for happy, pleasurable with family, associates; for love and romance.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Mixed influences. Carelessness or sentiment could overshadow better judgment if you permit. Watch finances especially.

December 22 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — This could be a pleasant day generally. However, analyze carefully before making decisions. Maintain a moderate pace; don't drive yourself in exhausting spurts.

January 22 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Use your ingenuity today — honestly, of course. A great day for the real you, one in which to make agreeable headway — both in action and planning.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Good indications for business and private matters. Improvements in personal habits and methods will do much to advance your work. You should find efforts rewarded in the p.m.

You born today are capable and talented and could succeed in either a business or professional career. You are usually deeply concerned about personal matters, things that affect home, loved ones. Though you do not always show this trait, it will gain much for you in the long run. Carefully direct your emotions and leanings; get sufficient sleep, healthy exercise. Don't push your ideas too forcefully and don't be too skeptical or too trusting. Develop an intelligent hobby for spare hours.

IVANHOE

Hallowe'en Party Sponsored by Women's Institute

IVANHOE — A Hallowe'en party held in Ivanhoe Town Hall on Wednesday evening, sponsored by the Ivanhoe W.I., was well attended.

The parade commenced at 9 o'clock with Mrs. R. Haggerty as marshal. All of the smaller children in costume received a prize. Others receiving prizes were:

Mrs. Stan Thompson, Mrs. Ray Demille, Mr. Albert Twiddy and Mr. John McIlroy acted as judges.

W.I. president, Mrs. John McIlroy, welcomed the gathering. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. R. Haggerty at the piano.

Mrs. McIlroy read "The Story of Hallowe'en"; solo, "Ivory Tower," Barry Bray; reading, "Gay Hallowe'en," Linda Reid; solos, "You and Me," "Remember Me," Mrs. Doug Francis; solos, "Rock and Roll Waltz," "Whatever Will Be, Will Be," Beverly McIlroy; trio, "Open Up Your Heart," Sheila, Gail and Sharon Francis.

The president thanked the judges, Mrs. Haggerty and all who had contributed to the program.

BACK TO BUSINESS

TEL AVIV (AP)—The Israeli airline Arkia announced today it would resume civilian flights on Friday to Elat, port city at the southernmost tip of Israel on the Gulf of Aqaba. The airline said it would also expand its network in the south, presumably as a result of the Israeli capture of the Sinai Peninsula.

CASUALTIES FEW

PARIS (AP)—Sources close to the French defence ministry said Tuesday night that five French soldiers have been killed and 20 wounded during Franco - British operations in Egypt.

EVERYONE LIKES A WINNER!

We Have It Listen to This!

No. 168 — TRULY LUXURIOUS STYLING! — Here's this home, and even more exciting is the fact that there are four main sleeping rooms. For superior entertaining, quality, and modern dining - a transparent covered breakfast nook overlooking the beautiful garden. The kitchen is marvellously planned to include a dishwasher, with all the labour and work areas. Lovely assets to gracious living are included in the spacious living room, and the dining room overlooking the patio. Modern conveniences in the form of a fireplace, showing the beautiful ceiling and huge picture window mullions. This is a home of quality and comfort, with many extra features, such as two bathrooms, storage in all areas, located on one floor, and what is considered by many to be the best in the city. It is a real find for the family. Shown by appointment only.

MOLLET BOILS OVER

PARIS (AP)—French Premier Guy Mollet, flushed with anger, today denounced a Poujadist deputy in the National Assembly who said that French servicemen had been killed in Suez "for the Queen of England." "When French and British fighters are fighting together," shouted Mollet, "you have no right to stand on the rostrum and say such a thing."

Shooting still echoed across the canal zone as the United Nations pressed efforts to set up an international force to police the cease-fire and negotiate withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egyptian territory.

But the UN efforts faced stubborn smags as British and French soldiers put on the snipers in battered Port Said despite the cease-fire.

Britain and France have flatly refused to pull out of the canal zone until the UN police force takes over the area. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion's government would not agree to any foreign force being stationed in Israel or on any territory Israel had occupied. Egypt demanded sist Russian attacks. Our ammunition and our food, supplies are running short.

"Blood is the only thing we still have to offer."

Radio Budapest, now controlled by the Russians, claimed in its first newscast today that peace had been restored. But it broadcast a statement of the provisional revolutionary committee of the Hungarian Socialist Workers (Communist) party saying:

"We appeal to all members of the party to rally together in this critical time to crush the counter-revolution. Though peace has been restored in Budapest and in all the provinces, the situation is still serious and difficult."

Moscow Radio said the Hungarian situation was becoming "more normal" and claimed Budapest was calm. But it also indicated that resistance had not been completely smashed.

"Calm reigns both in the capital and in the majority of the districts of the provinces," the Moscow broadcast said.

Refugees still crossed the frontier today, seeking asylum in Austria. Reports from the Austrian border at the Nickelsdorf said the Hungarian check point at Hegyeshalom was held by about 50 rebels.

Hungary's new Soviet-backed premier, Janos Kadar, wrote Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold objecting to any discussion of the Hungarian question. He declared that pleas for UN help from the exiles Premier Imre Nagy "have no legal force and cannot be considered as requests emanating from Hungary as a state."

Rebel radio broadcasts heard late Wednesday night said the "fight continues in Budapest."

Radio Budapest reported "serious interruptions in food supplies" and said they were unavoidable. Moscow radio said "government establishments are taking measures to insure uninterrupted supplies to the population."

St. Andrew's Church Holds Turkey Supper

IVANHOE — The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, West Huntingdon, enjoyed a delicious turkey supper on Friday evening served by the members of St. Andrew's Club.

Following the supper, Mrs. Harold Thompson, club president, presided and extended a warm welcome to all.

"What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was sung and Rev. W. H. V. Walker led in prayer.

INST OFFICERS

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Lindsay Sills who brought in a slate of officers for 1957.

Presidents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hassell; 1st vice-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Benson; treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. D. Fraser; pianist, Mrs. A. Hassell; secretaries, Mr. and Mrs. M. Shaw.

A brief installation service was conducted by Rev. W. H. V. Walker.

The Scripture, Luke 10:30-43, was read by Mrs. Milton Shaw, and "The Lord's Prayer repeated.

A solo was given by Mrs. A. Hassell.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker, the Rev. H. C. Secker, of Stirling, was introduced by Mr. Walker.

Mr. Secker was a delegate from the Anglican Diocese of Ontario to the National Convocation on the Church in Town and Country, also the National Council of the Episcopal Church, held recently in St. Louis, Missouri.

In an interesting and humorous manner, he gave an account of the conference illustrated with slides.

The 630 delegates of different denominations from the U.S.A. churches and 18 Canadians, met to exchange ideas and discuss problems of rural church life.

Mr. Harry Benson, on behalf of club members, expressed thanks to Mr. Secker for his interesting and instructive address.

A solo, "Home," was given by Mrs. William Dennen; reading, "Rastus and His Mammy," Mrs. John McIlravy; solo, "Bless This House," by Mr. A. Cunningham.

Mrs. J. C. Sills, on behalf of the congregation, thanked the club members for the invitation to join with them on this happy occasion.

Israelis Agree To Pull Troops Out Of Egypt

First Units of UN Force Will Reach Scene Shortly

LONDON (CP)—Israel's agreement to pull its troops out of Egypt spurred efforts today to rush United Nations force to the area to police the shaky Middle East cease-fire.

Quiet was reported on the Suez Canal battlefront as UN officials worked at top speed to mobilize the international police force.

Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold hinted that the first units of the force would reach Egypt "very shortly."

Informed sources said plans call for getting two teams of about 40 men each on the scene as soon as possible, and to follow up with a final force expected to number from 2,500 to 5,000 men or more. Seventeen UN members, including Canada when it offered contribution of 1,000 men, have volunteered to contribute to the police organization. The big powers are excluded from service with the force.

Israel's agreement to withdraw its troops represented its own overnight change of policy, after a strong appeal from President Eisenhower. President David Ben-Gurion told his Parliament Wednesday that Israel would not refuse any Israeli or Israeli-occupied territory to any foreign force, whatever it was called.

Thursday night Israel's foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, advised Hammarskjold that "the government of Israel will willingly withdraw its forces from Egypt immediately upon the conclusion of satisfactory arrangements with the United Nations in connection with the emergency international force."

Britain and France agreed earlier to turn military operations in the canal zone over to the UN forces.

Hammarskjold said he regarded Egyptian agreement to the establishment of the UN command as acceptance of the force.

In a broadcast Thursday night, Ben - Gurion said Israel would withdraw its troops only if Egypt as soon as entry of a UN emergency force is assured. He made no direct mention of the Gaza Strip, but implied that Israeli troops would not leave that territory considered historically by Israel as bars but occupied by Egypt since the 1948 Palestine war.

Ben-Gurion said Israel set three main goals in the Sinai invasion: "The destruction of the forces which by their existence, or their declared purpose, threatened the liberation of the territory of the homeland which had been occupied by the invader, and the safeguarding of free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba and in the Suez Canal."

He added that only the "first and principle aim" has been accomplished, but that Israel was confident that the two other aims would be fully achieved.

In the Sixty Day Israelis have set up a military government, taking over the administration of civil life and substituting Israeli currency for Egyptian.

There also is speculation that Israel might try to hold on to the islands of Tiran and Sanafir in the Gulf of Aqaba also taken last week.

THE WEATHER

- TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Winter moved into northern Ontario today. Frost from Georgian Bay north temperatures today are below freezing with visions of snow tonight and Saturday. Strong northerly winds prevailed in most areas and accompanying frost will further north the temperature today at Kirkland Lake is 25 and at Timmins 15.

Snowstorms in many areas marked the change to this cold weather.

Only the warm Great Lakes will save Southern Ontario from these extreme temperatures. As it is Saturday afternoon readings will barely reach 40 and tonight they will be below freezing in most places.

Arab Mideast Said Swinging To Soviet Camp

JERUSALEM, Jordan sector (AP)—The Arab Middle East appeared today to be swinging all the way into the Soviet Union camp and away from the West.

Soviet Premier Bulganin announced Tuesday the Soviet Union was prepared to use force if Britain, France and Israel did not stop fighting against the Egyptians.

Within 24 hours Britain and France called for a cease-fire in the Suez Canal. They can deny all they want that the Soviet threat had anything to do with the cease-fire. Nobody here will believe them.

The name of Bulganin is on Arab lips, from officials to olive vendors.

MENTION BULGANIN

Arab newspapers and radio news broadcasts are mentioning Bulganin's name more often than any other. Only a few days ago President Eisenhower's name was the most popular.

Antagonism against Britain and France reached a new pitch. The most hated man in the Middle East seems to be Sir Anthony Eden.

Russians Use Civilian Shield Against Rebels

VIENNA (AP)—A little band of Hungarian rebels who for three days held the Hegyeshalom railway station gave up Thursday night and fled to Austria.

Originally there were 100 men in this band, but only about 45 came across to surrender their arms. The others had slipped off to their homes or joined other rebel forces still fighting Russian tanks and infantry in the Hungarian countryside.

"The Russians got us out with a typically Communist device," a leader of the band said. "Two Russian tanks came down the road. Beside them marched armed Hungarian uniformed soldiers who were collaborators. Behind the tanks and the Communists marched groups of Hungarian civilians.

"These Hungarian civilians shouted to us to surrender. We gave up in Hungarians." Nevertheless some of our men threw to hand grenades over the heads of the civilians to try to hit the Russian tanks. But the grenades failed to go off. We couldn't fire through our own people, so we had to retreat."

Area Residents Evacuated as Plane Hits 810-Foot Radio Tower, 4 Killed

NORTH BERGEN, N.J. (AP)—The area around an 810-foot radio tower was cleared of residents today for fear that the structure, weakened by a fatal plane crash, might topple in a storm.

A twin-engined Beechcraft was flying through rain and fog Thursday when it clipped off one leg of the latticed steel tower, tallest structure in New Jersey.

The private plane then smashed into the roof of a crowded apartment house eight blocks away. One engine was hurled into the courtyard of a school. Flaming gasoline sprayed trees along the street. A landing gear wheel narrowly missed a moving car.

Police said four persons are known dead—two men flying in the plane and two women from the apartment house. One of the dead women jumped five storeys to the street in panic as the building burst into flames.

Fifteen others were injured, one seriously. They included 13 firemen fighting the blaze which destroyed the apartment house.

Mayor Angelo Sarubbi ordered some 3,000 persons in the area to evacuate their homes Thursday night. About 300 volunteer workers helped them move in cars, relatives or into two schools thrown open as emergency centers.

The tower, owned by New York radio station WOR but has not been in use since 1953 when the station started transmitting from an antenna atop the Empire State Building. Residents have been unsuccessful in court actions to have the tower declared a hazardous nuisance.

WOR officials said, however, demolition of the tower would be dismantled today.

EDEN WELCOMES ISRAEL'S PLEDGE TO OUT EGYPT

Reiterates Britain's Readiness to Withdraw

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden said today that the British government welcomed Israel's agreement Thursday night on withdrawal of Israeli forces from Egyptian territory.

The prime minister also told the House of Commons Britain is willing to hand over in the Middle East to the United Nations international police force as soon as the force is in a position to discharge its task effectively.

The British leader's statement clearly was intended to contribute toward a relaxation of tension in the area and to co-operate so far as possible with the UN.

He repeated with emphasis Britain's readiness to withdraw completely from Egypt as soon as an effective international force under the UN can take over the policing of the area between the Suez Canal and the Israeli frontiers.

EDEN SPEECH

Eden said the international force should be capable of carrying out the functions assigned to it in the General Assembly resolution of Nov. 4. Britain urged, among other things, a cease-fire in the battle region, a withdrawal of all invading forces from Egypt, a halting of reinforcements and the introduction of military supplies, the reopening of the Suez Canal and the restoration of free navigation through it.

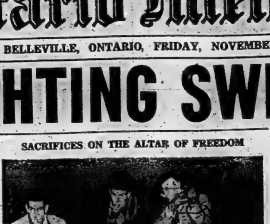
Eden said Britain will immediately suspend RAF units from the east Mediterranean, and some assault troops from Port Said.

Eden told the House of Commons it is now possible to make certain alterations in the planned deployment of our forces in the eastern Mediterranean."

He said RAF ground organizations would remain in Cyprus but many RAF squadrons would be pulled out at once.

WON VOTE

Churchill might Eden won a vote of confidence for his armed action in Egypt after the House of Commons heard a warning that Russia was plotting the "takeover" of the Middle East, using Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser as her instrument.



But Eden's intervention showed that Egypt had been defeated decisively by 320 votes to 262—a majority of 58—a Labor opposition motion censuring it on its Middle East policy.

GOVERNOR TO WED

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—The parents of Jean Rockefeller, youngest daughter of a college president, today announced her engagement to Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey. The names of the attractive 28-year-old brunette and the handsome 48-year-old Democratic governor have been linked romantically for months. Miss Stevenson shares a distant relative with the unsuccessful presidential candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

Western Europe Keeps Watch On Its Dwindling Oil Stocks

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe kept a wary watch on its oil stocks today in preparation for possible sharp cuts in Middle East supplies if the Suez Canal stays blocked to world shipping.

Britain, France and Denmark announced measures to curtail private motoring and industry to reduce consumption of diesel and fuel oil.

But other European countries said they had enough oil in store to get by for the next month or two without economy drives.

Some oil experts predict that there will have to start leaning heavily on reserves next week while awaiting the reopening of the canal and the arrival of tankers making the long and more costly voyage round the Cape of Good Hope from the Middle East fields.

Egypt has reported seven ships sunk in the channel between the Red Sea and the Mediterranean.

In governmental actions, Belgium's motorists were urged to cut gasoline consumption by two gallons in 10. The government told garages they would get 10 per cent less fuel from today. Industry also was told that fuel oil supplies would be reduced by 10 per cent.

In France, motorists were told that beginning Saturday midnight

Pearson on Return From UN Warns of Crisis in Mid East

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson warns that "we are not out of the woods yet" and emphasizes the urgent need of getting the Canada-sponsored UN police force into the Middle East.

The UN, he told reporters Thursday night, now has firm commitments from seven or eight countries, including Canada, to supply troops, totalling about 5,000 or more. These were sufficient to get the "first stage" of the police job. The big task now was to get the force organized.

"An awful lot has to be done yet," he told reporters at Uplands airport on arrival from six gruelling days at the UN. Just a few hours before, the government announced that the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, will be the major component of the Canadian contribution to the police body.

The battalion, now at Calgary, will be concentrated at Camp Valcartier, Que., by mid-December to be made ready for overseas movement within the shortest possible time," Defence Minister Campney said.

Canada's Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, who will be the UN police commander, is scheduled to leave the Middle East for a visit to New York Saturday. Canada plans to contribute 1,200 men in the police force.

It likely will be decided during the weekend whether the Canadian contribution is satisfactory to him, after which a cabinet order may be passed committing the troops to the UN. Parliament is to be called within 10 days after the cabinet order is passed, to provide the necessary funds for the Canadian troops.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative foreign affairs spokesman, said he will demand at the special session that Prime Minister St. Laurent make public his confidential communication to Prime Minister Eden last Monday. The message raised a storm in London parliamentary circles.

Pearson says reports it sharply rebuked Sir Anthony over Britain's action in the Middle East. Mr. St. Laurent asked for comment Thursday, said he never has had anything but "very friendly and frank" communications with Sir Anthony.

Mr. Pearson flew into Ottawa for a weekend of rest before he returns to the UN General Assembly to press for a speedy political settlement of the Middle East problem. He appeared worn after an arduous week at the UN. Earlier he had hailed the final agreement to withdraw from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and make way for the UN police force.

This Israeli decision, he said, was "a very encouraging development indeed." Egypt's decision to allow UN observers there immediately also was helpful.

"Everything seems to be going all right," he said, but warned "we are not out of the woods yet."

The "very important" resolutions to be taken up by the cabinet include the U.S. dealing with a settlement of the Palestine situation and operation of the Suez Canal.

Merely ending fighting would not complete the task in the Middle East. There had to be a political settlement, though this likely would take a little time.

Mr. Pearson is due to see other members of the NATO Three Wise Men committee—Foreign Ministers Lange of Norway and Martina of Italy—will meet in New York next week to complete their report on ways of strengthening and expanding co-operation among the NATO countries in non-military fields.

But the matter of most immediate urgency, he said, is to get the UN police force "on the spot" in the Middle East.

FIRST BATTALION OF QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES PICKED

Will Do Guard Duty In Middle East

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen's Own Rifles, who have marched and fought in many some of Canada's most historic moments, are clearly preparing for a job unique in their 94-year existence.

The 1st Battalion of the famous old Canadian Army regiment has been picked to represent Canada on the United Nations Middle East police force. The newly-created International force is intended to establish and maintain peace between Egypt and Israel.

Defence Min. Campney Thursday announced the choice of the Queen's Own for the job. He stressed that, although the UN has not yet outlined its exact requirements from Canada, the government wants to have the Canadian contribution ready and available for movement overseas within the shortest possible time.

In Calgary, where the 1st Battalion is currently stationed, the Rifles greeted the news with a tremendous cheer.

TO GO EAST

The battalion will concentrate in Halifax, and an army official here said it will start heading that way just as soon as it can get ready. It eventually will include signals, engineers, army service corps, ordnance and other supporting units to make it self-contained, able to operate independently. These other units are yet to be chosen.

Mr. Campney's announcement said the unit's total strength will be 1,200 men. He said the type and organization of the contingent "obviously may have to be changed after consultation with Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of staff, commander of the UN force.

"It it so happens that the proposed contribution is satisfactory to the UN commander, the government will then be in a position to pass the required orders-in-council and to ask Parliament so that part of the funds not being provided by the UN may be made available."

WILL BE FERRIED

Later, a navy spokesman said a substantial proportion of the battalion will be ferried to the Middle East, not by air, but by ship, aboard the RCN aircraft carrier Magnificent.

This was taken as an indication that most of the job of moving the battalion and its gear will fall to the navy rather than an RCAF airlift.

When they reach the sands of the Suez area, the Queen's Own Rifles will be the first unit that has seen them in action on Canada's western frontier in the North West Rebellion of 1885, and in the South African War, the First and Second World Wars and Korea.

The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada were organized originally as the 1st regiment served in the Fenian raid of 1866, the Red River expedition in 1914 and in the North West Rebellion of 1885 when it marched to the relief of Battleford with Lt.-Col. Otte Columa.

Nasser Says Aid From Arab Lands Turned Down to Avoid Jordan Front

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser said today his Arab allies had refused to send troops to protect attacked Egypt, but he rejected their help because he did not want to open an Israeli-Jordan front.

"King Saud contacted me by telephone and said the Saudi Arabian army was ready to go into service," Nasser said in a talk at El Azhar Mosque.

"My answer was that we were worried about Jordan, and that the Egyptian army was alone to resume Israeli aggression."

"I told Saud to contact Jordan and co-operate with her. The same day King Hussein (of Jordan) contacted me by telephone and said according to our military agreement he was ready to defend Egypt should it be attacked. Hussein meant every word. My answer was that no new front should be opened against Israel and that we want to concentrate the fight between Israel and Egypt."

Nasser said he was explaining the position of Egypt's allies in answer to enemy demands: Egypt's allies must declare war.

Nasser said Prime Minister Eden of Britain was not able to declare war because Egypt's air force still exists and is awaiting her turn in the battle. The Russian and French claimed they had knocked out Egypt's air force in week long bombings.

"When the Anglo-French air force started air raids with a big number of planes we faced two possibilities should Egypt air force be crushed or yield airspace to the enemy?

Trains Ambushed By Rebel Bands, Factories Raided

General Strike Continues; Reds Execute Prisoners

VIENNA (AP) — Bitter new street fighting broke out in Budapest today, and the Russian-supported Hungarian government ordered new measures to combat the doggedly resisting nationalists.

Russia served notice that she would brook no interference from the outside world in her fight to drain Hungary's bid for freedom. Premier Bulganin told President Eisenhower in a note that the question of Soviet troop withdrawals from Hungary was "completely and entirely" between the Russian and Hungarian governments.

The Red Hungarian regime's Budapest radio said Soviet troops and police forces were unable to quell shooting in Akacia Street, in Budapest's 7th district.

The broadcast said "armed gangs" were attacking Red factories and others were attacking good trains en route to Budapest carrying all the food in trucks.

STRIKES CONTINUE

Budapest radio sent out urgent appeals for food transport workers to go back on the job as the capital and other parts of the country verged on starvation.

Reports from refugees crossing the Austrian frontier said a general strike still is in force and the railway system is paralized. Lack of coal, shortage of electric power, lack of clothing and a severe food shortage are keeping the country in more chaos.

Neither Soviet troops nor the government they installed seemed able to keep the situation from worsening.

But the appeals seemed to have little effect on a stubborn population. Reports reaching Vienna today said freedom fighters appeared to be maintaining a firm position in the ruined and cratered Buda, overlooking the capital, and several other strong points throughout the country.

HOTELS FIRED

Two more of the city's best hotels—the Royal and the Continental—went up in flames. Heavy fighting prevented firemen from getting near the blazing buildings. Budapest radio, in the pro-Red government broadcast warnings that new battle groups—labeled "gangs" are being formed to create bhat "brigands and plunderers" in the old Danube capital.

UPROOTS OWN PILINGS

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Forty-two years after he drove the first pilings for the Lehigh Valley freight station here, John Hazley was back Thursday to uproot them. The 70-year-old pile-driver engineer is pulling up the wooden piles by which he drove in 1914 to form the station's foundation. The station is being demolished to make way for the new mechanical plant of the Buffalo Evening News.

Hungarian Rebel Radios Silent

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The rebel radios in Hungary are silent. There seems little doubt now they have fallen into Russian hands.

It has been almost 48 hours since their broadcasts were last heard.

Some of the last broadcasts heard here told of fierce fighting and indicated their time was running out. The insurgent radio at Pecs predicted to the day how long it could hold out.

Thursday will be the last day on which we will be able to resist Russian attacks. Our ammunition and food supplies are running short. Blood is the only thing we have to offer."

Cecil J. Courneya was given two years suspended sentence this morning by Magistrate T. Y. Willis after he was found guilty of stealing $1,325 from his housekeeper, Mrs. Nora Post, over a period of two years. He pleaded guilty on Tuesday.

Courneya was ordered to pay the court $100 per month until the $1,325 theft and an outstanding $600 loan from Mrs. Post are paid. He was defended by Ben Hurley of Belleville. Crown prosecutor was John A. Pringle prosecutes.

James Smith, no fixed address, was sentenced by the magistrate to three months in the common jail after being found guilty of stealing two alarm clocks from a local department store. He pleaded guilty.

Howard Sandford of Belleville was remanded for sentence on Tuesday after being found guilty on two charges of assault. He pleaded not guilty of assaulting a woman and a police officer on Hallowe'en night. Sandford conducted his own defence.

"Y" MEMBERSHIP NOW TOTALS 900

The Belleville Y.M.C.A. membership has reached an all time high this year with a total membership of 900.

Of this total 483 are members of the physical department with the remaining 417 members of the Y.M.C.A. 58 physical classes are being held and the attendance for October was 2,041. The class with the top attendance for October was the Prep Girls Class (9-11 year olds) who are 70 in number and come to the "Y" twice a week for swimming lessons and gym.

Perhaps the most heavily populated group on the social side of the Y.M.C.A. is the Sno-Zel group which this year also reached a new high with 165 members.

With the membership and activities in the local Association the secretary is sure that the Belleville Y.M.C.A. has one of the top programs in the province.

FILM WILL PRESENT WORK IN HOSPITAL FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

After many weeks of work a film has been prepared on the work of the Convalescent Hospital for Retarded Children at Palmfield and it will be shown on 'Graphic' of the CBC tonight from the Canadian Exhibition. Cameras will take place on the Kingston Division. Five appliance dealers have asked and received permission to keep their stores open an hour and half hour so that late shoppers will not have to hurry home to catch the film.

The film is an excellent reproduction of the work done among these children and is well worth the time to view.

STIRLING WON SENIOR "B" TROPHY

Harry N. Gorsline Wins Winter Rye Title at Royal

A consistent exhibitor at the Royal Winter Fair and also at county fairs in the Bay of Quinte district, Harry N. Gorsline of Demorestville in Prince Edward county, has won the winter rye championship at the Royal.

Mr. Gorsline exhibited a sample of Tetra Pitkus winter rye which he grew for the first time this year. His sample nosed out an English entry, which was awarded the reserve championship.

For several occasions Mr. Gorsline has won reserve championships at the Royal but this is the first time he ever hit the jackpot.

He is a regular exhibitor at Belleville, Picton and Stirling fairs, showing grain, vegetables and flowers.

Children's Aid Society Work Divided in Two Categories

The Children's Aid Society of Belleville at 63 Moira, West, divides its work into two distinct categories. The protection of children from neglect, and the care of neglected and dependent children.

In recent years there has been increasing emphasis placed on the social worker's part in trying to prevent children from becoming so seriously neglected as to need their removal from their homes. Imperative is the need for service in the field of child welfare this is known as protection work. Since May 1955 the Belleville Child has assigned a protection worker to this work on a full-time basis. The services of this worker are made possible by a combination of provincial and city grants and a Community Chest allocation. Last year the Chest met approximately 10 of the $34,000 collected by the Chest it was necessary to appeal to city council for a $2,000 grant to make up a projected operating deficit of that amount. Council readily approved the grant.

In 1953 the City and Belleville paid in excess of $30,000 for the maintenance of wards in the care of the Society. This figure is now a full-time protection worker that is being wasted is not expected to be in excess of $12,000, which is considerably less than the Chest amount paid three years ago.

Bruce M. Kerr, director of the Belleville CAS said., "That our work with families experiencing difficulty in their day-to-day living has met with some measure of success is due to the fact that we have such wonderful supporting services as the Red Cross Homemaker service, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Juvenile and Family Court, the Mental Health clinic and Rheumatism Society, youth organizations, good supervision of school attendance by the city department of Health and especially the Belleville Ambulance Brigade. The value of these services to the welfare of the family we cannot be adequately described in words nor can they be measured in terms of dollars and cents."

CARE FOR 250 CHILDREN

The Belleville CAS provides foster care for about 250 children, who of necessity must be away from their parents and homes. Of the 250 about 30 are the financial responsibility of the city. About 175 of these children live with foster parents to whom the CAS pays monthly allowance. In the case of adoption probation and the remainder are in institutional or some type of free home care. Approximately one-half of the children under supervision by the Children's Aid Society will be the responsibility of the society until they reach the age of 16 years or even older. The remainder will probably return to their natural parents within the next year or so.

The CAS makes every effort to do all these things for its children that good parents would do for their children. There is a never-ending search for good foster homes with families who, realizing that life has been bountiful to them wish to share their good fortune with a child, who is considerably less fortunate.

Thank God there are people in our community — as there are in every community — who love children for being children and whose focus is accordingly on what they can do for the child, not on what the child can do for them!" said Mr. Kerr.

Each provincially trained social worker is now in charge of the some finding department of the Belleville CAS. Every effort is made by her to find the right and nurturing home for the right child.

104 CHILDREN PLACED

In the summer of 1954 the society established a full-time adoption department with a professionally trained and experienced social worker in charge. Since then 104 children have been successfully placed in adoption. The Belleville CAS receives continuous requests for infants but none for children. At the present time there are only three children in the society accepted as wards in CAS care for whom adoption is considered to be the best plan.

The Children's Aid Society is but the organized expression of good desire to be of service to child in your industry, business or office, when the canvassers calls at your door on the night of November 19, remember the fairy tale of The Little Match Girl. And give generously because her counterpart is very really be the same problem which is facing some children in Belleville at this very moment.

Big Percentage Of Grain Corn Fails to Mature

Bay of Quinte district farmers who have sown corn heavily to the growing of grain corn will take a big financial beating this year, not because of the late spring and cool weather last summer.

Ross Bell, one of the cool summer has been that a big percentage of the grain corn failed to mature properly. Estimates in some areas are that 50 per cent of the grain corn failed to mature.

Harvesting of the grain corn is now getting underway with yields in some instances running as low as 40 per cent. Where the corn failed to mature properly it was put under and put into silos for cattle feed.

During the past three or four years district farmers growing grain corn have sown late maturing varieties with considerable success. This year the weather was against them, the weather delaying development in many instances until the growing season was past.

Ross Bell, well known in the men's wear business in Belleville for many years, has joined the staff of Walker's Men's and Boys' Wear.

Work of Labor Board Outlined By Minister

TRENTON (Special) — Industrial labor relations and the work of the labor conciliation board of which he is chairman, were discussed Wednesday night by Hon. Charles Daley, Ontario Labor Minister, at a meeting of the Quinte District Superintendents' Association at Glen.

Mr. Daley observed that in the 13 years which he had been associated with labor, labor and management had drawn closer together. "Conciliation officer", he said, "noting that both labor and management had great responsibilities in the big industrial and expansion now being experienced all across Canada."

The speaker was introduced by Jack Allin of the Stewart Warner Alemite Corporation of Belleville and was thanked by Sam Mowbray, Downs Coulter and Company, Ltd., Trenton.

As a token of appreciation the Bata Shoe Company presented Mr. Daley with an engraved silver tray and with a fishing reel, the product of their Batava factory.

Obituary

MRS. ALFRED WHITEMAN
Cooper

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Catherine Whiteman of Cooper, died at her home on Thursday, Nov. 8th. She was in her 75th year.

Born in Pilsley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, she had lived in that area until 40 years ago when she moved to Cooper. She was a member of the Queensboro Pentecostal Church.

Surviving are her husband, Alfred Whiteman, four daughters, Mrs. Ethel (Mrs. Wellington), Mrs. E. (Gladyse) Trotter, Mrs. R. (Nettie) Trotter all of Cooper, and Mrs. D. (Hallie) Scafe, of Trenton; and four sons, Devil Johnston of Hawkesbury; John Johnston of Quebec; Harold Johnston of Frankford, and Wilfred Johnston of Rawdon.

There are 30 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

LATE JOHN R. TAVERNER

The funeral of the late John R. Taverner took place Thursday afternoon from the John R. Boyle funeral home. Interment in the chapel was conducted by Rev. J. E. McCrea. Canniton and was at Belleville Cemetery.

At the graveside W.F. Flindall and Percy Alexander conducted service. Mr. Flindall is chaplain of Hallway Trainmen, Lodge No. 108.

MRS. JOHN DOUGLAS

The death occurred on Saturday, November 3rd, 1956, after a short illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William McAllister, 24, Dunswell, Ont., near Rose Anna Douglas, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Caswell and Catharine McAvoy, in her 83th year. Born in Plainfield, she lived most of her life in Fullerton in Huntingdon township, except for eight years in Toronto, and in Campbellford and eight years in Toronto. Her husband, the late John Douglas, predeceased her 13 years ago, and a son, William, died in infancy.

She leaves to mourn her loss four daughters and one son: Mrs. Thomas (Ethel) Dobson, Toronto; Mrs. Dave Thompson (Irene), Toronto; Mrs. Albert Burton Calvert (Violet), Thomasburg; Mrs. Donald Sharp (Delia), Campbellford, and Clarence of Crookston. Fifteen grandchildren and seven grandchildren survive. One sister Mrs. George Vean (Kittie) of Toronto. Mrs. Douglas was a member of Knox Presbyterian Church, Fuller.

The funeral was held at John R. Bush Funeral Home, Belleville, on Monday, with service in the chapel conducted by Rev. H. W. Heslip of Madoc, assisted by Mr. Ray Hall, organist of Fuller Huntingdon. The Scripture was taken from John, chapter 14.

Interment was in Fuller Lake cemetery. The bearers were six grandchildren, Donald Sharp, Douglas, Harold Douglas, Dave Calvert, Burton Calvert, Aubrey Sharp, Douglas Sharp.

Senior Citizens Enjoy Belated Hallowe'en Party

Although late in the season, Hallowe'en was celebrated by the Senior Citizens of the Kiwanis Centre at the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday night. The costumes were numerous, but they were very varied and ingenious. Best dressed were Mrs. J. Ethier (pirate), J. W. Robinson (girl with pig), Mrs. P. Cooke (tramp), and Mrs. J. Thorne (bathing beauty). Judging was by Recreation Director L. Doran and Mrs. Doran and Alderman Effie MacLaren.

Singing of The Queen and the Birthday song opened the evening, which was followed by parade of costumes took place, followed by square dancing to the music of Bruce Sills and Charles Thorne. Jim Preston called the squares.

Entertainment of a splendid evening and prizes were won by Fred Cooke, Bruce Sills, Mrs. A. Hilton and Mrs. J. Preston.

A special draw was made for the best dressed, the lucky winners being Mrs. F. Bly, Sr., and Mrs. H. Belcy.

The evening opened with Leslie Field, emceeing, but President Fred Cooke arrived on after it was found he was masquerading as a harlequin.

Refreshments, popcorn and candies were served by Mrs. F. Cooke during the evening, assisted by ladies of the club.

IKE, EDEN TO MEET

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Telegraph says Prime Minister Eden is reported planning a quick trip to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower on the international situation. The newspaper predicted today Mr. Eden would go "towards the end of next week, or early in the week after." French Premier Guy Mollet, The Telegraph says, would accompany him.

Constable Bill Evans Rounds Out 36 Years Service on Force

Thirty-six years ago Thursday Constable William (Bill) Evans joined the Belleville city police force which was then headed by Chief John Newton.

Constable Evans was born on the Old Welsh border but was raised in Shropshire, England. In 1915 he joined the Shropshire Royal Horse Artillery and served on the continent of Europe in the battles of Neuport, Ypres and Somme. After being discharged from the Imperial Army shortly after the end of the First World War he sailed for Canada and arrived in Belleville in 1920.

The following year he led Rose Mary Bailey of Belleville "down the aisle" to the beginning of a happy marriage which one week ago today had its 35th anniversary. The Evans' have two children, Mrs. Gordon (Leslie Winfield), St. Catharines, and Douglas, who operates a grocetria in Trenton.

Thirty-six years ago (the city police force had a model T which was used as a cruiser, but somehow it doesn't seem predecessor to the Chevrolet which is used today.) Those were the days when we would work 12 hours a day for $90 a month," said Constable Evans.

Since his enrollment on the force he has seen two men hanged by law in Belleville and has taken a few shots at stolen cars. But those events happened many years ago. Constable Evans' most stable Evans recalled how one morning he and Constable Bert Chamberlain arrested three gunmen at the corner of Bridge and Front. The threesome were lodged in jail and when they appeared before Magistrate Ponton each was sent to the Guelph Industrial Farm with sentences of two years less a day. The trio would later escaped from custody but were shot dead by police while robbing of a bank hold-up.

"I clearly remember that at this time 28 years ago the ground was hard and we had snow. The snow we have been getting these late winters has been nothing compared with what we got in the old days. We usually had to member knee-deep snow and on one morning I remember reading 44 degrees below zero.

RECALLS OLD DAYS

When Constable Evans joined the force Judge Deroche presided at Hastings County Court; William Carnew was county attorney but later was succeeded by Colonel H. C. Denman, who is still practising.

"In the early days we used to have magistrate's court every day except Sunday. Some times court was even held on Sunday when the charges in the most serious cases the magistrate confronted were a bit drunks and the police force was small. About 36 years ago the minimum penalty upon conviction of having liquor in a place other than your residence was $100 and costs; now it's $10 and costs," said Constable Evans.

Thirty-odd years ago when Belleville police officers made their nightly rounds checking business establishments quite often they could not get close enough to the door because of the number of dogs, which used the doorways as bedrooms. "But we sure fixed those dogs. We would get some firecrackers and throw them under a sleeping dog. Then we would run like mad. The same goes for those back for more of the same treatment the next night." In 1930, Victoria Avenue had no street lights and, with the exception of Front street, most of the other streets were dimly lit. The station was illuminated by gas lamps. City police would also manual traffic signals at Front and Bridge during the busy hours of the day and direct traffic. The force consisted of horse-drawn buggies. The lower Bridge was plank floored in those days and what few buses there were had to honk their horns before crossing because the bridge was so narrow.

RUN BY POLICE FORCE

Belleville's only ambulance service in those days was run by city police, who would also chase stolen cars in their model T out of the city and along the highways until they apprehended their men.

Chief Alex Kidd led the force then.

Constable Evans still bears himself with the same fairness and promptness he was noted for back in the "horse and buggy" days.

There is one sad note in Constable Evans' 38th anniversary of service and that is the death while police. His wife, Rose Mary, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital. She has been there for the past three weeks and every member of the force would be glad to see her bedside.

"Through all my years of service I have had many pleasant and beautiful guiding light — Rose Mary," said Constable Evans.

Constable Evans now works under Chief Constable Walter Probert.

City Auditor To Make Audit Of Bus Company

An independent audit of the Hawson Bus Company books covering the past year of its operation, will be made by the city auditor, if a resolution of this recommendation is expected to be placed before council as to whether or not to continue operation without a fare increase by curtailment of present services.

This was the outcome of a meeting of the special city council bus committee held yesterday at city hall and attended by spokesmen from two West Hill delegations and bus line operator Fred Rawson.

The two West Hill delegations had appeared before council Monday evening requesting that city council reconsider its approval of fare increase and curtailment of service by the bus line, and result the meeting by-law was referred back with delegation spokesmen being invited to attend the special meeting.

The independent audit of the bus line books is expected to be completed in time for the council committee of the whole meeting next Tuesday night. At the committee meeting it is expected the auditor will suggest whether in his opinion the bus line can or cannot continue to operate without a proposed fare increase or curtailment of services.

Mr. Rawson assured every request would be given in providing all records required for the independent audit.

According to present plans the bus company will increase fares to two for 25c from the present three for 25c and will discontinue operation of the Crosstown bus route.

IN MEMORIAM

JEFFS. — In loving memory of Charles James Jeffs, who passed away in our home on November 9th, 1955.
Memories are sweet, dear Daddy,
Although we smile and remember,
Nobody misses you more than we.
Sadly missed by Mother,
Hoping for cure, but all in vain,
He suffered much but all is past,
It is true, God gave him eternal rest.
Memories are sweet, dear Daddy,
When we think of you we weep,
We have lost, but God has gained,
Heaven is a lot nearer.
Remembered by son Harry, Muriel, Bobby, Marlene and Sandra.

JEFFS. — In loving memory of Charles J. Jeffs, who died November 9th, 1955.
We often think of you,
When we are all asleep;
The memory is our friend,
That never lets you go.
You left us the withered ark,
With all the memories stored,
Our love for him will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Remembered by Charles, Jim, Jack, Beverley and Jeffs.

JEFFS. — In loving memory of Charles J. Jeffs, who died November 9th, 1955.
Daddy in heaven you are fondly remembered,
Sweet happy memories cling round your name,
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always remember you—to death the same.
—Remembered by daughter Lillian, son-in-law Lou, grandchildren Lou Middleton.

JEFFS. — In loving memory of a dear father, Charles James Jeffs, who passed away a year ago today.
Lovely and striking, little of plan,
Loving and giving the whole of the man.
A cherished smile, a heart of gold,
A friend to all, both young and old.
Happy memories, fond and true,
Are all we have to bring to mind of you.
Sadly missed by Betty, Bill and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank my relatives, friends and neighbors who called, sent gifts and cards during my recent illness in the Belleville General Hospital.—Mrs. Greg Crews, Foley Street, Mrs. Douglas, Empress, Hertel, Mrs. Lawrence, 237 Bay Front. A special thanks to blood donors.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Trans Mountain Pipe Line was the outstanding feature of the stock market today in morning trading. The stock jumped $6 to a new high of $35 half an hour after the market opened but it settled back to $33 a few minutes later.

The market in general was stronger. Volume at 11 a.m. was 623,000 shares, still light.

Trans Mountain announced a proposed five-one split in the listed shares earlier this week and at the same time declared its first dividend. Since a week ago, it has climbed from $79.

Other pipeline and refining oil stocks were strong today. The industrial index was ahead 1½ points.

Western oils were strong.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was steadier on grade A large as demand increases. Other grades were about steady.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, in three cases, graded: A large 38; A medium 32-33; A small 29-29; grade B 30-33; grade C 28-29. Wholesale to retail: A large 43; A medium 37-38. A small 33-34; grade B 37-38; grade C 33-34.

Butter solids: Canada, first grade, Ontario tenderable 58; first tenderable 58-58½; western 58½ (normal.) Trading was light with sales reported at 58½ were graded prior to shipment.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 3 5-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Thursday's noon rate 36 27-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.69, down 7-16.

Two Toronto Men Killed at Barrie

BARRIE (CP) — Two Toronto district men were killed and two others injured on Highway 400 south of here early today when their car collided with the rear of a slow-moving transport truck.

Joseph Sarson, 21, and Paul Marsala, 24, of Scarborough died in the crash. Driver Jerry Valgardson, 24, was taken to hospital with hip and chest injuries, and the fourth occupant, Stephen Dempsey, 24, was treated for cuts and bruises.

Truck driver Ross Dunbar, 30, of Toronto was unhurt.

Provincial police said the car hit the rear of the truck as it came over the brow of a long hill.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Slaughter steers were firm to 50 cents higher, dredweight higher on sort this week at the Ontario public livestock market. Heifers and yearlings were steady.

Cow prices were generally unchanged while bulls sold 30 cents a hundredweight lower. Calves and hogs were steady. Lows were $1 to $1.50 higher. Lambs were 50 cents to a much as $1 a hundredweight higher.

Receipts of cattle were some 3,750 head less than last week and about 2,200 head fewer than the same week in 1955. Western cattle were 300 head less than last week at 2,574 head. Receipts of western stock calves were 2,179, an increase of 150 head. Shipments to Eastern Canadian Slaughterers were two carloads less than last week at one car and there were no exports to the U.S.

An estimated 2,200 cattle, mostly replacements 40cd 1,000 stock calves will be unsold at the close. The dressed beef movement is reported as comparable to last week.

Feature of the week was the reduced cattle volume which was a bolstering factor in the steer prices.

Prices

Good steers $19.50-20.50, choice to $21, medium steers $16-19; common $12-15; good heifers $17.50-20, choice to $18.50; medium $13-$16; common $11-$13; boner steers and heifers $8-10; choice dry-fed yearlings $23-24, an odd top to $24.50; good fed yearlings $22-23; medium $17-21; good cows mostly $10; medium cows $9-9.50; common $8-9; canner and cutters $6-8; good heavy bologna bulls $12-12.50; heavy fat bulls were scarce and tended to sell at $10-11 common and medium light uls down to $8.

Replacement cattle: Numbers in this class continue to be exceed the demand resulting in heavy, dull and weekly carryovers. While most sales ranged in price from $14-17; some good stockers and feeders sold up to $19, an odd load of good stock calves touching $20.

Calves: Veal calves sold actively, heavy fat calves were slow and tended to sell; good vealers $25-28, choice to $28.50; medium $16-22; common $10-15; grass calves sold for dressed beef $8-12.

Hogs: Grade A $20.50; sows were $1 to $1.50 higher at $20-20.50; stags $13 a hundredweight dressed.

Police Seize Phone Numbers of 1,000 Call Girls

MONTREAL (CP)—The Herald says police claimed today they have seized the telephone numbers of more than 1,000 call girls catering mainly to guests of big mid-town hotels.

Unnamed police sources were quoted by the newspaper as saying the names were accumulated mainly through a stepped up vice offensive last month when 16 brothels and houses were raided.

The newspaper added:

"The call girl racket — which sprang up in answer to the police crusade against the streetwalker and night club prostitute—is carried both of 'old pros' and working girls who enter prostitution on a part-time basis.

"Police say the majority of clients are out - of - town tourists who are "entertained" by the girls in their hotel rooms. They charge from $20 to $75."

Picton Junior Farmer Wins Provincial Honors in Judging

Robert May, Picton district junior farmer, has won provincial honors in livestock judging at the Royal Winter Fair, winning out over 60 competitors from all parts of Ontario.

Robert, who has been a consistent winner in county competition, had a total of 810 points out of a total of 1,000 at the Royal. The competition consisted of judging 10 classes of all types of livestock with the exception of horses, which were taken out this year.

It was a double win for Prince Edward junior farmers at the Royal. The county junior farmer Swine Club judging team, composed of Robert May, John Dorenberg, Picton, and Ted Foster, won the swine club trophy.

Last year Hastings county won the trophy when it was awarded for the first time.

Democrats May Increase Margin In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats today were within one seat of carrying their present House of Representatives voting strength into the next Congress, with prospects of adding most of the five races still undecided.

In the Senate, they enter the new Congress with the same 48-to-47 margin over the Republicans they held in the present one.

Democrats led today in four of the five House races still hanging from Tuesday's election. Their final margin may be swelled by popular vote margin more than 9,000,000 above that for Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Girl Guides Hold 1st Monthly Musical Evening

CAMPBELLFORD.— November 5th was the first of the monthly musical evenings for the first and second companies of the Campbellford Girl Guides. These evenings are to be part of the Guide program and will be held on the first Monday of each month in the basement of the United church from 7 to 8 p.m. Regular Guide activities will follow until 8.30 p.m.

The District Commissioner Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol is in charge of the training for these nights, and it is hoped that they will have a Guide group ready to compete in the musical festival next year. The "World Song"—a special song for Guides, was the highlight of the evening. Mrs. R. Whitfield and Miss Gayle Greenly assisted at the piano.

Mrs. Peter Unitt (Capt.) told the Guides about the World Centenary Camp. It has been decided to nominate Beverley Beaudoin to represent Campbellford Guides at the World Camp, which will be held in Great Britain from July 29th to August 7, 1957.

A Centenary Camp will also be held in August 1957, at Doe Lake, Ontario. Girl Guides, Brownie Scouts, Cubs and Rovers over the world will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of the birth of the founder, Lord Baden-Powell, and those who are not going to the World Camp will take part in other interesting and varied projects.

FINISHED FOR YEAR

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The U.S. Air Force said Thursday military ships and men had finished taking supplies to DEW line sites in the northeastern Arctic for this year. During August, September and October, some 30,000 metric tons of general cargo and 3,000,000 gallons of diesel and aviation fuel were unloaded at 15 isolated DEW line outposts.

Delegates to UN Await Arrival Of Gen. Burns

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Weary United Nations delegates today awaited the arrival of Major-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada to put the finishing touches on an international force which is to police the troubled border between Egypt and Israel.

Burns, commander of the new unit, is to confer Saturday with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on mobilization of the force He now is in Cairo meeting with Egyptian authorities on how the force would perform its functions.

Supporters of the international force Thursday were encouraged by the decision of Israel to withdraw troops from Egypt. Earlier, Israel had said she would not give up the ground gained in the fighting.

Also, Britain and France have revised their policy and agreed to withdraw their troops as soon as the UN force is prepared to take over.

DISCUSS HUNGARY

Meanwhile, members of the General Assembly, exhausted from eight days of sessions which have stretched on to as late as 3 a.m., turned their attention to the Hungarian situation.

Foreign Minister Fanfani of Italy told the assembly that he "destroyed one air force in nonsense."

In Paris today Premier Guy Mollet said Egyptian officers in the Suez Canal area "were the first to flee, shamelessly allowing their men to be taken prisoner alone." He asserted Egyptians were not ready to die for Nasser. Nasser had "lost face," Mollet said Egyptian personnel at airports and military depots had abandoned their posts as soon as warned of an attack "without the least concern to protect their installations and material from the attack of our planes."

all private cars will be restricted to the departments in which they are registered. Fuel oil will be allocated to major users on the basis of 70 to 80 per cent of last year's consumption.

Denmark took the strongest action. Its government ordered all companies to reduce deliveries to consumers by 25 per cent. Fuel oil cuts also were ordered.

British experts believe the canal will not be cleared until well into December at least. By that time Britain would be drawing heavily on its reserves, reported "at a very high level."

NASSER SAYS

"We felt it necessary to frustrate their aim. Our pilots were ordered to stop aggression, despite their protests. If we had encountered the British and French we would have lost our pilots. We put dummy planes on the air fields and in this way were able to save our air force."

He conceded that military material had been lost but added the enemy claim that they "destroyed one air force is nonsense."

TO CARE FOR POWs

GENEVA (AP) — The International Red Cross Committee Thursday notified all parties to the fighting in Egypt that it was assuming responsibility for prisoners of war under the terms of the Geneva Red Cross conventions. The Egyptian Red Cross asked the committee to launch a worldwide appeal for blood plasma, antibiotics and bandages for war wounded in Egypt. The committee has also appealed to Russia for a truce to help the wounded in Budapest.

CHANGES IN PUBLIC OPINION

There is a saying among chess players, "when two do the same thing it is not the same."

This rule applies to more than chess. It is applicable, also, to the change in public opinion in United States and in Canada since Britain and France first decided to intervene in the Suez Canal zone. In both countries there has been a growth of sympathy with the Anglo-French cause.

In chess the same move is not the same because circumstances, the right to make the next move, differ.

Between the United States and Canada, too, circumstances differ.

The change in public opinion in the U.S. is wholly admirable, because it involves a recognition that the U.S. must share the blame in creating the situation which led to the Anglo-French action.

The change in public opinion in Canada is not automatically similarly admirable, because many Canadians in changing their views thought not to share the blame but to shift it from "our side" onto the shoulders of the U.S.

This change in public opinion can only be justified if it is the result of careful thought and a sincere conviction that the initial judgment of the situation was in error.

We are not now questioning the integrity of those who immediately voiced their support of Britain and France. We are questioning the supposition that all of those who initially shared the U.S. view that Britain and France were in error and later changed their opinion made this change as the result of sober thought.

Unfortunately the very language in which support for the Anglo-French case is now voiced all too often reveals that it is not the result of thought but of what can only be termed mistaken patriotism. One can only wish that, if they had to let their feelings rule their judgments, they would have felt that their first loyalty was to Canada, rather than to Britain. The Canadian Government, although it abstained from voting on the question in the UN, evidently does not share Britain and France were in error. It is a conviction which is shared by many Britons and which has led one of England's most respected newspapers, the Manchester Guardian, to declare that Canada has lost a battle for the moral leadership of the Commonwealth. The Guardian had earlier bluntly declared that the British action was utterly immoral.

It is certainly permissible to quarrel with the Guardian's judgment, and with the Canadian Government's policy, but if Canadians oppose their own government it should be the result of principle rather than of prejudice.

Here we might express approval of an editorial in the Windsor Star which states that "Canadians should endeavour to keep their commendable differences without animosity and without imputing motives to one another." To approve of the Anglo-French action, it says, does not imply that one is anti-American; to oppose it does not imply that one is anti-British; for to oppose the Israeli attack unjustified does not mean that one is anti-Semitic; to defend Israel's action does not make one anti-Arab.

We think people ought to be judged not so much by their opinions as by the language in which they voice them, which ought to be the language of moderation and of reason, and not of Gadarene rush of sentiment. As Bruce in the crisis the Ottawa Journal, speaking with reason and moderation, appealed for caution and thought before judgment was passed. Were more such thought given, there have supposed, would have enhanced the chances that judgments finally reached would have been moderate and reasonable. Unfortunately this system, though it works well with the Journal and its readers, does not appear to produce the same results for all. One is forced to the conclusion that some people's judgments are more likely to be governed by their feelings than by what they speak at once, as it were by intuition, rather than waiting for passion to work its changes under the guise of thought.

INTERPRETING UN SPEECHES

During the crises in Hungary and the Middle East, many millions of Canadians avidly watched proceedings of the United Nations on television. Perhaps several of them wondered exactly what method was used to translate the speeches into English.

It just so happens that the latest issue of "UNESCO Features" contains a timely answer, as the result of a question addressed by Manoel Marques de Carvalho of Managua, Nicaragua, to the editor of the magazine, Gerald Wendt. "Are the speeches translated mechanically or by human interpreters?" asks Senor de Carvalho.

"The system of simultaneous interpretation used at the sessions of the United Nations is unique, not only of any machine or electronic device, but of human skill," replies Mr. Wendt.

"Before each speaker, and on the desk of each delegate, is a microphone which carries his voice and words to the sound-proof booths of five different interpretation sections, one for each of the five official languages of the United Nations: English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese. In each booth is a team of four interpreters, one for each of the four languages that must be interpreted. For instance the Spanish booth has interpreters who can interpret English into Spanish, French into Spanish, Russian into Spanish and Chinese into Spanish.

"When a speech is made in English, for example, the interpreter from English into Spanish listens in and, while listening, instantly interprets the speaker's words into Spanish.

"This 'simultaneous interpretation' requires the highest skill on the part of the interpreter, not only in speaking while at the same time listening in, but in understanding the full shades of technical or political meaning so as to give a correct rendering in the idiom of the language used."

Reading that explanation, one cannot help but marvel at the skill of the interpreters. Try paraphrasing a person's remarks and see how often you give them a slightly different meaning. If this occurs in "interpreting" in the same language, think how much more difficult the task of interpretation would be from one language to another. And, to add to this, some of the speakers are not talking in their own tongue — Norwegian, for example, would have to speak in either English, French, Spanish, Russian or Chinese. If misunderstandings do sometimes occur, who can be surprised?

Billions of Pills

Philadelphia Bulletin

Back in the early days of this century, Sir William Osler, one of the most physicians of the time, said:

Man has an inborn craving for medicine. Thus the desire to take medicine is one feature that distinguishes man, the sole animal from his fellow creatures."

There is no question today that man's medicine - taking proclivity is on the increase.

In 1955 the American public consumed 16 billion, 800 million pills. This is an average of 100 for every man woman and child in the country. They paid nearly a billion dollars for them.

And this does not take into consideration other forms of medication, such as injections or liquids taken by mouth.

The vast majority of the billions of pills swallowed each year come from less than 1,000 of the 6,000 different tablets and capsules listed in the catalogs of the nation's pharmaceutical firms.

The enormous consumption of pills, however, is not due solely to new and exotic drugs that have been developed in the last few years. It is the ever-lengthening list.

In another field certain diseases of deficiency, such as some forms of anemia, thyroid disturbances and pellagra, are now checked by drugs taken by mouth.

It is estimated that the American public now buys one billion 300 million dollars for prescription drugs annually. This means that the average American paid nearly six dollars last year for prescription drugs, or $1.50 per capita increase since 1940.

In 1940 the average prescription cost about 90 cents. Now the tab is $2.43.

Many people complain that the cost of drugs is too high.

But the manufacturers of the pills, the pharmaceutical manufacturers, have a large number of answers to defense against the charge.

Many of the industry spokesmen say: "Sure, our costs a lot in terms of dollars and cents. But they are cheap for what you get. And they are cheap compared to what the American public spends for other things, such as alcohol and tobacco.

They point out that the number of prescriptions written for each person has gone up 50 per cent in 15 years and averaged one prescription every eight months. Now each person gets more than three prescriptions filled each year. Half the total amount of these cost $2. or less.

Even an expensive prescription is cheap when one considers the incalculable cost of suffering or death.

In 1925 the total cost of treating a single case of tuberculosis, a dangerous infection close to the brain, was about $1,000. This included the surgery and the hospital costs.

Today, the disease is prevented by shots with antibiotics.

And the disease now is infinitely more curable. Even though an increase is being seen now because certain organisms have become resistant to some antibiotics.

Some forms of anemia can be cured by pills taken by mouth. In 1955 the cost of this type of treatment for anemia was $10 per patient. It is $2.50 today as recently as in 1950. It is 90 per cent less than it was in 1925.

The industry spokesman admit that some of the new preparations, which the public calls "miracle drugs," were expensive when they were first placed on the market.

Part of this was caused by the tremendous amount of research, time, effort and capital that went into the development, testing and production of the new item.

It is estimated that out of every thousand compounds that are studied by drug manufacturers only one pays off.

Once the product has been tested, proved and accepted and the production bugs licked, then the price toboggans.

The selling price of penicillin between 1943 and 1952.

In 1945 when penicillin first came out, 100,000 units cost $20 at the manufacturer's but not the retail cost. Now 100,000 units cost less than one cent in bulk lots.

As late as 1949, a 25 milligram tablet of cortisone cost $17. Now it is down to nine cents.

The reason is that doesn't strike pay dirt, when a product is turned up it may take as long as 18 months to develop to the point where it is ready to be marketed.

And if the drug happens to be the first in a new category, the manufacturer can be sure of the fact that his days of monopoly will be short-lived.

The first anti-histamine was followed by hundreds of others. The first antibiotic was followed by more than 4,000 others. The first sulfa drug turned loose a flood of 5,000 others.

Some spokesmen for the pharmaceutical industry cite another factor in the apparent high cost of pills. The doctor and the patient demand the best drug right at hand when they need it.

Thus the time and place availability push the costs up. A prescription is not like a can of peas or a sack of potatoes that can be put on the self-service shelves of a supermarket. The labor costs are only in manufacturing but in distribution are relatively high.

There are more than 50,000 drug stores in the country and many of them carry a thousand different prescription items on the shelves.

But if the doctor wants a highly specific type of drug he satisfies patient the druggist may have to send to the wholesaler to get it.

This specificity and the exact quality also help to push production costs up. Most manufacturers agree that the control of quality often may cost more than the actual manufacturing process.

One company runs 108 different tests on each batch of a new tranquilizing drug it makes.

Over and above the standards of quality and efficacy, the pharmaceutical industry prides itself on turning out a product that has what is known as "pharmaceutical elegance."

Each type of tablet or capsule must have its own distinctive shape and color so that it can be easily identified. In addition, the tablets are stamped with an identifying mark.

Many of the spokesmen for the campaign to do away with the word "pill" is the technical meaning of the word, very few pills are manufactured in America today. Most of the new solid medication taken by mouth fall into the categories of tablets or capsules.

These vary too. They can be compressed tablets, coated tablets (to dissolve in the stomach), enteric-coated tablets (to dissolve in the intestinal tract), lozenges (to dissolve in the mouth) and even boluses, bougies, or pellets for various specialized purposes.

Oysters For a Horse

Blankaven Digest

Benjamin Franklin arrived one night at a Rhode Island tavern. It was winter and he was cold, tired and famished. There was a cheerful blaze in the fireplace, but Franklin found all the seats taken around the hearth. Sizing up the situation, he ordered his stable boy to "give my horse a quart of oysters."

Ridiculous, the boy asked, "Did you say a quart of oysters?"

"To be sure, give the nag a good quart," said Franklin.

"Where do I get the oysters?" asked the boy.

"In the saddlebag, and let him have them all," repeated Franklin in a loud voice.

Those around the fire left their places to witness the disembowelment of a horse eating oysters. When they had returned, colder and wiser, Franklin was comfortably seated close to the fire.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 9th., 1936

Lieut. Col. David Barrgagar gave a very interesting talk to the members of the Y's Men's Club at their meeting at the Y.M.C.A. last evening. His subject was the "Settling of Western Canada" and his address was highly informative. He was introduced by Alex. Weir, a former public school pupil in the class conducted by Col. Barrgagar and expression of appreciation was conveyed to Col. Barrgagar by George Fauley. The president of the club, Jack Wilson, presided.

From our file copy at this time in 1936: "The roller skating rinks are attracting large patronages. It is amusing to watch the beginners as they go through all sorts of antics. However, in fact quite soon one learns to skate properly. Sometimes a pretty girl, learning to skate, may fall into the arms of a nice boy, who is also learning to skate, and who can tell — a romance may begin there.

The new Victoria Avenue Baptist Church is rapidly approaching completion and already it looms up as a handsome edifice. When finished it will add to Belleville's reputation as the city of fine churches.

The steamer Hamilton of the Richelieu and Ontario Line while proceeding up Big Bay channel on Quinte yesterday had a shaft and drifted about until picked up by a tug and towed in from this city went to the rescue and towed the Hamilton into the harbor here.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There was a big medical convention in town the other day and a couple of the out-of-town doctors had come down for lunch with me. At our table were two others, making a party of four doctors, all elderly men, a formidable group to lunch with.

The morning discussions had been on what is called geriatrics, the study of old people, weary old fogies; and misery of mind with old Father Time slanting coldly into the faces of the aged.

"Misery is not a disease. It is a perfectly normal and natural state of mind," put in another doctor. "The misery of the old is as natural as the joy and glee and bounce of youth."

"And," clinched a third doctor, "it is as natural for aged people to try to share their misery as it is for youth to try to share their joy of life. That's the basic problem of old age. Not its diseases or its failing functions. A good many old people simply cannot bear to see happiness around them. It makes them feel apart, alone. So they set out to destroy happiness in their impulse or their motive, they try to spread it to make others around them miserable too. It is as natural as the instinct of youth to whoop it up and get everybody happy."

The oldest of the doctors, the one whose father was still living, spoke up.

"This is a very curious thing," he said. "I had exactly the same experience with my father at least fifteen years ago, when he reached seventy. At first I thought there was some kind of a devil in him, the man he controlled to make everybody miserable in the house. So, fifteen years ago, I gave him a talking to, almost exactly in the terms and words you have used. But I discovered, as you have, it was his misery, the unconscious desire of youth to share his happiness, that was behind it. I worked it this way. The old boy understood instantly. He was himself whole. He has been the most beautiful old man I have ever met, ever since."

Nothing greater, the four doctors agreed, than to see the end of increasing age, good nature in the old.

Personal Health Talks

Horrors! Coffee And a Cigaret!

The most essential item of an adequate breakfast, I said many recently, is protein, such as eggs, ham, bacon, fowl, or fish.

I said also that the nannypanny who breakfasts on toast and tea or coffee and a fall or maybe a dish of sugar pap and some sweetened fruit juices fresh from the can, gets just enough calories for a brief spurt of work, up or activity, then sags quickly, loses interest and feels the need of a lift or a "stimulant."

I have heard from two dozen nanny-pannibles who resent the imputation.

Simmer down, folks. It is my duty as a health adviser to teach people how to avoid the national malnutrition. After all, if you'd rather be left to cultivate malnutrition in your own sweet way, you are not compelled to read of this column. This is still a fairly free country.

We Americans have boasted so much about our scale of living being higher than that of Europe that we have lost sight of the fact that the people of Europe are at least as well-nourished as in some countries better-nourished than we are. I mean to say that everyday diet of Europeans more frequently supplies the essentials required for good nutrition than the everyday diet of American does. This is especially true of the ordinary diet of growing children and adolescents.

The fundamental fault with the diet of American youngsters is the same as the fault with the diet of grownups, only more so. The diet contains a great excess of carbohydrate—not just natural carbohydrate but refined carbohydrate.

Carbohydrate (sugar, starch) is plentiful, cheap, keeps long in storage, easy to ship near or far, easy to eat or drink even though the eater is hungry or thirsty, yields as many calories per ounce or pound as protein (nitrogenous) food material does, such as egg white, cheese, lean meat. It is easy to digest and a source of quick energy — this is why mountain climbers refresh themselves with chocolate bar, marathon runners with sweetened tea or coffee, distance swimmers with candy, and everybody with a glass of sweet fruit juice beverage, or ice cream soda.

Growing children or adolescents who indulge in refined carbohydrates at any time other than after a square meal, will desert if the youngster is physically active enough to handle it, is an unfriendly, cross boy or girl, or she hasn't much appetite for food — and frequently both. Refined sugar supplies not just calories but the protein (nitrogenous material), fat, vitamins, and minerals required for good nutrition.

TODAY'S TALK

THINGS BEYOND MONEY VALUE

Ever since I was a boy — and that was some time ago—I have noticed that money has always been accepted with those who have earned it. It seems to have always come to such folks.

One reason why money should not be scarce is that it has such possibilities. It can do so much and it is always doing much. But money is not the only thing that is, though it had been created for no other purpose than to be worshipped, or to be set up as the idol of selfishness and a tribute to pride.

Money should be for but one purpose alone, and that to make people happier, more comfortable, and to give pride on a decent chance to earn it so as to live decently. And its distribution should be on an equitable basis, in proportion to merit and individual initiative. From geophilists, who have only had it handed to them by those who have earned it, or especially to earn it, it should be taken, or held in trust, for their own education and the education of others who have not been so favored.

Money is merely a medium of exchange. Those who have nothing to exchange for it, or who do not desire it, should not be penalized for it.

Take a five-dollar bill, for instance. That has been earned, perhaps in only a single day. A part may be used for food and a part to pay for a book. That book represents much labor on the part of the author, who thought it out and wrote it, and also the labor of any there are those who printed it, the type, the binding, and who entered into the final making of the book. So great labor has sometimes in what that book does to the one who reads it, and how much it has enriched his mental and spiritual life with it.

But you can not measure the worth of a book? It is beyond money value, for the greatest classics of the world can now be purchased for but a few cents. Their total worth is not in money value.

Money put into education pays big dividends all through life. So does money put into works of art that inspire and light up the heart. Beauty value can only be appraised in terms of love. It's the deed behind money that gives to it substance.

BACK WHERE WE BELONG

One of the great stories of the Bible—and all literature for that matter—is the story of the prodigal son. And one of the great statements of that story is "When he came to himself, he said, I will arise and go to my father."

"When he came to himself." What does this mean? Was he a man crazy? Worse than that—he had actually deserted himself. His life had got everybody but himself in it. He was a human being without a mind of his own. He was more fittingly, employed when he was eating husks with the swine. He was a crying shame that a man should be there, but there he was. He had gone out from himself. The poor fellow chewing on carob pods was one with the lower animals.

But he didn't desert there and he knew it. He had a father and a home which he had deserted. That was still loved, although he had long since ceased to be worthy of love. He had cast all responsibility out of his heart and mind and a hundred devils had moved in and taken over. He was no longer himself.

No man is himself as long as he remains in the pigsty eating husks with the swinge when he might be back in Father's home surrounded with the warm love the Father so wants to give real self to any man again when he says, "I will arise and go out to my father." And when he decides, the Father rushes to meet him with assurance of His love.

Belleville District Softball League Honors Champions at Annual Banquet

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Belleville and District Softball League officially wound up the 1956 season last night in the form of a presentation banquet, one of the finest in the organization's history, at the Shrine Club.

Seventy-five persons, including players, coaches, league executives, radio, press and special guests thoroughly enjoyed a fine meal, brief but choice addresses and a score of presentations.

Champions and losers were honored alike during the evening with Jack Devins handling the M. C. spot. The plaque stylings of Jimmy Corradi were prominent during the entertainment with "Scarey" Harry Rollins doing his usual songleadery chore, Belleville's answer to Elvis Presley, Harvey Stollker, rocked 'n' rolled his way through "Hound Dog", "Don't Be Cruel" and "Walking in the Rain".

Mr. Herring paid tribute to the league, terming it representative of community spirit, organization and teamwork. He commended the clubs on their co-operative spirit and teamwork. "When you pull together, you accomplish what you start out to do" he said. "You can learn from the other fellow his ideas and ideals."

He paid tribute to the league on its interest in young players and said he was impressed with the spirit of the winners and the losers. He urged them to always be a member of a team. "Without you the team is weakened," he said.

Other guest speakers included Ernie Simpson of Kingston, past president of the OASA, Mr. Fred Clarke, general foreman of the Canada Cement Company, Point Anne branch and Mr. Bill Cameron, assistant superintendent at Point Anne. They congratulated the winners and wished this years' losers every success 'in the future.

Don Lee, third vice president of the OASA, presented the Canada Cementman Trophy to Point Anne the winners and wished this year's intermediate Industrial championship. On making the presentation to coach Phil Loft, manager Bill Shaw and player Pete Green, Lee noted that this was the second consecutive year that the Cementmen had captured this trophy and hoped they would repeat again next fall. The team also received OASA championship crests.

Ken Berchi, vice-president of the Belleville and District league, made the presentation of crests for the St. Catharines Standard Association Trophy to Frankford. Frankford captured the OASA all-Ontario Intermediate "B" title this year. Manager Mike Cosgrove and captain Harry Wickson received the trophy. Berchi commented that he had never seen a finer group of ballplayers than constituted the Frankford team.

A wire was read by chairman Devins from L. G. Pickard, secretary of the OASA, stating his regret at not being able to attend the banquet and offering congratulations to Frankford and Point Anne from president of the OASA John Brady and the organization as a whole.

Honorary president of the OASA, Harry Rollins, addressed the gathering and offered congratulations to the local executive for their excellent job.

The W. J. Bill Oil Trophy was next awarded to Point Anne for capturing the B. and D. league championship. President of the league Cy Barriage presented the trophy to captain Jackie Wardhaugh and at the same time heaped praise upon Doug Watterworth for his excellent job as secretary-treasurer.

Watterworth followed with the presentation of the John Labatt Trophy to the Belleville Bobcats, "B" section champions. Doug Boose accepted the trophy.

Ontario Intelligencer sports editor, George E. Carver offered the best wishes to the title - winning teams and drew attention to Pat Marsch of Point Anne and Bobby Hunter of Frankford for their sportsmanship throughout the season.

Mac "Red" Carson, president of the Umpires' Association was called on to present the batting trophies. Sam Mulholland won the Ernie Gray Trophy with .500 and was donated by Jerry O'Connor, was accepted by Mulholland's absence by Point Anne mascot David Loft. Roger Drake of the Trenton Legion Juniors accepted the "B" section trophy.

Bill VanTassel, chairman of the Recreation Committee, presented crests to five oMel Gerald Vance for the Bobs, Bill T.V.'s, Belleville pewwee champions and finalists in the juvenile girls' softball. Vance told of the fine job done by such minor workers as Leo Culhane, coach of Bobbs. A minute of silence was held for the late George Fordyce, a staunch worker in minor softball here for many years.

Lloyd "Red" Doran, recreation director, paid tribute to the "men behind the scenes", the batboys, coaches, managers and team executives in a short address.

Tom Hamilton of Madoc, Bill Shaw of Point Anne, Charlie Drake of Trenton, Carl Austin of Frankford, and Vic Burit of the Bobcats represented their clubs with short speeches. They thanked the league executive, OASA convener Don Lee, the press and radio for their contributions toward the league this season.

The league turned over a generous donation to the Shrine Club's Crippled Children's Fund and a collection was also taken for this worthy cause.

Metro Roads Boss Resigns

TORONTO (CP) — The Metropolitan executive committee Thursday accepted the resignation of Metropolitan roads commissioner Leslie Allan, 67, effective Dec. 31.

Mr. Allan, a civic employee for 46 years, may be retained as a full-time consultant for one or two years. This was recommended by committee Chairman Fred Gardiner.

The committee has recommended to metropolitan council that deputy roads commissioner George Grant be named commissioner, effective Jan. 1, at a salary of $11,000.

Mr. Allan is said to have resigned because of criticism levelled against delays and contract difficulties on the Queen Street extension project. He said his duties have overtaxed his health and strength.

TO RELEASE METAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government announced Wednesday that it will not stockpile additional aluminum during the first half of 1957. The announcement by the Office of Defence Mobilization said this will make about 400,000,000 additional pounds of aluminum available for industrial use.

Old Residential Landmarks Fast Disappearing From Scene

The ever increasing popularity of the motor car, together with changing shopping trends, are resulting in a gradual transformation of the commercial district of the city with old residential landmarks fast disappearing from the scene.

Within the past several years, old landmarks on North Front St., Station street, West Bridge street, and on Pinnacle street have disappeared to make way for service stations, garages and grocery supermarkets.

Within the past month two old tenant buildings on Pinnacle St., north of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church have been razed to make way for a used car lot.

And more demolition on Pinnacle street is planned for the future with the city to raze the old Belleville Sargent Lock Company structure to make way for a municipal parking lot. Also it is rumored that a new service station is proposed for the corner of Pinnacle and Dundas streets with two large frame dwellings and an auto parts store to make room.

CHANGED TO COMMERCIAL AREA

Most abrupt change from a residential to a commercial area was possibly on North Front street where in the past two years five of six residences were razed to make way for three new service stations.

The same transformation took place earlier on Bridge Street West, where houses were moved or taken down to make room for service stations and automotive sales rooms.

Also Station Street has seen several residences demolished-to make way for used car lots or service station, while Federal government plans call for the demolition of several houses in the Foundry Street area to provide space for the proposed new post office and federal building.

TWO HOUSES REMOVED

Also within the past year two houses on Hillcrest Ave. were moved to make room for the new elevated water storage tank now being completed. And again on Dundas Street an old residence was razed in the spring with a new dairy bar being erected in its place.

On lower Coleman Street Corbin Lock Company recently razed several residences to make way for future plant expansion, while on Dundas Street West, Elliott Motors razed another home to expand their auto sales lot.

Greener Thumbs
BY JOYCE SMITH

When pruning branches, especially 6'-clue to main trunk, be sure to make the cut up, rather than down. A downward cut may cause the branch to break before it is completely severed and pull with it some bark and even part of the trunk itself, to make a deep, disease inviting wound. It's wise to paint cut portion with mild antiseptic dressing.

Kinette Club Enjoys Dinner Meeting, Films

The November dinner meeting of the Belleville Kinette Club was held at St. Thomas' Parish House on Monday evening. The meeting was opened by the president, Jean Smith, with the observance of one minute of silence in honor of the war dead.

Mary Colling, sergeant-at-arms, worked diligently collecting fines from every one. Aileen Martin led the sing-songs with Phyliss Fraser at the piano. Edna Brenner read the secretary's report, also the minutes of the executive meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Enid Smith.

Norma Bacon requested the members to complete their sales of Christmas cards as soon as possible. She also asked for volunteers to be in charge of the felt novelties and Christmas cards to be held on Saturdays at the market.

A great deal of credit is due Enid Crowder, who is in charge responsible for the beautifully attired Princess Margaret doll and bassinette. These will be on display in downtown windows until Christmas, at which time a draw will be made to decide the winner.

Past president Ruth Follwell presented a 20 cent attendance pins to many of the members, some who have had perfect attendance from one to seven years.

Mrs. William Gault, as guest, spoke to the club on behalf of the local T.B. Society's Christmas seal drive. She stressed the necessity of free periodic chest X-rays, which were available to everyone and introduced Mr. Ralph Hallam and Mr. Ron Baird, who entertained the members by the showing of two films—one on the common cold and the second on tuberculosis.

Jean Sisler thanked the guests for the showing of these educational films, which were appreciated.

The meeting concluded, the members spent the remainder of the evening making felt articles which is one of the projects of the organization.

Weddings

IRELAND—REILLY

Lovely white chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons adorned the altar of the First Pentecostal church, Belleville, Saturday, October 27, at 1.00 p.m., for a pretty autumn wedding when Mary Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reilly, became the bride of Clifford Ireland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ireland of Frankville, son of Mrs. Bessie Ireland and the late Mr. Bruce Ireland.

The Rev. A. L. Ellis performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Linda Pritchard of Belleville, rendered the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Mavis Kelsey, of Brockville, as she sang "Take My Hand in Hand," prior to the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. George Reilly, was radiant in her floor-length gown of mist white Chantilly lace and taffeta over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice of lace. A high mandarin collar with Peter Pan collar was adorned with sequins and long sleeves ended in lily-points. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught by a crest adorned with sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Georgina Reilly, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length taffeta lace and over taffeta gown, fashioned with taffeta with tatters over in back and matching bolero and headdress. She carried a semi-cascade of white mums.

Miss Donna Johnson, senior bridesmaid, wore a gown identical to the maid of honor in blue, and carried semicascade of yellow centered white mums.

Miss Alice Ireland of Frankville, sister of the bridegroom, wore an identical gown in mauve to that of the other attendants. She also carried a semi-cascade of yellow centred white 'mums.

Little Sharon Lindsay of Napanee, niece of the bride, was flowermure and sweet as flower girl in a frock of pale green taffeta overlaid with net with matching headdress and carrying a nosegay of yellow and white pom 'mums entwined with pastel ribbons.

Mr. Merle Timbers of Aurora, attended the bridegroom and the ushers were, the Rev. Alfred Mowbray of Napanee and Mr. Donald Roberts of Toronto.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at St. Thomas' parish house, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing navy taffeta, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white feathered 'mums. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who chose a navy taffeta dress, with accessories with a corsage of white feathered 'mums.

The bride's table was centred with a lovely three-tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Tall pink and white candles, streamers, fern and pink ball bouquets added their nuptial accent.

Assisting the bride was proposed by the Rev. A. L. Ellis, to which the bridegroom responded.

Mrs. Ireland, mother of the bride, received the guests in a navy suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses. She carried a neutral colored peau gris coton jacket.

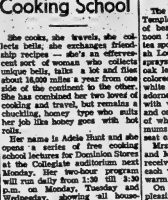
After the honeymoon around Lake Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Ireland will reside in Belleville.

Prior to her marriage the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by the Misses Mavis Kelsey in Brockville. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the bride.



Also a group of girl friends gathered at the bride's home for a surprise shower where she received many lovely gifts.

BIRD—HOLGATE

Canniton United church, Canniton, was the scene on Saturday, October 27, at 2.00 p.m., for a lovely autumn wedding, when Meribeth Lillian Holgate of Canniton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Holgate, became the bride of Herbert Arthur Bird, of Frankford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bird. The Rev. W. R. Merrick, of Belleville, assisted by the Rev. R. J. McCrea, pastor of the church, officiated before the bridegroom, and his attendant, Mr. Ronald Mills of Batawa, Ontario, who sang before the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Charles Arthur Holgate, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with fitted scalloped torso bodice on princess lines, having long sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists, and V-shaped neckline with standup wing revers. Dominion Stores Sponsor 3-Day Cooking School

She cooks, she travels, she collects bells, she exchanges friendship letters with more than the last cent sort of woman who collects unique bells, talks a lot and flies about 12,000 miles a year from one side of the continent to the other. She has combined her two loves of cooking and travel, but remains a chuckling, honey type who suits her job like honey goes with hot rolls.

Her name is Adele Hunt and she opens a series of free cooking school lectures for Dominion Stores at the Collegiate auditorium next Monday. Her two-hour program will run daily from 1:00 to 3:00 Wednesday, showing all house wives useful and interesting tricks of home cooking.

ADELE HUNT

There is no admission fee for the "Fun With Food" cooking school, and the basis of the daily programs will be sure and helpful hints, tasty and easy cooking tips, and gourmet serving on an economical budget. Step-by-step procedures with different recipes each day, will be presented.

Everyone is invited, men, women, and teen-agers, and some lucky people will carry home the cooked dishes from each class, pies, cakes, roasts, casserole dishes, puddings and salads. In addition, Dominion Stores will award 25 pounds of groceries daily, and the grand prize will be an electric range courtesy of the Hawley Gas Limited, 240 Front Street, awarded on the last day.

Quintena Rebekahs Sponsor Scintillating Successful Bazaar

The reception hall at the IOOF Temple, Front St., was a bower of beauty on Wednesday afternoon for the annual bazaar and tea sponsored by Quintena Rebekah Lodge, No. 133, with the fragrance of red cedar, burnished fall leaves and stalks of orange colored Japanese lanterns. Tall, white standards of graceful ferns adorned strategic corners, studded with white garlands to the wall, and on a pedestal, a lovely basket of white and bronze chrysanthemums highlighted the treasurer's seat of custom.

Mrs. Cress Adams, Noble Grand and Mrs. Jas. Judge, vice-Grand, received the guests, welcoming each with a cheery smile, and a warm handclasp.

On entering the auditorium, a pleasing vista of colorful booths met the eye, reminding one of the Arabian Nights with their attractive wares. The fancy work booth, which was first in order, was resplendent in shades of pink, a trapeze, in rose and white; a wine-red Peter Rabbit, which would do duty as a door knocker, hung by his back from the window ledge; little dressed dolls about in a waterless lake; guest towels with pretty embroidered motifs; elegant plates; a basket bearing the inter-locked three links; Edna Cotton, Mrs. Cora Billings-Steele, Dorothy Tugnette and Miss Irene Muir, Children's booth.

The children's booth of knit articles and toys, convened by Mrs. Mary Flumpton, assisted by Mrs. Ida Godden, with their helpers, Mrs. Joanne Wellman, Mrs. Doris Ellsworth, Rhea Mitchell, Margaret Drummond, Pearl Wilson, Florence Hillis and Mrs. Ruth Wellman, was well patronized for the rag dolls, socks, baby jackets, tuque and cute puzzy cats, woolly dogs, clowns, black Chloes, and boxes of odd articles.

The homecooking table was in charge of Mrs. Jean Pringlehon, Mrs. Marion Kolver, as convenes, assisted by Mrs. Helen Shorey, Helena Darwin, Pearl Hall, Cecilia Briens, Agnes Barclay, Bessie Rose, Jenny Redner, Edith Babb, Susan Fry and Mrs. Wilmot Rose, who sold a bountiful supply of pickles, jellies, small fruits, date loaves, cup cakes, plain and iced; hermits and tarts of variety and occasional creams, carrots and potatoes.

PARCEL POST

The parcel post booth, with its attractive wicket, and little pigeon holes also had a number of parcels, long, short, slender and round and square, ready for the numerous fancy fingers to distribute in quantity. These were convened by Mrs. Flossie Bird, and Mrs. Lavina Bird, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Short, and Maude Craig.

In the candy booth were delicious looking maple sugar was noted, which tasted as good as it looked; red tarty candied apples; nut balls; after dinner mints, cups filled with creamy popcorn balls and bags of assorted sweets. In charge of these were, Mrs. Verna Clipsham, Mrs. Ada McCarthy, assisted by Mrs. Georgina Charlton, Edna Wylie, Gladys Maudsley and Miss Bessie Boldrick.

The aprons, convened by Mrs. Alice Adams, and Mrs. Verna Gilroy, with their assistants Mrs. Ona Wilkinson, Ellen Elliott, Dorothy Harwood, Janet Twiddy, Win Hutchinson, Mrs. Margaret and Anne Harris, were all that one would wish both as to attractiveness and prettiness, and were of dotted Swiss, chambrays, ginghams, prints, fancy plain cloths, and favorite half style, with a few of the all-over heavy duty type.

CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES

An eye-catching booth was that of the Christmas novelties, in charge of Mrs. Merle Shipman and Mrs. June Carruthers with assistants Mary Large, Jill Empey, Laura Downey, Edith Rushworth, Gladys Erickman, May Jensen, Bea Stubbert, Mary Bailey, Verna Summers, and Miss Nettie Brown, assisting. Here were Christmas decorations for doors, gleaming white table centres with tall, red Christmas candles, tiny, scintillating metallic Christmas trees in blue and silver, and red and white; cestus' pin cushions; fancy aprons; knitting stocking for Santa's gifts; jewelry, and many plants to brighten the home, of baby tears; Chinese gardens, Mexican hope, flowering begonias and trailing ivy.

The tea room, upstairs, was immaculate in its fall white and hardy dards of red, white, gold and bronze 'mums which formed a fence of loveliness behind which were the little guest tables, with their white cloths, and attractive, tiny centres, and at the far end of the room, a tall white container of large, snow-white 'mums.

The tea table was most attractive with its lovely centre of variegated carnations, mingled with pale yellow, gold and bronze 'mums, and stalks of yellow snapdragons, interspersed with crimson maple leaves. Tall yellow and white candles in tri-branched silver candelabra and silver accessories completed the setting.

Those who poured during the afternoon were: Mrs. June Carruthers, Mary Flumpton, Lena Belnap, Mrs. Ethel Short, Mrs. Twiddy and Irene Aman.

Those who replenished: Mrs. Nina Neal, Phyllis Burley, Marjory Large, Rhea Mitchell, Annis Bird, Ruth Bird, Norma Bird, Mrs. Stubbert, while those who served included: Madames Empey, Rushworth, Maudsley, Jill Empey, Gladys Brickman, Hilda Hutt, Dorothy Harwood, Evelyn Webber, Gladys Grey, Win Donaldson, Connie Whitmore, Mrs. Inez Tugwell, Helen Parrinder, Ethel Ostrom, Stella Ducette, Ethel Neil, Susan Fry, Verna Gilroy, Maysel Sills, Laura Downey, and the Misses Irene Muir and Nettie Brown.

The tea room hostesses were: Mrs. Emily Bird, Mrs. Myrtle Andrews. Receiving the guests to the tea room, Eva Turvey and Mrs. Georgina Charlton, while the homecooking booth attendants were Mrs. Eva Judge and Mrs. Win Langridge.

Helen Shorey included: Mrs. Helen Brenton and Mrs. Ila Addy, the convenors, and Mrs. Nan Cathcart, Mrs. Ida Sinfield, Mrs. Verna Reynolds, Mrs. Flossie Bird, Mrs. Helen Wright and Mrs. Evelyn Graham, assisting in the delicious refreshment parlor booth.

WISHING WELL

At the bottom of the stairs leading to the tea room, a wishing well was in charge of Mrs. Ruth Wellman, with the decorations which could be used for the Cancer, Polio and Tuberculosis Fund.

Several draws were on view: A quilt, made by Mrs. Ruth Wellman, Lottie Smith; the Christmas cake was won by Mr. Everett Thompson, Mrs. Ruth Sandy by Mrs. Maysel Sills; the crochet collar by Mrs. Ruth Wellman, the pillow slips by Mrs. Harold Abbott, of Picton; the velvet bunny by Mrs. Ruth Wellman, Phyllis Burley; the apron by Mrs. Sicila Ducette; the Christmas cake by Mrs. Ruth Wellman; the cosy by Mrs. Eva Hick; the baby set by Mrs. Ruth Wellman, the dietrical teacloth by Mrs. Marjorie Large; the compact by Mrs. Ruth Wellman, the Kitchenaid, and the floral table centre by Mrs. Verna Summers.

Another successful and colorful bazaar and tea, nicely convened, with a large group acting as convenors, Mrs. Clara Ironside and Mrs. Annis Webb, and representative thanks to those who assisted.

PLAN RUBBER PLANT

EDMONTON (CP)—The Journal says a large firm which produces synthetic rubber is planning a $5,000,000 plant for the Red Deer area, 100 miles south of Edmonton. The newspaper says the firm is believed to be Polymer Corporation, a crown company established by the federal government.

Air Travel Described at So-Ed Club

The So-Ed Club of the Belleville YMCA, held its sixth meeting of the fall session at the Campbell Street YMCA on Wednesday night.

The meeting started with "interest activities" at 7.30. The dance group reviewed square dancing and learned the Virginia reel.

The photography group were shown the effects of dodging in enlarging to change the tonal scale of prints by Don McDougal of the Belleville Camera Club. The Field and Stream group had a film on hunting with emphasis on safety by courtesy of the Canadian Industries Ltd. while the bridge group continued to play bridge, coached and instructed by Mr. Mott and Mr. Townsend. The bridge group also discussed the formation of a Belleville So-Ed Bridge Club. It was proposed should meet every second Wednesday and would be open to members and their friends.

After the interest activities the groups met for the dance hall to hear the guest speaker,

GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Bert Lawson of the lecture committee, introduced the speaker, Mr. Ross Smyth of the Public Relations Department of Trans-Canada Airlines in Montreal. Mr. Smyth spoke on air travel, its history and expected future. Mr. Smyth pointed out that air travel has actually been reduced in cost, he cited as an example that the inaugural flight of TCA, from Montreal to Vancouver in 1939 cost $145 and that the present tourist fare from Montreal to Vancouver is $145 which represents a tremendous decreasing power of money is less now that it was then.

Mr. Smyth described the new Vickers Viscount aircraft with its four engines and 40 passengers flying from Toronto to London, powered with cheese and a special brand of cheese spread prepared by Canadian processors of the refreshments committee, the formula is undergstood to be a closely guarded secret.

So-Ed chairman Bert Hiles introduced Mr. Willis Gay, of Kingston, who described some of the aspects of hypnotism.

After Mr. Gay's talk on hypnotism, the dance program got under way. The usual "progressive" numbers, a polka, two waltzes and two foxtrots with a "spot dance" to end the evening thrown in for good measure. The So-Ed Jeepler be barred from Mary Hamilton and Don Bell.

The home waltz concluded the evening's activities considered another So-Ed success.

WANT PRESLEY OFF TV

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—About 20 Syracuse housewives are circulating petitions asking that Elvis Presley be barred from TV appearances. The petitions say that the singer engages in "physical contortions that are vulgar, suggestive and disgusting."

St. Michael's PTA Holds Fashion Show

The regular monthly meeting of St. Michael's Parent Teachers Association was held in the Separate School's auditorium on Monday last. Mr. James Lynch acted as chairman.

Following the opening prayers by Rev. Sister Mary Andrew, principal, Mr. A. Duffy delivered a comprehensive talk on a group collection. Literature plan available to school students at a low cost. This was followed by a question period.

Mr. Ryan's room won the attendance plaque for the evening.

Mr. Gordon Powers spoke briefly on some assistance required for club and boy scouts work.

FASHION SHOW

The highlight of the evening was a fashion show presented by 18 young models ranging in age from 11 to 14 years. Encouraged by their home economics teacher, Rev. Sister Mary Anita, they have been taking a series of lessons given by the Singer Sewing Machine Company. All modeled the dresses they had made—many of which featured delicate detail work, smocking and fine hemming. Junior custom jewellery was brought to the occasion by Marie Lalonde and Joan Woodward presented her with a bouquet of flowers.

Rev. Father W. J. McGee closed the meeting with a short prayer.

Club Activities

PLAINFIELD HOMEMAKER'S CLUB

The third meeting of the Plainfield Homemaker's Club was held at the town hall on Wednesday evening, with all ten girls in attendance.

The meeting was opened with the Club Girl's Ode followed by the Club Girl's Creed. Roll call was answered with each girl's indication of a "well-groomed girl".

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 27. It is hoped to have the fathers present, and the members, present.

Mrs. Salmon led in the discussion, "Care of Hands and Arms" after which Muriel Swan demonstrated on how to alter patterns with each girl altering her own pattern to fit her size, with excellent results.

Maria Naruscevicus, Patricia Hopkins, Barbara Foord, Monica Duclos, (who was modelling the dress made by Judy Lalonde), Margaret McLaren, Ellen Huffman, Lenore Morrell, Patricia Finnegan and Kathleen Burkett.

Two of the girls were the top winners of the Singer Sewing Machine Contest for 1956 for the city of Belleville, Miss Patricia Finnegan (Junior) and Miss Patricia Finnegan (Senior). Both were awarded special prizes by Mr. Stanley Bell.

Mrs. G. W. Woolford expressed the association's thanks to Miss Lalonde and Joan Woodward presented her with a bouquet of flowers.

Rev. Father W. J. McGee closed the meeting with a short prayer.

Refreshments were served by class mothers, Mrs. G. Wilkinson and Mrs. G. Gist and their assistants.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MATRE YOU COULD WIN YOUR MOTHER-IN-LAWS' HELP

Beatrice Fairfax:

A husband is in the service, and at present, our baby and I are staying with his mother. My mother-in-law is very attached to the baby and she doesn't want us to take him away. But since I'm his own mother woman, I want a home of my own, even though I love my mother-in-law very much.

Please tell me how to go about getting my husband to agree to having a home of our own when he is out of service; — W.S.

Dear W.S.:

You don't say whether your husband will be discharged from service in a short time or if there is still a year or so ahead of you in which to make plans.

Whichever it is, however, I would if you couldn't get your mother-in-law on your side by talking to her as though you knew she would understand how you feel.

What I mean is, you might tell her that you know her experience when she was a young bride and said would make her understand your wish to have your own home. Then go on to say that you've been wondering if she would help you make a plan to surprise your husband by having a little home ready for him to come to when he's discharged. If you put it in she is an affectionate, confidential way, saying you wanted to keep it a secret just between the two of you until your husband is coming home for good, she might get really enthusiastic, and think it would be lots of fun to work it all out with you. Emphasize the fact that you need her help, and let her feel you take it for granted she would want to give it. Since she is the kind of person that is to your love, as you say, it wouldn't be at all impossible that she would respond to your suggestion in the way you wanted.

Try the idea and let me know what comes of it.

YOU CAN'T CATCH FISH WITH SPOILED BAIT

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 20 years old, and there's a boy in the office where I work with whom I'm very much in love. He doesn't know it. In fact, nobody does.

Last year, we went out together for awhile, then a few months ago he met another girl and has been going steady with her since then. Yet when anybody asks this boy how his girl is, he always says he hasn't any girl. If I meet him at a party, or anywhere else, he won't say "Hello," but otherwise he pays no attention to me. Yet when we're in the office, he's very friendly.

My mother has insisted I go to a doctor because she thinks I'm not well, but there's nothing wrong with me except that I'm very much-in love and very unhappy. — H.B.

Dear H.B.: I think it's high time some of you girls realized that moping over a boy is the worst possible thing you can do, if you want to attract him. It's like putting a piece of unsalted meat on a hook to catch a fish. All that would do is to drive the fish away, whereas if you baited your hook with the freshest, most tempting bait you could find, you'd be far more likely to catch the fish.

So be smart enough to pull yourself together and act like a girl who's happy, busy with good times and who always has something to do with her evenings. To give the impression that you're a lonely girl who is so at a loss for friends that she doesn't know what to do with herself is fatal. Don't act the part of a popular girl, either. Get out and around, find interesting things to do and be active in them and really live the part. That way, someone is bound to come along—and not only one someone, either—who will think you're a girl worth knowing.

Nylon taffeta and lace makes a lovely wedding gown, is easily converted into a washable evening frock.

You find it true in some seasons that bridal gowns take to extremely opposite silhouettes from ordinary clothes. The reason for this contrast is a desire to look like a romantic picture, rather than a fashion plate. But this winter it's a different story. For the gentle Edwardian look has captured the fancy of both regular designers and those who specialize in bridal fashions. This means, happily, that a bride will find it no problem to convert her wedding gown into an evening gown later on. Slim lines, elegant necklines, flowing panels—all these characteristics both wedding and general fashions this season.

A bride on a budget might well feel justified in splurging a bit more on her wedding gown—knowing how well it will fit into her wardrobe after the honeymoon is over. Fabrics look as elegant as the silhouettes. Yet the practical bride should remember that elegance, in this day and age, doesn't rule out washability. By all means, choose a fabric or combination of fabrics that will be safe in soap or detergent suds. You'll want to be able to care for the gown with regular home-washing methods, and there's no reason why you shouldn't. Satins and taffetas and some can all be found in nylons, orlons, and other fibers that belong in the washable category.

One charmingly romantic number we saw recently combined nylon taffeta with nylon lace, the lace flatteringly draped in a redingote effect. This particular gown could be converted for evening wear in two ways. With sleeves removed, the lace could be used for wide shoulder straps or the entire bodice could be remade to provide a delightful strapless number, perfect in keeping with the Edwardian mood.

For a mid-winter wedding, there are lovely nylon velvets, too. Most nylon velvet is washable, but do look at the tag first to see if it is. Some have a finish which won't take laundering but, if marked "washable," you need have no hesitancy. Just be sure that when you do wash it, you let it drip dry.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

IT'S POLITE TO SIGN YOUR OWN NAME LAST

Here is a question of first importance to the wife who signs the Christmas cards for her husband and herself (and it generally is the wife who signs the cards):

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When the wife is signing the Christmas cards for her husband and herself, whose name should she write first? Or is there no difference to hot breakfast cereals. When it comes to giving directions for making hot breakfast cereals I seldom do, so here goes:

CORNMEAL

The rule for this fine cereal is 1 cup cornmeal to 2 1-3 to 3 1-3 cups boiling water and 3-4 to 1 teaspoon salt. The difference in amount of water depends on whether your family likes its cereal a bit runny or firmish. Have salted water boiling rapidly in top part of double boiler over direct heat.

In a fine stream add the cornmeal slowly, stirring constantly. Stir two or three minutes to stir out all lumps. Put over boiling water in bottom of double boiler, cover, cook about 15 minutes longer, stirring two or three times. Serve boiling hot with cream or homogenized milk and dark brown sugar.

VARIATIONS:

(1) If your children are underweight or do not drink enough milk use only half the amount of boiling water, and when cereal is transferred to bottom of double boiler add 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 cups cities or whole milk. (2) Add 1 tablespoon butter to cereal when it is cooking for those who do not like cream on their cereal, but need the nourishment. (3) Make cereal night before using the 1 cup cornmeal to 2 1-3 cups water proportion. Tip it cold from pot, slice, dip in raw cornmeal, fry in pan after frying bacon or sausages and serve it with them and pass maple syrup. A good old Missouri breakfast.

ROLLED OATS

(Hot breakfast cereal)

These proportions are not for quick-cooking oats; see directions on package for that. All good Scots claim this flavor is better. I do too. Stir 1 cup raw rolled oats into three cups boiling water containing 1 teaspoon salt in top of double boiler. Cook stirring, for three minutes. Transfer to bottom of double boiler and cook covered at least 1 hour stirring occasionally.

Note — Scottish people often cook rolled oats only a few minutes; depends on where you were born. For the very young and very old cook from 2 to 3 hours. Try liquid honey and rich cream on it.

CRACKED WHEAT

Proportions are the same as for rolled oats and cooking time is one hour or more.

FARINA

(Cream of wheat)

Same as cornmeal.

I'll give you recipes for Sesame seed products later.

EARLY CHECKUP

Experts recommend that a child should be taken for the first dental checkup at the age of three.

Reader's Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Well, I'm still reading your column and receive much help and enjoyment from it. I noticed in one of your economy talks that packaged cereals are a poor buy. In the fall of the year we start on hot cereals again and I got to wondering if you had any recipes to make them a bit different. Sometimes the kids say we're tired of old oatmeal. Also would you have any recipes using sour cream. I have one for bars made with dates and whole wheat flour, but I'd like more using either all-purpose flour or whole wheat flour.—Mrs. Ralph M.

ANSWER:

I'm delighted that you asked. For fun before I started to type this answer I looked through four cookBooks and found not one reference to cornmeal slowly, stirring

We Sincerely Say:
DON'T BUY ENERJETS
Unless—
- YOU REALLY LACK VITALITY
- YOU ARE UNDER A STRAIN
- YOU NEED TO BUILD UP RESISTANCE AFTER AN ILLNESS

Because
Enerjets contain exceptionally high quantities of vitamins, minerals, liver and iron — that's why they cost $5.95 for a 30-day treatment — that's why we say ENERJETS are only for those who really need them, not for those who are new in the best of health.

Fast Action With Enerjets
The Enerjets box is like a calendar. It contains 30 squares. Each square holds your daily dose. Ten days from now, when you reach square 10 in the Enerjets box, you won't have to be told how much better you look and feel. You'll notice your appetite improves . . . your body feels rested, alert, ready for action. ENERJETS are building you up, helping you feel better than you have in years.

When You Reach Square 30
You should experience new vigor, a buoyant feeling of well-being, the happy companionship of your family life.

Your $5.95 is Protected
We have such confidence in the Enerjets formula that we say "You are protected" because if you are not so pleased that you want to tell others about them, then just do this — mail back the empty carton with your name and address to The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co. Ltd., Oakville, Ontario. We will refund your full purchase price, plus postage. That is how confident we are that ENERJETS will help you.

Extra For The One You Love
After your 30-day ENERJET course you will feel so much better you will want someone you care for to start on ENERJETS too. Send the lid of the ENERJETS box with name and address to The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co. Ltd., Oakville, Ontario. We will forward a 10-day supply to you or the person you name with your compliments and best wishes for their good health. Only after you have taken your ENERJETS will you realize what a wonderful way this is to help a member of your family, or a friend.

Get away — worlds away — this winter! In Mexico you'll learn a new way of living . . . the carefree, casual Latin way. You'll find it in the thrill of landing a fighting marlin off blue Acapulco Bay . . . in the tempestuous excitement of the bullfights . . . in the sparkly rhythms of Mexico City nightclubs. And it's all just 8½ hours away.* The best way to go is by Canadian Pacific — the only airline to offer both first class and tourist services from Canada, non stop Toronto-Mexico City. Eleven more are in various stages of construction. (Central Press Canadian).

Coin-Box Television Is Most Dramatic Development Now In TV, Awaits Official Sanction

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Coins rattle through a slot in the television set, the scrambled picture on the screen leaps into sharp, vivid color, and the viewer settles down for hours of live entertainment uninterrupted by commercials.

That, say some enthusiastic experts, is television of the future. And, they say, it may be in Canada within five years.

Coin-box television—or, as it is called, "pay-as-you-see TV"—is the most dramatic development pending in television, they claim. And everything is ready except official sanction.

Among the most enthusiastic boosters of the pay-as-you-see plan is Famous Players Canadian Corp., Ltd., the company which operates 410 movie theatres throughout Canada. Reason, Famous Players holds a 25-year franchise for Canada on the system through its subsidiary, Trans Canada Telemeter Ltd.

"TREMENDOUS FUTURE"

Said J. J. Fitzgibbons, Famous Players president and managing director, in an interview:

"Pay-as-you-see has a tremendous future. We know through surveys we've run, that if the viewer is offered top-flight entertainment uninterrupted by commercials, he will be glad to pay the $1 or so it will cost."

Here's how the system will operate, when and if approved by government authorities:

The householder will pay perhaps about $100 to have his TV set adapted and hooked up to a coaxial cable — strung along telephone poles—to receive pay-as-you-see programs. A coin box will be installed on his set and, in addition, he'll pay a monthly fee of about $8.

He'll still receive the regularly-transmitted television programs but if he wishes to see the special program — selected from newspaper listings—he may drop the required number of coins in the box. Automatically, the program, unmarked either by mechanical interference or commercials, will appear.

The coin box, containing also an electronic gadget to record the number and time of programs paid for, will be emptied once a month.

PENDING IN U. S.

Several applications to set up pay - as - you - see systems in the United States are under consideration by the Federal Communications Commission. Mr. Fitzgibbons says Canada's system is approved there—and he considers it almost a sure thing—it also will be okayed in Canada. It would be quickly developed, Famous Players now is active in television, owning 50 per cent of private stations CFCM-TV Kitchener and CFCM-TV Quebec City.

Supporters of the pay-as-you-see system say its success is assured by the response to community TV plans across Canada. About 50 such projects now are established, if in estimation, in Montreal, Quebec City, St. Jerome and Huntsville, Ont., which lack their own stations, and others in Montreal and London, Ont., which seek alternate channels.

Under the community TV system a large tower, often up to a hilltop, picks up programs from stations in other centres and they are passed on from there to subscribers homes. This system offers a practical means of getting television to centres without stations of their own and without the receivers to set up a station at a cost of from $300,000 to $1,000,000, depending on equipment.

No licence is required from the federal transport department for such a community system, because no transmitter or broadcast signal is involved.

In Trail, said Mr. Fitzgibbons, the community system receives two channels from Spokane, Wash., for subscribers who pay $125 for installation and $4 a month rental. The system, he said has about 1,500 subscribers a month possible 2,500 and equal demand would be shown for pay-as-you-see TV in other centres. Famous Players has applied to set up community systems in Kenora, Ont., North Battleford, Sask., and Vernon, B. C.

LARGE CENTRES FIRST

Mr. Fitzgibbons said the pay-as-you - see system, if approved, would probably be first installed in large centres such as Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver.

The head of Canadian Television — satellite and low-power stations—also favors the plan.

Satellite stations are designed to relay existing programs from other area to another. A large antenna picks up the signal from the main station and a low power transmitter sends it out to viewers unable to receive the mother station on small individual antennas.

The CBC board of governors recently approved the licensing of Canada's first satellite station at Argentia, Nfld., to Newfoundland Broadcasting Company, Ltd., will operate the satellite with a power of 100 watts video and 50 watts audio. It will pick up the signal from station CJON-TV in St. John's, Nfld., and rebroadcast it for viewers in Argentia, Placentia and Inland Bays and surrounding coastal area. The satellite will originate no programs but is expected to carry some local commercials to get income.

The CBC board also approved plans to set up a low-power station at Kamloops, B. C., which also will be operated by Twin Cities Television Ltd., on 100 watts video and 50 watts audio. But the British Columbia interior town and surrounding district is different.

With a relatively weak transmitter and a small staff, low-power stations are operated on a small budget.

THEATRE TV LIMITED

Closed circuit system — closed circuit theatre TV—appears unlikely to make much progress. Closed circuit line programs, usually special events, are piped into large theatres where table and patrons pay $1, $2 or more for seats.

Famous Players tried the system experimentally in a Toronto theatre for a championship boxing match with some success. But, says Mr. Fitzgibbons, cost of obtaining rights to broadcast events is so high due to competitive bidding from television networks that only major attractions of wide popular appeal such as sports events — can be economically broadcast by that system. Such attractions are rare and so the system can be employed only occasionally.

Today there are eight television stations operated by the CBC in Canada and 28 privately operated. The CBC stations are in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Sudbury, Windsor, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Halifax. Private stations are in Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge, Alta., Regina and Saskatoon, Sask., Brandon, Winnipeg, Kenora, Kingston, Kitchener, London, North Bay, Peterborough, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Timmins, Windsor and Wingham, Ont., Chicoutimi, Jonquiere, Rimouski and Sherbrooke, Que., Moncton and Saint John, N. B., Truro and Sydney, N. S., and St. John's, Nfld.

Licences also have been issued for private stations in Victoria, Kamloops, B. C., Medicine Hat, Alta., Quebec City and Rouyn, Que., but these are not yet in operation.

Plan to Raise Old Age Pension Being Considered

VANCOUVER (CP)—A plan to increase old age pensions by $20 a month is under consideration by federal and provincial governments Health Minister Martin of British Columbia said Thursday.

Mr. Martin said the proposal was advanced at the recent Dominion-provincial welfare conference in Ottawa and received "favorable reaction" from federal Health Minister Martin and representatives of other provinces.

The plan calls for abolition of the federal Old Age Assistance Act and regulations. The provinces would set their own eligibility tests and pension rates, with Ottawa paying 50 per cent.

"This means we could raise the pension to $80 a month," Mr. Martin said. The basic pension now is $40 a month, half of it paid by the province and half by Ottawa, but B.C. adds a cost-of-living bonus of $20.

Members of Queen's Own Rifles Happy to Be Called for Duty

In the exercise, McPherson took his objective under what Maj.-Gen. G. Kitching of Ottawa and Vancouver described as "brilliant" tactics in a difficult situation."

Maj.-Gen. A. B. Mead, chief of infantry, U.S. Army, who was an observer, said he had "never seen a better exercise of its type or better troops."

Col. McPherson joined the army in 1937 and has had training both at Britain's Staff College at Camberley, England, and the American Staff College at Leavenworth, Kan.

He was wounded in Italy during the Second World War and later went to Germany as second-in-command of the 27th Brigade, the Canadian Rifle Battalion.

The Calgary troops were, to be joined by 25 men from the 2nd battalion of the Queen's Own from Victoria. The island group was to leave Sunday.

Welland Chief Resigns Office

WELLAND (CP)—Police Chief Orwin Rounds Thursday resigned from the Welland police force rather than take a demotion announced by the Welland police commission.

Don McArter, clerk-treasurer of nearby Bertie Township and a former Ontario Provincial Police constable, was recently named chief of the Welland force and will take office at the end of the month.

Rounds, on the force here for 27 years, had been on leave of absence since the commission picked several months ago that he step down to staff-sergeant. The commission commended his integrity but questioned his administrative ability after several resignations and dismissals on the force last summer.

Asks Hungarians To Replace Blood Sent to Homeland

OTTAWA (CP)—An attractive, 36-year-old Hungarian woman has launched what is expected to be a countrywide campaign to get Hungarians in Canada to replace blood sent to their homeland by the Canadian Red Cross.

Mrs. Eva E. Javorsky, who came to Canada in 1949 as a displaced person, said in an interview that by replacing the blood Hungarians in this country will be making a major contribution to the cause of freedom everywhere.

Mrs. Javorsky, wife of Dr. D.V. Javorsky, who also came to Canada as a displaced person in 1951, said the Red Cross bank of blood has been seriously drained by shipments to Hungary.

WISH TO ADOPT

Other developments Thursday: The Hungarian Relief Fund announced at Montreal that some 700 Canadians have expressed willingness to adopt child victims of Hungary's rebellion against communism.

At Toronto, Gunnar S. Thorvaldson, Winnipeg lawyer and national chairman of the $500,000 Canadian Hungarian Relief Fund, announced Ontario's goal has been set at $197,750. Already $20,000 has been turned in from Toronto and district. He said the money will be used for relief of Hungarian refugees in Austria as well as for wounded and homeless in Hungary.

Meanwhile at Vancouver National Social Credit leader Solon Low called for the immediate establishment of Canadian recognition of citizens in Hungary and Poland as a first step in offering political asylum to Canada to escaped refugees.

WILL AID EGYPT

HONG KONG (AP)—Leaders of 14 Chinese Communist organizations formed a Sino - Egyptian friendship association Thursday with the aim of the group is to "give aid to the Egyptian peoples' struggle for their independence and sovereignty," Peiping radio said.

Bennett Promises Hot Campaign In Federal Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett told all his political fans Thursday night as he set the annual convention theme for British Columbia's Social Credit party a thumping provincial victory and laying plans for a march to Ottawa.

Mr. Bennett gave a rousing oration to about 400 supporters on the eve of the convention of the B.C. Social Credit League.

However, he told a reporter in an interview later he has no federal ambitions and will not be a federal candidate.

Rev. Ernest Hansell, here for a national service of the Canadian Brotherhood, promised that the party would nominate at least 200 candidates to fight the 263 federal seats in the election expected next June.

RAISED CURTAIN

Mr. Bennett's speech was the real curtain-raiser for the election in the first province after Alberta to go wholeheartedly Social Credit. Alberta will vote in the 52 seat-legislature in the Sept. 19 election. It was first elected in 1952.

He said his pleasure "is the deepened sense of unity seeing all other political forces united against socialism.

"They have no policies of their own. They can only look to Ottawa for guidance or the government that gets things done."

In a caustic campaign, "they won't be attacking each other—they'll be attacking Social Credit. What else don't know they'll make up.

"The old parties, the political writers and others will try to poison the minds of Canadians about what has taken place here.

FIGHT THEN ALL

"If federal party has one party had to fight all political parties, 90 per cent of the press, the CBC and all the goon squads.

He made it clear that the "goon squads" were reference to local dents at political meetings during the last British Columbian election campaign.

"The fight that got in against us at the 52—they just got in by mistake. We just haven't got enough organization in some of there ridings."

Socred Leader Wants Session Of Parliment

VANCOUVER (CP) — Solon Low, national Social Credit leader in Ottawa, called for an immediate session of Parliament "before the people go to the polls" in March for the Middle East.

Mr. Low here for the Social Credit national executive meeting, said in an interview he fully expects a general election in the Middle East as proposed by Canada but he added that Parliament should meet before the Canadian coalition government embarks.

He said the "regrets" that External Affairs Minister Pearson's proposed peacekeeping action was not made to the United Nations before Britain and France were "censured."

U.S. Will Admit 5,000 Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday ordered admission into the United States of up to 5,000 refugees from Soviet-oppressed Hungary.

The Canadian government already has announced that applications for admission as immigrants to Canada will be accepted from Hungarians.

Pierce J. Gerity, deputy administrator of the Refugee Escapee Act, said the president's decision was reached after a conference that action to meet Eisenhower's instructions is being started at once.

Fall Session Of Legislature Is Cancelled

TORONTO (CP) — A scheduled fall sitting of the Ontario legislature will not be held because there is not enough projected business to deal with, it was reported at Queen's Park Thursday.

The session was to have which had been expected to start in about two weeks, were set several months ago to deal with Ontario's farm marketing legislation and Dominion-provincial federal relations.

Ontario's present marketing legislation is being challenged before the Supreme Court of Canada and a decision is expected until early in 1957. It was thought earlier the decision would be available in October or early November.

On the basis of the court's decision, Ontario may have to change its legislation.

Government sources said the fiscal issue concerns making a new tax rental agreement with Ottawa. But since Ontario's present agreement does not expire until March 31, 1957, it is easy.

The legislature will deal with its regular spring sitting, which usually starts in late February.

Federation Wants Legislation Changes to Protect Farmers Selling Land for Pipelines

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation changes designed to protect farmers selling land for pipeline routes will be requested of the provincial government by Ontario Federation of Agriculture, the federation has decided.

The OFA Thursday unanimously passed five resolutions dealing with the farmer's position with regard to pipeline companies. Included were recommendations for changes in the Ontario Pipe Line Act and the Municipal Drainage Act.

The resolutions resulted from complaints by Ontario farmers regarding the type of contract being offered them by certain pipeline companies in land transactions.

The chief legislation change to be requested would require under the Pipe Lines Act that companies installing major pipeline routes to the Ontario Fuels Board before receiving a permit to allocate them to negotiate with farmers for land. Pipelines would avoid land containing valuable gravel deposits and would be restricted to existing rights of way where possible.

Payment for the land would be sealed equally with the price of the use of the land crossed, or its potential value as residential or industrial sites.

Companies would be responsible for all damage caused by property in pipeline construction. Appeals by a farmer dissatisfied would be heard by the fuel board.

Delegates said one company had offered farmers $1 an acre for the length of pipelines across their property. One farmer showed a contract gave the company an option on the whole property, which he said he didn't own, and to run any number of lines across for $1 a rod.

The suggested changes in the Drainage Act would make municipalities responsible for any additional cost to municipalities, or individuals, due to pipeline interfering with drainage or sewer construction. The present $4,132,000 fund for 1957, after it was recommended by a special committee of legislature, is inadequate. The budget, representing a 15-per-cent increase over the 1956 figure of $114,250 for expenditures, was protested by several councils as being too low to contended the increase would hamper local activity.

The OFA decided to request an amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act to provide coverage for farmers not employing help. The workmen's compensation board's chief assessor, Hugh Brawley of Toronto, explained coverage provided farmers under the act is

Eisenhower Sets Grim Picture Before Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower set before congressional leaders today a grim picture of mounting tensions with Russia and a Middle East war threat relieved somewhat by an Israeli policy shift.

Authoritative sources said some legislators who were away from official sources of information during the election campaign might be surprised to learn how serious the president and his aides regard the situation in the Middle East.

Prime Minister Ben-Gurion's Israeli agreement to pull out of Egypt once "satisfactory arrangements" are made for a United Nations force to patrol the Suez Canal area noticeably brightened prospects for winding up the Egyptian fighting before "volunteers" can get into it, these sources add.

CO-OPERATION BETTER

There is some encouragement here, too, in the word the United States-British-French cooperation is being restored after a near-break threat marked, as it has been, by open reference to the possibility of a third world war.

Ben-Gurion's switch, disclosed in a letter to Eisenhower which the White House made public Thursday, followed a personal plea Eisenhower had made a day earlier.

Eisenhower had announced then that Israel would defy the UN General Assembly calling on that country to get its troops out of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and co-operate with a UN police force being organized.

In his about-face, he wrote Eisenhower:

"We will, upon conclusion of satisfactory arrangements with the United Nations in connection with the international force entering the Suez Canal area, willingly withdraw our forces."

RENEWS PLEA

Ben-Gurion said Israel was reassured by Israel's attitude might be build onto the territory won from Egypt would "seriously endanger" UN efforts to restore Middle East peace. He said the Israeli government would be that Israel would be branded as "a violator of the principles as well as the directives of the United Nations."

Young Alberta Farmer Wins World Wheat Title at Fair

TORONTO (CP)—Alberta has was an Englishman, F. J. Ford retained its grip on what is considered the top award in the grain world with one of its young farmers winning the world wheat championship at Toronto's Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

The judges at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds Thursday named William Dearing, 22, of Granum, Alta., as the 1956 world champion for the sixth century of hard red spring wheat.

Alberta farmers have monopolized the wheat crown since the fair was resumed in 1946 after World War II ended. They have won nine of the 11 times it has been contested, losing only in 1947 and 1949.

Last year the wheat title went to Robert Graham, also of Granum.

This year's prize - winning sample was grown on a 4-H plot which was placed sixth in provincial competition. The 800-acre Dearing farm in southwestern Alberta is not irrigated.

For his victory the Alberta farmer will receive $100, a silver trophy donated by the National Railways challenge trophy.

Runner-up in the wheat division of Clackamas-Sea, Ore., who was awarded the reserve championship for his spring wheat sample.

Alberta farmers also had title-winning entries in two other grain divisions, R. W. Hummel of Milk River, Alta., took the world title for barley and John F. Bolton won the oats crown.

Two world titles went to Ontario farmers. The trophy for the world's best soy beans was won by William R. Beattie of Staples, Ont., who won the same award two years ago.

The corn title was retained by the United States, a country that usually sends the best entry from one of its mid-western states. This year's winner is C. Floyd Hiner of Louisville, Ky.

British exhibitors claimed one world title and two reserves. A. M. Robertson of Ramsgate, Kent, took the forage seed championship.

CREW OF 33 TAKE TO RUBBER RAFTS, RESCUED

Gatineau Park Near Ottawa Will Be Show Place of Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of road building comes high when the main object is to make the highway blend with the natural setting it passes through.

That's what Federal District Commission experts are doing in Gatineau Park. The area, a 58,000 - acre natural playground a few miles from Ottawa on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River, is being preserved as part of the plan for beautification of the national capital.

The Gatineau Parkway, slowly being chopped through the bush country, is costing $300,000 a mile. The big factor in the cost—aside from the tough terrain—is the aim of the FDC to leave the area as natural as possible.

Only a few miles of the roadway, which will snake by three pretty lakes and wend its way up and down the Gatineau hills for 2 miles, is completed. It may take 20 years to complete all the roads and other plans the commission has in mind for the park, which is being built gradually to 75,000 acres.

A new five-mile stretch, called Fortune Lake Parkway, one of the many smaller roads that will swing off the Gatineau Parkway and extend it, was opened recently by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Picnic grounds — usually screened by trees and hidden to leave the vista from the road unmarred — are spotted throughout the park. More will be added. Complete with fireplaces, drinking water facilities and parking lots, they are placed in natural settings, against running brooks or lakes.

Lookouts are built along the roads with views of the Ottawa Valley. Stonework on the lookouts is made of materials found in the area, part of the plan to keep the setting natural.

The park begins on the outskirts of Hull, Que., directly across the Ottawa River from the capital, and stretches up into the Gatineau hills. A 15-or 30-minute ride brings the motorist right into the lap of nature.

Thousands swim every weekend in the park's three lakes—Harrington, Philippe and Meach. They can rent tents and boats.

FDC landscape architects first set out the route of the parkway with aerial photographs. Then the routes are examined on the ground to ensure they take in the best scenery.

The road is planned so that a variety of scenes will be presented to the motorist. He won't see the same thing twice.

Underbrush is thinned so rock formations and lakes will be visible from the road.

The Gatineau hills area was made a park in 1937. At that time most of the area was privately owned and there are still private properties and cottages on the lakes.

The late prime minister Mackenzie-King had a cottage there for many years. It was left to the nation when he died.

The skiers will have a new run this year.

The Fortune Lake Parkway will be closed to traffic in winter. The FDC says skiers can use its five-mile stretch, much of it downhill, as a ski run.

BUFFALO FARES UP

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Niagara Frontier Transit System has asked the public service commission for permission to increase the price of its bus tokens 2 1-3 cents beginning Nov. 18. Under the new rates bus tokens would sell 35 cents for 15, instead of six for a dollar, bring adult fares from 12 1-3 to 13 cents when tokens are used.

Dodgers Edge Japanese 5-4

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese pitcher refused to obey an order and opened the way for an 11th-inning run that gave Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 victory over Yomiuri Giants today.

The Giants' manager ordered Takehiko Bessho to walk Jackie Robinson, Dodger third baseman, in the top of the 11th. The pitcher refused and Robinson smashed a double that drove in Junior Gilliam from second with the winning run.

The victory gave the Dodgers a 11-4 record on their exhibition tour of Japan, with one tie game.

The weary Dodgers returned to Tokyo Thursday night after a 20-day road trip to 12 cities that ended Thursday afternoon in Shikoku with a 2-1 defeat by the Japan all-stars. Nearly 450,000 fans saw the Dodgers, who returned from the tour loaded with souvenirs and overwhelmed by friendly receptions.

Clair Signs For Five Years With Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Frank Clair Thursday signed a five-year contract to coach Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League. The term is believed to be the longest ever offered a coach in Canadian professional football.

The club tore up Clair's two-year contract, which still had a year to run, and signed him to a five-year term extending from next Jan. 1 until Dec. 31, 1961.

Sam Berger, club president, said Clair received "a reasonable increase in salary satisfactory to both himself and the club." He did not give the figure, but Clair is believed to have received $12,000 plus a $1,000 bonus for leading Riders into the playoff in his first season here.

At the same time, Berger said the club also signed assistant coach Bill Smyth to a five-year contract, also at a "reasonable" salary boost.

Clair, 39, came here last January to perform a rebuilding job on the Riders who had been the league doormats two years running and had missed the playoffs every season since 1951 when they went all the way to the Grey Cup.

Clair's hustling, well-conditioned club finished the regular 14-game season in a tie for second place with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, both clubs winning seven games and dropping seven.

However, due to a better aggregate score, the Ticats were recognized as the second-place team for playoff purposes with the choice of grounds in the sudden death semi-final played. Tiger Cats eliminated the Riders Wednesday in Hamilton 46-21.

Clair is scheduled to leave Saturday on a scouting trip in the United States to line up new import talent for next year's team.

PEMBROKE TONIGHT

The McFarlands can fashion a three-way tie for second place in the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" League tonight if they are on their best puck behavior. All they have to do is hand the Pembroke Lumber Kings a setback and the trick is done.

The Lumber Kings at the moment are in second place in the league standing with eight points, four behind the top-run Whitby Dunlops. Ottawa Canadiens and Kingston are tied for third slot with seven with our side and Cornwall tied for fourth with five points.

The Cornwall Chevies won their second victory of the current campaign last night, edging the Kingston CKLC's 5-4 before a new low attendance of 866 fans in the riverside city.

Tomorrow night the McFarlands make their seasonal debut in Kingston's Community Centre, and all the keen oldtimes puck rivalry between the two clubs should be evident. The Mees can be sitting rather pretty if they should whomp the Kings tonight, then take the measure of the Les Douglas crew tomorrow evening. Twould help a lot.

"AND A NICE TIME . . ."

Belleville District Softball wound up the season in a blaze of banquet glory last night at the Shrine Club where Percy Cy Barriage and his merry men gathered around the festive board.

They honored champions and championship teams. They gave and heard brief laudatory addresses and in general had a whale of a time.

There was scope rare old financing, but when the smoke cleared a number of the boys had special prizes, the bills were all paid and the Belleville Shrine Club's Crippled Children Fund had a handsome donation. It was one of the most enjoyable "wind-ups" softball has had in years.

Former OASA president Ernie Simpson, Kingston, was on hand, as was OASA third-vice Don Lee. The party would not be complete without honorary president Harry (Senator Claghorn) Rollins and as usual the senator was in good voice.

Speaking of banquets, tomorrow night Belleville's All-Ontario juvenile baseball champions will be honored with a dinner and presentations at the Queens Hotel. We understand the boys will be presented with the Mail and Empire trophy and the Baseball Association cup. After the hotel "debs" they'll pick up their girl friends and dance the rest of the evening away.

WATCH THOSE KITTIES!

Hamilton Tiger Cats' crushing defeat of the Ottawa Rough Riders sparked by brilliant offensive play after a two touchdown setback, has the Lark supporters down Montreal way raising eyebrows. Those pesky Cats for the third time in four years stand between the Alouettes and the Grey Cup. The other time, last year, the Argonauts, scared the beejbers out of Montreal's football faithful before saying, "uncle."

Down Montreal way the talk is that Hamilton at the moment has a better running attack than the Als. Cookie Gilchrist, who fairly scintillated against Ottawa, they say is a match for Pal Abbruzzi. Goldston, Tex Robinson and quarterback Tony Curzella present a ground attack combination that has been the best in the east for the past two weeks. Experts down east say the Montreal backfield isn't the best the Larks has presented in the past four years.

Coach Doug "Peahead" Walker is not selling the Tiger-Cats short. He saw them crush the Riders, and he sounded a warning note.

"We've reached the stage," he said, "where we throw our press clippings, our team and individual records out the window. We can't use them in this two-game series. We have our work cut out and we'll have to be good... We've lost our last two games, one to Hamilton, 50-14, and one to Argonauts 41-27."

Walker was much impressed with Gilchrist's devastating line smashes against Ottawa. So much so he devoted a lot of time in practice to a defence against the Tiger-Cat "bruiser."

The fact that Alouettes have defeated the Cats three times in four games this season, does not mean a thing. As Walker says, records go out the window in this all-important two-game series. However, it is recalled that the Larks mashayed to a 56-14 win over the Cats at Molson Stadium and later added that crushing 51-14 explosion. At Hamilton's second out a 41-33 verdict that now Curzella tghe over from Wirkowski in his first Canadian appearance. Last time the teams met Hamilton won 50-14.

The teams clash in the first game of the series in Hamilton tomorrow and are back in Montreal November 17. Total points will count in the series.

Rocket Explodes for Pair In Canadiens' Fifth-in-Row Rangers Bench Gump Worsley

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When coach Phil Watson demoted three of his New York Rangers' players he said he believed in the old proverb of an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure. All he got was grief.

Although Rangers were getting their share of victories, Watson banished forwards Ron Murphy, Bronco Horvath and Camille Henry from the National Hockey League and sent them to the minors because they weren't producing enough.

That was little more than a week ago. Watson said at the time: "We don't believe in wailing until we have lost four games in a row to make a move." The strategy went sour and Rangers dropped their fourth straight when Montreal Canadiens beat them 4-2 in Montreal Thursday night.

In two other games, Boston Bruins scampered into a first-place tie with Canadiens with a surprising 3-1 win over Detroit Red Wings and the last-place Chicago Black Hawks pulled an equally surprising 5-3 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. It was the first home-ice defeat in six games this season.

In a vain effort to break the hoodoo that besets Rangers on Montreal ice, Watson had Johnny Bower—called up from Providence—in the New York nets. Lorne Worsley, becoming perennial victim of the Jinx, was benched.

It was the 18th consecutive regular-season loss at Montreal for Rangers and 14,179 fans witnessed it. The Rangers last won at Montreal Forum Jan. 26, 1954.

GADSBY BANISHED

Rangers' alternate captain, defenceman Bill Gadsby, was given a minor misconduct penalty in a wild third period for his prolonged protesting of a call by referee Louis Maschio, who disallowed a New York goal. In addition, 16 minor penalties were called during the tussle.

The disallowed goal would have made the score 3-3. Andy Hebenton jammed the puck into the net but Maschio ruled that a Ranger player was in the goalcrease.

At Boston, a couple of second-period goals on 40-foot shots by Vic Stasiuk and Fleming MacKell led Bruins. Stasiuk scored two goals before 12,546 customers. Last winner Ted Lindsay got the only Detroit goal, in the first period.

Kick Dirt in Nashua's Face, He Won't Run

Neither was the champ of all thoroughbred money winners happy when another horse was running on his outside.

"Nashua didn't have that will to fight when he got in trouble," Arcaro said. "And when he got dirt in his face, he wouldn't run against it.

"I've never told that before, but he's retired now so I guess it's safe.

"I used to be criticized sometimes for overhustling Nashua. Well, I hustled him because he didn't much like a horse on the outside of him."

Eskys Stress Against Riders Pass Defence

Coach Frank Ivy said if Eskimos hope to defeat Riders, they must contain the passing of quarterback Frank Tripucka, old pro from Notre Dame who led Riders to their lopsided 39-38 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the semi-finals.

"There's no sense going East to play clubs like Montreal or Hamilton if we can't stop Tripucka," said Ivy.

The Grey Cup champion Eskimos, who won the bye into the final with a fourth-place berth by ending the Western Interprovincial Football Union season on top of the standings, won the best-of-three final at Regina, then return for the second game at Edmonton Monday.

If a third game is necessary it will be played here Nov. 17.

Both clubs worked out Thursday and Eskimos planned to leave by day by plane for Regina.

During the regular season, Eskimos and Riders split their four games.

Petes Defeat St. Catharines Teepees In Opening of Glittering New Home

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes, newest team in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series, must enjoy performing in their glittering new home.

Petes, winless in two road starts and the league's early - season cellar-dwellers, went home to their new 3,900,000 Memorial Arena Thursday night and scored their first victory, a 4-3 overtime decision over St. Catharines Teepees.

At Hamilton, Guelph Biltmores moved into exclusive occupation of first place by whipping the Cubs 5-2. The win gave Biltmores a two-point lead over Toronto Marlboros defending Memorial Cup champions.

At Peterborough, it was opening night with all the trimmings.

MANY GUESTS

Present to take part in launching rites were National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell, OHA president Frank Buckland and managing director Frank Selke of Petes' pro sponsors, Montreal Canadiens of the NHL.

Petes rose to the occasion, driving back from a 3-0 deficit to surge ahead 3-2 late in the third period. Bob Hull forced the overtime with a goal for Teepees, with 61 seconds left in the game.

At 1:42 of the overtime period Chuck Hamilton scored the winner to send the 3,500 fans home happy.

VACATE CELLAR

Biltmores, who have lost only once this season, won largely on the strength of a two-goal output by Hamilton carstoff Bob Robinson. Bill Sweeney also scored two goals and Wally Chevrier one.

Alouettes, Dutchies, Blues Favored in Saturday Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three freshman football coaches in Eastern Intercollegiate football leagues will be attempting to oust defending champions Saturday, but only one can be given even an outside chance of succeeding.

He is Dalt White, whose University of Toronto Blues should be slight favorites to replace Queen's Golden Gaels as Senior Intercollegiate Union champions at Kingston. For the other two, Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Indian Jack Jacobs of London Lords, the outlook is much blacker.

Trimble's task is perhaps the more difficult as he and Tiger-Cats against the seemingly invincible Montreal Alouettes, who won the Big Four Football Union title the last two years. Only factor in Trimble's favor is that the defence of the two-game total-point final will be played in Hamilton and Tigcats won their only game from Montreal this year.

Tiger-Cats meet the Als in Montreal next week, and there they were outscored 108 to 30 in contests this season.

Jacobs' men open at home in the best-of-three Ontario Rugby Football Conference-Waterloo Dutchmen, for the last two years champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series title and league-leaders this year.

Jacobs will be playing the quarterback position as well as coaching. His team owns an upset victory over Toronto Beaches which sent them in the final. How London will cope with quarterback Bob Celeri and Billy Graham, the flipping pass and run last of the Intercollegiate regular schedule.

Though coach Doug Pfeahead Walker held a closed-door practice for his Als in Montreal Thursday, most observers expect key changes in Als' potent system or attack.

The combination of Sam Etcheverry's passes to end Hal Patterson and halfback Jackie Parker and Bob Pascal, and the crunching ground attack headed by Pat Abbruzzi have been enough to overwhelm all opposition this year.

Only bright spots in the Tiger-Cat outlook are that they ran up more than 300 points in their last meeting with Alouettes and that quarterback Tony Curcillo and fullback George Druxman should improve with every outing.

Gilchrist was outstanding as Hamilton beat Ottawa Rough Riders 46-27 in the eastern-zone semi-final Wednesday. He scored three touchdowns and averaged more than three yards on every thrust along the ground.

Western All-Star Squad

WINNIPEG (CP)—The general return to the old-fashioned rock 'em sock 'em type of football is reflected in the 1956 Canadian Press Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star team as picked by the football writers and coaches in the league cities.

The de-emphasis on passing is indicated in the choice of Edmonton Eskimos' running quarterback Jackie Parker over Frank Tychuchcks of Saskatchewan Roughriders, who broke several passing marks this season.

The selectors also named four hard-rock runners to complete the backfield in Bob McNamara of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Ken Carpenter of Roughriders, Ed Vereb of British Columbia Lions and Normie Kwong of Eskimos.

Parker, a cunning field general, brilliant runner, fine punter and more-than-adequate passer, and Kwong were the only Eskimos to make the offensive team, which numbers 13 due to a tie for the centre position. Five Bombers landed positions, while Riders had three, B.C. two and Calgary Stampeders one.

Saskatchewan, with six positions and Eskimos, with four, dominated the defensive squad. B.C. and Calgary split the other two spots.

Offensive Team—

Half (plunging)—Normie Kwong Edmonton

Half—Bob McNamara, Winnipeg

Half—Ed Vereb, British Columbia

Half—Ken Carpenter, Saskatchewan

Quarter — Jackie Parker, Edmonton

Centre—George Druxman, Winnipeg, and Mel Becket, Saskatchewan (tie)

Guard—Buddy Allston, Winnipeg

Guard — Harry Langford, Calgary

Tackle—Buddy Tinsley, Winnipeg

Tackle—Martin Ruby, Saskatchewan

End—Bud Grant, Winnipeg

End—Dan Edwards, British Columbia

Defensive Team

Safety—Paul Cameron, British Columbia

Half—Rollie Miles, Edmonton

Half—Larry Isbell, Saskatchewan

Secondary — Bobby Marlow, Saskatchewan

Secondary—Earl Lindley, Edmonton

Secondary—Ted Tully, Edmonton

Secondary—John Wozniak, Saskatchewan

Middle guard — Ron Atchison, Saskatchewan

Tackle—Dick Huffman, Calgary

Tackle—Martin Ruby, Saskatchewan

End—Cordis Sturtridge, Saskatchewan

End—Frank Anderson, Edmonton

Kwong, Carpenter, Parker, Tinsley and Langford repeated from last year's offensive team while Marlow, Tully, Huffman, Anderson and Sturtridge were returned on the defence. Ruby was the only player to make both ways.

Quinte Meets Peterboro in COSSA Playoff

Bay of Quinte COSSA junior "B" football champions for the past two years, Jack Sisco's Quinte Secondary School's young grid team faces a severe test here tomorrow morning.

They meet the Peterborough St. Peters squad which won the COSSA junior "A" title last season and are regrpted to be a powerful young aggregation.

However the Quinte youngsters do not lack confidence. Moved up to the "A" division this year, they compiled a fine season record, defeating BCI and Picton CI in their march to the league title. They added victories over St. Michael's and Albert College en route.

The teams meet tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock on the Albert College field in the COSSA semi-final, the winner meeting the Georgian Bay district victors for the COSSA championship.

Coach Sisson has trained his proteges hard and well and feels they will give a splendid account of themselves in their quest for the COSSA junior "A" crown.

In the afternoon Tweed High School and Whitby High School play on the same field in a COSSA senior "B" battle starting at two o'clock.

'Adios Harry' Whips Seven of World's Fastest

By JOHN CHANDLER

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Adios Harry ran a race a while or two again this year, but the world champion will be sent to the farm shortly and retire for the season as the greatest money-winning pacer.

Jay Howard Lyons, Greenwood, Del., farmer, announced plans for the five-year-old horse after Adios Harry whipped seven of the world's fastest pacers Thursday night in the $75,000 Kentucky championship.

Luthern Lyons, son of the owner, drove Adios Harry to a hard-earned, three-quarter-length victory over the West Coast Cheetah, Diamond Hal, owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., and driven by Joe O'Brien of Allerton, P.E.I.

Third was Bachelor Hanover, a top three - year - old colt recently owned by Hazel Rubin, Balston Spa, N.Y.

The victory was worth $37,500 to the winner and shot his 1956 earnings to $138,152. This cracked the record of $110,290 set in 1952 by Good Time.

Racing continues at Yonkers until the end of the month, and Lyons said Adios Harry probably would hang around to pick up any more change before going home, where he is slated to be bred to several dozen mares in the spring.

Lyons then plans to return Adios Harry to the Metropolitan sulky wheel for another spin at the big money. Adios Harry now has earned $280,065, and would be shooting for the all-time harness racing record of $386,865 set by Pronto Don, who retired last year.

Tokyo Warmly Welcomes 'Bums'

TOKYO (AP) — The weary Brooklyn Dodgers returned to Tokyo Thursday night after a 26-day road trip to 13 cities that ended this afternoon in Shimoda with another 3-0 defeat at the hands of the Japan all-stars. Nearly 450,000 fans saw the Dodgers, who returned from the tour loaded with souvenirs and overwhelmed by the friendly receptions.

With five games to go in Japan, the Dodgers have won 16, lost four and played one tie.

On their arrival in Tokyo, the Dodgers reported one of the warmest receptions they received was in Hiroshima, Brooklyn players reported they were welcomed by parades in the larger cities where laborers and clerks poured into the streets to clasp the visitors' hands. Everywhere, children mobbed the Dodgers and thrust baseballs and scrapbooks at them to autograph.

Landy to Run In Olympics

MELBOURNE (AP) — World mile record holder John Landy said today he would run in both the 1,500- and the 5,000-metre events at the Olympic Games.

The Australian champion now is back in hard training following a letup due to tendon trouble. Landy told a reporter:

"My present training form suggests I will be able to put up a reasonable show in the 1,500-metres and I am hoping I will be able to put enough 'polish' into my method to do well in the 1,500 metres also."

Charge Former Matchmaker in 'Fix' Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Babe McCoy, former Olympic Auditorium matchmaker, was accused Thursday of fixing fights and acting as undercover manager of boxers.

The charges were made at a California State Athletic Commission hearing.

John Covey, McCoy's lawyer, pleaded unsuccessfully for a delay in the hearing. He said the charges filed by investigators for the commission were "at least 10 fabrications had expired."

Eddie Stanley, former boxing manager and an associate of McCoy, testified he and McCoy once split the manager's share of the purse for the fights of Tiger Shepard.

Stanley also said that on orders from McCoy he sent Ivan Hughes to Portland, Ore., in 1946 for the purpose of being knocked out by Joe Kahut. The record shows Hughes was stopped in the third round of the fight.

Covey said the accusations against McCoy are "completely false."

PLANTE IN HOSPITAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Plante, goalie of Montreal Canadiens, was sent to hospital Thursday when the National Hockey League team returned home from a road trip.

Montreal Names Jean Beliveau Athlete-of-Year

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Beliveau, starry centre of the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens, Thursday was named athlete of the year by the Montreal Sportsmen's Association.

Ron Smith, president of the Association, said Beliveau will be honored at the annual awards dinner Nov. 26.

Sharing the spotlight with the hockey star will be Hal Patterson, brilliant end with Montreal Alouettes, and Cameron Grant.

Patterson will be formally presented with the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy as the most valuable and sportsmanlike player in the Big Four Football League. Grant will receive the Springer Award as the outstanding Montreal swimmer.

WIN QUARTER-FINAL

HALIFAX (CP) — Shearwater Flyers advanced to the Nova Scotia Football League semi-final Thursday night when they downed Dalhousie Tigers 7-6. Flyers will open a semi-final series with Stadacona Sailors Nov. 17 and the winner meets Greenwood Bombers for the league title.

Politics Spoiling Olympic Games Officials Stunned, Disappointed

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP) — Olympic Games officials said today they were "stunned" and "bitterly disappointed" that politics is creeping in to spoil the great sports spectacle.

Commenting on recurring withdrawals from the Games, the latest being Switzerland, W. S. Kent Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, said:

"Politics are a matter for the government. Sports should be something apart and should set an example for friendliness among nations."

"These Olympics should set a shining light for warring nations and show that men can compete in the fields in friendly rivalry."

The executive officer of the games, Lt.-Gen. Sir Willian Dimmer, called the withdrawals "a great pity" and said he is sorry to see countries, especially small countries, "swayed from the great Olympic ideal by politics."

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT

"This is a bitter disappointment to us naturally, since we have made such exhaustive preparations and sought to hold the Games in the true Olympic spirit" he added.

The president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, Kenneth Wilson, agreed that there is no place for politics in the Games and that the event should be held without consideration of international tensions.

In addition to Switzerland, other countries which have withdrawn are Sovin, The Netherlands, Iraq, Red China and Egypt.

IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland, meanwhile sharply rejected an Egyptian demand that countries "guilty of cowardly aggression against Egypt" should be expelled from the Games.

Elorde Favored Over Berrios

NEW YORK (AP) — Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Gabriel (Flash) Elorde of the Philippines, a pair of busy little featherweights, provide an international touch to tonight's fight card at Madison Square Garden.

Berrios, a split decision winner over Elorde, Aug. 22 at San Francisco, is an 8-to-5 favorite for the rematch, scheduled for 10 p.m., EST with network radio and TV coverage.

Runs Through Plate Window

MELBOURNE (AP) — An unidentified athlete, bolting from a tureen of autograph seekers at the gates of the Olympic village, ran through a seven-foot-high and quarter-inch-thick plate glass panel at the village post office Thursday night.

While alarmed postal officials rushed to brush glass splinters off him, the athlete, apparently unhurt, kept right on going.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — The teachers and pupils of Thomasburg school entertained the mothers and all pre-school children at an eskyorable Hallowe'en party at the school on October 31, at 2 p.m.

In the evening the usual parade of spooks, goblins, witches and clowns visited the residents of the village and were treated to candy, popcorn, apples and so-forth. With the exception of an odd mischievous prank by the young fry the night was quiet.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnston of Hoard's Station, were guests of honor at a party in the IOOF hall. They were presented with a chair and a mirror from the community. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Mr. Johnston is the former Ruth Bateman of Thomasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Morton returned home on Thursday from a month's vacation spent with relatives in the Prairie provinces.

Mrs. R. Scott of Trenton visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Kellar on Saturday afternoon and evening.

A record crowd attended the auction sale on the premises of Mrs. Margaret Geen on Saturday.

Bigger Pictures Seem to Be Answer to Movie Problem

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It seems don't seem to make any of them to me the answer to the movie any more. Lady for a Day was problems is bigger pictures. The studios should take what it costs to make six or eight cheap pictures and put that into one big one. Give audiences what they can't get on TV."

This was the opinion of Frank Capra, one of the all-time great creators of films. He has an unusual perspective on films because he has been absent from Hollywood for four years.

"All I hear from picture people is gloom," he observed. The last time I remember it like this was in 1941. That was when Hollywood had lost the foreign market and the studios were about ready to quit.

"Then the war came, of course, and the floodgates loosened. Producers could send out six or eight reels of anything and make money."

COMING BACK

Capra, who made It Happened One Night, Lost Horizon, You Can't Take It With You and other classics, is demonstrating his faith in the movie business by getting back into it. He's returning to his old stamping grounds, Columbia, for a remake of Lady for a Day.

"I think the time is ripe for a warm comedy," he said. "They a good picture, and a couple of generations have come along since I made it in 1932."

He hopes to get Shirley Booth to play the role created by the late May Robson.

For the last four years his work has consisted of creating four one-hour TV shows on science for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Huge Computing Devices Used To Forecast Results in Advance

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — National television network coverage of the United States election returns was in general a triumph of man over the machine.

Each of the major networks came up to the big night armed with a big machine. ABC-TV had the Elecom 125; CBS-TV had the Univac (developed by Remington Rand) and NBC-TV had a huge battery of (International Business Machine) computing devices.

CBS and ABC used machines to forecast results far in advance. As examples of how clever they were, Univac forecast at 9:30 on EST that President Eisenhower would receive 395 electoral votes to Adlai Stevenson's 68. At 9:45 p.m. Elecom 125 prophesied that Eisenhower would receive the approximate popular vote of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932. Both were close to the eventual results, although Univac stumbled when it predicted at the height of the night that the Republicans would take the Senate.

MEN MORE INTERESTING

The network commentators, while less exact than the machines, were forecasting a sweeping Eisenhower victory early in the evening on the basis of their own reasoning rather than that of the machines. To one viewer it was more interesting to watch and hear the men than the machines.

One who kept his eye on coverage of all networks found it impossible to say that one was vastly superior to the others. Each had its moments. All performed efficiently on the basis of the information supplied by newspapers and associations.

Perhaps the machines employed by the networks would have generated greater viewer interest if the race had been closer. But once it became apparent to everyone that Eisenhower was sweeping in, the machines lost their appeal. There was, at best, only a vague academic interest left in how accurate they would be.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, November 10, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—

This day's aspects indicate a need for conformity and purpose. Don't undertake countless tasks—not finishing any. Consistency, accuracy stressed!

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—

Be sturdy and confident if you would bridge the rough spots safely. Don't allow trifles to turn you aside from tasks started. Stick to one job until it is finished.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—

Restful hours for the most part but Moon and Sun positions stress a need for calmness, cheerfulness. Improve a hobby, a talent.

Don't make drastic changes, especially in things now running smoothly. Better take things reasonably and without anxiety. Routine matters can move ahead nicely. Enjoy some good fun.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) —

Your Sun's aspect suggests that you do not seek big favors but rather earn more recognition for sincere, conscientious effort.

August 24 to September 23 —

(Virgo) — This may not appear to be a stimulating day but beneficent vibrations are often around us when least expected. Be on the lookout and you can benefit by them.

September 24 to October 23 —

October 24 to November 22 —

November 23 to December 21 —

December 22 to January 20 —

(Capricorn) — Mildly favorable vibrations. On the whole the day could be helpful for routine affairs, activities that don't cause strain or irritation. It's really up to you.

January 21 to February 19 —

February 20 to March 20 —

(Pisces) — If day is demanding, do what you can, and without worry, but also take some time for a pleasant diversion. Enjoy family, friends.

You born today have tremendous energy and ambition, are willing to work for objectives but may at times overreach your authority or demand too much. Be careful about this. You have a large capacity for learning and know how to use that knowledge to advantage. You should do well in any occupation or business that gives your diversified talents room for expansion and where you do not have to submit to the humdrum. Pray for patience; don't worry. Birthdate: Oliver Goldsmith, famed writer; Wm. Hogarth, painter, pictorial satirist.

EVERYONE LIKES A WINNER!

We Have It

Listen to This!

No. 168 — TRULY LUXURIOUS STYLING is shown in this home, and this home shows quality throughout. Three bedrooms, two sleeping rooms. For superior aluminum, horizontal, hopsitals and dining. A transparent covered screened-in patio overlooks the beautiful garden. The kitchen is marvellously planned to include a dishwasher, a wealth of cabinets, and a pass-through to the spacious living room, and ground-floor family room. Wide window view from the dining room glimpses the beautiful setting and helps brighten the mealtime hour. Here is a home of quality and comfort, has many extras, and is priced to sell. Situated on one floor, and what is considered by many to be best in the city, it is a real find for your family. Shown by appointment only.

ALEXANDER ST.

No. 1699 — WE HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED TO OFFER for quick acceptance on this delightful home. Ideal for the young couple just about to start their family. This home has 2 good-sized bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen, full-size basement with recreation room, and modernized throughout. We highly recommend this property and suggest that you see it soon, as we believe it's right on the highway, close to town.

ARE YOU LAZY?

YOU'VE HEARD OF "HANDY-MAN'S SPECIALS." Here is a lazy man's special. A home with no work to be done and no maintenance problems. Six rooms, plus a rec. room. Fireplace in rec. room, in a dandy spot. On Dufferin Ave.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Santa is here early if you are interested in a new home. Living room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms. He is not only one but several and you would be wise to look them over before taking the big step. The ones we have are financed under the NHA and a low down payment will give you the one of your choice.

Damage Heavy In School Fire At St. Pascal

ST. PASCAL, Que. (CP) — Fire which raged out of control for more than nine hours in the old wing of the Separate Normal School here was reported under control Thursday. No one was injured, but damage was heavy.

Some 30 nuns and 300 girl boarders fled safely from the 100-stone structure when the fire was first noticed about 5:30 p.m. EST. Approximately 200 other girls, day students at the Institute Chanoine-Beaudet, had left the school after classes earlier.

Most of the furniture and equipment in the wing was saved.

Fire fighters from four points near this community on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River about 95 miles northeast of Quebec City helped the local department. Their efforts were hampered by lack of water. A few several hundred yards long had to be dug to insure a supply.

The blaze apparently was caused by a short circuit in one of the upper floors of the 50-year-old building. By 2:30 a.m. EST most of the flames had been put out.

The structure is in the centre of this community of 3,000.

A damage estimate was not immediately available.

EDEN WELCOMES

The majority was hailed by politicians as an outstanding victory for Eden because throughout the day there were fears a number of Conservatives would not support him. The government holds 63 more seats than the combined opposition.

Earlier Thursday, Junior government minister, Sir Edward Boyle, economic secretary to the treasury, resigned in disagreement with government Middle East policy. A rank-and-file Conservative member, Col. Cyril Banks, decided to become an Independent in protest and several other Conservatives indicated discontent.

NO DELAYS

Asked whether it was now the case that the British government had unconditionally agreed to withdraw their troops from Egypt as soon as the international force arrived, Eden answered that there was no advantage whatever in delay, and Britain was certainly not going to attempt to make delay.

Pressed by Hugh Gaitskell, Labor Opposition leader, for his views on whether the international force immediately should be of large or small powers, Eden said: "The criterion, so far as the government is concerned, is not the size of the countries making up the force, but the effectiveness of the force itself."

A Labor member asked if Britain would let the International force use British airfields in Cyprus or Malta if air bases were needed outside Egypt.

Eden said: "I will consider it. In principle I do not think I would, that if that is what is required."

Earlier in the House of Commons minister said that the secretary-general of the United Nations had requested the withdrawal from Mai-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief commander of the international force, asking if Britain and France would agree to UN military observers going to Port Said.

OBSERVERS WELCOME

"We welcome this proposal and will give these observers all facilities," Eden said.

He added: "I desirable that talks should begin at an early date between Gen. Burns as representative and the Allied command in Egypt.

"Meanwhile, we are making certain alterations to the present planned dispersal of our forces in the eastern Mediterranean.

"We shall retain in being the 3rd and 16th brigade of all Royal Air Force squadrons previously deployed in Cyprus and in Malta.

"But it will now be possible for many of these squadrons to fly home.

"In any emergency, with the general organization in existence, they can be re-deployed in Cyprus and Malta in a matter of hours.

"So far as the army is concerned we shall replace the assault units of paratroops and commandos by the equivalent in infantry battalions and the former will be withdrawn from Egypt.

"We shall also hold an additional infantry reserve in Cyprus."

TRAINS AMBUSHED

The government said it was setting up many units of "workers' guards" to protect factories and public enterprises against rebel attacks.

Just before noon, Budapest radio broadcast an appeal by the police chief to the population to surrender weapons and ammunition. It said janitors of apartment buildings and "apartment building committees" would be personally responsible for arms found in dwelling places.

The rebels raided a state-owned store and carried off 5,000 radio sets, apparently to supply the capital with means to get news from the outside.

RED SAFE NOWHERE

A Hungarian student arriving from Budapest said the people of the villages and towns he passed on his way were with the rebels. He said he saw several truck-loads of Hungarian soldiers carrying the red, white and green pins of "free" Hungarian flag and speeding toward Budapest.

Budapest radio denied reports that the former government of Imre Nagy had been arrested. The broadcast said Nagy has left the parliament building—now in control of Soviet troops—of his own will. It claimed several members of the Nagy government are actively supporting the new regime.

RANSACKED TRAINS

The official radio admitted that insurgents under cover of darkness had plundered Budapest's western railway station and ransacked trains. Earlier the radio had claimed that Soviet troops were occupying all Budapest's railway depots. Red broadcasts spoke of "armed persons" and "armed gangs."

Russia's warning against intervention from beyond the Iron Curtain came in a reply from Premier Bulganin to President Eisenhower's note asking that Russian soldiers be pulled out of Hungary.

Bulganin, quoted by Moscow radio, said the question of a Soviet withdrawal "c o m e s completely and entirely under the competence of the Hungarian and Soviet governments."

Bulganin's note seemed to spell continued failure for United Nations efforts to secure the Russian troop withdrawal and the entry into Hungary of a team of UN observers, both demanded in a General Assembly resolution last weekend.

FOOD PROBLEM

The Kadar government took desperate steps to combat the grave food situation, which apparently resulted from a general transportation breakdown and a paralysis in the cities.

Budapest Radio claimed "large food and raw material deliveries" from Russia and satellite bloodbeg satellites were waiting to be brought inland from border stations.

The broadcast asked railway workers to begin shipping the supplies, an indication that the crippling transport strike, begun after the anti-Red revolt, had not been overcome.

Other broadcasts begged the people to help stop looting and to open food stores not operating.

NAME MOURNING DAY

HALIFAX (CP)—Sunday Nov. 11 has been proclaimed a day of mourning in Nova Scotia for victims of last week's Springhill mine disaster which took 39 lives. Meanwhile Premier Hicks announced Thursday that the provincial government has made a $25,000 contribution to the mine disaster relief fund. Earlier he received a telegram from Premier Flemming of New Brunswick advising him of a $10,000 contribution from that province.

Sunday School Lesson

An Ancient Peace Plan

By ROY L. SMITH

While all the world sighs for an ending of the cold war, and when all men everywhere recognize the folly of any future war, there is a disposition on the part of multitudes to believe that peace will only come by a miracle. The simple fact is, however, that peace must be waged according to a plan, exactly as a war is waged.

A PROPHET HAD IDEA

Micah, the Hebrew prophet, was a countryman who had watched the movement of armies up and down the great caravan routes, from the vantage point of his rural home atop one of the hills of Gath. He had seen the futility of war, and the sufferings of the plain people which were always war's fruitage.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 11: "The Lord's Requirements," Micah 4,6.

He therefore conceived the idea of peace to be established when men should accept moral principles. Some kind of an impartial body should be set up to which the nations would bring their causes for judgment. Nations must be persuaded to submit their grievances to some kind of arbitration court, and men must learn to trust to the power of great moral principles (Micah 4:1-3).

MOTIVE POWER OF IDEA

Such an idea, of course, had to have some kind of force behind it, and there were but two kinds available, just as there are only two today—military power and moral power. As between these two the prophet chose the latter.

It is true, of course, that down through the years many efforts have been made to settle international disputes by means of arbitration and mediation. And the record of failure is a sorry one. In our own time we have seen the Hague Court, the League of Nations, the Kellogg Pact, and other lesser efforts go into the discard. And there are those who predict that the United Nations will also go the same way.

But suppose we were to abandon war with the same celerity that we abandon peace plans. Surely the evidence is abundant that wars have failed. We waged one war, terribly expensive, to "make the world safe for democracy," and failed even at the cost of millions of lives and tens of billions of dollars. We were thrust into another war to save the world from totalitarianism, and now we find ourselves engaged in a world-wide struggle with communism. Even a casual reading of history makes it plain that wars have failed repeatedly to achieve the purposes for which they were designed.

WARRING WITH IDEAS

The prophet Micah preached the idea that peace can only be realized when there reigns within the hearts of men a will to peace — a willingness to make the sacrifices of pride, vanity, and ambition, that are necessary if peace is to prevail. He talked about doing justice, loving kindness, and walking in the spirit of humility.

Christian missions began in Japan shortly after the beginning of the reign of the Meiji Emperor, about 1875. In the 65 years that followed the total contribution of Christians (Catholic and Protestant) to Japanese missions was probably less than $35,000,000, which is the price of one small warship. Yet as a result, in 1938, there were approximately 200,000 Christians in the Empire, and they constituted the peace party. They failed to stop the Japanese war lords, but they came near doing so, and at least one famous Japanese said, "If we could have had just another 250,000 Christians we could have kept the nation out of war." Perhaps he was overly optimistic, but to have spent the price of another small ship as an experiment in the direction of peace would have been far less costly than the war proved to be.

There is still much to be said in favor of talking matters over beforehand. The United Nations gives us that chance.

Court of Appeals Refuses to Annul 21-Year Marriage

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal Wednesday refused a marriage annulment to a 38-year-old woman who said she left her husband three hours after they were married 21 years ago, has not seen him since and didn't know she was getting married in the first place.

Mrs. Florence E. Clause, an Ojibway Indian now living in Niagara Falls, N.Y., was appealing an earlier dismissal by Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

Her lawyer, William Mara, said Mrs. Clause had not known she was legally married until she received a marriage licence after querying the registrar general's office in 1955. It showed, she was married to Pete Clause on the Six Nations reserve near Brantford in 1934.

He said she met her husband about two weeks before the ceremony and at the time of her marriage did not know it was a marriage since the clergyman wore no robes and no ring was produced.

RETURNED HOME

She spent about three hours with her husband while they had a meal with the clergyman after the ceremony, then returned to her parents' home and never saw him again, he said.

Mrs. Mara asked for the annulment on the grounds that the marriage was not consummated, that she did not know she was being married, did not consent to it and, though under 17, did not have her father's permission.

Mr. Justice F. D. Hogg said the marriage was not null and void just because Mrs. Clause did not have her parents' consent and that there was no evidence she did not give her consent.

INDIA TO SEND 900

Canada Warns Egypt To Cease Recruiting Here

1200 Man UN Force Will Sail From Halifax Within 12 Days

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has warned Egypt to stop her recruiting campaign in this country. At the same time she is moving swiftly to help mass troops for the Middle East. Russia's position may be tempted to take advantage of the current situation and intervene.

External Affairs Minister Pearson made these points at a press conference Friday night, held while the army announced that the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, major component of Canada's UN police force contribution, will be moved to Halifax from its Calgary base by air next week.

At the same time another element of the force has gathered at London, Ont., for "dispatch as required." This is understood to be the advance party to precede the main contingent overseas and arrange for the arrival in the Middle East.

PARLIAMENT NOV. 22

There is speculation the cabinet order committing the troops for dispatch will be signed in a few days and the troops recalled to Parliament, to provide the funds, will be called for Nov. 22.

The major portion of Canada's 1,200-man contribution — to help maintain peace between the Israelis and Egyptians until a political settlement can be worked out—likely will leave Halifax in about 12 days. The troops will go without the usual embarkation leave of five days plus travelling time.

How long they will remain in the Middle East is unknown, Mr. Pearson said they would remain until a political solution is worked out but he did not know how or when that solution will be reached.

He said also he has asked Egyptian Ambassador Hussein el Khalib to stop appealing for Canadian volunteers to fight for Egypt.

The ambassador told reporters last Tuesday—before a cease-fire in Egypt was achieved — some Canadians had indicated readiness to volunteer. Thousands more are volunteers, arms or other aid.

SHOULD REFRAIN

Mr. Pearson told him this was not in accord with diplomatic practice and he should refrain from "similar improprieties" in the future. Mr. Pearson indicated the same thing to Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Zaroubin.

"Y" ARRANGING PARENTS' NIGHT

Friday November 16th is the date of the Y.M.C.A.'s annual boys Parents' Night. Parents' Night in the Y.M.C.A. is the one night of the year when the parents come to the 'Y' and have the opportunity to get acquainted with their sons' activities and see the boys' physical program in action. A wide variety of activities is demonstrated in the gymnasium and swimming pool. After all physical activities are over the parents, boys, staff members and instructors meet in the auditorium for refreshments. This year with the Belleville Y.M.C.A. physical membership at an all time high and a number of new activities we hope to have a bigger and better parents' night.

WILL HEAR FATE MONDAY MORNING

Clifford Brough, 23, of Bloomfield, and Kenneth White, 18, of Fort William, will appear before Magistrate R. B. Baxter at Cobourg on Monday morning to hear his decision as to whether they will stand trial for the fatal shooting in the town of Warkworth of farmer Roy Rogers.

Earlier this week Brough's lawyer, Kenneth G. M. Ross, of Belleville, and White's counsel, Stuart Ryan of Oshawa, held a legal argument at Cobourg with Magistrate Baxter presiding.

The two accused are charged with slaying Rogers in a farm house near Warkworth on the night of August 27.

2,500 POUNDS LEAD REPORTED TAKEN FROM WAREHOUSE

Theft of approximately 2,600 pounds of lead from Lightfoot Brothers storage on East Moira street, was reported to provincial police yesterday. The lead, in bars of roughly 100 pounds each, were taken some time during the past week, it was stated.

CANADA GEESE DECIDE SUMMER NEARLY AT END

Even the Canada geese have decided that summer is at an end and that they must make haste for warmer southern quarters.

Friday afternoon and evening several large flocks of geese were seen winging their way south, honking out their anticipation of being back in the sunny South in the south.

Motorists Using Overpass on No. 37 Highway

Motorists driving No. 37 highway north of the city for the past week have been using the overpass section of the highway at the intersection of that road and the new 401 highway.

Within the last two weeks the overpass was paved and work is now going ahead with grading the cloverleafs turns and sodding the slopes of the grades.

On the Forsbrook road traffic has recently been swung onto a recently paved detour to allow completion of grading and filling in at the overpass and cloverleaf where the 401 crosses.

During the summer work on the Forsbrook road cloverleaf was dragged along without much apparent progress but grading operations at the approaches of the overpass are now again underway.

Work on the highway bridge carrying 401 highway over the Moira River will be held along until during the late summer surfacing operations were completed. Trucks and equipment being used in grading operations on the highway are now using a new river bridge.

Water Storage Tank Taking On New Look

The new three quarters of a million gallon water storage tank constructed this summer for the Belleville Public Utilities Commission is taking on a brighter look these days.

In place of the rusty columns of steel topped by an equally rusty appearing tank, metal surfaces are now undergoing paint treatment which will soon see the tank covered with shiny aluminum.

First a ground coat of paint was applied, this to be covered with two coats of aluminum paint. Four foot high black letters spelling out the name "Belleville" will appear on two sides of the completed tank.

Egg Prices Take Another Tumble On Local Market

Egg prices took another tumble on the local farmers' market this morning as farmers quoted 50c per dozen for Grade "A", 45c for medium, and 55c per dozen for extras.

Attendance on the weekend mart was down slightly as farmers apparently declined to face the sudden drop in temperature which in the rural areas was reported to be as low as 8 degrees.

Potatoes were offered at $2.50 per bushel, cabbage at $1.25 per bushel, cabbage up to 15c each; carrots and beets 25c per half dozen bunches and celery up to 35c each. Squash sold from a dime to 25c each.

Honey sold at the usual price of $1 for 4-lb pails with 1-lb cartons at 30c and 60 pounds for 50c.

Apples were quoted at a low of $2.50 per bushel for most cooking varieties and brought up to $4 the bushel for the more popular McIntosh, Spies and Delicious.

On the inside market fowl held at the usual price of 50c for mature birds and 55c per lb for capons.

Indian Summer Weather Quickly Goes Into Hiding

Balmy Indian summer weather of the past few days went quickly into hiding early this week as mercury plummetted to a season low and with snow reported in the Northern section of the province.

The "official" low at the pump house on the Trent Road was 17 degrees, but farmers attending local market this morning said the temperature as far as 20 miles to the north.

Belleville's 1956 season of the cold was reported with the white mantle of snow in the Ottawa area as far south as Madoc, although at midcounty the ground was barely covered.

The sudden drop in temperature has spurred many gardeners into thoughts toward getting the last of their vegetables out of the ground and into storage for late fall and winter sale.

Gamma Mu Holds Pledges' Model Meeting

A model meeting for pledges of Gamma Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. C. McDonald, 202 Bridge Street E.

The pledges who included Mrs. R. Bishop, Mrs. S. J. Alexander, Mrs. W. J. McCormick, Mrs. W. L. Turner, were extended a warm welcome by the president, Mrs. R. S. Morphy.

It was with regret that the president announced the loss of the two valuable members, who are leaving the city this month, Mrs. G. Gibbon, the treasurer, is moving to Toronto, and Mrs. G. Murray, corresponding secretary, is going to St. Catharines.

Mrs. Jack Wood and Miss Margaret Peart accepted the duties of treasurer and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Mrs. C. F. James, the service convener, asked for old clothes to be made into bibs, clothing and small furniture and play pens for the Pediatric ward of the hospital.

Mrs. R. R. Brain and Miss Alix Hanley were in charge of the cultural program "The Art of Dress." Miss Hanley discussed color, linear design and the occasion in relation to the ensemble and the psychology of dress.

Mrs. Brain gave a demonstration with many samples of woollens, silks and synthetics, showing good and poor buys and the effects of laundering on each.

Two Frankford Women Shaken Up in Crash

Two Frankford women, Mrs. Della Rose and Mrs. Doris Farrar, received a shaking up and suffered from shock early Friday afternoon when their car went out of control on the second concession of Sidney and turned on its side. Mrs. Rose was admitted to Belleville General Hospital, while Mrs. Farrar was allowed to go home following a checkup by Dr. Sam Cronk.

The two women were on their way home from Belleville when about three miles from the city, Mrs. Farrar, who was driving, lost control of the car. It struck some loose gravel and rolled on its side. There was about $400 damage to the car. Provincial Constable John Fullerton investigated.

Theatre Guild

With opening night for the "White Sheep of the Family" less than two weeks away the Belleville Theatre Guild is in high gear preparing for this production. At the regular meeting last Wednesday evening President Ed Rickford informed the membership that the Guild had been invited to participate in Theatre-ograph's one-act play festival in December first. In the discussion which followed the membership gave wholehearted approval to the choice of Stanley Allen Ryan and his cast of "Murder at Mrs. Loring's," to represent Belleville at this festival.

Final arrangements have been completed for the presentation of the "White Sheep of The Family" in Picton on December 5. The meeting was then turned over to Vera Thompson who organized work parties to complete posters and work on the set in the property room.

The tempo of rehearsals has been stepped up to cover the final polishing so essential in a smooth performance and director. Jim Alexander is confident that his very capable cast will provide a fine evening's entertainment for the people of Belleville.

Obituary

MISS ELVA J. LOCKLIN

On Sunday, October 28, Miss Elva J. Locklin passed away very suddenly at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. H. Day of Brighton, where she was convalescing after several weeks spent as a patient in Trenton Memorial Hospital, suffering from a fractured hip.

Elva Locklin was born in Ameliasburgh township on May 3, 1881, the eldest daughter of the late William James Locklin and Nelle Mary Ann Locklin and after completing her public school and high school education, she taught in public schools for a few years before entering Victoria College from which she graduated in 1912. After graduating from Normal College in 1913 she taught in Napanee Collegiate until 1920 when she went to Olds College, Alberta, for a year. She remained until she retired in 1945 to her home in Smithfield.

Miss Locklin was always active in the Women's Uuniversity Club in Ottawa, having been president for two years. She was active too, in the work of the church and in the Women's Institute. A brilliant scholar, a successful teacher and a devoted friend will be long remembered.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. H. A. Day, of Brighton, and Mrs. Raymond Norton, of Bloomfield, and a brother, Mr. W. J. Locklin of Rochester, New York, to whom is extended the sympathy of many friends.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday, October 30, in the Cummings Funeral Home, Brighton, with Rev. H. Finlay in charge, with interment in Greenwood cemetery, Smithfield, and was attended by many friends. The floral offerings were beautiful, attesting to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

JOHN WESLEY MASTERS

Stricken with a heart seizure, while driving his car in Queensboro on Friday afternoon, John Wesley Masters of that community died before reaching a doctor's office he summoned.

He was born in Ontario, 71 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Masters and has resided in Queensboro for the past ten years. He was a retired employee of the Quaker Oats Company at Peterborough.

The late Mr. Masters was an attendant at the United Church and is survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. (Tressa) Faires of Peterborough, Mrs. R. (Geraldine) Bewley of Hamilton, Mrs. J. (Jean) McIntosh of Queensboro and one son, Kenneth Masters of Peterborough.

Y.M.C.A. Hive of Activity With Membership at 960

Some time during the 112 years that the Young Men's Christian Association has been in existence a bright young philosopher adequately described the basic aim of the "Y" with these words: "The job of the YMCA is to make Big Men out of small boys, and then get those Big Men to make more Big Men from another generation." How true!

Belleville is fortunate in having a YMCA, many other communities of much larger size do not. Campbell Street stands a stone and brick building that was built in 1911 to be the evening and weekend meeting place of the city's younger set. Within the walls of this structure are a small swimming pool, medium-sized gymnasium, handball court, weight lifting room, two locker rooms, shower rooms, four meeting rooms, one large auditorium, and 27 single rooms for overnight or permanent roomers. If does not have a dining room but a small kitchen is available without charge to any and all clubs that hold their meetings there.

Physical training director Jim Heffernan and his staff instruct young boys in the art of the various activities as swimming, handball, basketball, badminton and other gymnastics. Older male members find enjoyment in weight lifting, judo and fencing. Each week 44 meetings of "Y" clubs and committees are held, made up of non-"Y" groups, and 36 P.T. classes, groups and sessions are held there, during which the "Y" entertained 296 gallerings.

The Belleville YMCA secretary Di Diamantides said yesterday that at the end of October membership was 960, a new high record before realized here; 960 paid members now belong to the Belleville YMCA, 494 of whom participate in sports, while the remainder belong to the lodges and clubs.

The Belleville YMCA is now accepting female members who are given the facilities of the building on Monday and Thursdays, and Wednesday afternoons.

Any Association boards or committees, instead they make a donation. About two-thirds of the entire "Y" membership using the premises do not pay anything, the remainder, or "Y" men, all paying higher light, fuel and miscellaneous other bills at the end of the month.

At the last meeting of the YMCA committee a board was set up to study the expansion of "Y" services in Belleville with the object of finding out the necessity of either a new building or renovations to the present one. At present structure.

One-third the Belleville "Y's" income is made possible by the Community Chest, the remaining two-thirds coming from private and club donations. The money which the YMCA receives from the Community Chest will be used entirely for programming. None will be used for bricks, or be used to pay bills, salaries, repairs or upkeep of the building.

With every new member that joins the YMCA and with each new activity being inaugurated in the programming, the higher overhead expenses become and the greater the need for money becomes.

Perhaps your son or daughter, or even you, are members of the local YMCA. If so, a letter of writing can tell you just how much your donation will mean to the organization's Chest. Let's really get behind the plow this year and put the drive over the top. Belleville's objective is only $35,000 and the city has a population of 15,000 (1951 census) which led a population of 25,000 last year, passed the $50,000 mark toward a $65,000 objective several weeks ago. Stratford (1955 pop. 12,857) hits its $40,000 objective about three weeks ago. Will Belleville reach its objective?

Student Accident Insurance Topic At P.T.A. Meeting

The November meeting of the St. Joseph's P.T.A. was held recently in the school auditorium. Mr. S. McKenna, president, opened the meeting with prayer.

After the business meeting was over, Mr. McKenna presented a prize from the Archdiocesan P.T.A. to Joanne Lee for highest standing in grade eight.

Mr. Lorne McDougall, the guest speaker, gave an interesting talk concerning "Student Accident Insurance."

The speaker was thanked by Mr. McKenna.

Each of the teachers gave a short talk to the parents, concerning matters of interest to parents and teachers.

Miss Durkin's room won the attendance prize and the door prize was won by Mrs. B. Lumsden.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the mothers of room VI.

Police Blotter

City and provincial police reported a quiet eight hour weekday night with only one minor accident and a number of ordinary charges coming to their attention.

Three persons in a parked car on residential street were hauled in on LCA charges, while a man found sleeping one off in his truck was also charged.

And a customer at a local beverage room who was removed from the room showed his feelings for remaining there by throwing the glass of the front door.

Early Friday evening at Bleecker and Dundas, cars driven by Telford McKay and Alice Agnes Gardiner, Foster Ave., collided, doing $700 damage to both vehicles.

Iceland Party Urges U.S. Troops Remain on Island

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)— The Independence party — long opposed to withdrawal of United States troops from Iceland — had called on the government to review its international pacts in the light of recent Soviet world developments.

The party's 19 Parliament members made the appeal Friday night to Iceland's legislature. The motion, a key Independence party plank of Iceland's defence treaty with the United States should be carried out with the view of maintaining "adequate security of the country."

The Independence party was toppled from its ruling government position last July's election. The winning coalition of Progressive and Social Democratic parties campaigned on a pledge that U.S. troops would leave and military installations in Iceland be taken over by the Islanders.

But Premier Hermann Jonasson, took quick steps to mend the pact with the U.S. on grounds his government found the international situation peaceful enough to warrant American withdrawal.

Under the agreement, more than 4,000 U.S. army, navy and air force men have been operating the Keflavik airport near Reykjavik. This is a shuttle stop for NATO's short range jet fighters and a radar warning centre. This and other U.S. bases on the island are Iceland's main contribution to joint NATO defences.

Harry Gorsline, Demoresville, Again Honored

Most of the 18,000 farmers entered in the eight-day Royal Winter Fair which opened here Friday are growers who specialize in a single product. But Mr. Gorsline can count themselves lucky to be judged in the top 10, let alone win a championship.

But Mr. Gorsline, who lives 10 miles southeast of Belleville, was named world rye king in judging announced Friday the Royal awards only eight world titles. And Friday night his name was again spotted throughout new prize lists released by fair officials.

He received a championship for his beany entry, a 10th place for his soft white wheat entry, and three seconds and two 10th places for his corn entries.

He's obviously the kind of farmer Ontario Agriculture Minister W. A. Goodfellow had in mind Friday night when he officially opened the fair with praise for the skills of those who till the soil of this fertile land.

The light side of the day's activities was provided by a shorthorn named Dolcoath Sweet 44 who ignored formalities and gave birth to a baby calf, named Royal Ormerr by the cow's owner, Ormerr Lee, owned by Judge J. G. Harvie of Barrie, Ont.

In Friday's judging, 13 new champions were named in the sheep, horses, hay and clover classes. Eight were for sheep entries.

Champions included:

Charles J. Shore, Clarworth, Ont., Oxwold wins in the Hampshire and Son, Oshawa, Cotswold ewe; Boyd Ayre, Hampton, Ont., Cheviot ram.

L. R. Bostwick, Wheatley, Ont., legume hay.

Acquitted on Charge

WINNIPEG (CP)—Ernest Calverley, 54, of Winnipeg, after a jury was acquitted by an Assize Court jury on a charge of unlawfully possessing liquor.

Calverley was originally tried in a lower court on a charge of illegal possession of 134 troy ounces of gold valued at $4,824. He was convicted and sentenced to two years in penitentiary. A new trial was ordered in January, 1956, after an Appeal Court found that transcripts of evidence taken at the previous trial contained errors.

Calverley was arrested in August, 1955, when police found several gold "bottles" in his possession. Police said they made the find in cleanup operations at the Barry Hollinger Mine at Boston Creek, Ont.

The jury deliberated for only 20 minutes.

The gold was released to Calverley.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by

HORACE B. POWELL

THE GLORY SONG

When all my labors and trials are o'er,
And I am safe on that beautiful shore,
Just to be near the dear Lord I adore
Will through the ages be glory for me.

When, by the gift of His infinite grace,
I am accorded in Heaven a place,
Just to be there and to look on His face
Will through the ages be glory for me.

Friends will be there I have loved long ago;
Joy like a river around me will flow;
Yet, just a smile from my Saviour I know
Will through the ages be glory for me.

Charles H. Gabriel, whose gospel hymns gave wings to the great revivals that flourished at the turn of the present century, was cycling in Chicago one day in 1900 with a publisher friend.

"I think I've written a song that is going to live", Mr. Gabriel told his companion. "I've named it 'The Glory Song'".

The wheeling was halted for a first reading of the stanzas which, almost as soon as they were published, were destined to ring in church gatherings from America to India.

Two years later, when Charles Alexander and Dr. Reuben Torrey stirred Christendom with their world-wide revival, "The Glory Song" was their theme song. Looking over a new book of hymns shortly before leaving for Australia, where he was to lead the singing in Dr. Torrey's preaching missions, Mr. Alexander came across Mr. Gabriel's song. Strangely enough, he passed it by as unpromising. But a few days later, as he entered a church where a large Sunday school convention was being held, he heard the audience singing "The Glory Song" and the music thrilled him.

"It took such a hold of me", the great song leader said, "that I could think of nothing else for days thereafter".

In the weeks that followed, Mr. Alexander used "The Glory Song" wherever he went. In America, in Australia, in England and in the Orient he taught the new song to his audiences. Everywhere it captured men and women as it had captured him in that first Sunday school convention audition, and within a few months it had been translated into 15 languages for beaten and bruised, but he held to his convictions, illumined by an inner glow which shone before men that many came "to see his good works and to glorify his Father in heaven".

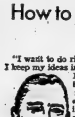
Contrast the character of George Fox with that of Pontius Pilate. Pilate was not held by firm convictions. It is pretty clear that at the trial of Jesus Pilate thought He was not deserving of death. He tried to release Jesus. But Pilate was confused. He had compromised in some previous actions. The people had done things on him. He was afraid to take a strong stand. And he let Jesus be crucified.

But how do we keep our convictions clear and strong? Amid the complex and baffling problems of the current day, we tend to become confused. That is why we need to close our ears again and again to the confusion of tongues around us and listen to the still small voice within us. We need to lift our eyes daily to the figure of the Christ, who is the same yesterday, today and forever. Christ was not an economics expert. He was not a political analyst. But the clarity of His mind and the purity of His heart serve to clear and strengthen our convictions. He restores our sense of direction. He renews a right spirit within us.

I meet many young people who come to the time of their graduation from school without knowing just what line of work they wish to follow, I have the greatest sympathy for such, because I came to my college commencement undecided as to my profession. But certainly no young person should reach the age of 21 or even 18 without deciding what kind of person he wants to be. Therefore, however confusing or corrupt our situation, we can and should always keep clearly before us our ideals of character.



Also we can heed what C. S. Lewis of Oxford said in his "Screwtape Letters." He declared that the devil designs of hell must think about what they are doing but "his delight is in men who think only about what is going to happen to them." Too many of us think more about saving ourselves from the evils around us than from the sins within us.

Furthermore, we might remember what the Reverend Dr. Charles Parkhurst said when he was trying to clean up New York City's vice and crime 50 years ago. He cried, "The trouble is that good people get tired of being good before the bad people get tired of being bad."

A Lift for Living

How to be Good in Bad Places

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

"I want to do right, but how can I keep my ideas in the place where I have to work? How can I follow my conscience when my competitors are crooked and my community is so worldly?" How often we hear or think such questions.

May I suggest that the first thing it takes to be a good person in a bad place is conviction. During the Second Crime Commission's investigation several years ago, Senator Fulbright said one trouble of our time is that so many people have no strong convictions about what is right and what is wrong. They never take a firm stand. They slip and slide. We never know where and when we can count on them.

But a good person's convictions must be clear as well as strong. Here is the difference, as I see it, between stubbornness and steadfastness. A stubborn person has strong convictions, but they may not be clear or reasoned. A mule may take a stand and hold it. But when I looked into the eyes of a balky mule, I never seemed to see much light of intelligence. Of course, I have never had much personal association with mules, but I have known many of their relatives.

Steadfastness, however, is different from stubbornness. A steadfast person has a reason for his convictions. His mind is not closed by prejudice or bigotry. It is open to reason yet firm in purpose.

SUN. NIGHT 7.30 — "WHEN THE FOUR HORSEMEN RIDE"

1938 Pasaar Stamp of Russia pre - figures the fulfilment of Ezek. 38. NOTE — the horsemen are riding south by the sea of Asov in a line toward Palestine and the Suez Canal — then we see that Soviet Russia, rejector of the Bible, nevertheless prepared this postage stamp, fully revealing her plans to fulfill the prophecies of Ezekiel 38, of course unknowingly.

Remembrance Day

If silence in the crowded street,
And memory stirs in every breast,
Again we hear the plaintive feet
Of those who lost the peaceful rest;
We see them marching as of yore,
These brave lads to beat of drum,
But oh! the anguished hearts and sore,
For they no more will homeward come.

If nation keeps their memory green,
Through all the passing of the years,
But still the marks of grief are seen
And from their eyes the falling tears;
Tribute we bring the honored dead,
To those who nobly played their part,
And symbols to those who keep
A life-time sorrow in the heart.

TOO BIG

Is there no limit to the size of the trucks which are to be permitted to use our highways?

This question is prompted by our first glimpse of a new monster, new, at least, to our eyes.

Belleville, being situated on the highway which links Canada's two largest cities, Montreal and Toronto, sees a lot of trucks. Yet it is not its location on this highway but its proximity to Point Anne which brings what appears to be the heaviest-loaded trucks to our city.

The other day we saw a new monster, a cement bulk-carrier truck with not one but two trailers behind the giant tractor. True, neither of these trailers appeared to be as large as the single trailers which are generally hauled. Together, though, they must have represented an increase of approximately 50 per cent in the amount of cement being hauled.

As the truck came to the West Hill on Bridge Street it staggered almost to a stop while the driver shifted his gears down to lug those tons and tons of cement up the grade. Then, on the down side, Meyer Hill, it gained as hills go. What will happen on other hills on the trip to the monster's destination is easier to imagine than to endure. Many a motorist, caught behind this two-trailer giant, is going to have his finger-nails bitten to the quick as he endeavors to slow his car sufficiently to stay in line without stalling his engine.

Trucks this size need roads of comparable structure on which to travel, roads with a solidity to their foundations, roads which are much heavier than those which would be required for an ordinary passenger car or a delivery truck. Roads like these mean a lot of money to build. Are the truckers paying sufficient fees to offset this increased cost? Can there be any reasonable doubt but the answer is in the negative?

Of course, this was an unusually large truck, hauling an unusually large load, and it is quite probable that the highway over which it is travelling had not been built to fit the truck's specifications and that, therefore, there have been no extra construction dollars spent because of this truck's giant size. That, however, just means that the day of reckoning has been postponed, for if many trucks of this size take to highways which were not designed to accommodate them, these roads are going to break up much faster than was ever anticipated.

What, necessity is there for trucks of this size? The answer is - - none. There are two transportation systems expressly designed to move loads of this size — the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

This is not to suggest that all the goods moved by trucks ought to be diverted to the railways. It may well be that, years ago, we should have taken a closer look at the question of railroad and highway transportation and the hidden costs to the public in the latter system. That, however, has passed. Highway transportation is now so widely utilized by business that to turn back the clock would threaten to strip the gears on our economy. Surely, though, this does not mean that we should not place some limit on the size of the trucks which use our roads. First a heavily-loaded single trailer — then two trailers. What is to prevent the addition of a third and even a fourth trailer, thus creating a series of virtual highway trains, with all that this would involve in damage to our highways and not merely inconvenience but actual peril to the other users of these roads?

RUSSIAN VERSION

Harold K. Milks, Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, reports that the Russian man in the street believes that the fighting in Hungary was a "heroic campaign." The world agrees. But hold! The Russian thinks that it was the Soviet troops and not the gallant rebels who were the heroes.

Though one might expect the products of democratic and Communist schools to have totally different outlooks, in this case we have the explanation.

The Russian man in the street thinks the Soviet troops were heroes because Soviet newspapers have told him they conducted a campaign to eradicate a threatened menace to Hitlerite fascism.

THE WORRIER

I'm sure we were meant to be
Worriers and fret
And worry a bit when we can't meet a debt,
But to all who have trusted me,
day after day,
It is better to pay off than laugh off, I say.

"Let the other man worry!" I've heard some declare.
That is easy to do; but it's also unfair.

So, give me the worrier who can't forget
And worry a bit when we can't be's in debt.

It's all right to grin, if a grin you have learned,
And a fellow may laugh when his furrow is turned.
But still there are times when a joke is unfit
And a fellow in trouble should worry a bit.

Some Amazing New Gadgets

(St. Catharines Standard)

There are some folk who think that the world is well supplied with gadgets, particularly as regard the home. However, all you have seen has but a small sample of what is to come.

One eyebrow-raising gadget being planned is a deep-freezing that will not only keep you warm in winter but comfortably cool in summer. And then there is an appliance that at the turn of a tap will give you a choice of hot water, soda or hot instant coffee.

Or a kitchen incinerator which disposes of combustible materials — food, paper, cartons and the like — without odor, smoke or ash.

Those in charge of long-range plans both at the Westinghouse and General Electric U.S. plants report that due to gadgets our living habits will change more rapidly in the next decade than they did in the past 10.

For industry they say gadgets will mean new selling points and, perhaps, increased sales. For the homemaker they promise less drudgery and more hours of leisure. There should be many housewives believe they ought to have more time to play, but, interestingly enough, some designers now think she may get too much.

They have discovered that builders what will be the effect on the unemployment of work-savers which gradually take away the opportunity for expressing initiative, resourcefulness and ingenuity. He suggests that the manufacturers are slowly breeding a race of package cooks and bored housekeepers.

On the other hand a manufacturer suggests that while the appliances of the future will be designed to provide the homemaker with more leisure, that will by no means undermine her importance in the home. They'll give her that extra time she needs for other important functions of the home, such as the health, cheerfulness and happiness of her family.

And in the meantime there doesn't seem much more we can do about it except wait to see what comes out in the mass of ideas now on the drawing boards. It's a great age in which to be living.

Always a Way To Be Unfair

London Free Press

In any bilingual country there are difficulties, as our Civil Service Commission can testify. Secondly, it has recently been disturbed by charges that there is discrimination against English-speaking applicants for the police force.

Such a story current in South Africa is that in testing applicants for the police force a Dutch Afrikaner is asked to state in English how many fingers there are on a human hand. The English-speaking applicant is asked to state in Afrikaans the names of the bones in the hand.

Similar stories were current in Canada when it was sought to keep out colored immigrants by a literacy test.

A Chinese applicant arrived with a Ph.D degree from a British university. He was rejected because immigration authority was equal to the challenge. He gave the literacy test in Gaelic.

Nehru Speaks Against Reds

New York Times

In a speech before a United Nations agency in India Mr. Nehru denounced the Soviet brutality in suppressing the Hungarian revolt as "a heroic campaign." The world agrees. But hold! The Russian thinks that it was the Soviet troops and not the gallant rebels who were the heroes.

Though one might expect the products of democratic and Communist schools to have totally different outlooks, in this case we have the explanation.

The Russian man in the street thinks the Soviet troops were heroes because Soviet newspapers have told him they conducted a campaign to eradicate a threatened menace to Hitlerite fascism.

Letters To The Editor

Teenager Answers Hooliganism Charge

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

In your column "Letters to the Editor" on Tuesday you published a letter from a Belleville ratepayer who expressed his feelings rather thoughtlessly, I, a teenager, do not feel he himself should be let off so easy.

Here was an adult with justified complaints over some of our hooliganism, and specifically complains against the citizens of this dead city who (and I quote) are directly responsible for the damage done for failing to instil a sense of responsibility in our schools." However yet this may be Mr. Taxpayer fails to define the method of teaching this responsibility. He forgets as quickly that young people are individuals and not all of us suffer from mental deficiency, as he presumed. He forgets that if he had viewed the Hallowe'en affairs in just might have the sense to realize that there are more teenagers than hooligans.

In writing his maudlin condemnation, he never thought it wise not to sign his name, using instead his excuse letter. But here was a man who decidedly criticized the whole of Belleville's lack of responsibility. May I point out that he fails his responsibility and his right as a Canadian citizen by hiding behind a childish, semi-anonomity. We have the right and democratic citizens to air our views without fear! And if we fear to use our true names in voicing our opinions . . . well, that, Mr. Taxpayer, is a "comfort to the Russian cause!"

There is a rueflessness in this letter that either Mr. Taxpayer or Mr. Taxpayer has pointed out that we need to learn responsibility in a growing change in Belleville. The danger is the lack of suitable entertainment for teenagers on week-ends. I can almost see minds wandering into smiles of "Hut, oh, there's a bowling alley, lots of sports, and schools have lots dances on Friday nights — then there's the Christian youth groups etc." How shameful it is that some should fail to realize that the participation in such entertainment on the whole is near to nothing.

When we pass the age of fifteen we enjoy dancing and entertaining events planned on Saturday nights instead of prefer to drink some of us have to work or cannot stay up late. Naturally they will cost money but that is a hot cheaper than repairing damage some of us do when we have nothing to do.

I do hope you will publish this letter in the way of fairness, so that a teenager will have a chance to answer an adult who tends to brand our age group as "hoodlums."

Yours truly,
Sonny Choy.

Hooliganism Did Not End With Hallowe'en

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Dear Sir:

"Hooliganism" did not end here with Hallowe'en. The front gate was lifted from its hinges and deposited in a nearby field. Last Wednesday night it was just lifted from its hinges. As my mail box is attached to this gate, it is a great inconvenience for both the mailman and myself; the gate being too heavy for me to lift on again.

There seems to be a gang of "roving teen-agers" who are bent on disturbing the peace of their people's lives. Two or three weeks ago they splashed my neighbor's front door with tomatoes. I have reported both offences to the provincial police, as I live about Thurlow side of the street, but my neighbor lives on the city side.

I hope the police force may see this letter and realize that it is a serious thing for anyone with other people's property, especially mail boxes.

Yours very truly,
"Old Resident".

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

The members of John Street United Church, who lost their fine church building recently by fire, will be called together on November 24th. to decide on plans for the future. This decision was made at a meeting of the official board at which Mr. H. T. Fetherly presided. The proposal which will be considered is that the two east walls of the building be restored; this applies to the Sunday School and church, but not the sanctuary or church proper. This would provide places of meeting for the congregation and Sunday School and for the meeting of all young people's organizations.

Proof our file copy at this time in 1888: Would not pay the price for famous singer: Belleville to lose the Lind soprano singer's concert, which was given on Monday night — then there's the Christian youth groups etc." How shameful it is that some should fail to realize that the participation in such entertainment on the whole is near to nothing.

Poor Washer-Woman and Day Laborers

When a Yankee Wisecre asks pertinentlingly what I know about arthritis my thoughts go back to Oakville, Ont., where I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canadaigua, that "Chronic rheumatism comes only to people of sons who have passed the middle period of life . . . It is most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day laborers, and those who are occupationally exposes them to cold and damp."

From Dr. Osler my thoughts skip to our gardener—well, no, not ours but the gardener who divides his time among numerous residents in the neighborhood. And of the cleaning woman who does housework for a number of families. They come to work on fine cars. What's more they own their cars.

No doubt the washer-woman and day-laborer association has had a good deal to do with the popularity of "arthritis" among $400 sedans and Yankee Wisecres, and among their quislings the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers who soak the cash customers $7.50 per "shot" for the latest miracle medicine. By the time the victim begins to realize the miracle medicine is going to do no good, a still newer one is heralded by the "arthritis specialists" before the real doctors can find out about it, and the victim goes on as long as people continue to believe "arthritis" is a specific which does not exist, and is unable to some miracle medicine or other.

Not that arthritis doesn't happen. Acute inflammation of one or more joints occurs as a complication of tonsilitis, pharyngitis (sore throat), quinsy (abscess around tonsils), or other respiratory infection. It occurs as a complication of specific (acute blood poisoning) from Streptococcus, Staphylococcus, Pneumococcus, Bronchilli, Tuberculosis, Typhoid, Meningococcus, and other specific infections we need not mention here.

But chronic arthritis, that is joint inflammation of more than a year's duration, is so rare that the writer has practically never seen it. Chronic arthritis makes such a diagnosis. The chances are 100 to 1 that any disability so labelled will eventually prove to be rheumatic — wear and tear degeneration, not inflammation.

The management of any kind of acute arthritis is for the attending physician only. Especially in the case of the rheumatic fever, formerly called acute multiple infectious arthritis or inflammatory rheumatism which occurs in young adults and in children from 5 to 15 years of age, as a complication or consequence of tonsilitis, quinsy, sore throat, or other infection of the throat.

It is this rheumatic fever (streptococcal infection in most instances) which involves the silent danger of endocarditis (inflammation of heart lining) and consequent roughening or distortion of heart valves.

FACE UP TO FACTS

We all realize the extent to which fear dominates the lives of multitudes.

There are many varieties of fear, but at a first look today at that type of fear which arises either from the feeling of guilt or from the knowledge that somebody is in a position to harm us by the disclosure of certain information. This attitude is usually described by the words, "having something on somebody."

Sometimes such a situation is very real. At other times it is the feeling that search for publicity may result, not from what somebody really knows but from what he claims to know; not from some guilty act but from the intention of somebody to make public certain facts about another into the appearance of guilt, unworthiness, or scandal.

The best way to confront fear, whether it arises from a consciousness of guilt or from a fear that somebody else knows, is to face up to the facts and settle anything that has to be squared conscientiously. Evasion, alcohol, denial—these are deadly. Happiness lies in getting down to the best possible terms with facts.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ARE WE A STRANGER TO OURSELF?

What is a stranger anyway? In the dictionary sense, he is one that we are all alike. We react to the same impulses and crave love and appreciation, and we all want security, alike.

People who travel and are far from home and friends readily talk with those whom they meet, as there is no place in the opportunity. Why should anyone be a stranger to us? People with whom we are in contact almost daily, often know little about us — or are actually strangers to us. A friend was telling me only today of a man who had been married for many years and who had two grown children, but who confessed that though he was 45 years of age, and his wife and children, he was almost a stranger to them all! He had never taken the time to get acquainted.

I wonder if every one of us is not much of a stranger to ourself as well, and to those whom we want most that we should not be.

There lives within us all a sense of want and hunger that is often depressues us beyond all expression. All about us may be landmate things that have an expression of beauty to them, and which make us akin to them. The treasured book, the beautiful hamlock, the cadence of music, or the starry night. Something in each to feed our souls, but we are so far away from our own—those of flesh and blood, whose instincts, dreams, and loves we have ignored in our mad hurry to be moving.

Each one of us has a possibility in us all—but we tap so little of it. Heavy hearts are unhealthy hearts. Many people are so unready as to be ready for rapid filling at any leading station in life—wherever one may be.

Thoreau spoke of a friend who was "a little odd," but of whom he wrote: "He is agreeable to me as a tinge of russet on the hillside. I would fain give thanks morning and evening for my blessed relations, gladly, cordially—thanks dragging his legs after him. He is my contemporary and neighbor."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The beauty of autumn is usually concealed in the city. Only for days when the colored leaves, together with the gold of stubble and the barest dandilitude masses of our many species of wild aster, make a tapestry for the eye. But there is something to be said for fall in autumn, when all the leaves are gone and most of the colouring even the tawny and bronze of the fields, have subsided into a fast and tight-textured grey-brown. That period is about now, in most parts of Canada. And a grey sky-ceiling not unlike the first faint glimpse of snow is the best for it.

There is a new spaciousness in the view. Horizons have doubled and trebled their distance. The shape of trees, denuded of their leaves, present a beauty, a design, in balance, in dynamics, that allows poets like the great John Burroughs to call the maple-tree a leafless tree is more beautiful than a tree in leaf. Everywhere that were more or less hidden or buried by the deciduous woodlots of summer now take on authority in the landscape, and some little church spire that was invisible for the past six months now assumes with its cedars and graveyard, a handsome grey propriety in the view.

Somehow the sky seems wider and higher and more colourful. But over the earth is a stillness that only autumn can achieve. Winter cannot compare with November for that impression of being at rest. And the restfulness imparts itself to the beholder. This is the time of year to go by railroad in daylight wherever you can think up an excuse for doing so. It is the time of year to go by railroad in daylight wherever you can think up an excuse for doing so. It is the time to go by car, much less the driver of it, the view of autumn you can get from a railway car window, as the countryside wheels by with its far horizons, as landscape after landscape unfolds, the cultivated fields, empty and silent, the pastures, the woods, the prairies, the hills, mountains, all wearing the look of a job past and done, and now, peace.

And such cities and towns as you have to go to see them, as you now, you do not have to go anywhere.

You skirt them.

Fears that automation will create unemployment seem baseless. The electric clock on the campus for example, seems to require as many bailiffs to wind it at $100 a month as did the old-fashioned eight-day kind.

The Face on the Stamp

Man Who Gave Light to Blind

By NICHOLAS MIKA

In November, a little more than a hundred years ago, a young blind girl was giving a piano recital at a concert hall in Paris. Her delicate playing, her youth and beauty enchanted all. When the applause ceased, she was slowly, bowed and said:

Ladies and Gentlemen, thank you for your encouragement, but I should not accept the honor of your applause, because it belongs to a man who gave me light in my darkness. Ladies and gentlemen, this man not only taught me how to read useful books, but also how to study music without the sight of my eyes. At this moment he is lying on his deathbed . . .

The audience was silent. They had never heard of the man who had invented a simple alphabet for the blind that they could read by the use of their hands. As the girl went on to tell about this man's life, none of them remembered him as the gifted organist who used to play in the church of Notre Dame des Champs.

The day after the concert the Paris papers brought for the first time the heartrending story of this man who had dedicated his entire life to one single purpose—to bring light into the darkness of the blind.

LOST SIGHT AT THREE

When he was three year old, he accidentally lost his eyesight. Playing with his father's tools he stabbed himself with a sharply pointed awl. Doctors at that time were helpless and when the infection spread to the other eye, they knew that he would never be able to see again. The little boy's parents and all the people of the village of Coupvray were shocked and full of pity. What would become of him? What could he do when he grew up? Well, if his fate was considered tragic at that time, to-day millions of blind people all over the world bless this incident. Why? Because through this tragedy a bright and shining light penetrated into the world of the blind.

As the boy grew older he was sent to a school for the blind in Paris. There was only one such institute in France then. Most of the blind children were condemned to grow up either to be dependent on someone or to become beggars. And even at school they were limited in what they could learn. Aside from a few embossed books, each one weighing more than twenty pounds, there were only the kindhearted and patient teachers. Learning to read was not only extremely difficult and slow but almost in vain since reading material for the blind practically did not exist. Playing on an instrument was taught by repeated listening to a little piece or by the teacher guiding the hands over the piano. It was not easy but it gave pleasure and comfort to the boy when he sat down on the piano. He liked to use his hands and soon received an award for making the best basket of wood, and an expert knitter. Yet he was not only skilful with his hands but had an extraordinary memory and was an excellent student.

A REVOLUTIONARY IDEA

Then one day a most revolutionary idea struck him. Why not change the old tiresome reading system for the blind? So he started to cut leather strips into triangles, circles and squares, trying to build an alphabet. After struggling for endless months and even years, he realized that it would not work. Then he tried to punch an impression on thick paper with a nail so that it could be felt on the opposite side. But it was not practical either. Perhaps if he had not been blind, he would have given up.But his understanding of the loneliness and the longing of the blind to be equal members in society made him continue with his efforts, stubbornly and restlessly.

Then suddenly a dramatic event happened. A friend was reading an article to him about a French captain who had invented a special embossed code to be read by touch in darkness. The whole code consisted of dots and dashes that represented millitary orders. Excitedly, the blind man interrupted the reader and said: "God bless this moment, I have found what I wanted."

But it was not as easy as he thought. It took him another five years to develop the complete alphabet out of six dots arranged in sixty-three different combinations that represented letters, accents, punctuation marks and mathematical signs. And what is more astonishing, he also invented a music code that would enable the blind to write down even the most complicated scores. His system was so simple that it could be easily learned and used within a short time. But strangely the school board refused to accept it and even the French Academy rejected it as being worthless.

Was his alphabet wrong? No, it was thought out with mathematical precision and accuracy and its unsurpassable value in the education and happiness of the blind proved later. After his death, it was adopted by all countries. Today the blind people all over the world read with the help of the Braille system, invented by a blind man — Louis Braille.

Mayor Explains Reasons Behind Decision to Run

"There has been much accomplished this year but there are many items of unfinished business which it is my desire to see brought to successful conclusion," says Mayor Jane Forrester, in outlining the reasons which prompted her to announce on Thursday of this week that she would be a candidate for re-election as Chief Magistrate of the city.

"The practical and educational experience of serving you on council for two years, one of these as your mayor, has presented responsibilities and a daily challenge which it has been a pleasure to meet with the co-operative help of your elected representatives, the appointed members of various boards and commissions, and the city officials," said Mayor Forrester in her statement.

"Having given careful thought to the many problems which the future is now unfolding, and with full knowledge of the time that must be given to some kind of solution, I can assure you that my decision to offer to serve you for another term is neither hasty nor unconsidered.

"There has been much accomplished this year but there are many items of unfinished business which it is my desire to see brought to successful conclusion.

"I feel that I have the support and confidence; for that I am deeply grateful. In return, by every possible means, I have endeavored to fulfill your trust and can assure you that in accepting my sincere offer to serve you again you will have my best efforts.

"The knowledge and experience gained in the past two years and any capabilities I may have, are at your service. It is my hope that we may go together to build for the future of Belleville — our home."

Millions of Canadians Will Pay Silent Tribute to Fallen Heroes on Remembrance Day

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

As she places a wreath on the National War Memorial at Ottawa Sunday, a Canadian mother will think of her three almost-men who were killed within 18 months during the Second World War.

And throughout Canada, millions of other Canadians will pay silent tribute as members of the armed services, militia units and veterans' organizations join forces to observe Remembrance Day.

Mrs. A. T. Reynolds of Chatham, Ont., is to represent Canadian mothers at the Ottawa ceremony, to be attended by Governor-General Massey, Prime Minister St. Laurent, the chiefs of staff and other dignitaries.

AFTERNOON OBSERVANCE

There, as in a number of other communities, the traditional two-minute silence is to be observed this afternoon to avoid conflicting with normal morning church services.

The beginning and end of the two minutes will be marked by a signal gun fired at Nepean Point at approximately 2:40 p. m. local time.

Elsewhere in Ontario special services are to be held at veterans' hospitals, in the veterans' sections of cemeteries and at wreath-laying ceremonies at war memorials.

Two protestant organizations in Winnipeg have called for special prayers at Remembrance Day services for Hungarians killed while fighting Russian troops in their strife-ridden country.

The Canadian Legion in Toronto is to hold a special festival of remembrance, modelled on that held each year at London's Albert Hall.

Winnipeg is not holding its usual parade or service in the Winnipeg Auditorium. Instead, several church services are to begin at 10:45 a. m. and a two-minute silence is to be observed at 11 a. m.

Saskatoon is holding its Remembrance Day services in the afternoon, at 3 p. m.

Some stores and offices are observing Monday as a holiday, as in Regina, while others plan to close.

In Edmonton, banks, schools courts and provincial government offices are to close Monday. In Vancouver, most stores and offices say they will do the same. But Calgary, banks and the city hall are to close and stores and offices will decide for themselves whether they will remain open.

Remembrance Day

Thirty eight years ago tomorrow the "Cease Fire" command ended World War 1. And on that day we honored those who died to give us peace. Added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the Second Great World conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer.

Today throughout our world, angry voices are thundering without reason, and threats, like lightning, break and crash over the people's heads . . . clouds scud along the horizon, sometimes building up to frightening thunderheads . . . Yet, the eternal stars are there, stars of hope, of faith and of love, now dimmed or hidden by the clouds—now breaking through with clarity and brilliance and strength that will not be defied.

May these stars be seen and followed by the wise men of all nations and may they light the path to peace, with goodwill in the hearts of all men —a warm welcome for their neighbor — and a deep desire for friendship between nations—and a determination to achieve lasting peace.

Weddings

SCOTT—APPLEBY

FRANKFORD—A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle on Saturday, October 20th, at 2 p.m., when the Rev. G. Pierce of Frankford, and assisted by Rev. G. Newman of Wooler, united in marriage Mary Lee, daughter of Mrs. Doris Appleby of Frankford and the late Clayton Appleby, and Warren Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwan Scott of Wooler. Ferns, azaleas, and sweetheart roses in the church while satin bows designated the pews.

Mrs. Douglas Floyd provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Donna McColl of Wooler, who sang "In the Still of the Night", before the ceremony and during the signing of the register, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Percy McGee of Stockdon Lake, the bride looked radiant in a cocktail-length gown of white satin, the bodice laced with nylon pleated insertion in front, chiffon sleeves and appointed sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil of nylon net with appliqued lace and a halo of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Vera Appleby of Clarkson, sister of the bride, as maid of honour, wore a floor length taffeta gown of cocktail-length with matching satin and nylon and carried a bouquet of bronze mums

Miss Junior bridesmaid, Miss Caroline Smith, niece of the bride, wore a cocktail-length gown of gold taffeta with matching mitts and hat and carried a bouquet of bronze mums.

The flower girl, Miss Bonnie Smith, niece of the bride, was dressed in white taffeta with accents dress with matching hat and mitts. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. Carl Austin of Wooler, was the groomsman and Messrs. Albert Jordon of London and James Appleby of Frankford, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

The reception was held in the basement of the church with 80 guests attending. Pink and white colour scheme was used to advantage. The bride's table was appropriately appointed in white and green with a three-tier wedding cake, white mums and centred with a tri-tier wedding cake, over which was a miniature bride and bridegroom under a large white wedding bell.

The bride's mother received wearing a navy dress with navy and white shoes and hat, ash rose gloves and a matching corsage of roses.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a two-piece dress of turquoise and black with black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Binghamton, N.Y., the bride chose a navy suit and white fur jacket, accessories and brown fur jacket, with a corsage of yellow roses.

Guests attended from London, Clarkson, Toronto, Wooler, Stirling and Westerndon Lake.

The young couple will reside in Frankford.

SCHREDER — VINCENT

A pretty fall wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 6, at the Holy Rosary Church, Belleville, when the Rev. Michael Sinnon, of Belleville, united in marriage, Ada May Vincent, 'of Cannifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Vincent, to Robert Schrieder, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Schrieder.

Chrysanthemums and ferns formed a lovely background for the ceremony, and white satin ribbons designated the guest pews.

Mrs. William Grant, of Belleville, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, who sang "Ave Maria", and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Carleton Craker, of Belleville, was radiant in her white frosted nylon bridal gown over blue taffeta. The fitted bodice, having a small Mandarin collar, three-quarter length sleeves, and bouffant, waist-length skirt. Her headdress was of frosted nylon leaves with finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and her flowers were red roses intermingled with white, baby 'mums.

Miss Catherine Mailing, of Belleville, attended the bride, attired in white net, fashioned with fitted bodice, Sweetheart style, with bolero of pink nylon taffeta, with high collar and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a headdress of frosted pink nylon leaves, and carried a bouquet of white 'mums and pink roses.

Mr. Douglas Haley, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, which was prettily adorned with asters and chrysanthemums. The bride's table was appointed with white satin damask, and centred by the wedding cake. Those who served were Mrs. L. Jarrol, Mrs. R. Putman, assisted by Misses Ellen Vincent and Gail Walker.

The bride's mother, wearing a navy blue sheath gown with gold and brown accessories and corsage of golden-tinted 'mums, received guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who

Going Places

City of Los Angeles Made up Of Sprawling Cities, Freeways

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Los Angeles—There is of course, no such place.

Actually, there is sort of a medium-sized city by that name in the heart of Los Angeles County. But what goes to make up the nation's third city, which is what you're thinking of, is the sprawling, rolling collection of surrounding towns and cities, many of them almost as large as the central city itself, which covers half the map of Southern California.

Joined together by a tangle of freeways and interrupted boulevards which resemble nothing so much as a city planner's nightmare, these towns differ little in these communities is that no two of them have anything more in common than contiguous geography. Each has its own industry, municipal government, police force hotel and newspaper.

Incorporated cities like these are not uncommon in this country, Boston and New York being among notable examples. But either of these tend to dominate their areas economically, politically and even economically. Not so Los Angeles.

LITTLE CIVIC IDENTITY

Populated mostly by emigres from the midwest and other parts of the continent and linked only by the automobile and a freeway system to be an all-consuming preoccupation with it—public transportation is unknown—Los Angeles has succeeded in the almost complete absence of civic pride or identity. It has plenty of desert and mountain scenery really identity the place. It is as different as it can be from Boston, a much smaller city, as Alaska from Florida.

The automobile is to the modern Angeleno what the horse was to the Westerner of the 19th and is a place without it. Until the freeways got jammed and congested it was a place with it except by way of the stop-light studded boulevards which also led to the many shops in restaurants, freight terminals, drive-in theatres, used-car lots and supermarkets.

But even the freeways represent only a triumph of theory over practice. Magnificently six-and eight-lanes wide in many places, they resemble stock car race tracks during the day, while during rush hour the traffic probably moves up to a bumper-to-bumper crawl, which makes it apparent that no highway can every adequately accommodate this city's traffic.

With most of the population having come here in search of the promised land, this is the keenest competition for the consumer's unpromised dollar. The most common approach is to be as big as possible. "World's largest" supermarkets and drugstore are verifiable department stores and cover huge square blocks. Every car dealer claims to be the world's largest also and most could be right, each of their lots holding thousands of cars in street after street, in every part of town.

New ways to promote business have had to be invented. The pastel concrete buildings which lend San Francisco much of its charm here are pressed into service as billboards. You can get your car washed for 69 cents if you buy $5 worth of gas. Every neighborhood restaurant has a press agent, and even classy eating places hang out banners proclaiming the costs of their luncheons and dinners, a technique considered so tacky by operators elsewhere as to be unthinkable.

MANY OLD PEOPLE

There are many old people here but one wonders why. Despite the competition the cost of living is high and a striking number of restaurants seem to be doing a thriving, Moreover, the smog which hits its peak in the summer sun, sears the eyeballs and infests the respiratory system would seem to be little to commend the health.

Actually, many of the old folks look sick and unhappy, unlike the cheerful, optimistic retired people of Florida, Mortmaries and cemeteries advertise themselves more than anywhere else in the country, perhaps in keeping with the over-all taste as to be almost offensive. Doing thriving and also well advertised business are such unlikely enterprises as dental ("pales like tiny") and chiropractic chain, including some among the latter who will cure everything but bad feet to the accompaniment by colonic irrigation. There are schools giving courses in flaming agrams and health food stores complete with "doctor" in attendance for free "health consultation." There are faith healers, spiritualists, astrologers and an oldest religious cults in volume and variety unknown anywhere else in this country, it would seem.

But there's also the movie business, and when you're not out to go in our spare time without that!

Well, we could take a short trip on a freeway, couldn't we?

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

T and T's thought for this weekend comes from the inconparable Shakespeare.

"A person above all earthly dignities,

A still and quiet conscience."

What is the world man who guide the destiny of humanity could with a still and quiet conscience" join with the great English poet and proclaim "Far beyond my depth; my high blown pride at last broke under me, And now has left me, weary and old with service, to the mercy of a rude stream, that must forever hide my vain pomp and glory of this world I hate ye."

Some months ago, we wrote about our fears that were generated by the news of certain ethnic groups seeking and succeeding in segregating the education of their groups from the educational system of Ontario. We have been heartened by the report that the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario have passed a resolution asking the government not to allow groups coming into the country to set up their own ethnic schools. The Federated Women's institutes of Ontario belong to the world organization known as the International Federation of Countrywomen of the World. Just this week the latter group had to cancel their world congress at Colombo, Ceylon, because of the explosive situation in the world.

We must not permit the ugly head of "vain pomp and glory" to raise its divisiveness in Canada. How proud we would be if we could unite people before the world and say "we have Hungarian blood coursing in our veins," or "we are fatal if would be to claim that to be a Canadian we had to deny our communism and freedom of the very principle which should make any Canadian proud to join hands with all Hungarians. When we welcome thousands of Hungarian Canadians from Europe, let us not have them say to them "your children will be in our school here, the Dutch kiddies across the street, and the Scotch boys and girls learn Gaelic over in the next block." No Hungarian will ever have to surrender his pride, which is neither vain nor glorious, but let us all be Canadian and proud of the mother countries which gave us so much to be proud of. The Maple Leaf is a beautiful symbol and is made up of many colors. Let us keep it that way, understanding that it is beautiful only because it takes all the colors to contribute to its beauty.

T & T congratulates the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario and adds its small voice to their advocacy of unified thinking and education for our children.

The women of Belleville will be interested to learn that Mrs. Jane Forrester has announced her intention to run for office again in our city. This decision on the part of Mrs. Forrester seems to indicate that the challenge of public office has been met by a challenger who desires to give public service at great personal sacrifice. Whether Mrs. Forrester is also challenged is beside the point as far as these few comments are concerned, because it is encouraging to know that in Canada there are those of the women dedicated to public office who want to serve. We are somewhat conscious of the demands and the price exacted from those who serve conscientiously and sincerely, so T & T wishes Jane Forrester well and many years of health to continue serving her native city.

Try, try, try as you will, you just do not escape hearing on every hand the concern of Canadians over the world situation. It is rather mundane to remark under the daily "business as usual," but we must try, and if it seems that we are being too mundane and maybe preoccupied, then bear with us that the world's "high blown pride" will not break under us.

Donald Fleming To Speak Here

Donald Fleming, Q.C., M.P., contender for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party, will address the Women's Canadian Club next Tuesday evening in Sir Winston Churchill school.

DONALD FLEMING

Mr. Fleming, of Irish, Scottish, English and French ancestry, is a native son of Galt, Ontario, and has graduated from the University of Toronto. In 1928, he was called to the bar, and has been practising continuously since then. His public career began in 1934 with his election to the Toronto Board of Education, and in 1945 he was appointed to the Federal Parliament for Toronto-Eglinton. In 1952 he was advanced to the Opposition Front Bench, and is his party's spokesman on Welfare, Social Security and Housing and Broadcasting.

As Mr. Fleming has also travelled extensively in Europe and Africa, as well as being a delegate to several Commonwealth Parliamentary conferences, he will bring to the Women's Canadian Club an address of much interest.

Mrs. Harry Ketcheson gave the devotional. Mrs. Clifford Ketcheson gave a reading "Thank You," by Rev. Allen.

Clarke closed with a prayer.

Mrs. Clarence Ketcheson was in charge of the remainder of the program. Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson read a poem, "All Saints," after which Mrs. Clarence Ketcheson gave a fine temperance story, assisted by Mrs. Crasker.

A social half hour followed.

St. Margaret's Guild Purpose to Purchase Pulpit

The members of St. Margaret's Guild met at the home of Mrs. K. C. Hannah, Bertram Blvd., on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. Waston, took charge of the devotional period.

Mrs. R. Wood, treasurer, distributed Advent cards to members.

A letter from the secretary of St. John's church was read which conveyed thanks to the members of St. Margaret's Guild for their assistance at the recent bazaar and tea held at Christ Church, Rev. Allen read his letter and spoke to the members in regard to the furnishings of the new church. Since the Guild is anxious to assist in some way it was decided to write a letter to the rector's warden, Mr. Robert Davis, and to advise him that this organization would like permission to purchase the pulpit.

After other items of business were discussed an informal auction sale was held to dispose of articles which were made to sell at the fall bazaar, Mrs. J. Ritchie acted as auctioneer and with her witty and humorous remarks, was responsible for much of the entertainment.

The members were reminded that a bazaar and tea would be held in the spring instead of the annual fall bazaar.

Mr. Page closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Hannah and the members of her group served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Bailey, 55 Bertram Blvd.

Rev. Kenneth Gillespie Addresses Council of Christian Education

"The Christian religion is primarily concerned with persons and their relationship in and Christ. The aim of Christian education is the committed person. In the world of today, persons must choose whom they will serve. The Christian makes his personal allegiance to Christ and God of his life," said Rev. Kenneth Gillespie, in an address to the delegates and superintendents at the annual convention of the Belleville Council of Christian Education, which was held Wednesday evening in Bridge St. United Church.

HOME FOUNDATION

"The foundations for this personal experience are to be found in the Christian home and in parents who are Christian. The church cannot fulfil its task of Christian education alone. Children must also have teachers and leaders who know what they believe and are able to communicate the Christian life to the members in their groups. Such teachers and leaders must undergo a period of preparation," children. They will use methods and material that will meet the growing religious needs of children, youth and adults in Christian-centred and Bible centred groups.

"In finding personal commitments and loyalty to Christ Christian relationships in the home and in the church, personal allegiance to the total program of the church and personal Christian character that continues to grow and deepen throughout life ought to result in the fruits of this decision to follow Jesus Christ."

Mr. Gillespie is general secretary for the Baptist Christian Education in Ontario and Quebec. His inspiring message was instructive as well as helpful to the ministry and the field of Christian Education.

Reports and awards were rendered to Mr. Gillespie, on behalf of the council by Mrs. George Mountford, church school superintendent at St. Margaret's-on-the-Bay.

Accompanying Mr. Gillespie as team workers from the Baptist Council of Ontario bringing further inspiration and instruction were Miss Winnifred Harvey, holds B.A. and B.D. degrees. He attended the Christian Education at Chicago university and is now general secretary of Baptist Boys' Work and Young Peoples' in Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Neal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neal at 35 Cedar Street in this city.

WORSHIP SINGING

"I think our singing should be an integral part of our worship service. Little children should not be expected to sing hymns they don't understand," said Mr. Daniel. The hymns should be the hymns of their own Christian experience. On the other hand, they should be introduced to some of the great hymns of the church so that they will not feel that they are in an alien world when they start attending regular church service. You can use hymns to arouse the sense of reverence and wonder of God."

Discussion groups, under the guidance of well-qualified leaders were formed according to church school departments as follows: beginners, Mrs. G. P. Hosang; primary, Mrs. Harry Winslow; junior, Mrs. R. D. McLean; intermediate and senior, Miss Winnifred Harvey; superintendents, Mr. Fred Beatty and Mrs. Bruce Neal. These groups will consider fine books guidance, find different and advanced methods of developing and composing. They find the answer to common problems and fellowship between churches for greater unification.

An excellent display of Christian literature from the various denominations was an added interest. Many fine books were on sale from the Ontario Council.

At the closing assembly, the president of the Belleville Council of Christian Education, Mr. Frank Benson, expressed his appreciation to those who attended and all those who had worked to make this year's convention a success.

1957 EXECUTIVE

Mrs. Joyce Baldak, chairman of the nominating committee, read the names of those elected for next year's executive. Returned by acclamation were Mr. Frank Benson as president; Mr. Ronald Jones as vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Howard as secretary and Mrs. Floyd Cummings as treasurer. A complete list of Belleville Council officers was presented by Rev. Kenneth Gillespie.

The Belleville Council of Christian Education consists of a ministerial from each denomination, and the superintendent, plus one representative from each church school. Its aim is to assist in making plans for a Teachers' Training School to be held during the coming winter.

If the youth of today are to grasp the deep Christ decision which are love, faith, service, peace and fine character, they must find the roots in a Christian home. Church fellowship and guidance from qualified leadership through the years in making their life decisions.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU HAD BETTER BE WARNED IN TIME

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My so-called "problem" is rather unusual, I suppose, but it's still confusing to me and I hope you'll be able to offer some advice.

M. fiance and I see each other very day of the week, even though e goes to school at nights for a ew hours. Our day just doesn't seem to be complete unless we see ach other for at least an hour.

This makes my friends quite unerstand. Apparently they don't think we're normal because we see o much of each other. We were oth very popular in school, and ur friends are now quite annoyed ecause we never double date and e never have a "night out" with he guys and I with the girls.

But we just don't want it that ay. We have a better time when re're together. If he wanted to go ith the fellows one night a week, 'd have no objections and as a esult the feelings are calling him "henpecked." I used to think they were all just jealous, but could it e they're right? Am I mind-reing out with another couple every other weekend or so, but that's l.

If we go out by ourselves to dinner and a play, or even just to a ockey show, our friends think it's nore fun to do it in a crowd. Isn't it? A night out like that is omething special to us and we would rather do it alone.

Are we really missing out on omething? Are we right or completely wrong?

I know it must sound as though we're real quiet people or just plain unsociable. We're certainly not quiet, but as for being unsociable part, I wonder. Are we headed for a real lonesome life, or what?

Dear S.L.:

Yes, frankly, I think you and your fiance are making a mistake to be so exclusive.

In the first place, whether you can believe it now or not, the day will certainly come when you'll get fed up seeing nobody but each other. You'll run out of conversation—not that conversation matters very much right now, I know—and you'll begin to long for some of the old familiar faces and good times you used to have in a group.

It's possible that this desire to return to more normal living may not come until either you're married, depending on how far away that marriage is. But I can assure you that sooner or later it will definitely come, because you're no different from other human beings. All normal human beings are so constituted that they want and feel soothed with more than one person, no matter how much they may love that one person.

So just try and imagine, if you can, the time when you and your fiance—or your husband, as the case may be—begin to feel that it would be nice, after all, to see something of the old crowd. But will the old crowd want to see you, after being snubbed and ignored for so long?

Moreover, in limiting your life the way you're doing now, you yourselves are losing out on the benefits to be derived from association with a variety of other people. Keep this up indefinitely, and you'll become ingrown and dull. You'll not only stop being interesting to others, because of living in a social vacuum, but you'll stop being interesting even to yourselves. To be vital and alive, as I'm sure you both want to be, you need the stimulation and the broadening effect of sharing group interests and activities.

If you're wise and open-minded young people, you'll give this matter some serious thought, and, if you do, I think you'll begin to see the good common sense in keeping up your relationships with your friends to a reasonable degree. At the moment, I judge from what you say in your letter, you seem to be convinced that if you just don't want to do something, you're perfectly justified in not doing it. But if that's the philosophy on which you're planning to live your future life, I'm afraid you're headed for some very rough jolts. Let yourselves be warned in time, and don't be so adolescent and self-centered as to brush off the warning.

HOW TO CORRECT—AND CAMOUFLAGE—HEAVY LEGS

To the despair of any woman so afflicted, it is also a source of wonder why, when the rest of her figure is perfectly proportioned, her ankles and the calves of her legs should be abnormally bulky. The answer lies in exercise—or rather the lack of it. With so many office workers leading perfectly sedentary lives, it's hardly any wonder that fat accumulates on legs. It can't possibly accumulate on well-toned muscles. Most gals just don't walk enough. They leave the house in the morning, hop a bus, trolley or subway to their offices, sit at a desk all day, then ride home again. In the morning they "haven't the time to walk"; in the evening, they're "too tired." Well, if that's the case, then the only answer lies in corrective exercise. Diet won't help if the rest of the figure is properly proportioned.

Walking on your toes is a good way to slim down thick ankles as well as large legs—even if they are built on a sturdy framework. Ten minutes of walking on tiptoe in your bare feet, or with your feet in "flatties," every night will show fairly quick results in leg reform.

Ankle beading is also a good way to work off leg fat and lose muscles. Sit down with your knees crossed, move the upper foot up and down, pulling hard on the calves. You may have a feeling of soreness for a time, so limit the movements to fifteen or twenty at first, increasing the number of bends each day.

Rotate your ankles in half circles, first to the right, then to the left if you would have them neat, trim and flexible. Never mind if you hear ankle joints "cracking." That's good for you.

The darker the color of the stocking, the slimmer the legs will appear to be because dark colors are slenderizing. Wearing hosiery and footwear of the same color tones will also make for a better appearance if one has large ankles. Then there is no contrast to interrupt the eye of the observer as it travels up and down the length of the figure.

In selecting hose, also take note of the heel height. Long ones make the leg look shorter because they shut down on the distance between heel and heel, while short width of the badge is also important. Wide ones make ankles appear heavier; tapering ones are slenderizing.

Woman Runs Bowling League For Youngsters

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A housewife here has her own way of battling juvenile delinquency — she runs a bowling league for youngsters.

Mrs. Arthur S. Flewelling, a bowling enthusiast from her youth in Regina, hit upon the scheme several years ago.

"I went to every school in the city, talking to the principals and to the children. I had plenty of cooperation and the first Saturday morning there were enough youngsters on hand to fill all the alleys."

Bowling sessions for children from 10 to 17 re-opened for the third season a few weeks ago and Mrs. Flewelling found her 65 boys and girls of last year had swelled to almost 100.

Mrs. Flewelling, who believes the way to keep children out of mischief is to give them something to do, says:

"I love it, and I'd hate to give it up. Perhaps it's because I have children of my own, and because I can see what benefits these youngsters are getting week after week."

Apart from keeping them off the street, she feels it helps them participate in a sport as opposed to the "side - line activity" such as movies and television.

YOUNG HELPERS

Mrs. Flewelling's sons, 11-year-old Bobby and Gary, 13, both are bowlers and in addition they help her mother keep the league records.

"I keep all their scores in a permanent record, and figure out their averages," she said.

Mrs. Flewelling has been asked to expand her program to several other alleys in the city, but she says she finds it hard enough to keep up at one.

Every newcomer gets special lessons from Mrs. Flewelling and "they really take them seriously."

The bowlers pay 30 cents for three strings a slightly reduced rate arranged by the bowling alley management.

Right now all the bowlers are working their hardest as Ronald Bozyarchuk, manager of the alleys has promised to take four teams, 20 bowlers, to Toronto in April to compete in the Ontario Junior and intermediate five - pin bowling tournament.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

PROBLEM: WILLINGLY OR UNWILLINGLY TO GIVE A GOOD HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A man who is a co-worker of mine, and has been for several years (we were friends in the last war), is to be married soon. I have not received an invitation to the ceremony or to the reception, and I have not heard whether or not any other man in the office has received an invitation, nor have I inquired. However, yesterday two men in our group of co-workers asked me to contribute toward buying the couple a wedding present. I refused to contribute, saying I saw absolutely no reason to contribute. Now I'm wondering if I was wrong. What do you think?

—J.E.

If, as you say, you see "absolutely no reason why you should contribute, I can only say you were probably right not to contribute, I am sure your friend and co-worker would not want you to contribute unwillingly. However, it is difficult for a stranger who knows so little about the circumstances to give direction about your decision . . . and it may be that later you may change your mind and either contribute to the group's present or decide to send a present yourself. Perhaps it would be better to do this rather than to harbor an unpleasant thought and cloud any future friendship.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Dear Friend (for such you certainly are after my reading so many of your wonderful columns): My husband thought I was strange when the deciding factor in our choice of daily newspaper had to be "whith one carries Mary Moore's column?" But after all the new dishes and suggestions I've received he's rather glad of our selection. Nearly every evening I get one good idea. How full my filing box is getting! I have a few questions and requests: (1) Would like a copy of "Louise's Basic Mix" and uses for same. (2) Would like a recipe for whole wheat bread and suggestions for use of wheat germ. Should you feed it to two-year-olds? (3) Have you a recipe for a cherry loaf (using maraschino cherries)—I have had one with an interesting top. Someone suggested it was lemon juice. (4) I have trouble sealing jams and jellies . . . put a thin layer of paraffin on hot jam—it bot jars . . . invariably end up with the jam up around sides of wax. . . . even after the second thin coat there is often more weeping. . . . I'm afraid I'll lose a lot. . . . I keep rims of jars clean. (5) Suppers are my problem. Cereal and eggs for breakfast; dinner at noon; can't afford meat again at supper and figure can't stand spaghetti type dishes. Children are one and two. (6) The paper with your last soup recipes got thrown out before I clipped. . . . would like the one with carrots in it (last of three in the column) and juice, then eggs, one at a time, beating well between additions then thoroughly after all are added. Sift together sifted flour and baking powder and stir in until smooth. Dredge sliced cherries with 1-4 cup flour and fold in. Pour into greased 9-inch tube pan and bake at 300 deg. F. about 90 minutes. When nearly firm to touch, turn off oven and leave 10 minutes longer. Cool on rack. If well wrapped and cool this keeps for two weeks.

I will answer questions 4 and 5 next week.

Graphic Story of Heroism, Tragedy, Joy and Sorrow of Memorable Days at Springhill

Last week 39 miners were killed like, but not unconscious. I saw when an explosion crashed through upper workings of a Springhill, N.S., coal mine, trapping 113 men deep underground. Here Hall Montgomery, Canadian Press staff writer who helped cover the disaster, puts into one graphic story the highlights of the tragedy, the joy and sorrow of four of Springhill's most memorable days.

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Coal miner Ken Gilbert picked up his lunch pail, said goodbye to his wife and four children and drove off to work. His job was digging coal in No. 4 mine of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company.

That day—Thursday, Nov. 1—the town in the Cobequid Hills of northern Nova Scotia, drowsed in Indian summer warmth.

He passed the miners' memorial, a 20-foot granite shaft with the figure of a miner holding pick and safety lamp, without knowledge. The inscription said 125 men had died in Nova Scotia's worst mine disaster—an explosion in No. 1 mine—Feb. 21, 1891.

SPELL AT THE TOWN

That was 35 years before he was born. He'd been only five when No. 4 was opened. Many residents of Springhill still lived on coal.

At the mine on the edge of town men entered the washhouse to get ready to go down. It was 8 o'clock shift.

"It's too good a day to work," someone said. A fellow should be off deer-hunting."

"Leash laws has gone hunting," another said. "He's skipping this shift."

"I don't blame him," said a third, standing naked in the steamy room with a pile of clothes in his arms.

Underground on the 6,100-foot level Raymond Smith thought about deer - hunting, too. He'd worked since 7 a.m. He wanted to go hunting and they'd asked one two men to work overtime. He spoke to Hall Mackie, Murray Tetrais and Dougie Henwood. They agreed he should go and they would stay.

START OF SHIFT

At 3 o'clock the evening shift straggled to the bankhead where coal is hoisted from the mine, a horseshoe - shaped building with sheet-metal walls from which main haulage slopes led to No. 4 and No. 2 mines.

The men got on the rake, cars running on steel rails, used to ferry slope to working areas below.

There was Con Embree, an overman, at 48 a veteran of 33 years in the pits.

There were other old timers like slight mine manager Russell Hood and youngsters like 18-year-old Wayne Smith. There was Len McCormick, who'd been hurt in a mine injury, back for his first shift.

Ken Gilbert—he'd about 25 miles went down the main slope to the 3,200-foot level, then through a crosscut to the top of the back-slope driven in No. 7 coal seam.

An underground hoist at the top of the backslope lowered them to the 5,700-foot level. They walked to the working face of 6,100 level and started to dig coal. They were 6,150 feet along the diagonal seam and 2,000 feet below the surface.

Another group went to tunnels on the 5,700-foot level and others were scattered through the workings doing various jobs.

Altogether 130 men were at work in No. 4—118 underground and 12 on the surface—another shift for which the ordinary miner would get $9.74, the foremen and others somewhat more.

LIKE EARTHQUAKE

At 5:07 p.m., a tremendous rumble shook Springhill. A shock like an earthquake spread for miles across the hills. A woman in Joggins, a colliery town 30 miles away, felt it.

Springhill workmen ran outdoors and instinctively looked toward the mine. They saw a red glare silhouetting colliery buildings.

At the town undertaker's, an embalmer heard a rumbling boom.

"I saw a ball of smoke and then flames shooting over the mine," he said.

A deer-hunter four miles away thought the town had blown up.

Leonard Boss, 59, mine washhouse caretaker, was standing in a doorway.

"A blue flame about the length of a car shot out of the slope," he said. "A fraction of a second later there was a terrific bang. With it came the biggest ball of fire I ever saw."

Norman Boss, a bankhead worker, was talking to Allen Shipmire, waiting for the rake to come up with a load of coal.

BOLT OF FLAME

It was like a smouldering stove that somebody poured a bucket of coal on and then all of a sudden there's a little hole in it and the flame whooshes up through.

"I was knocked a little stupid seem to have any pulse. We dragged them to the surface."

One 3 p.m. shift miner after another died.

"Get my mask! get my mask!" he cried. "I've got to go back. I've got to . . ."

Minutes later he and Alex Spence were dead.

Another body was found in the surface wreckage. Three of the bodies died in hospital, raising the death toll to seven.

It was now 11 p.m., six hours after the 5:07 explosion. Harold Cook, coal chief for Dosco arrived from Cape Breton coalfields to direct operations. Ambulances came from all over Nova Scotia. An army hospital unit set up in Springhill armories. Soon 35 doctors and 40 nurses were ready.

Premier Robert Stanfield drove from Halifax. Premier Henry Hicks followed. Rescue and Halifax city police sent reinforcements. Navy helicopters began flying in rescue supplies, including escape devices from a Royal Navy submarine flotilla at Halifax.

AIRBORNE AID

Dragger crews arrived by air from other Nova Scotia mines.

Women carrying kerchiefs and wrapped in blankets took up a fruitful vigil near the pithead. Electricians strung lines of emergency lights that cast a yellow glow on the crowd.

Knowing the frightful risk of a second explosion, the Dominion kept going down.

And in the deeps, the men who'd been on the coal mine are called, another drama unfolded. Most of the 113 men, trapped but still alive, thought life hung by a thread.

Harold Tabor had been running a cutting machine on the backhoe level.

"George Stonehouse and I started out to the backslope when the smell of smoke hit. It was like a big old rubber tire or everything burning choked us.

"Men stopped stopping like flies everywhere. Everybody was saying help this fellow and that fellow.

"Victor Henwood, had collapsed. We dragged him back to where the smoke had stopped. Four of us collapsed with him.

"The air was getting stronger. I shook some water over my coat and put it on. I tied a belt around it and did the same and we made our way back to the face of where we were in the first place. The air was fairly good but getting deader all the time.

"Then we got up a side passage to the 5,600-foot level and hunted for any air valve we could."

OVERMAN A HERO

Now Overman Con Embree was the senior man among the trapped men by almost every miner as the hero of the explosion.

Embree, five modest, shy son of a miner who survived the 1891 Springhill explosion, had lived through two explosions himself in the nearby River Hebert Mines in the 1920s.

Doggedly he marshalled more than 30 men at the 5,600 level. It was Friday morning. Embree directed the men to build a make-shift door in the tunnel to divert the gas. They used old trap-doors and tarpaulins cloth. Behind the door they had air that was still flowing from a valve in the mine ventilating fans.

Fourteen men, who had worked their entire shift Thursday night, not knowing of the explosion joined them from lower levels.

"Now we had the gas boxed off and we had compressed air," Tabor said. "Con put a sign up so they kept the pressure on we could live.

"Con kept a diary in case he died—to let anyone know what happened down here found it. He wrote in it every hour.

(The diary has not been made public. It will likely be studied by the official investigation.)

Five men went back to the slope to look around. They found three others there. Only one died—Jim Beston—was alive. It took five hours of artificial respiration to revive him.

MOUNTED TO SAFETY

Other men from 6,100 tried to make it to safety. Ken Gilbert's group was one. They came to the 5,700-foot level.

"We kept yelling and we could smell smoke and gas," Gilbert said. "One of the boys got sick to his stomach and hauled him up our section. Others were lying there but we couldn't get them.

They finally reached the 5,600-foot level and Con Embree's group. Dragger crews took turns packing air-from an air valve. Hours passed.

"No one got panicky or discouraged," Gilbert said. "We all expected to see Dragermen come through any minute.

"We split what food we had left. Being without water was the worst.

"I figured we were about done for. I wrote a will and got three of the fellows to sign it. Then I wrote a little note to my wife.

"Never Brown's gas was his birthday—that was Friday — and we sang him a happy birthday.

"He said, 'boys, if we get out today you're all invited to a party at my place.' But we said that if we had any party it was going to be at our own places."

Some of the men decided to go up the slope. They saw lights and thought it was a Dragerman crew but it was more miners looking for a way out. They struggled to the 5,400-foot level and huddled around an air pump. Five or six didn't make it.

NIGHT MANAGER GASSED

"One of them was Russell Moore [night mine manager] who would have been gassed. Davis Betts went after him but he didn't come back.

The men tried to get past a rockfall but couldn't. Some then turned to the 4,400-foot level, choking for air.

Through Thursday night despite efforts to reach the trapped men had continued, hoping grave dim. Rescue crews could not get into the lower levels through the gas. At 2:30 a.m. Friday, mine manager George Calder of No. 3 mine said: "There is still hope, though it may be only a faint hope, that the men are alive," but the hope was a level-level. A Dragerman crew found a rockfall at 3,400 feet on the backslope, blocking access to lower levels. They saw two bodies but could not remove them. There was a fire burning on the face of the backslope where the hoist was, and a rescue crew would have to get rigged before they could go farther.

Rescue director Harold Gordon, 57-year-old former Dragerman who helped in the famous 1958 Moose River, N.S., gold-mine rescue, said, "we'll go on, come hell or high water. We'll be a rescue team himself."

Two hundred two more bodies, bringing the known dead to 11. With the two Dragermen it was 13. Six were in hospital and 100 trapped below.

Noon Friday brought more bad news. Gordon said the fire was so serious that rescuers would have to leave the mine.

"To wall off the fire area to reduce the oxygen content," the rescuermen—in dense smoke and afterdamp—built stoppings of concrete and wood barricades. They withdrew and rescue work stopped temporarily.

ONLY SLIGHT HOPE

Ordinarily there would be a 12-to 24-hour wait to let the fire die but about 7 p.m. Dragermen started again to grope through the smoky, gassy depths — although hope was all but dead.

The crowd had dwindled. Saturday morning only a few hundred relatives kept the vigil. It was raining, with some snow flakes.

The Salvation Army served coffee and doughnuts and offered an offering to help below. Many were bitter when told they weren't needed just then.

The rockfall at 3,400 feet was finally passed. It was an explosion hazard but immense quantities of air were pumped by fan-clergy. No one knew whether any men lived to use it.

On the 4,400 level the gas was worse. Con Embree told his men to cut holes in their coats to cover their noses with pieces of cloth and put their mouths to the open legs.

"He saved our lives," Harold Tabor said.

Saturday morning overman Charlie Burton and five others tried to get past. The gas was stronger as they climbed the slope. They stopped at every air valve to suck air.

At 4,800 feet they found 23 other miners, some of whom helped them. Gasping at every step, holding wet rags to their faces against upward.

PRAYERS ANSWERED

"We started to pray," Tabor said. "I don't care who knows it, we prayed. At the 3,500 I flaked out. I recovered enough to crawl. Then I heard voices. It was a Dragger crew."

"We met all of them in a group," Dragerman Robert Ashton said. "They looked exhausted and talked hardly any on the way up. If they had failed to walk out Friday night they'd never have made it."

A few minutes before noon Saturday, almost 43 hours after the explosion, Charlie Burton walked out of the backhead door, the first trapped man to emerge. His appearance set off the loudest cheering and horn-blowing ever heard in Springhill.

In the next 2½ hours, 36 grimy, haggard miners, including Ken Gilbert, came through the same door—on stretchers but all alive. One, John Jackson, has a fatal reinfection of his rescue.

Saturday afternoon as he climbed out the slope a white face confronted him.

"I knew he wasn't one of us miners. Then you come from?' I asked. 'Down the slope?' He grinned and said, 'I'm 11 o'clock shift man come to relieve you.' He was a Dragerman."

Severely - seven men were still missing but not more came Saturday night. Hope faded again for wives, children, parents and sweethearts still waiting.

Then, about 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Dragermen came up to say more than 50 men were believed to be alive at the 5,400-foot level. They were Con Embree's rescue and recall room.

WANTED TO RETURN

Some of Saturday's rescued left the hospital to be rescued to get below "to help the others out" as Gordon Hunter, Dave Burton, father of three children, was refused permission.

Wayne Smith, the youngest miner among the rescued, went back to dare deeps again.

Sunday afternoon, as rescue work went on, Springhill buried 10 of the dead in a mass grave. Premier Stanfield was present.

The rescue crew set up camp at the 5,400-foot level. Dragermen brought out the mine office, "they won't bring him up!" Her brother was among the miss-ing.

Harold Gordon said with grim reluctance that the mine and its 26 dead would be sealed off for two months, until the danger of explosion from methane gas was over.

"The feeling of relatives must be indescribable," he said. "But we can't jeopardize the lives of other miners by sending the dead out."

Another injured miner died Wednesday and one later.

The toll of the Springhill mine explosion Nov. 1, 1956, became 39 dead (including two Dragermen) and five injured.

Eighty-eight were rescued.

A steady drizzle fell on stilled Springhill Thursday, a week after the blast, as rescuers, rescued and their families attended church services for the dead.

At Miners' Hall the men gossiped. "You know, I've been a miner 15 years—but there's other ways to make a living."

Some miners would go back when the company gave the word. They felt like Chesley Harrison. "We don't got any choice," he said. "I'll have to go down again. What else can I do?"

Lake Simcoe Offers Wide Choice in Kinds of Fish

TORONTO (CP)—Take a body of water within comfortable distance of 1,500,000 people, give them plenty of fish to catch for about 11 months of the year, and the result should be disastrous to the fish population.

In Lake Simcoe, it isn't. If anything, the fish are under-fished.

Some of the reasons for this are outlined in a recent analysis of southern Ontario's favorite fishing hole, published by the province's department of lands and forests.

BIOLOGIST'S STUDY

"Fishing in Lake Simcoe," a 196-page study by Dr. H. R. McCrimmon of the department's fish and wildlife biological staff, shows that the lake has stood up well for more than a century against an assault by commercial and sport fishermen. The biggest destructive factors appear to be its bigness and its abundant food supply.

"There are not many inland lakes which can offer fishery equal to that of Lake Simcoe," Dr. McCrimmon writes. "Few lakes have such a wide choice in kinds of fish offering such a variety of the year. Still fewer lakes could have maintained the quality of fishing while being subjected to such heavily-populated area in Ontario.

The lake is about 30 miles north of Toronto. Several towns, tourist hotels and countless summer cottages fringe its 142 miles of shoreline.

But even on a busy summer weekend there is plenty of elbow room on its 280 square miles of water. There is also plenty of room for the fish to hide.

And hide they do, Dr. McCrimmon says the main reason catches of two major gamefish — smallmouth bass and pickerel — are relatively small is that few anglers master their extensive movements.

ELUSIVE PICKEREL

Pickerel are caught in numbers in May near the mouth of the Talbot River, one of 35-odd tributaries, but become elusive when the lake warms. Of 500 fish tagged in the river in 1951, only one was reported caught in the lake later in the year.

Lake Trout, are abundant, come more easily. The study estimates that about 5,000 are taken by trolling each year and many others by winter fishing through the ice.

Still, there are lots of other fish. Dr. McCrimmon's check list names 43 species, including six game fish — whitefish, herring, lake trout, pike, perch and smallmouth bass — in catchable numbers. Six others — salmon, rainbow and brook trout, muskellunge, pickerel and largemouth bass — are present but not plentiful. The remainder are coarse fish.

Just how prolific the lake can be is shown by some of the book's figures on the early commercial fishery. About 80,000 pounds of bass were taken in 1886 and Dr. McCrimmon estimates the total catch of all six of game fish from 1865 to 1954 at 3,750,000,000 pounds.

Commercial fishing went into decline after 1903 with a ban on the sale of game fish. Still legal, however, is the sale of whitefish, herring and lake trout by angling methods and many residents supplement their income in this way, the biologist says.

Those two species draw thousands of external fishermen as well and are the backbone of a thriving winter business in the rental of some 2,000 ice fishing huts.

FRANKFORD

Trinity Anglican Church Guild Holds Bazaar

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Trinity Anglican Church Guild held their fall bazaar and tea last Saturday afternoon in the parish hall. The Rev. H. C. Secker officially opened the activities with prayer.

Receiving the guests was the president of the Guild, Mrs. A. E. Caskey, and in charge of admission was Mrs. O. E. Farrar.

The tea table was prettily decorated with a beautiful white cut-work lace cloth centred with a lovely arrangement of multi-colored 'mums and at each end silver candelabra with yellow candles and silver tea services.

Pouring tea for the afternoon were: Mrs. Frank Rabel and Mrs. W. Blair, Mrs. H. C. Secker and Mrs. A. E. Caskey.

The tea hostesses were Mrs. S. Caskey and Mrs. A. Morsh.

The tea servers were Misses June Pearson and Dorothy Brown, also Mrs. K. Lawrence.

Mrs. B. Foster and Mrs. Love had charge of the kitchen.

The doll and fancy doll clothes booth was the main attraction with its assortment of beautiful colored clothes and bride and bridesmaid, also choir boys as dolls. Mrs. Cecil Smith and Miss Grace Pearson were in charge of this booth, assisted by the Sunshine club.

The apron and fancy work booth had a fine display with many colored varieties of aprons and crochet and knitted work. Mrs. G. Arnolt and Mrs. E. Ketcheson and Mrs. M. McLaren were in charge of this booth.

The home cooking booth, with its many assortment of pies, cakes and cookies was a mainstay for the afternoon. Mrs. G. Chapman and Mrs. A. Chase were in charge of this booth.

The candy booth was in charge of the Junior W.A. under the direction of Mrs. G. Gilmour.

The domestic table, which included a variety of vegetables, fowl, preserves and pickles, was in charge of Mrs. Striker and Mrs. F. Burkitt.

The lovely autumn weather and the willing work of the members of the Guild made a successful and delightful bazaar and tea.

Halloway

HALLOWAY — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beatty and Miss Phyllis Beatty of Foxboro, and Mrs. H. Casey of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kennedy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Townsend and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen attended the Couples' Club rally at Fort Hope recently.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Tange and family of Trenton, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. McMullen.

On Sunday evening the Kum Double Club of Halloway United Church celebrated its tenth anniversary early in the evening; 15 couples, along with the Rev. Lloyd Shorten, and Mrs. Shorten, of Peterborough as their guests, went to Belle Haven, where a tasty chicken dinner was served. After all journeyed back to Halloway where the Rev. Lloyd Shorten was guest speaker for the occasion.

Ten years ago the group was organized by Mr. Shorten, when he was minister on the circuit and has been active ever since; new couples joined in as they came to the community. The group meets every two weeks, except for July and August when a picnic is planned and the families are all included.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wellman, welcomed the guests. Mrs. Ed. Emerson read the Scripture lesson and the Frankford quartet supplied the special music for the occasion and was heard in three lovely songs during the service, which added much to the evening.

Mr. Earl Snider introduced the guest speaker, Rev. L. Shorten, when a fine message was given.

After the service all were invited to the church parlor where a fellowship hour was enjoyed with singing by the congregation, the quartet, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dills in a lovely duet, and Mr. Bev and Gordon Foster and Mrs. Foster in a nice trio, with Mrs. Bev Foster at the piano.

Tea and cookies were served and a lovely birthday cake with ten candles in yellow and green, which was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson. Mr. Shorten was asked to blow out the candles on the cake.

A social half hour was enjoyed which brought a pleasant evening to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson called on their daughter, Mrs. Don Brown and Mr. Brown, and new granddaughter on Sunday afternoon at Hoard's. All extend congratulations to Don and Audrey on their new daughter, a sister for three little boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Volney Richardson, of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison of Wallbridge, called at the Townsend home on Sunday.

'Elvis' Meeker Will Juggle Crew Cuts Again In Quest Of Win Squad

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

How About That!

The McFarlands dug up their hockey potential last night and dumbfooled their outstanding performance against the Ottawa Canadiens of a few weeks ago by trouncing the fancied Pembroke Lumber Kings 7-3 in a well-deserved victory.

They won it by playing hockey against a seasoned, well-coached crew of veteran players. They used their heels instead of tongued heads and it paid off. They looked the best club we have seen to date and if they can duplicate last night's performance against the pesky Kingston kritturs tonight the goose will hang high in Belleville.

Minnie Menard sparked the team with an all-out three goal sparkling performance. Those stitches were only skin deep in Bep Guidolin's head and the couch played a steady canny game besides directing his shock troops both on and off the ice.

Over 1200 fans cheered the Mace to their win and those that played away missed a brilliant, hard-fought game of hockey. The Pembroke club are big, husky and clever but the Mace were too much for them with their dashing offensive and close-knit defensive tactics. Every man on the team gave what he had and it was worth the four-goal margin.

The McFarlands proved last night by their all-out play that they have what it takes in this senior "A" set-up and if they continue to flash their potential, we won't have to worry too much about a playoff spot.

THE "GREAT ONE" SPEAKS

Sports columnists and others down Gotham way are deriving a tremendous "kick" out of the publicity blurbs being wired around the circuit by one Archie Moore, self-styled heavyweight champion of the world.

Some of them smell the fine hand of an expert publicist, but the majority are of the opinion the blurbs are written by the ageless glove manipulator himself.

Archie, who made the big headlines when he appeared in "soup and fish" at the start magnificent sucker flasco held in Toronto when one James J. Parker played straight man to Archie's Jack Benny, has his own special idea of the Queen's English.

In case you have forgotten, Arch takes on young Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight crown in Chicago on November 30. He lashed with indignation at the statement he alleges came from the Patterson camp to the effect Floyd considers Hurricane Jackson a much more difficult problem than Ancient Arch. "The Moore dignity was deeply wounded. It "cast reflections on my professional ability."

"I've been angered by a handful of fighters only. These men attacked me verbally or fouled me. Every one of these men is through as a fighter today because of beatings administered by me."

How about Rocky, Arch, ole bean? History has it the Brockton Bulldozer fought Arch, and promptly retired. But he remembered to knock out the venerable vagabond first. As one columnist puts it, "Some of these men may even have died of old age."

Arch waxes a trifle eloquent in his reference to young Patterson. Says he: "They tell me Patterson is a fine young prospect and, if he'd asked me, I would have been glad to take him in the szzn and give him the benefits of my twenty years as a professional. But that's out now. The lesson I give him when we get together will not be conducive to furthering his fistic education."

"Though I'm offended by Patterson's lack of respect and expect to punish him for it, I am not without pity for the boy," Arch says.

There were probably tears in the great one's eyes as he continued: "I know what it's like to be thrown in over one's head. I was matched with middleweight champion Teddy Yarosz after I'd been a pro only a few months. Pitting one's youth against the experience and superior skill of a seasoned campaigner is one of the most frustrating things that can happen to a young fighter."

His zostez quivered with emotion as he wrote: "They threw me to the wolves early. Patterson has been wetnursed throughout his career. When he faces me, he will have a painful awakening. Actually 'awakening' isn't the word I want. Floyd will remain awake only as long as I allow it. But it is not my intention to expound on how I will dispose of this brash youth."

Then the aged one admits the damage he perpetrated on one, Yolande Pompey, last year. With one punch he drove this ferocious British tiger back four feet, and cut his eye. "The force of the blow was so great it caused his nose to bleed even though the punch did not land on his proboscis."

Archie loves verbosity. He likes big words. It is stated he once claimed his ring "longevity was attributed to his resorting to realism and escapology."

Regarding Patterson, Arch comes up with this one: "Can you imagine what will happen when I reunite as Patterson comes in with one of his highly-publicized and unbelievably amateurish feet-off-the-floor right-land leads."

As Arthur (New York Times) Daley remarks: "That's a long sentence about an awfully short punch."

May Convert Timmy Horton To Front Line Shock Troops Bruins, Habs Meet Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs were so successful in converting a forward to a defenceman that they may try switching a defenceman to a forward.

That may sound a bit confusing but what it boils down to is Leaf strategy in juggling players in an attempt to stay among the leaders in the National Hockey League race.

There have been several minor changes since the 1956-57 campaign started. The most notable was the conversion of right winger Ron Stewart, a 12-goal man last season, to the injury-struck defence.

MAY SHIFT HORTON

Stewart has operated so well as a rearguard that Leafs haven't given a thought to giving him back his old job. Now they're thinking of moving defenceman Tim Horton, one of their outstanding performers, to the front line.

"It's a move I've been considering for some time," Toronto coach Howie Meeker said Friday. "Horton moves well with the puck and that's something we badly need."

Horton, 25-year-old native of Cochrane in his sixth season with Toronto, is one of the fast-breaking defencemen in the league. He may be at centre or right wing when Leafs play host to the last-place Chicago Black Hawks tonight.

In two other games tonight, Boston Bruins and Canadiens, tied for first place, meet in Montreal and Detroit Red Wings take on Rangers at New York. Sunday it's Montreal at Boston and Detroit at Chicago.

Horton, fully recovered from a fractured jaw and leg that knocked him from the lineup last season, had a fine shifts on the right wing in Chicago Thursday. He was on a line with Dudley Higgy and Bob Pulford. Leafs lost 5-2 but Horton scored his first goal as a forward. He was also bumping the opposition better than he did as a defenceman.

The Boston-Montreal home-and-home series shapes up as a dilly. Habs are getting stronger with each outing and should give Habs a tough battle.

Canadiens again will have Gerry McNeil in the nets, Regular Jacques Plante still has a virus infection. Also missing from the Montreal lineup will be right winger Bernie Geoffrion, recovering from an elbow operation.

Dickie Moore, who injured a knee in a game against Rangers Thursday, and Don Marshall, who suffered a cut under his eye, are both back in top shape.

PLAY EASTERN FINAL

HALIFAX (CP) — Greenwood Bombers, picked to represent the Nova Scotia Football League before the regular season ended here were to take on Hamilton Tiger-Cat Bees today for the Eastern Canadian Intermediate football championship.

Hodge Sparks Rochester Club

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Americans, new entry in the American Hockey League, have finally warmed up after a cold start, and a lot of the credit for their three - game winning streak must go to Charlie Hodge, little 23-year-old goalie from Lachine, Que.

Hodge, who has given up only two goals in the last three games, turned in the first shutout of the AHL season Friday night as Rochester defeated Providence Reds 5-0 in the only league game.

The American, jointly sponsored by Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens of the National League, were unable to do better than two draws in their first seven games.

The line of Mike Nykoluk, Gary Collins and Ron Hurst accounted for three Rochester goals Friday night, Hurst getting two and Nykoluk one with Collins helping on all three. Bronco Horvath and Earl Balfour got the others.

Biltmores Defeat St. Michaels 6-4 As Barrie Flyers Edge Peterborough

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For about 10 minutes Friday night it appeared Gino Ubriaco would personally provide Toronto St. Michael's College Majors with their second victory of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A campaign.

Ubriaco had fired three goals for Majors against Guelph Biltmores before the midway mark of the first period. But the next 10 minutes were black for Majors.

Biltmores, —with Bill Sweeney and Bob Robinson scoring two goals each drove back for a 4-3 lead by the end of the period. The leading Biltmores outscored St. Michael's 2-1 the rest of the way to win 6-4 and extend their lead over idle Toronto Marlboros to four points.

In other games, Barrie Flyers came up with their first victory in six starts, defeating Peterborough Petes 4-3 to climb past Petes out of the cellar; and Ottawa Junior Canadiens preserved their unbeaten streak in Laurier Cup play thrashing Hamilton Cubs 7-2 at Ottawa.

At Guelph, the torrid scoring pace of the first 2 period revelled off as Eddie Shack fired two for Biltmores in the second and Dick Mattiussi a single for Majors in the third.

Peterborough enjoyed a brief lead in the first period at Barrie, but lagged afterwards. Parker gave Petes a 1-0 working margin but John Chaszewski and Billy Forhan connected for Flyers before the period ended.

Mikol tied the score for Petes early in the second. Bob Josephson put Barrie ahead while Petes were playing two men short. In the third period, Rogers scored for Flyers and Thurly for Peterborough.

Twenty - four penalties were called in the bruising Ottawa game. The Habs, defending Laurier Cup champions and farmhands of the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens, vaulted into a 5-1 lead in the first period on goals by Bill Carter, Claude Carroll, Gerry Wilson, Dick Dumonchel and John Annable.

Jerry Sullivan connected for Hamilton, Ralph Backstrom shot the only goal of the second for Ottawa, in the third it was Picard for Canadiens and Jerry Luyben for Cubs.

McFarlands Whip Pembroke Lumber Kings In Rousing Senior A Thriller

Minnie Menard Sparks Club With Three-Goal Performance; Clash With Kingston Tonight

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Belleville McFarlands dug up that potential that carried them to near victory over the flashy Ottawa Canadiens last night and handed the Pembroke Lumber Kings a 7-3 setback for their third triumph of the season.

The McFarlands were full value for their money. They played heads-up hockey going both ways with the starry Minnie Menard pacing the pack with the first Mac hat trick of the season.

The victory gave the McFarlands seven points and a third-share of third place with the Ottawa Canadiens and Kingston. A win tonight will vault them into second place a point in front of the Lumber Kings, providing they drop their tilt with Whitby.

It was fast and furious bodi-clean hockey from referee Ned Vitarello's opening whistle to the clamor of the last second. Over 1,800 fans were kept on the edge as the two clubs flashed one of the best brands of Senior "A" duelling seen here this young season.

There were no untoward incidents. Coach Bep Guidolin had his club under control all night and the boys played the puck rather than the man. They used the stick instead of tongue and it paid off handsomely. They were a distinct credit to the city with their all-round performance.

Ties, all minors, handed out by the ref, a couple of them costly, especially to the Kings in the final heat.

Most of the Macs go into the point-getting limelight with Minnie, as was mentioned, leading the goal parade with a scintillating trio. Brother Willie accounted for another, with Ted Larouche, one of the stars of the night, Keith MacDonald, Andre Morrissette rounding the rest. Payette set up three of the goals for three assists.

The dangerous Giesebrecht brothers again stood out for the Kings, Jack scoring two of their markers and Nobby Clarke the other. Coach Ike Hildebrand, a gentleman on and off the ice, set up one goal with a neat effort.

The McFarlands hit a sizzling pace from the start and led the heavy-checking Kings 1-0 at the end of the first period. They maintained their drive and aggressive throughout the second frame and had the Kings on the short end of a 3-0 score at the end of the heat.

The Kings in a desperation drive flashed effective hockey in the opening minutes of the third frame and slashed home two goals in seven minutes of play to whittle the margin to a lone goal. Benoli's penalty did not help matters at this point. Jack Kings Jack Giesebrecht shot home the second marker seconds after the starry McFarlands defenceman got the thumb.

PAUL PAYETTE
...Three Helpers

Matters reversed themselves at the thirteen minute mark. Marshall got the gate and the penalty was the costliest the Kings drew all night. Seconds after he left, with the McFarlands' power play surging around the Kings' net, Minnie Menard drove home Payette's pass for the first insurance marker and a minute later brother Willie repeated hone Benoli's spot pass to make the count 5-3.

Keith MacDonald got the heave ho for hooking at this point, but the McFarlands were not to be denied. They ripped home another goal, via Andre Morrissette while shorthanded, to make the count 6-3. The Kings roared back and Jack Giesebrecht's scoring slap-shot from the point beat Larin cleanly to narrow the margin to 6-4.

With less than two minutes to go Coach Guidolin set up a perfect play for the starry Minnie and the combo fired home his third goal of the evening to end the scoring.

It was hard, fast, close-checking hockey in the first period with both clubs fashioning brilliant neteard drives and both defences standing out.

It was nip and tuck with the Macs having the edge in territorial play until the four-ace minute mark when Lionel Botley engineered the first scoring play of the game. He team with Paul Payette and Minnie Menard in a brilliant drive that ended with the latter scoring his first goal per night.

MINNIE MENARD
...Paced the Pack

The second period was four minutes old when the McFarlands struck again. Real Larouche took Willie Menard's pass in front of the goal and beat Roly Sarault for the Macs' second goal of the night. Six minutes later Larouche and Morrissette teamed with Keith MacDonald and the starry Prince Edward winger slammed home the pass to put the Macs three up and half the game to go.

Then came the third period and you know the rest. Pembroke outshot the McFarlands 32-28.

The teams:

Pembroke — Goal, Sarault; defence, Heon, Scott, Campbell; forwards, Hildebrand, Maxwell, O'Neil, Marshall, J. Giesebrecht, Clarke, Bert Giesebrecht, Simonneau, Brian Hildebrand.

Belleville — Goal, Larin; defence, Benoli, Guidolin, Crawford, Botley; forwards, Payette, M. Menard, Gilbert, MacDonald, Morrissette, Larouche, W. Menard, Muretich, Whalen.

Referee—Ned Vitarelli, Peterborough.

Linesmen—D. Walton, Kingston; W. Hurst, Belleville.

Renfrew Rams Meet Toronto

PEMBROKE (CP) — Toronto's Balmy Beach Marines meet the cinderella team of the North Sunday when they play North Renfrew Rams for the all-Ontario Intermediate B football championship.

The Rams, whose players are drawn from Ottawa and towns throughout this Renfrew County district 100 miles northwest of the capital, began the season with six straight losses.

They won their seventh game by a narrow margin then made their way into Northern Ontario Rugby Football Union playoffs with two shutouts—the second by an identical 6-0 count—and a clubrecord.

Rams won the Northern Ontario title Sunday by defeating Noranda 24-0 to win the two-game, total-point final 36-6. After a sudden-death clash with Toronto Beaches, Southern champions, the game will be played at Deep River, 25 miles northwest of here.

Minor Hockey

The peewee section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association opened early this morning with four games being played. Bay Shore Black Hawks edge the Rangers 3-1, Bruins blanked the Red Wings 3-0, Canadians whipped the Maple Leafs 6-1 while the Barons and Browns fought to a 0-0 tie.

Browns and Barons are the league's new entries this season and their goalies, Charles Calnan of the Browns and Bob Kiser of the Barons, headed shutouts.

Jimmy Rutherford sparked the Canadiens to victory with the three-goal hat trick. Mike Culhane fired a pair of goals while Gordon Smith netted the other. Ron Skinner and Bob Boyle, Norman Richards saved the Leafs from a whitewash while his club's lone tally, unassisted.

The scoring was evenly split in the Bruins 3-0 win over the Wings. Dennis Tracey, Bobbie Biddey each netted a goal and Biddey fired one goal, all solo efforts.

Forest Smith netted the deciding goal for the Black Hawks while Richard Eves got their other marker. Bob Woodcock was the Rangers' marksman with Mc-Bride drawing assists.

Four bantam games were also played this morning, the results of which will appear in Monday's paper.

Tiger-Cats Are Underdogs In Today's Clash With Larks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger - Cats are 4½-point underdogs over Montreal Alouettes in Hamilton today, attempting to get the jump on Als in the home game, total-point series for the Big Four Football Union championship.

Most observers figured Ticats' coach Jim Trimble could best Als this by sticking to the ground and playing a possessive brand of football against Alouettes, who can score any time they get the ball.

However, Trimble threw up a pre-game smokescreen by allowing contrary reports to issue from his camp, at various times he was reported as saying Ticats would play "wide open football" and announcing "a strong ground attack is the backbone of a successful team."

After a look at the last two Grey Cup games, a glance at the Big Four statistics, Ticats' manpower and the weather, most observers thought Trimble would go back to the ground.

Experts who favored a ground attack remember Edmonton Eskimo's success with this in two Grey Cup games against Montreal.

In addition, statistics showed that opposing teams gained an average of 5.8 yards a try against Montreal through the line and around the ends, more that way than against any other team in the Big Four.

Other factors included Hamilton's strong running attack headed by halfback Cookie Gilchrist, second best ground-gainer in the league, quarterback Tony Curcillo, a better runner than a passer and halves Tex Robinson and Ralph Goldston, far more potent than a mediocre pair of ends.

A 38-degree temperature and good conditions were forecast.

Judging from past performances Hamilton needed a big margin in today's game with which to head for Montreal next week.

In two games this season Alouettes have run up 138 points to Ticats' 72 and are strong favorites to take the total-point series.

Big reasons are end Hal Patterson who went 100 yards with a pass for a touchdown this year and switching to defensive back, sped 105 yards for the same after taking a kickoff. Sam Etcheverry, ever - effective running and passing quarterback, halfback Pat Abbruzzi, the league's leading runner and scorer, and his second-best defensive team in the league.

Hamiltonians were also favored over London in the ORFU series. They have taken three consecutive games from the Lords this season and own, in Billy Graham and Bob Celeri, the most potent quarterback - halfback combination in the league.

To throw against them London had Indian Jack Jacobs, the quarterback-coach who seems to have found an Indian summer in the autumn of his career.

As an added attraction Dutchmen are protecting the use of import Jack Conway at any position except quarterback.

An ORFU rule says any team may use a last-minute import replacement at the pivot spot, but no other. Last Wednesday Lords used Conway at half as a substitute for quarterback Jim Hook and Kitchener officials said if they saw him at any other position besides quarter today they would protest the game. London officials said he would play anyway.

At Kingston, Golden Gaels have slight favorites on their unbeaten record, but Gaels have tied them this year and by doing so again, or winning, could force a playoff for the Intercollegiate title.

Americans Lead Horse Show

TORONTO (CP) — The United States team took the lead Friday night in the international jumping events at the opening night of Royal Winter Fair Horse Show.

U.S. riders took first and second places in the individual class after five riders entered a jumpoff with perfect performances.

Ireland placed third and fourth. Winning rider was U.S. team captain Billy Steinkraus, who rode First Boy over the jumps without a fault.

Big Soccer Deal In Britain

LONDON (CP) — Don Revie, Manchester City's great centre-forward, Friday set the seal on the season's biggest and deal by indicating his willingness to join Sunderland.

Unofficial reports said Sunderland, fighting to avoid relegation from the First Division, have agreed to a £30,000 transfer fee—one of the highest in league history.

The deal marked the third time Revie has figured in a major soccer transaction since joining Leicester City as an inside-left in the mid-1940s. In 1949 he went to Hull City for a £20,000 fee. A year later, Manchester City paid another high fee for him.

Revie's best season was 1954-55, when his deep - lying centre-forward play earned the city to the Football Association Cup final at Wembley Stadium.

STORM RED EMBASSY

LONDON (AP) — Several hundred students held a protest rally in Russian Embassy Friday night in a shouting, shoving demonstration against Soviet repression in Hungary" and "down with the Reds," were stopped by iron gates at the embassy entrance and by heavily reinforced mounted and foot police.

Eskimos, Rough Riders Clash Today in Western Finals

REGINA (CP) — The glamor clubs of Western Canada — the Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos and the pass - happy Saskatchewan Roughriders—were to meet today on the first leg of the last stretch to the 1956 Grey Cup football final.

It was expected a capacity crowd of 13,500 would jam Regina's Taylor Field in perfect football weather—sunny, 40 degrees, little wind—to see what shaped up as a battle of titans.

With six all-stars in the Eskimo squad and at least seven of Saskatchewan's eight in the lineup, the game ranked as Regina's greatest football attraction since the Riders last won the Western finals in 1951.

That year Saskatchewan defeated Edmonton but then was defeated by Ottawa in the Grey Cup contest at Toronto.

Riders were slight favorites to win today's contest. The second of the best-of-three series will be in Edmonton Monday night and a third game, if necessary, also in Edmonton next Saturday.

ESKS NOT TIRED

Eskimos, seeking their third successive Grey Cup, entered today's game well rested. They Week Monday over-confidence or complacency in his squad, which in three previous years had been defeated by Winnipeg in playoffs.

"It's not a big chance," he said. "Edmonton is the most dangerous team in the league and to win we'll have to hit them with everything we've got."

Only guard Ron Atchison, who twisted an ankle against Winnipeg Monday was a doubtful starter for Saskatchewan. For Eskimos lineman Mike King was to be the only definite fullback Cou Kelly, in hospital for observation of an eye ailment.

Stirling High Wins Two Volleyball Titles

The fall series of games in Centre Hastings Girls' Volleyball was completed on November 1st. Both junior and senior teams from Madoc, Marmora, Stirling and Tweed took part.

The junior championship went to Tweed who won the first from highly competitive teams.

The senior championship was won by the Stirling team. The play-off games between Madoc and Stirling was held in Marmora under the direction of Mrs. Brady, the area convener. With Belleville referees officiating, the final score was 35-17 in favor of Stirling.

Ruth Morgan was captain of the team which consisted of the following members: June Fraser, Grace Clarke, Mary Lou Fairey, Janet Anne Good, Marilyn Reid, Vera Coombes, Marjorie Ketchenson, Mary Brown, Joan Shoemaker, Carol Fargey and Pauline McCurdy. Mrs. Claude Pryer, the local physical education teacher, was their coach.

On November the 7th at the Jamboree held at the O.S.D., the Stirling seniors added to their laurels by outplaying the following teams: Madoc, Campbellford, Wellington, Marmora. This put them in a playoff position with Brighton as opposition. From this game they emerged the Senior "B" champions of the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association with a score of 25-19.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The runners-up stood still Friday night in Ontario's three top senior hockey series. None was able to gain on the leaders.

Chatham Maroons of the Western Division of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Series blanked Owen Sound Mercurys 6-4, but the effort was partly wasted as Stratford Indians edged Windsor Bulldogs 4-3 to stay ahead of the pack.

In the Eastern Division, second-place Pembroke Lumber Kings passed up a chance to gain on Whitby Dunlops, trailing a 7-3 count to fifth-place Belleville Mc-Farlands.

And in the Northern Ontario league, Sudbury Wolves, who have kept respectably close to the leading North Bay Trappers, bowed 5-4 in overtime to Trappers, who moved to a healthy six-point lead.

SECOND GOAL WINS

At Stratford, Dinny Flanagan

Solmar Notes

Red Is Poor Protective Color

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables)

In a golf foursome the other day, one of the boys was using a red tee. The guy was a nuisance. He would drive, watch the flight of the ball, and then start looking for that miserable red tee. There it would be, red against the green grass, but he simply could not find it. Finally, in self-defence, one of the boys threw away the red tee and gave him a couple of yellow ones.

For a good many years red has been considered to be the safe color to wear in the woods. Why this should have been so defies imagination, red ophthalmoplegia (that's a two-quart word for "eye color") will tell you that red-green blindness is the commonest form of color-blindness.

Yet hunters persist in wearing red in the woods as a protective measure. All of this only confirms a years-old suspicion that the manufacturers of outdoor clothing put into their products the absolute minimum of research and plain horse sense.

Now, at long last, a color experiment has been conducted in California to determine, under controlled conditions of observation, just what might be the most effective protective color to wear while hunting.

The experiment were representatives from the National Rifle Association, the California Department of Fish and Game and the California Optometric Association. Army personnel was used over a three-day period.

The spotters were divided into two groups: one with normal color vision and the other with varying degrees of defective color vision. Tests were conducted over typical deer terrain.

BRIGHT YELLOW BEST

The results were what might be expected. Red was of little use, particularly with those who had defective color vision. Surprisingly, bright yellow was the outstanding choice for ready visibility.

Now, here's a strange thing. With this report in mind, inquiry was made at a couple of the local sporting goods stores. Not only were red hunting caps for sale, and items of equipment; also, neither store would purchase caps of fluorescent cloth because customers refused to buy them.

You know, of course, how fluorescent colors stand out against a dark background, or say, on a light ground, for that matter. For protection against accident, the supposition would logically be that the hunter would wear a color that would stand out most prominently.

The fact remains that the rank and file of the Nimrods will have nothing to do with fluorescent cloth. Too loud, they say. So they buy conventional, obsolete, dull red caps. Maybe they would rather look pretty and take their chances on getting shot.

Last September, down on the Patuxent River marshes of Maryland, one of the fall hunters wore a bright yellow hat. Where he bought it remains a mystery but that yellow hat stood out like a lighthouse in a fog against the green background of the wild oats.

Of course, no manufacturers of hunting caps and hats would dream of turning out headgear in yellow, not to mention fluorescent yellow. However, there were some caps of light red fluorescent material available. These, while not ideal, at least were the best available.

In the woodcock and grouse covers it is actually dangerous not to wear protective coloration, particularly during the early season when the leaves are still on the trees. Too many men have been shot purely because they could not be seen.

As luck sometimes has it, one of the local baseball teams has blue and gold as its colors. The store that outfitted this team with its uniforms still has some of the caps in stock—baseball caps of fluorescent cloth in bright gold.

The woodcock had a big surprise their year when they found their covers invaded by a trio of gunners adorned with gleaming gold baseball caps. However, how the woodcock view appearances is of small import. The old rule "better to be safe than sorry" seems to be the wiser choice.

Pert Nanette Fabray Playing It Cool, Cautious This Season

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nanette Fabray, winner of two television academy awards, is playing it cool and cautious this season.

The pert Nanette won the awards as best comedienne and best new personality because of her work on the Sid Caesar hour. This year she was replaced by Janet Blair on the Caesar show, giving Nanette time to assess the future of her career.

She's not riding off in all directions. Last week she made her first TV appearances of the season on Shower of Stars. On Nov. 26, she'll co-star with Hal March and Don Ameche in an NBC spectacular, High Button Shoes. She'll play the role she created in the Broadway hit.

"I've done a lot of thinking about the future," she remarked. "And I've come to two conclusions: 1. You cannot continue as a guest star more than once per season: you've got to have more exposure to keep an audience; 2. If you play the same character in a series, you can expect it to last only two years—three at the most.

"I've had several series offered to me and that is the feeling of all the producers. They all say, 'We'll do it for two years, then take the money and run.'"

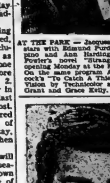
According to her plan, this will be her guest star year; next season she expects to have her own series. Jess Oppenheimer, one of the creators of "I Love Lucy," is dreaming one up for her.

In between guest shots, Nanette is enjoying some home life for the first time in a long spell. Hollywood is her home but she has spent little time here in the last 15 years. Broadway shows and TV have kept her in New York a large part of the time.

I asked her about her parting with Caesar.

"We're still the best of friends" she said. "We talk on the telephone to see how things are going with our families."

If you want to get her mad, mock Janet Blair to her.



"I met some people today who said how much better I was on the show," she said. "Nothing makes me angrier.

"I had it easier when I went on with Sid. I was just going to make one appearance. It went well, so I was asked back again. I worked into it easily.

"It was harder for Janet. She had to come on the show with a lot of fanfare. It takes time for her to find herself. But she's a wonderful talent and I know she'll be great."

AT THE PARK — Jacques Bergerac stars with Rhianond Purdom, Ida Lupino and Ann Harding in Helen Porter's picture "Strange Intruder" opening Monday at the Park Theatre. Also on the program is Alfred Hitchcock's "To Catch a Thief" in VistaVision by Technicolor starring Cary Grant and Grace Kelly.

ADULT ENTERTAINMENT

DID YOU KNOW...

There are evenings when the 45 year old 'Y' building literally squeaks under the heavy load of participants in the various activities going on at the same time. On certain evenings, as many as 350 people are engaged in various physical and recreational activities at the same time.

Last year 183 persons learned to swim in the 'Y' pool, and hundreds of others passed various tests. 10 passed life saving. Hundreds were instructed in water safety.

It does not ask its members to pay their full cost to maintain the 'Y'. Membership fees represent only a small share of the cost so all could afford to have a Christian Democratic Fellowship.

Whole families are meeting at the 'Y', Father probably attending a committee meeting. Mother attending a "Keep-fit" class or learning bridge. Jim bouncing a basketball in the gym, with his sister Mary square dancing. ALL inside the same building.

The 'Y' maintains 37 single rooms in its residence for men where they find a "Home Away From Home". Moderate rates are charged so that all can live in a Christian wholesome surrounding.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, November 12, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A good day for mental alertness, study and written matters. Stellar influences, however, advise against being impatient, irritable or combative. Things generally can run as you plan and execute them.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Advice is often pertinent to you today. If careful, but over-anxious, or duly ambitious, you should be able to accomplish. Fine for confidential matters, your special interests.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Four planets, in favorable aspect, augur well for bright, good ideas, advertising, promotion, unusual fields. A favorable period for finishing incompleted tasks, for extra study.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Mild influences in your immediate sector now but you can profit nevertheless. Be your snappy, cheery self, be hopeful and ambitious and you will have fine returns.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Don't seek what you haven't earned and don't be impatient because your activities are unexciting at the moment. Quiet, slower action is best now.

August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — It can be a fruitful day for activities which you enjoy and plan all interests for which you have talent and training. But with all this, be mindful of diplomacy and health. Don't overdo and don't worry.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — You can shape your activities so as to bring the fullest returns — or just mediocre. It's up to you. Worry and anxiety are not wise, but earnest, intelligent showmanship and action are. Sidestep trivialities.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio) — Your influences advise against immoderate thought or action, being too demanding. Otherwise the day can be pleasantly eventful and productive.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — You will have to put more into this day than others, but you will make better gains. Don't hesitate to say "no" where you should. Press for true progress.

December 23 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — You can overcome obstacles and win extra credits now. But you must put more verve into certain spots, have patience, and not mind irritations.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius)—Stop to plan thoughtfully, then follow those plans without becoming sidetracked by others. You can gain appreciable ground.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — You have innately good material with which to overcome obstacles and with which to achieve beyond the ordinary if you choose. Put aside fear; go forward with faith.

You born today have a magnetic personality and a strong will. You would enjoy a trade or profession that gives you much action and a large field for your diversified talents and capability. You must be careful not to weaken your fine physical and mental vitality by overfrevfulness or endless discussions and pointless ventures. Conserve your fine health and energies for good and productive work only, and learn to relax calmly, restfully. Refuse to permit irritability or impatience to spoil your disposition and achievement. Birthdate: Joseph Hopkinson, author of "Hail, Columbia."

Gilead

GILEAD — Mr. and Mrs. Orland Bertrand and Mary enjoyed a motor trip to Peterborough on Sunday where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Huffman accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips to Ottawa Fair on Friday.

Friends are glad to learn that Mr. Leonard Bertrand has recovered after his recent attack of flu.

Miss Sandra Thibeudeau of Napanee, was a Thursday supper guest of Mrs. O. Bertrand and Helen, later attending the Plainfield W.I. meeting at the home of Mrs. Blanche Emerson, 8th line.

Mrs. Violet Elliott spent Wednesday with Mrs. Wilfred Clare.

Mrs. O. Bertrand was hostess for the W.I. meeting on Wednesday afternoon. It was decided to hold the annual meeting later in December.

The Gilead Women's Missionary Society sponsored a delightful program on Monday evening when their autumn thank offering service was held with Mr. Windsor of Cannifton, presenting his film entitled "Highland and Europe."

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Huffman, Harry and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Martin, and Gail, fourth line, were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman McQuaid, Bloomfield.

Mrs. Gerald Swan spent the ten hour on Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Percy Hall, Plainfield, and in the evening attended Plainfield W.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Denike called at the Leavens home on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Ivan Clare is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. G. Swan, who is under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Duane Martin and Gail were Saturday callers of Mrs. G. Swan.

Miss Audrey Swan was hostess for a BCIVS forum party, including a hay ride and barn dance on Friday evening.

Without air, life stops
. . . for you and for industry

SEEING A CLOUD is probably the nearest we come to 'seeing' the moving air above us, because air is made up of a mixture of invisible gases. These gases, however, can be separated from each other and put to work in a variety of ways.

OXYGEN, the most vital gas, comprises about 21 per cent of the air. We all know how it helps sick people get well, but perhaps do not realize that steel and other major industries could not operate without the same oxygen in tremendous quantities.

NITROGEN comprises about 78 per cent of air. It is used extensively as an inert atmosphere in the steel, chemical, and food industries.

FIVE 'RARE' GASES, argon, krypton, neon, helium, and xenon—make up the remaining one per cent. They are rightfully called rare. For example, there is only one cubic foot of xenon in every ten million cubic feet of air. These gases are essential in making electric lamps and vacuum tubes, in welding processes, and in refining new metals such as titanium.

FOR MANY YEARS, the people of Union Carbide have been taking the air apart and finding new ways in which it can help in making a better life for all of us.

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Russian military might intervened in Hungary to turn the nationalist uprising into a blood bath, but at week's end pockets of Hungarian resistance still defied Soviet tanks and field guns.

In the Middle East, too, Russia poised a threat of intervention. This took the form of recruiting "volunteers" to serve with the Egyptian armed forces.

Britain and France secured the Suez Canal zone in a quick air-borne invasion, then declared a cease-fire and agreed to withdraw their forces once the United Nations police force moves into position. Israel also agreed to pull out of Egypt once the UN takes over.

CANADA'S ROLE

It was on Canada's initiative that the UN adopted the police force plan. A Canadian—General Burns—was chosen to head it. And Canada was first to detailed plans to get its part of the police force started for the Middle East. The Canadian contingent was expected to leave Halifax on or before Nov. 21. Some aboard the Carrier Magnificent.

Ottawa announced Canada's major contribution to the UN force will be the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Calgary. Altogether Canada will provide 1,200 men to the UN group, which will total 5,000 or more.

U.S. ELECTION

American voters gave President Eisenhower a resounding vote of confidence. They sent him back to the White House for another four years with about 35,000,000 votes, against 25,000,000 for Adlai Stevenson. The president carried 41 of the 48 states.

The voters' preference for Eisenhower was not shared by the Republican party generally, however. The Democrats retained their small margin in the Senate and increased their House majority. So, for the first time in a century, a president was elected without carrying his party to control of Congress.

DULLES ILL

At the height of the Middle East crisis, and on the eve of the general election in his own country, the U.S. secretary of state, John Foser Dulles, fell ill with sharp abdominal pains. What was at first thought to be appendicitis turned out to be a cancerous intestine. The diseased section was removed and doctors said the 68-year-old statesman will be back at work in about six weeks.

MINE DISASTER

Sunday is to be an official day of mourning in Nova Scotia for 39 miners who died in the Springhill explosion. The blast trapped 113 men in the shafts. Eighty-eight were rescued, the last group being brought to the pithead Monday 3½ days after the explosion.

On the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution, Soviet embassies around the world staged elaborate parties. In Ottawa, representatives of the Canadian government stayed away, not wishing to exchange toasts while Russian troops were massacring women and children in Hungary.

The Soviets encountered a similar diplomatic boycott in London.

HUNGARIAN AID

While there was nothing much the West could do to help the Hungarian patriots in a military sense, both Canada and the U.S. acted to give preferred treatment to Hungarian refugees wishing to settle on this side of the Atlantic.

More than 11,000 Hungarian refugees now are in Austria. Canada announced they will be eligible for assisted passage as immigrants. In Washington, President Eisenhower ordered "extraordinary measures" to take care of 5,000 of them as U.S. immigrants.

ST. LAURENT LETTER

At the height of the Middle East crisis, Prime Minister St. Laurent sent a secret letter to Sir Anthony Eden. A London report later described it as "the most blistering personal telegram ever passed between two Commonwealth prime ministers."

But Prime Minister St. Laurent said that was ridiculous, that there had never been anything except "friendly, though frank," communications with Eden. When Parliament meets to approve Canada's contribution to the UN police force, the Progressive Conservatives are expected to press for publication of the letter.

Wellington on the Lake

THE MOCKING-BIRD

He sings in the sunlit morning,
A jubilant song of mirth,
Of love and life he is singing,
Of spring and awakening earth;
His song is a musical medley
A score of birding's notes,
A repertoire he has gathered
From singing migrant's throats.

His dress, it is the plainest—
Plumage of dawn-like gray—
His little eye the keenest
As he hops from spray to spray,
Sailing from palm to pine tree
Beneath a southern sky,
His tail a tan-like picture
As he goes flying by.

But oh! like many a singer
Of modest face and form,
It is only when he's singing
That our hearts grow strangely warm,
And we love this glorious songster
Who, beneath an alien sky
Brings back to us the music
We loved in days gone by.

—Helen B. Anderson.

I fancy I hear some reader exclaim, "Why write of this in November?" Please let me explain. I had a caller yesterday, a dear friend and neighbor, who was asked if I would accompany her to Florida this coming winter. And as she spoke of her enjoyable visit there last year, dwelling on the beauty of the place, it all came back to me, the sunshine, the flowers, the birds, the parks and the friendly people. The mocking bird gathers the songs of other birds, hence its name. It was a tempting picture my friend placed before me, a picture of the Sunny South in winter—a contrast to our snow-bound north.

The anniversary services in the United Church on Sunday were well attended; Rev. Capt. Davidson of Picton camp, delivering inspiring sermons.

The November meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of the United Church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Conley with a fine attendance. The president, Mrs. Percy Elliott, was in charge, with Mrs. Tayler taking the devotional. The study book was presented by Mrs. Frank Brimley, and Miss Edith Ward gave a report of the recent convention. A reading was given by Miss Marjorie Blakely. Views of her visit to Hudson Bay were presented by Mrs. Walter Nind and much enjoyed. Plans were made for a supper to be held Saturday night. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Gerow, Fort Hope, was a weekend guest of Mrs. Edna Platt.

Miss Beverley Tait spent the weekend in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton were recent evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Huycke and Mrs. Lela Weeks, Connecon Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Locklin, of Rochester, and Mrs. Day of Brighton, who had visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Norton, of Bloomfield, called on Mr. and Mrs. E. Maybee and Mrs. H. B. Anderson, Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chase, of Whitby, were in Wellington on Saturday and called on Mrs. Christie and Mrs. Dorothy Wright and Mrs. H. B. Anderson. They spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chase of Redberryille.

Miss Mary Lumb and Gladys returned home on Friday after a week's holiday with friends in London.

The Women's Association of Melville United Church held a successful bazaar and tea Thursday afternoon, entertaining the W.A. societies of Burr's, Bowerman's, Hillier, Consecon and Carrying Place. The church was filled to capacity and a fine program was presented by the visitors. Various articles were on sale and a fine tea was served. Among those attending from Wellington were Mrs. W. J. Auborn, Mrs. Ida McFaul and Mrs. W. H. Morton.

Sunday, a memorial service will be held at the park from 10.45 to 11.15.

EGYPT AGREES TO ADMIT UN POLICE FORCE

Red Army Moves To Crush Last Rebel Pockets

Workers Barricade Selves On Island in Danube River

VIENNA (AP) — Russia's huge military machine moved relentlessly today against the last pockets of Hungarian national resistance. Only a gallant last stand to the death remained of Hungary's electrifying bid for freedom.

Other insurgent pockets still held out in the Budapest suburb of Ujpest, in Dunapentele (Stalinvaros), south of the Csepel Island area, and at Pecs, near the Yugoslav border.

Occasional shooting also broke out in Gyor province—especially along the roads leading to Austria—and in the Vac area north of Budapest.

ADMITS RESISTANCE

The Russian premier installed by the Russians, Janos Kadar, admitted in a speech over Budapest Radio that attempts of nationalists still were holding out in cellars by day, emerging by night in larger groups for hit-and-run attacks. But he said he believes "all Budapest remnants of the counter-revolution will be liquidated" in two or three days.

The Russians went about the liquidation systematically. Rows of workers houses were shattered, a children's clinic was wiped out, hospitals were set afire. It seemed not a building in the city escaped the furious shower of Red artillery and shells. To wipe out a single rifleman, the Russians would turn a full barrage of artillery, tank, machine - guns and automatic weapons, and destroy an entire building.

By the best available estimates, 20,000—or perhaps more—Hungarians died in the attempt to break the grip of the Soviet Union and communism on their country. Russian dead were estimated at from 4,000 to 5,000. Thousands of corpses lay in the streets because of the lack of ambulances.

The first flickering taste of victory and freedom for the Hungarians a week ago was snuffed out in crushing defeat in the hands of 13 Russian divisions—an estimated 200,000 men.

The Hungarian resistance had inflicted terrible material damage on the two Russian divisions which had occupied the country. But a large scale Soviet force poured into the country and wreaked what all returning observers called wanton and deliberate destruction in the capital.

While the insurgent holdouts still fought with their backs to the wall, Kadar was expected to have called the deposed Imre Nagy back from whatever limbo the Russians had assigned him in a desperate search for some view to win popular support.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Cold air has thrust southward across Northern Ontario, and will reach the lower Great Lakes late this afternoon. Showers are occurring at the leading edge of the cold air. As temperatures drop below freezing, the showers will change to snowflurries. Clearing will occur late tonight over the provinces and Tuesday will be sunny but cold.

Pope Broadcasts Peace Appeal To All Nations

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Just as he did eight days before the outbreak of the Second World War, the Pope Saturday night broadcast a peace appeal to the world and said that "inequities" in Hungary have been followed by other violence with endangered world peace.

In apparent reference to the military action in Egypt, he said the world was shaken by having witnessed the repetition of a policy which placed arbitrary act and economic interests above human life and moral values.

"Too much blood has been unjustly shed," the Roman Catholic leader said.

The Pope broke off his autumn rest in the Alban Hills to press his crusade for peace just as he did before the war 17 years ago. He had issued three previous pleas for peace in the last two weeks but Saturday's plea was the first of its kind since 1939.

SPED RETURN

The Pope returned to the Vatican Palace from his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo three weeks earlier than usual to deliver the appeal.

He called for a "solid public peace" of nations who would defend their members from any unjust attack on their rights and independence.

The pontiff urged men and women everywhere to free intellectual and to the laborer "of whatever race or country" to "make known to your rulers what are your innermost sentiments and your most ardent aspirations."

He called upon men to tighten ranks in a public peace of governments and peoples in order to return the world to the path of honor and dignity.

$50,000 Fire At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK (CP)—A $50,000 fire today gutted the quarters of Canada's second largest Little Theatre group. It destroyed costumes more than 100 years old, but will not delay the theatre's production of "Dear Brutus" in three weeks.

Fire Chief Gordon Tripp said the blaze started in the adjoining Badminton Club's lounge room, possibly from a smouldering cigarette.

The two-storey theatre premises of cement block construction, adjoined the brick club building, remodelled from the old Chalmers United Church.

SAILING DATE FOR CANADIANS TO BE KNOWN SOON

Carrier Will Take 1,200-Man Contribution

OTTAWA (CP)—Sailing date of Canada's 1,200-man contribution to a United Nations police force for the Middle East may be known within a few days.

Defence Minister Campney and External Affairs Minister Pearson met again Sunday to discuss details of the Canadian contingent's movement. After the meeting Mr. Pearson left by air for New York where the UN General Assembly was to open today.

Officials said they now are only awaiting talks with Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Ottawa, commander of the UN force, to settle details of departure from the Canadian troops will go.

Gen. Burns is expected to arrive soon in New York from the Middle East. Officials said final details could be resolved in a matter of a day or two after he talks with three Canadian senior army officers now waiting for him in New York.

Authorities say the contingent's advance party is ready to move at a moment's notice from Ladner, Don., by RCAF plane.

The 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, chosen as the nucleus of the contingent, is to be flown by the RCAF from Camp Petawawa, Ont., early this week.

The aircraft carrier Magnificent is expected to arrive at Halifax Wednesday, is expected to be ready to sail in seven days or less. She will carry most of the battalion and its equipment to the Middle East.

At London, Ont., about 15 officers and men of the QOR of Canada arrived early Sunday to settle down the 30-man district advance party awaiting orders.

The advance party is made up mostly of personnel from the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment. It includes seven officers from the 4th Battalion Canadian Guard.

An RCAF C-119 Flying Boxcar is at London airport, apparently ready to transport the advance party.

Health Minister To Tour South, Southeast Asia

The RCAF's C-5 luxury airliner left at 8:45 a.m. EST on the first leg of the journey which will end about Dec. 12.

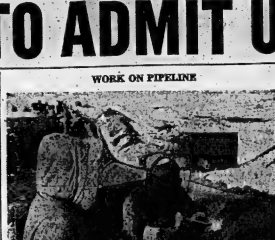
Before his departure Mr. Martin told reporters he will be talking with the Asian leaders to discuss matters of concern to Asia and to Canada. He said he will be able to state whether Canada plans to announce any increases in her Colombo Plan contribution.

Mr. Martin is accompanied by his wife, a number of officials and a small group of reporters on the aircraft which in recent years has carried Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson on separate trips in the Far East.

Glimmer of Hope for Hungarians' Future Is Seen in Latest Reports

LONDON (CP)—Hungary's astonishing resistance against Russian repression may produce some long-term results worthy of the thousands who have died for freedom.

Latest reports reaching London, while stressing the desperate situation of the resistance fighters, also provide a glimmer of hope for the future. There is a feeling the Hungarians cannot and will not be crushed, whatever their losers.



One vivid account of conditions in Hungary today has come from Peter Strasser, a Socialist member of the Austrian Parliament who came back in Vienna Sunday after eight days in Budapest. He says the Russians have dealt vigorously with the Hungarians, but he can't see how they can bring their forces' satellite back into the Soviet fold.

Strasser, a Socialist, says Strasser, is like the "fat which floats on the surface of the soup but cannot mix with it."

Other accounts say the freedom fighters are showing the harrowing conditions in which they have lived and sought, retain a surprisingly high morale. In the words of one unidentified correspondent in a dispatch published in London, they still have "visions of victory."

Communists Poured Into Egypt Before Crisis Say Informants

LONDON (AP)—An official British source says the Soviet bloc built Egypt into a powerful army camp and sent at least 1,000 Communist air crew and technicians in to run things before conflict flared.

The informant estimated Sunday night the worth of Soviet arms in Egypt at £150,000,000.

The Communist technicians went to Egypt, the informant added, along with 50 bombers, at least 100 jet planes, about 300 tanks, two destroyers, four minesweepers, at least one submarine and rocket launchers.

"Some 300 Russians and Czechs made for the Sudan shortly after Anglo-French intervention," the source said. "A number of them appeared to be air crews and mechanics."

What happened to the rest of the 1,000 was not made clear.

As to the 200 men reported to have fled, the report said: "It is not clear whether they were allowed to enter the Sudan."

The Egyptian bomber force was never used, the report said, but added:

"The presence of large quantities of Soviet bloc arms and large numbers of technicians in Egypt provided an opportunity for forming Soviet units in the country and this could have been done very quickly."

The British report emphasized there is no evidence of "Soviet bloc" volunteers going to Egypt since.

The report was made after a series of veiled hints by Prime Minister Eden's spokesman in last week's bitter parliamentary debates that many were behind the British-French invasion than just protecting the Suez Canal.

Over and over again government spokesmen said they could not tell "the full story," though cabinet member Peter Thorneycroft did charge Soviet Russia planned to "take over the Middle East," using Egyptian President Nasser as her instrument.

Military aid amounting to £20,000,000 was reported to have been shipped into Syria by the Soviet bloc at the same time.

The report said the cost of arms sent to Egypt was "considerably more than Egypt can afford to pay for."

"The Soviet union," the source said, "obviously has an objective drawing western influence out of the Middle East so that they might replace it by their own."

Man With Thousand Secrets Goes on Trial in Germany

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) Otto John, West Germany's former intelligence chief who defected to the Communists and then fled back to the West, went on trial for treason today.

The 47-year-old John, sometimes called "the man with a thousand secrets," was brought into the Supreme Court after nearly a year in prison.

The opening day of the trial was devoted largely to reading of the charges against John. With about 100 witnesses to be heard, the trial was expected to last a month.

Since West Germany has no death penalty, life imprisonment is the maximum fate possible for John, accused of baring state secrets and denouncing agents of his intelligence office to the Soviets after he crossed into East Berlin on the night of July 20, 1954. He returned 17 months later with the help of a Danish newspaper correspondent and was promptly arrested and abducted.

HEADED FEDERAL OFFICE

He was head of the federal office for the protection of the constitution, a domestic intelligence agency which spent $2,000,000 a year to combat Communist and neo-Nazi subversive activities.

The biggest question facing the court is what motivated John in his dash across the border. Both prosecution and defence counsel are expected before the trial opened that they are particularly interested in the psychological aspects of the case.

The prosecution contends that he went voluntarily over to the East. John argues he was coerced. Three weeks after he went to East Berlin he announced at a Communist-sponsored press conference that he defected to flight for peace and against a revival of militarism and nazism in West Germany.

Chief judge Heinz Gerhard Schroeder attributed the defection to temporary mental aberration in a report to Parliament shortly before John's return last Dec. 12.

Traffic, Hunting Accidents Kill 37 Canadians

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic and hunting mishaps reported in Canada's 38 weekend fatal deaths during the weekend.

The highway again was the big weekend killer as 32 persons died in car accidents. The Maritime provinces had five of the hunting deaths, with Prince Edward Island accounting for three.

Twelve fatalities, all in traffic, made Quebec's toll the largest. A Canadian Press survey taken from 6 p.m. local time Friday until midnight Sunday showed.

Ontario had seven, all in traffic.

ARSONISTS USE GASOLINE BOMB ON RESIDENCE

Home of Russian Ambassador Fired

OTTAWA (CP)—Arsonists, who struck silently in the night with a Russian-invented weapon — the Molotov cocktail—tried to set fire to the residence of Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin over the weekend.

Police said they have no doubt that a deliberate, planned attempt was made to set fire to the building early Sunday morning. Four bottles filled with gasoline—the renowned Molotov cocktails of Russian origin used in the Second World War—were hurled at a porch at the rear of the dwelling in east central Ottawa.

Two solid members established the fire before much damage was done.

Mr. Chuvahin has used the residence since a fire on New Year's Day levelled the Russian embassy on Charlotte Street. A new embassy on the same site is near completion.

HEARD TWO RUNNING

A neighbor, Claude Henry, 19-year-old Ottawa University student, said he heard running footsteps, followed by a loud explosion on a paved laneway beside his home. Then, he said, his mother, Mrs. D. F. Henry, told him she could see from her kitchen window a fire near the rear of the embassy.

Investigators found the shattered pieces of four bottles and began to study them for fingerprints. Police began a round-the-clock patrol of the area.

The Russian embassy has been a high among many Canadians in the capital. There have been frequent demonstrations, all peaceful.

A celebration at the residence was picketed last Thursday, the anniversary of the 1917 revolution.

8 Persons Die In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eight persons, seven of them children, died today in an early morning fire in a three-storey apartment in Cincinnati's Mt. Auburn section.

At least three persons were injured as they leaped from the burning building.

Fire officials were that the dead included a mother and her five children.

The odor of smoke first was noticed by Miss Ruther Wilkinson, a next door to the apartment where the fire occurred.

She said she heard terrific screams from the next door building." Mrs. Walker said, "I saw children at those children screaming for someone to save them."

Police listed the dead as: Mrs. Edna Dyas, 26, and her five children, John, 10; Beverly, 8; Carolyn; Arlene, 6, and James, 2; and Terry Jane Clark, 5 and Larry Dell Clark, 13 months.

Hammarskjold Will Meet General Burns in Italy

LONDON (CP) — Egypt has agreed to permit entry of the United Nations police force immediately, UN Secretary-General Dag-Hammarskjold announced today. He said the first units, now assembled at a staging area near Naples, Italy, may go in Tuesday.

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, commander of the force, was talking in Cairo with President Nasser when Hammarskjold made his announcement in New York.

The secretary-general said he intends to leave by plane Tuesday for Cairo to discuss details with the Egyptian government and also will inspect the Italian staging area, now occupied by units from Denmark, Norway and Colombia totalling about 200 troops.

IMPORTANT TALKS

The Cairo talks of Gen. Burns and Hammarskjold may determine whether the shaky cease-fire between the Egyptians and troops of Britain, France and Israel can be made permanent.

Eventually troops of 16 nations are to be represented in the police force from which all of the Big Four powers are barred. A 19th Burma, withdrew today its offer to contribute. The Rangoon government said it had received no response to its offer.

The Egyptians had made clear respect for their sovereignty was among essential conditions for the mission of the police. They have also sought assurances that the British-French and Israeli forces will withdraw immediately from the territory they overran in the hostilities that broke out two weeks ago and that the police will be based in Egypt only temporarily.

At Gen. Burns flew into Cairo from Israel, the effects of last week's British-French landing in the Suez Canal zone continued to reverberate around the world.

Both Russia and Communist China issued new threats to send "volunteers" to help Egypt. And at Beirut the heads of five Arab states met in a secret session to discuss the whole Middle East situation.

Reports said the leaders of Iraq, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia will discuss not only the British-French military action but the threat posed by the rapid growth of Communist influence in the area.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Nehru met with the prime ministers of Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon to discuss both the Middle East and Russian repression in Hungary.

The biggest single snag to the entrance of the UN police force into Egypt appeared to be the question of where they would be stationed.

DIFFERING VIEWS

Britain and France made clear in halting their bombing that they considered UN forces to take up posts in the canal zone. Egypt apparently expects the UN troops to be stationed along the Israeli-Egyptian border, from which the Israelis launched their own attack into Egypt.

Cairo radio quoted Col. Abdel Kaber Hatem, chief of the Egyptian information department, as saying Egypt has received guarantees that the police force will not infringe on Egyptian sovereignty. There was no immediate elaboration.

The Israel-Egyptian border, too, there were major problems. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion has not yet agreed to pull his conquering forces out of the Gaza Strip, though Egypt had occupied since 1948. Meir Argov, chairman of Israel's parliamentary security and foreign affairs committee, said flatly that the strip would remain part of Israel.

The legal status of the strip is still in dispute, and this is one of the problems Gen. Burns has brought to mind in his continuing discussions with both Nasser and Ben-Gurion.

Russia Accepts Swiss Proposal For Summit Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government Sunday accepted Switzerland's proposal that the Big Four powers and India hold a "summit" meeting to avert danger of a third world war.

Moscow radio said Premier Nikolai Bulganin sent a message to the Swiss government saying it "always is willing to settle outstanding problems peacefully."

President Eisenhower rejected the Swiss proposal Saturday because the problems threatening world peace now are before the United Nations and he believes they should be settled there.

Prime Minister Nehru promptly accepted the Swiss invitation of Nov. 1 for India; the French expressed interest; and Prime Minister Eden has declared himself ready to "go anywhere and meet anybody" to help deal with problems besetting Europe and the Middle East.

Moscow's acceptance that the police force will not infringe on Egyptian sovereignty. There was no immediate elaboration.

The Israel-Egyptian border, too, there were major problems. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion has not yet agreed to pull his conquering forces out of the Gaza Strip, though Egypt had occupied since 1948. Meir Argov, chairman of Israel's parliamentary security and foreign affairs committee, said flatly that the strip would remain part of Israel.

London Hears Reports Churchill To Quit Commons on 82nd Birthday

LONDON (Reuters) — Reports are current here that Sir Winston Churchill will retire from the House of Commons on his 82nd birthday Nov. 30.

It is done, political quarters regard it as certain that Queen Elizabeth will again offer the veteran statesman a dukedom, which would carry with it a seat in the House of Lords.

After a series of lengthy vacations in the south of France, Churchill has recently resumed almost regular attendance in the Commons. He has been a faithful supporter of his protege and successor, Sir Anthony Eden, in the latter's recent troubles over Middle East crisis.

He is reported physically fit and appears healthy, though his walk is shakier than of old. He spent some days in bed with a cold during his last visit on the Riviera.

Churchill resisted the idea of titles of any kind for many years. It was only at the desire of the late King George VI that the Knighthood of the Order of the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry.

BANCROFT (Special) — Fire destroyed the home of Fraser Mountenay, one mile north of here, late Friday afternoon. Mr. Mountenay's furniture was removed before it too was destroyed but he lost his other possessions.

NEED FOR CLOTHING FOR RELATIVES OF VICTIMS GREAT

The need for clothing for the relatives and friends of the mine disaster victims at Springhill, Nova Scotia, is very urgent and two women in the city, who know most of those left in the lurch, are trying desperately to get the needed clothing to their relatives. Mrs. Scully at WO 8-7812 will be pleased to accept any clothing and will make arrangements to have the clothing delivered to her home from where it will be sent to Springhill.

Thurlow Twp. Residents Honor Dead of 2 Wars

The heroic dead of two world wars were honored by residents of Thurlow township Sunday morning as a large crowd gathered at the Cenotaph at Canifton for Remembrance Day Service.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. J. Marcus, Canadian Unitited Church, assisted by student minister Mr. Hadscon of Queen's University. Also taking part in the service were Thurlow Reeve C. B. Ketcheson and Earl Dafoe, township clerk.

The large crowd joined in singing such hymns as "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Abide With Me". Carman Dafoe rendered a solo. Two minutes silence and a prayer of remembrance were followed by the silvery bugle notes of "Last Post" and "Reveille."

Wreaths were placed at the Cenotaph by the Parkdale Veterans' Association; Trenton Auxiliary No. 219 U. C. L. G. W. U. - A. F. of L.; Boy Scouts; Canada School District Board; Canada Cement Company Ltd.; Province of Ontario; Canifton — Corbyville Boy Scouts, Leader S. Kerr; and 1st Carmel Girl Guides Troop, leader Mrs. Harold Howes.

ANAF Veterans Honor Comrades At Banquet

Members of the Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in Canada, Branch 201 paid tribute to the memory of fallen comrades at a Remembrance Day banquet held in the association's spacious Front Street auditorium Saturday evening.

Special guests included Lieut.-Colonel Everett S. Fairman, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Rev. Everett Smith, Christ Church, and Captain C. Ivany of the Salvation Army.

The guest speaker was Orliff "Bailie" Lloyd, who reviewed the history of Belleville from the days of the first settler, and the Indians.

Mr. Lloyd gave a fine address. He spent some three months doing research work on his theme and brought to light many informative details of the city, its activities and growth from the sprawling village days to its present proud status.

DELIGHTFUL HUMOR

He interspersed his remarks with some delightful humour touching on the funnier side of life as it was in the early days. He recalled the gradual growth, both industrial and the silhouettes of the city and gave an excellent outline on the old families whose descendants still reside in the city and district.

President Ken Edgecombe extended the association's official welcome to the members and guests. The invocation was pronounced by Captain Ivany. Post Chaplain Percy Drury introduced the guests and vice-president R. G. Burns proposed the toast to the forces. This was responded to by Col. Fairman. The toast to Her Majesty the Queen was proposed by Past President Bill Ford.

In a prelude to the observance of "Remembrance" Mr. Smith said "These moments of recollection are brief indeed to equip us better to face the requirements of the present and the near of approximity, that we may have hope and inspiration and courage to carry out the tasks handed to us by those who died that we might live.

"Each one of us," he said, "should dedicate himself to a fuller and more unselfish service to God and his fellowman."

"WE PAY SALUTE"

"And let us thank Him with all our hearts for the memory of these choice souls who were strong and courageous and who give their all for the hope of a better world. In proud valiant memory we pay them our salute".

He recalled the biblical story of David who stood with his troops before the Philistines and murmured he would like to drink water from the well of Bethlehem. Three of his stalwarts heard his cry and broke through the enemy lines to get the water. But David refused to drink saying it was the blood of the men who went in jeopardy of their lives.

"Here" he said, "we have a drama of gallant and unselfish service ending in an act of renunciation which speaks to us of deep and true gratitude. It is a story we might well keep in our minds."

The lights were lowered and the vacant chair with its white cross stood out. The veterans observed the memorial silence and later "Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded.

The guest speaker was introduced by Comrade J. H. Wells and the benediction pronounced by Captain Ivany.

OLD MERCHANTS

The word "sterling" comes from the easterlings, British merchants of the 13th century.

Veterans, Cadets and Civilians Honor War Dead at Cenotaph

Nearly 800 veterans of two wars and a cross section of city and district life paid impressive tribute to the war dead in Remembrance Day ceremonies yesterday.

Veterans, members of the armed forces, cadets and civilian organizations paraded to the Station Street Cenotaph where a memorial service was held and wreaths deposited to the memory of the fallen.

Headed by the band of No. 6 Repair Depot, RCAF, Trenton, the parade moved off from the Bridge Street Armouries under the command of Parade Marshal Major Angus Duffy of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

The Rev. Earl Sims, chaplain of Canadian Legion Branch 99, was in charge of the service at the cenotaph. Captain C. Ivany of the Salvation Army assisted. The Salvation Army provided the music for the service hymns.

Mayor Jane Forrester represented the city council and Alderman Ben Safe and Frank Grandage depolited the city's wreath. Police followed representated the Dominion Government and Provincial Government. Mrs. Thomas Harris deposited the official tribute.

Mrs. J. Kelleher, Lady Gunner and Mrs. Ernest Kelleher, killed in action in Germany and Belgium, represented the Province of Ontario. She was escorted by Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. and Warden Liddle, of the Canadian Legion.

Mrs. R. Cunningham of the Hasty Pees represented the Army with Lieut. Arthur Taylor and Sergt. Bert Gunner. The RCAF wreath was deposited by Squadron Leader Pat Quigley, RCAF officer escort.

Padre of the Canadian Legion and the ANAF were deposited by Legion Zone Commander William Thomas and R. Cunningham of the Hasty Pees.

The band of the Salvation Army played a brief number then followed the National Anthem.

The parade marched to the armouries over the original route down Station, along Front to Bridge street, where it was dismissed by Major Duffy. Lieut.-Col. Fairman spoke briefly prior to the dismissal.

Rifles, Revolvers Valued at $400 Taken From Shop

Provincial police are investigating a Saturday night theft at the Jack Kelly Sports Shop on Foxboro road in the eastern section of the city which saw rifles and revolvers valued at about $400 stolen.

The theft took place some time between midnight Saturday night and eight o'clock Sunday morning.

Police said entry to the premises had been gained by breaking a chunk out of the glass in a rear window at the front of the store. Here intruders, including seven high-power models and two .22's, and three revolvers were included in the loot. After picking up the guns the intruders were believed to have left the store by the same route they entered — through the front window.

Curling Meeting At City Hall

Despite many setbacks it is more than likely that final plans will be formulated for a new curling rink tonight at the City Hall, when the members assemble to hear reports from their directorate. Individual invitations have been sent out to every member of the club to make an extra effort to be on hand for the discussion period that will follow the reports that will be given.

In the meantime extra effort is being made to increase the membership of the club to the required three hundred. At the present time there are over two hundred paid memberships not counting the women, who are eager to start their own association in connection with the Curling Club. If plans can be finalized tonight, there is a possibility that work will be started on the new rink within the next ten days and with a fair break in the weather, the rink could be ready for curling the first part of the New Year. This would give the club members a chance to be acclimatized and the older members a chance to get in a couple of months at their favorite pastime.

The directors of the club are to be congratulated for their interest and drive in this matter and it is to be hoped a strong representation of the members will be out for the meeting to back up the decisions they have made.

Police Blotter

Young boys shooting at birds in the Dundas St. West, and James Street area on R.R. 2, had their rifle confiscated by city police over the weekend. The property was lodged by a district resident who feared someone might be injured by flying pellets.

City police arrested Kenneth Hill, 112 Front street, on two Dominion Stores charges of theft.

Sunday afternoon a two-car collision at the corner of Coleman and North Front street caused $250 damage. William George Reagan, 18, of Canifton was leaving a corner service station, when his vehicle struck a stationary car driven by Lallian E. Clarke of Toronto. Police said Reagan would be charged with careless driving.

Sunday evening on the Foxboro road just south of the city limits a car driven by William E. Elliott of West Huntingdon was reported to have rolled on its side. No one was injured.

Also over the weekend, on the 5th concession of Sidney township three cows owned by Frankford, two Holstein cows were killed and two were injured, when the herd was struck by a car driven by Lorne Janks; R.R. 2 Belleville.

The cows were owned by Frank Phillips, R.R. 3 Frankford.

Belleville Comedy Artists Entertains Vets

Earle Vandervoort; Chuck Collins; Bill Saltar and Hans Amyott, four young comedy artists, known as the "Mad Hatters", journeyed to Kingston on Saturday to present a show to some 1,000 Kingston and district vets, with skits, pantomime, and songs, which brought back memories to the boys who had served their country in the 1st and 2nd Great Wars.

Novelty numbers included a Prudence and Patience version of "Twilight You Belong To Me," by Earle and Chuck, and "Glendora," by Earle and Hans.

The group was assisted by Happy Humphreys on the piano, and Ken Adams on tenor sax.

Season's Hay And Grain Crop Lost in Blaze

WEST HUNTINGDON (Special) Fire of undetermined origin early Saturday morning destroyed the frame barn of Roy Mitts, 6th concession of Huntingdon township. The season's hay and grain was stored in the barn but livestock in the barn was saved.

The barn was owned by Mitts and was insured for $1,500.

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and saved other farm buildings. The building and crop was partially covered by insurance.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Poles, Crashes Into Fence

George McInnes, 25, of Corunna, near Sarnia, escaped with a cut on the head and a shaking up Sunday morning, when the car he was driving went out of control on a bend in the Plainfield, knocked over a hydro and telephone pole and then slammed into a fence and tree.

He was taken to Belleville General Hospital for treatment.

Mr. McInnes, with two passengers, was southbound on No. 37 highway when at the curve at the north end of Plainfield village, he braked his car and then emergentally stepped on the gas. The car smashed of the hydro pole then went 75 feet and demolished the telephone pole, and then travelled another 125 feet before going into the fence and tree. The car was badly damaged. Provincial Constable G. McNutt investigated.

Yeggs Blast Campbellford Safe Escape With $5,000 in Cash, Cheques

CAMPBELLFORD — Using nitroglycerine to blast open the 1,000-pound safe, safe-crackers Sunday night escaped with about $5,000 in cash and cheques from the Campbellford I.O.A. Foodliner on Doxsee Street, south.

Police said that the cheques were stamped for deposit and were non-negotiable.

The breaking-in was believed to have taken place about five o'clock this morning, a neighbor reporting hearing a dull explosion about this time. A passing milkman, who noticed broken windows, turned in the alarm at seven o'clock.

Entry to the store was made through the front door. Then two holes were drilled beside the safe combination and the charge of nitro exploded with about six feet of wire and small dry batteries.

Police said the safe was wrecked and the store office was made a shambles. Two four-foot square plate glass windows in the office were broken by the force of the explosion.

Campbellford police chief Sam Baird is investigating, assisted by provincial police.

IN MEMORIAM

ARMITAGE. — In loving and affectionate memory of Mrs. Dorothy Armitage, who died on this day, November 13th, 1943, at the age of 39 years.

Sweet is the memory of those we have left,
Of her who loved dearly and shall never forget.
Her life was short and happy face,
A broken smile was seen nowhere,
But in the heart of those who knew her,
So sadly on earth the sorrow left,
Memory remains with those left behind.

Death leaves a heartache nothing can cure,
Ever remembered lovingly and sadly by her husband and family.

Bowmanville Man Sweeps Board in Apple Judging

TORONTO (CP) — Wilfrid D. Carruthers of Bowmanville, Ont., nearly swept the board of prizes in apple judging announced by Royal Winter Fair officials during the weekend.

He won the Canadian Horticultural Council Diploma and the Niagara Peninsula Company Ltd., trophy for the outstanding exhibit of McIntosh apples.

He also won a sweepstakes prize, seven firsts, four seconds and a third for his entries of Delicious, Spy sports, McIntosh and Northern Spy.

Judges awarded four trophies and three grand championships to horse owners in the breeding horses division. Winners included:

Gilbert E. Arnold of Granville, Que., grand champion Percheron mare; Hardy E. Salter of Calgary, the Archie Haas Memorial Trophy for Percherons and the grand champion Percheron stallion.

Douglas C. Wilkieson of Middleport, Ont., won the Watson Challenge Shield for Clydesdales.

BUY PRIZE SHEEP

Sheep buyers, including some from the United States, Colombia and Cuba Saturday paid nearly $10,000 for 70 top sheep in the Royal.

Top price of $450 was paid for the reserve grand champion Suffolk ewe by R. Shoulton of Medicine Hat, Alta.

The Royal's sheep shearing contest was won by a Manitoba man, Lloyd Hatch of Oak Lake. He competed with about 100 others.

Champions and reserves were announced in Hampshire, Shropshire, Suffolk, Dorset Horn, North Country Cheviot and fleece wool sheep categories. They included:

Champion and reserve Hampshire ram—R. B. Glaspell, Bowmanville, Ont.

Champion Hampshire ewe—Lloyd Ayre, Bowmanville.

Reserve—R. B. Glaspell, Bowmanville.

Champion Shropshire ram—F. W. Gurney, Paris, Ont.

Reserve—George S. Brien and Son, Ridgetown, Ont.

Champion and reserve Shropshire ewes—S. Brien and Son, Ridgetown.

Domestic eastern and western fleece wool champion—T.C. Glaspell and Son, Oshawa.

Reserve—M. M. Lee and Son, Highgate, Ont.

Grand champion fleece wool sheep—T. C. Glaspell and Son.

Color, Sound Film Shows Suffering In Leper Colony

It has been said, "one picture is worth a 1,000 words". If that be true, then the unforgettable color, sound-motion film "Prescription for Africa," or "Salvation Through Medicine," which was shown last evening at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, will be of inestimable value to the large congregation which had the privilege of viewing it.

Dr. Harold McMillan, missionary pharmacist of the Sudan Interior Mission in Jos, Nigeria, British West Africa, and Mrs. McMillan are on furlough after eight years in Nigeria, where they have been engaged in bringing healing and alleviation of pain to leprosy-ridden bodies and spiritual healing to sin-sick souls.

The most people in the western world, leprosy has been but a name; a dreaded name; but to millions today, Friday's moon rate 96 11-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.69⅝, up ⅛.

Dr. and Mrs. McMillan are on a mission of love, a mission of mercy, a mission of healing and salvation to the lepers of the world.

The most people in the western world, leprosy has been but a name; a dreaded name; but to millions today, the loss of fingers and mouth; limbs eaten by ulcers. It was an unbearable curse, an incentive to do something practical for these sufferers and assist the missionaries in their labor of love.

10 MILLION LEPERS IN WORLD

In the world today there are approximately 10,000,000 lepers; the majority in the eastern countries, with Africa predominating, and to help these poor unfortunates a dispensary has been erected where medicine, ointments, and healing lotions, under the direction of Mr. McMillan, are prepared with meticulous care, as well as clinics where the sick and maimed are given tender treatment, and their sores attended, and in so doing the Gospel is read, bringing healing to the soul as well. In several cases, those whose bodies have been healed and their souls cleansed, are employed in the preparation of medical compounds, which they perform deftly and conscientiously. The drug Dapsone and the sulpha drugs were having a beneficial effect on the disease. Leprosy may be cured, if taken in the early stages and is but mildly contagious; due to minute organisms from climate, but the greatest cause is the dreadful dirt and dirt, and utter lack of sanitation.

Children born of leprous mother are not contaminated, and are taken from the mother after birth

MAGGIE ANSWERS CALL TO MID-EAST DUTY

Canada's giant aircraft carrier, HMCS Magnificent, will be a mobile home for the First Battalion Queen's Own Rifles, Canada's contribution to the Middle East U.N. police force. Canada's only operating aircraft carrier, it is equipped with Sea Fury and Firefly fighter-bomber reconaissance planes. Since her christening in Belfast in 1948, the Maggie has toured the world on many training cruises. Members of the Queen's Own, now stationed at Calgary, are preparing to leave soon for Egypt. Severely Beaten, Robbed by Three Thugs in Home

TORONTO (CP) — A suburban Scarborough businessman was severely beaten Saturday night by three thugs who ransacked his house, stealing thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, fur coats and cash.

John Craig, 53, owner of several Toronto properties and Duffy's Tavern in Hamilton, required 56 stitches to close a wound in his head caused by a pistol whipping.

Mrs. Fanny Cragg, 75, Cragg's mother, also was rousted up by the mob. She and Cragg were repeatedly threatened with death.

Police said blood was spattered on the four walls of the living room. Cragg and his mother were bound with neckties. Mrs. Cragg managed to free her legs and go for help when the thieves left. Cragg offered a $2,000 reward for the capture of the robbers.

and kept till the mother is healed.

For ease and speed in carrying the healing drugs to outlying districts, there are three planes, and one truck, which connect with the leper hospital.

Aside from the healing clinics, and the manufacture and compounding of the medicinal drugs, there ie much secretarial work as well, which needs efficient, and trusted workers, all of whom working together in this great cause are bringing, through the medium of medicine, Christ to these suffering Africans.

GLIMMER OF HOPE

To balance the slender optimism of these reports, there are other eyewitness accounts underlining the horror of the Hungarian ordeal. Ivor Jones, a BBC correspondent who was in Budapest for a week, says one of the "grimmest facts is that the hated Hungarian secret police—the AVH—is beginning to reappear.

Jones says the bright blue raincoats of the police, foreshadowing severe reprisals, are seen increasingly in Hungary, always with some Russian soldiers as protection. The secret police are said to have used methods as bad as, or perhaps worse than, those favored by Hitler's Gestapo. Earlier, Western correspondents in Budapest were shown the underground torture chambers used by the police.

British editorial comment, reflecting the blend of anguish and indignation felt by most of the civilized world at events in Hungary, includes these main points:

1. The revolution has killed stone dead the "Soviet myth," the idea that Russian communism applied to other countries has any real popular support. The left-wing New Statesman and Nation, sometimes accused of taking too lenient a view on communism, says the "criminal act" of the Soviets in Hungary is an indication of "moral weakness and political failure."

2. The uprising has great diplomatic implication. For the first time since the Second World War, Eastern Europe is in upheaval, and there is a chance for Western diplomacy to loosen the suffocating Russian bear-hug on the satellites.

Hungarian Leader Escapes Russians

VIENNA (Reuters) — Maj.-Gen. Pal Maleter, one of the Hungarian leaders arrested by the Russians, has escaped and joined the Hungarian insurgents, according to refugees reaching here.

The refugees said that Maleter, defence minister in the Nagy government deposed by the Russians, was imprisoned by the Russians for six days.

Nagy and that after his escape Saturday he went into hiding with one of the guerrilla bands still holding out in Hungary.

Quinte Bows Out of COSSA Picture Loses Sudden-Death to Peterborough

By ALLAN SILLS

Quinte Secondary school bowed out of the COSSA Junior "A" playdowns following a 31-11 defeat at the hands of Saint Peter's High school of Peterborough, Saturday.

Right from the kickoff, Peterborough advanced 75 yards on a series of off tackle plays with Frank Feeley plunging over from the right.

Quinte gained 70 yards on a pass interception and a pass play. A few plays later, following a teriference penalty Saint Peter's advanced 34 yards for their second major with Clare Fitzgerald racing around the end from the five. Both touchdowns were unconverted.

Quinte came to life in the second quarter but a number of fumbles marred the quarter so that neither team scored.

With a 10-0 lead going into the third quarter, Peterborough struck farther in front with Frank Feeley scoring his second major on an eight yard plunge. Once again the Petes failed in their conversion.

Quinte started a substantial drive only to have the "Saints" Bob Allen intercept a pass and out race the Quinte outfit for Saint Peter's fourth touchdown. Bill Meagher converted.

Later in the quarter a disorganized Quinte team lost possession of the ball on the 20, following a bad pass from centre. Once again the Saints supported a powerful drive to the one. Frank Feeley carried over from here for his third touchdown of the game.

Early in the fourth quarter, Peterborough scored their last touchdown on a Feeley pass interception and Bill Meagher smashed over from the six. The convert was missed.

Quinte suddenly came to life as Seymour gathered in the kickoff and following outstanding blocking broke into the clear for a 75 yard touchdown run.

Don Masters kept the Blue and Grey in the game as he intercepted a Saints' pass returning it to Pete's 20. Three times Quinte plunged to Peterborough's doorstep but were unable to score.

Quinte finished the scoring as the "Saints" quarterback fumbled in the end game and Ron Galpin came up with the ball. Bob Garrison converted.

The Peterborough team displayed a skillful and powerful ground attack with a heavy backfield consisting of Feeley, Fitzgerald, Meagher, DeCarlo and Chimenti.

Cox, Aquino, Chard and Gerow did well on defence for Quinte while Kerrulah, Locke, and Chard came up with a fine offensive display.

A great deal of credit goes to coach Jack Smith because without his leadership and skillful coaching the squad would probably not have achieved what they did. For three consecutive years he has been in COSSA playdowns, losing his first this year.

The Price of Money...

More drastic changes in the levels of interest rates have taken place in the past three months than in any comparable period for several years. The most important factor that has brought about these changes can best be described as "the price of money."

Money, just like other goods and services, has its price and when the demand for money places a strain on the supply it naturally follows that the price rises. This is the position at the present time, for the recent accelerated programme of business expansion in Canada has exerted such a heavy demand on the supply of funds available for this purpose that the price of money is higher now than for many years. This higher money price means higher interest rates.

With few exceptions there has not been a time during the past twenty years when it has been possible to purchase government, municipal and corporation bonds and debentures to give as attractive a return as can now be obtained. This is a time when all investors might well review their cash positions with a view to obtaining the benefit of these higher interest rates. This is a time when experience can help you in making investment selections suitable to your personal requirements.

In our organization we have experienced people who will be glad to help. You will be welcome in any of our offices.

FROM PRESLEY TO WORSE

It is too bad that anybody like Elvis Presley had to be born.

If the reader takes this to mean that we are no admirer of Mr. Presley he will be right; but if he regards this lack of admiration for Mr. Presley as the sole reason for deploring his birth he is wrong.

For every action, we are told, there is a reaction.

Mr. Presley is bad enough, but the reactions to Mr. Presley are worse.

This criticism is not prompted by any rockings or rollings by the admirers of Mr. Presley.

Rather it is the result of head-shakings and finger-pointings by a group of his critics.

Over in Syracuse, N.Y., a group of women have circulated a petition demanding that Mr. Presley be banned from television.

Note that the women do not suggest that the television networks would please more people by substituting some other performer for Mr. Presley. They do not even suggest that such a substitution be made. They demand that he be banned.

This would be silly enough if the demand was made by a group of private citizens. Unfortunately the petition has been signed by a number of law enforcement officials.

Having heard Mr. Presley's alleged songs and witnessed his twitchings, we failed to note anything which would drive anybody to anything worse than drink. The petitioners, on the other hand, could drive one to loathsomeness. We wish they would keep to mind their own business and let the television networks decide whom they want to pay for performing and the television audience to decide what it wants to watch.

MISINTERPRETATION

The other day, while talking about the interpretation system in use at the United Nations, we mentioned the possibility of misunderstandings arising owing to differences in languages and observed that this possibility was made all the more obvious by the difficulty which any one of us would have in accurately paraphrasing a speech in English, using the same words.

Now we have come across what seems to be a striking illustration of the ease with which what appear to be absolutely straightforward, plain-talking, English sentences can convey different meanings to different persons.

James S. Duncan, new chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, addressed a meeting visited Russia. In a speech he said: "Here we enjoy the fruits of civilization, while the Russian people haven't got anything. But they are the ones who are willing to go out in a spirit of self-sacrifice, and are also willing to inject other peoples with the same spirit. It seems to me we should be the ones."

This statement annoyed Harold Weir, a columnist for the Vancouver Sun. He is not soft-spoken about it, either.

"One of the first articles of faith in our Canadian national catechism," he writes, "is that every man who has made a pot of money automatically sprouts a tripod from his buttocks so he can squat down anywhere at any time and utter Delphic platitudes upon any public-spirited subject.

"If this article of faith were not firmly and tragically established in this country, no one would have bothered to report and print the ruminations of one James S. Duncan, retired president of Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd., upon the excellencies of the Russian people."

What made Mr. Weir so annoyed?

Well, he maintained that Mr. Duncan's sentences, as quoted above, "clearly implied that Canadians are living on the avails of a prosperity they haven't earned."

"This country's rich precisely because of a fortuitous thing nor the gift of big-hearted tycoons," he declared, "but the fruit of back-breaking labor and faith on the part of generations of settlers."

In other words, Mr. Weir maintains that the Canadian prosperity is the result of self-sacrifice.

And so it is. But self-sacrifice by whom? Not by the present generation by the pioneers. We don't think for one moment that Mr. Duncan does not realize this and we fail to see how this realization invalidates the principle, that Canadians today are reluctant to make sacrifices.

Mr. Weir's second quarrel with Mr. Duncan is "the second implication that the Russian people are attempting to proselytize the world out of sheer benevolence." He finds this implication in the phrases "go out in the spirit of self-sacrifice" and "inject other peoples with the same spirit." On the other hand, these same phrases by no means mean that Mr. Duncan believes the Russian people "go out" to work in their own country "in the spirit of self-sacrifice" or that many people want to indulge in true and that they inject this same willingness to sacrifice into other Communists in other lands. We find no suggestion in Mr. Duncan's quoted sentences that this is done in a spirit of sheer benevolence.

With what we think Mr. Duncan meant, we have to agree. With what Mr. Weir thinks Mr. Duncan meant, we have to disagree. We suspect that Mr. Duncan would join Mr. Weir and us in disagreeing with what Mr. Weir says he said—if he had actually said it.

The world is full of controversies enough without this type of misinterpretation.

BUNK

The man who says: "How well you look!"
I sometimes think is kidding me.
I can doubt the man who cries: "Well, you I'm really glad to see."

No, I think the man tells me I'm his favorite

Where the man who says: think you work too

Comes in with words that he has to sell.
All sorts of ways

The little nice things people tell.
I've little time for pleasantries By word of mouth or postal card;
But I am sure the man is right Who tells me that I work too hard.

Of all the bunk that floats about—
And there is plenty of it, too,
I must admit there is a line
I fall for just the same as you
One gag will get me every time;
I take it by the foot or yard.
I really like it when I'm told That some one thinks I work too hard.

A Strange, Proud Breed

By Kingsley Brown in the Hamilton Spectator

It's a sad thought that it takes a mining disaster of the kind that struck the Nova Scotia coalmining town of Springhill the other day to make people pause and ponder a little on the courage, proud, comradely bread of men who work in the dangerous coal mines. The news report that described scene of the rescued miners in the hospital ward, hailing each other for the privilege of returning to the tital shaft to seek still other victims is as good a measure as any of the style and stoutness of the Nova Scotia miner.

There is perhaps no man in all the world just like the Nova Scotia coalminer; not even coalminers in the Rhondda Valley of South Wales, nor in Lancashire or Pennsylvania. The Nova Scotia coalminer is a strange breed. Mostly descendants of Covenanters from Scotland and Highland crew of the good ship Hector their ranks have been leavened by Central European exiles, the immigration of the early "twenties, by Germans brought in to exploit Nova Scotian coal with Belgian capital at about the same time, and shake up a tight little community of their own. In this respect they are very much like the Nova Scotia fisherman. They fully trust only those found within the ranks of the coal-miners. Others may be good friends or pleasant acquaintances, but they can never truly belong."

At no time does the miner stick faster to his own kind than in times of adversity. This applies to those losing a mine disaster such as those witnessed in Springhill in October, 1891, the painfully economic suffering experienced during the 'twenties and 'thirties, and the day-to-day effect, and this deep-seated urge to stick together when threatened even by repeated governmental recommendations that at least some of the miners get out of the colliery towns and find something else to do.

There was nothing else they wanted to do. They were miners by the love of it, by habit, by good wages, nor the danger, nor the barren ugliness of their pithead communities could induce them to seek a better-life.

* * *

We can always remember the advice given one night by a colliery-owning Conservative politician, after a pay-night crowd of miners had become their normally loyal supporters.

"Be quiet then," he chided, "they farm, but they're miners."

But they couldn't buy farm, and get pig and live quietly. Their fathers, like Mr. Ian Johnstander, Angus L. Macdonald, became premier of Nova Scotia in 1933, by virtue of the fact that he transplant as many miners as possible to the political arena. It was a noble experiment that went under the proud name of the Miners' Progressive Party. miners, mostly at the instigation of their wives, left the pits and left their wretched company houses—in Glace Bay and New Waterford—to go to the Labor Board land in the Margaree Valley around lovely Lousburg and Boularderie.

Most of them were "back at the pits" in Cape Breton in a matter of months. Not for them the green spaces of the Cape Breton glens and the gentle sweep of tilled fields running down to the Atlantic coast. Not for them the contented grunt of pigs and the evening lowing of the cows coming home to be milked. They yearned for the companionship of the pithead, the locker-room, for the daily adventure of crowding together with their fellows in trade "cages" that dropped swiftly thousands of feet into the earth, for the flashing blast of the "shot" at the coal face, and the echoing rumble of the loaded cars.

They longed again, too, for the flesh-pots of a miner's Saturday nights. There was shooting and bantering in the bootleg joints, and the sticky black Demarara rum flashed over the poker cards. There were fights in the streets, and few Cape Breton policemen would care to interfere with the acknowledged right of a miner to beat his friend to a pulp in a roaring fair fight. Tough, rough and tumble, but with good ones. They fought not with strangers, only among themselves, and they were back without signs of rancor.

They were the despair of the social service agencies. Nothing militated against the success of annual Community Chest campaigns in more sober and conservative places like Halifax that the suggestion that some of the money might get to Glace Bay. "They'll drink it all up," they warned. "You can't help those people."

Perhaps they were the kind of people who didn't want to be helped. Perhaps they'd rather help themselves. The average Cape Breton miner hated charity and social workers. But he fought for his miners' union with a devotion and militancy that was frequently nothing less than incredible. Under provocation, and often in those early years provocation was unbearably sharp, they would go to back-breaking picketing the Glace Bay town hall and running the Red Flag to the masthead.

Yet these were the same men who, when the coal market and depression found grain farmers in the West hungry and impoverished, could take no responsibilities among themselves for their own well, rightly or wrongly, were worse off than themselves.

But if one characteristic more than another stamps the Nova Scotia miner it is his strong sense of fraternity with his fellow miner, his willingness to help and over again has sent miners into gas-filled disaster holes to help and often to their death in the fight to save a brother.

There's not a little logic in it we can never forget. Several miners were killed in a minor disaster back in the early 'thirties. All of them except one was of the Roman Catholic faith. When it came to the question of burial the family of the Protestant miner made a request, not unlike the one we know Nova Scotia miners.

"We want him buried in the Catholic graveyard," they said. "He'd like to be with his buddies."

Hard to Make Fish-Eaters

OTTAWA CITIZEN

Speaking on behalf of the federal government at a Fisheries Council of Canada luncheon in connection with National Fish week, Mr. J. W. Pickersgill indicated that persuading people to eat more of these high protein products isn't as simple as it sounds. Consumers, as he pointed out, are one of the major producers of fish marketing problems in the world, yet are far from being among the top consumers of fish. Only 10 per cent of Canada's total annual per capita basis.

Mr. Pickersgill put the problem on an entirely new basis when he spoke of such matters as cooking smells and bones. The smell of these drawbacks to fish especially pronounced in an apartment where they linger for several weeks after the meal has been eaten.

In the fish stick would appear to lie the answer, at least in part. It it appears that this boneless and relatively smellless creation of modern food has a appreciable difference to the consumption of fisheries products in Canada. A reasonable deduction is that the delicacy is being chiefly savored by families who were not addicted to fish.

Yet the promoters of fish shouldn't feel too discouraged. They have the nutritionists on their side, to an extent that must arouse the envy of producers of some other staple foods in these days of calorie counting.

ACROSS OUR PATHWAYS

The word "devil" comes from a Greek word which means literally "to throw across." A devil is a slanderer, a person who who throws something across — a lie across someone's fair name, a difficulty before the feet of a leading who may, and probably will, be caused thereby to stumble.

Satan, the chief of devils, is the Adversary. He is the one who opposes. And his helpers are those "diabolos" (devils) who, as their name signifies, keep throwing something across human pathways.

There are a lot of people today who take great intellectual pride in declaring that they do not believe in devils, or demons. But they do have to admit that somebody, or something, is continually casting a stumbling block before their feet. The Bible implies that personality is the essence of the universe's life. The Bible knows nothing about impersonal force. Scientists, even about not only through a Creator but through the word He uttered. All power is personal.

So don't be too ready to scoff at the devil, and at the big boss of all the devils, Satan himself. Experience teaches us that an adverse force is constantly being exerted against our best intentions. Temptations, circumstances, and other evils are being cast before our feet. Satan is the Adversary, and we are responsible who throw things across— in front.

Sounds reasonable.

Wife's Mail Shocks Him

Des Moines Register

We opened some mail addressed to the wife the other day.-Oh, we know that's improper, unethical and maybe even illegal. But this letter didn't look personal. It was one of those "bulk rate" epistles which head quickly for the wastebasket.

We found the message in this one quite intriguing and a little exasperating, too. The wife had "personally invited to apply for a Confidential personal loan" of from $50 to $300. Full instructions were given on how she could do this.

We don't doubt that wives sometimes do deceive husbands about financial transactions but still we resent this bald invitation to keep the thinlar head of the household in ignorance.

We resent this bald invitation to deceive husbands about financial transactions. We're all for the wives having their allowances. They should have their own spending money, of course, in addition to the customary household allowances. And we don't know how a wife could get along without a charge account.

But there's a line often drawn somewhere. We don't think wives should borrow money from a lending institution on a "confidential" basis. If wives run short of funds, they should have to come to husbands to borrow — just as husbands from time immemorial have had to go to their wives to borrow when they run out of cash. We believe in equal rights. But we do hope wives don't start spending their husband's small. That would be an invasion of privacy.

Miss Stella Melchoir, a member of the Metropolitan Store staff, has been sent to Kirkland Lake to assist in the opening of a new Metropolitan store there.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Turner, 170 Church Street, have returned home from Bancroft where they visited Mrs. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and daughter, Frances Mae, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur in Peterborough.

Mrs. C. H. Thorburn, O.B.E., of Ottawa, is the guest of Mrs. Charles A. Cameron, Queen Street.

Miss Ethel Adams, librarian at the Corby Public Library, is in Toronto to attend the Book Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, highly respected residents of Madoc, celebrated the 62nd anniversary of their wedding at their home on November 8th.

They received the congratulations and best wishes of relatives and many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lee were among the early settlers in the Madoc district.

Three hundred veterans paraded to the Cenotaph yesterday to pay homage to the memory of their departed comrades; it was the 18th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. The short service was conducted by the Rev. G. G. Wright, rector of Christ Church, and the Rev. Dr. Semple of Bridge Street United Church. Many wreaths were deposited at the Cenotaph base, Mrs. J. V. Ross was accorded the honor of depositing the wreath from the Province of Ontario. Mayor Harry Hill deposited the wreath from the City of Belleville and wreaths were also deposited by Mrs. Fairbairn, Major Harry Alford for the Argyll Light Infantry; Mrs. C. Jeffs for the Canadian Legion—Ladies' Auxiliary; Fred Douglas for the Belleville Rowing Club; Mrs. Robert Bell and W. D. Embury and W. Harden for the three Masonic lodges in the city; Cecil Millinger for the Imperial Veterans and the "Old Timers"; Major Arthur Alford for the local Kinmen's Club; Harry Mullin for the Canadian Legion Club of Belleville; Sergt. William Crerar for the 21st Battalion and Col. C. H. Mitchell, C.B.E., wartime commander of the famous Battalion, for the Legion. The parade was led by the Belleville Municipal Band and Commissioner Thomas Johnson and Thomas Gill, also Dr. George Stobie and Charles A. Cameron, M.P., both executives of the United War Veterans. In the evening the veterans gathered at the city hall for the Armistice banquet at which the special speaker was Col. La Fleche, D.S.O., the Minister of Defence in the government at Ottawa.

Beware The Metabolimeter

In a study of 1,000 cases the basal temperature test proved a better index for thyroid therapy than the basal metabolism test, as reported by Dr. Barnes in the J.A.M.A. for '42. Barnes gave the technique of the test in the medical journal. I cannot instruct laymen — ask your physician about it. I mention it here to corroborate what I say about the basal metabolism test.

I say the basal metabolism test or measurement tells no more about what ails the patient or what to do about it than a real doctor learns by ordinary physical examination.

If the basal metabolism test, measurement, or reading serves any other purpose in practice than to indicate whether to give or not to give the patient thyroid extract, I have been unable to learn what that purpose is. If there is another use for it I am surely some physician should tell the world about it and take out of my sails what little wind is left in them.

Yankee Wisecracs go for the machinery the trick specialists and "clinics" reckless use to make a basal metabolism reading. Perhaps 1% should explain here that when I refer to the Abnolimeter as a Rube Goldberg gadget, I do not mean to imply that the cartoonist invented it. But he never devised one that was funnier.

The metabolimeter is useful in the physiology laboratory, and in my opinion it would be better for the silling public and the medical profession if it were left there.

Almost daily some poor soul who has been kicked anywhe two or three times for $15-$25 BMRs (basal metabolism readings) tells me she is minus so many pounds — and what should she do about it.

I never tell her she should have learned a trimmed, but I wonder sometimes what quirk in the Yankee mentality keeps people buying basal metabolism tests and playing the slot machines.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

You can see by the papers that the next war is going to be so sudden, so violent, so abrupt that none of us is going to have a chance. Those of us who are old enough to remember the misfortunes of the recollect that the Blitzkrieg was going to be exactly the same. It was going to last two weeks.

It was a long six weeks. Field marshals and generals are just average Joes like you or me, dressed up. Statesmen are merely politicians with two secretaries instead of one. Put them in their pajamas around the fireplace at night, and you couldn't tell them from your friends, except that they sound be a little more pompier. These are the men, the generals and the statesmen, who are going to let loose the dogs of war and wipe us all out in a day, two days, three.

I don't have the right to disbelieve it. Every war in history was started by ordinary Joes in more clothes than they needed, who figured they were ready for and equipped to win in a walk. Hannibal with his elephants, Genghis Khan with his clouds of cavalry, Napoleon with his Grande Armee, Hitler with his Blitzkrieg—the list is endless, the ruin of their passage was vast. But they didn't win.

It is true another war, with the weapons they have got now, would be a colossal and disastrous thing for the human race, hundreds of thousands of us, mere spectators, would join the myriad millions who were crushed by Caesar and Genghis Khan and Napoleon and Hitler. But it would only be in spots. Nobody can destroy all the Little Joes. We can only hope, as the Little Joes have done since time immemorial, to be outside the line of march of the Big Joes when they proceed on their periodic stroke.

The statesmen and generals never read history? Do they not know that the little people survive all the Little Joes? Somebody always survives, and comes down out of the hills to repeople the whole bust of the emperor is too big to go in the cigar of the stone nose and the stone ears to take home to show the kids.

This is a world of unconquerable Little Joes. Chinese, Canadian, Hungarian, Polish, American, Russian, Malayan, Eskimo, who are going to survive no matter how many Little Joes dress up, or spraout two secretaries in place of one.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE CHOICE OF THOUGHTS

Our most precious possession is our thoughts. Every single day, and throughout life, we think and act what we render back to us genuine happiness, good health, and long life, or the reverse. It is easy. How important that all of these thoughts are of a constructive, helpful type, wrapped up in worthiness, resentments, and personal disappointments sent back to the recipients all through the physical body.

Happy thoughts, constructive thoughts, and thoughts that center around the thinking and a love for all that is fine and beautiful. There is no question that these thoughts have a greater influence on what we are and what we do than anything else. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." We are loaded with our thoughts.

The reading of great books is a wonderful and useful habit. They stir the entire mind and their effect is to keep you in a wonderful world of men and women who have contributed from their rich experience. Recently I listened to a most inspiring talk by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen on Lenin and he quoted to a collection of books by this noted character, some dozen or so, and said that he had read them all! No wonder his talk was so interesting and effective. The subject overflowed from his mind. Such a dictator was ruled by thoughts of people. Thoughts are the freest gift that our Creator has bequeathed us all. We can have them at any time of the day or night. Be ready to keep them fresh and useful we should keep renewing our interest in them, and the best way is by association of great books, and the conversation of interesting thinkers.

Community Chest Donations Will Assist Underprivileged

Surely you are interested in seeing that the seven agencies which will benefit from the 1956 Belleville Community Chest will receive enough money from it to keep up their good work in the city and outlying areas.

Already the bitter cold of the coming winter has descended upon us. How nice it is to snuggle into a warm bed at night or sit and watch TV beside a roaring fireplace. There are many young people who are not fortunate enough to have warmth in their homes, let alone television. Warmth not only refers to the temperature inside the four walls of the house but also to the degree of love and care which most of Belleville's children are lucky enough to get. There are some children—a small fraction—whose parents don't concern themselves with the welfare of their own flesh and blood. All they are concerned with is making certain they themselves are comfortable, have enough to eat, a place to sleep and a particular type of social environment that would make most of Belleville's citizens shudder. The local Children's Aid Society takes children in this category and places them in good foster homes.

There are many old folks in the city who rely on some of these agencies in the Community Chest to provide them with medical and welfare attention. We all reach the years when most of our life has gone by and all we are left with are memories and the hope that someone still cares about us enough to look after our well being. The VON, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society and St. John Ambulance Brigade dedicate themselves to the happiness and welfare of these older veitizens.

It is not an uncommon sight to see a blind or elderly person standing at a street corner waiting for the opportunity to cross the busy road, when suddenly a young boy or girl approaches and offers to escort the senior citizen across. That young boy could be a Boy Scout, Sea Cadet, Navy League Cadet, or a member of the YMCA; the little girl could be a member of one or more "Y" groups.

NEED YOUR SUPPORT

Every child, teenager and young couple who are members of youth organizations here not only are taught to participate in various sports but also receive basic instruction on how to be leading citizens in the community. One of these young people may be tomorrow's prime minister or another leading figure in the nation's government. They may also sit on the city council some time in the next decade. One may even become mayor of Belleville. If these young people are to receive the advantages of Belleville's YMCA, Boy Scouts or Navy League these agencies must have money. Someone once said that money is the best talker. That or may not be so, but the fact remains these agencies need your wholehearted support in the 1956 Belleville Community Chest Campaign. If these youth organizations can get more financial support than they are at present receiving they will be able to fight the chances of juvenile delinquency in Belleville to a more efficient degree.

Why, some people are asking, are the Boy Scouts, Navy League and YMCA included in the Community Chest? If people who ponder that question would stop and think for just a few minutes they would soon figure out that today's youth will be our adults and leaders tomorrow. There is not one person in Belleville, who would like to see his taxes thrown to the four winds by the incompetent hands of people who never had the opportunity of learning what responsibility is. Nor would the city's population keep increasing, as it has been, if the city were in the hands of a group of people unmindful of fair play and without the development of good judgment. We should all sit back and thank our lucky stars that Belleville has always been governed by highest calibre of humanity. But there are some communities in Canada and abroad that have experienced the hardships and demoralization of a municipality comprised of people, who in their childhood, never had the advantages that await today's youth. A prominent World War II German general once said that if he could take all children between the ages of four and 12, he would make them Nazis for life.

TEACH TRUE DEMOCRACY

Behind the morbid statement is one bit of sound psychology. It is a known fact that if youngsters are trained to follow a certain way of life they will continue along that road into adulthood where they would be in a position to mould the lives of others. The YMCA, Navy League, Boy Scouts, and indeed all Canadian youth organizations, try to instill in the minds of their members to true democratic way of life. Too many Canadians have died on foreign soil trying, but not in vain, to retain that way of life. Certainly we do not want a Canadian version of the present strife in Hungary or the Middle East. But that could possibly happen some day in the future if our present youth does not have the advantage of belonging to an organization that will train them to be good Canadian citizens and to uphold the present status of Canada among all countries of the world. That, in brief, is why we must give generously to the YMCA, Navy League and Boy Scouts through the Belleville Community Chest Campaign.

Not long ago the local Victorian Order of Nurses branch received a call to go to the home of an elderly man. Arriving at a run-down old house the nurse made her way carefully up a few rickety steps to the fragile floor on the porch and knocked on the weather-beaten door. From far away came a feeble response which indicated that the way was clear for the visitor to enter.

The Victorian Order Nurse found "Mr. Brown" lying on a narrow hospital-type bed in what was once the dining room of a house that was built by hand many years ago. The young nurse first straightened his bedding ruffled the pillows, meanwhile giving him words of comfort. He told her that his wife had died a few weeks ago and that since he was completely crippled by arthritis he could not get up and tidy the house as he could at one time. A neighbor came to see him three times a day and brought food. Nobody else visited him. Just imagine the scene that was before the eyes of the nurse. There was dust everywhere and the old man was in excruciating pain. She managed to get the household in order after treating the gentleman for his malady. It requires two weekly visits by the VON to keep that man alive. The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society in Belleville also pays him visits to give physiotherapy for his deformed limbs.

Because Mr. Brown exists only from the income provided by his old age pension he had always been wary on calling on outside help. But he was soon forced to put his financial resources aside because, like everyone else, he valued self-preservation almost above everything else. The VON readily provided a part-time nursing service for Mr. Brown within his meagre budget and would even have waived all fees had not he been insistent on paying something. On occasion, when the VON and CARS are too busy to visit him a St. John Ambulance corpsman visits Mr. Brown and carries out the instructions he has received from the VON and CARS.

Mr. Brown is only one of the chronically ill in Belleville who needs part-time nursing care and a bit of sunshine to brighten up his days, and because of the presence of the VON, CARS and St. John Ambulance Brigade he is getting that service.

Double Cabin At Blue Top Motel Burns

A large double cabin at the Blue Top Motel on No. 2 highway at the intersection of the Point Anne lane, was destroyed by fire Saturday night with loss estimated at about $3,000.

Tourist resort owner Al. Lipes was making the rounds of cabins lighting oil stoves and after lighting the stove in the double cabin came back to find it aflame.

City firemen were called but when the reels arrived the cabin was already well ablaze and little could be done to save the structure despite the fact a second truck was called to the scene. The blaze occurred about 8.30 p.m.

Accountancy Firm Opening Office Here

The firm of F. A. R. MacFadden, C.A., has announced the opening of an office at 317 Pinnacle Street, for the practice of public accountancy, John D. Lewars, C.A., is the resident senior in charge of this office.

This firm was originally founded approximately twenty years ago by F. A. R. MacFadden, C.A., who built a successful practice from the ground up. He specialized to a substantial extent in municipal accounting and auditing and acquired an excellent reputation in that field. Subsequent to Mr. MacFadden's demise in 1953, the firm was taken over by Mr. Lewars, who carries on the same high standards established by Mr. MacFadden in his professional practice.

The field of municipal accounting and auditing means that the practice of this firm is spread over a wide geographical area in eastern Ontario, from Toronto to Cornwall and north to Perth, Carleton Place and Almonte. In addition to municipal accounting, the firm furnishes accounting and auditing services to commercial enterprises, preparation of income tax returns and advice re income tax problems, and also services in the field of estate planning.

Mr. Lewars, who has had eleven years' experience in various phases of public accountancy, is ably assisted by Mr. John Adams, Toronto, who belongs to the firm at long and varied experience in several fields of accounting and auditing; Mr. Gerard Miner, of Cornwall; Mr. Charles Klitbo of Toya, Ont., and Mr. W. Alan Young of Prescott, Ont. These three young men are keenly interested in the field of accountancy and its attendant challenges.

At the present time the firm is the auditor for the City of Belleville and all its constituent Boards and Commissions as well as several of the immediately surrounding municipalities. In addition it is also the auditor for several of the more prominent commercial establishments in the city. Mr. Lewars hopes that opening an office in the city will enable him and members of his staff to maintain closer contact with existing clients and to extend their services more readily to possible new clients.

Mr. Lewars is married and he and his wife have resided in the city for the past three years. They have a two-year-old son. Mr. Lewars is a member of Christ Church, Temple Lodge No. 666, A.F. & A.M. and The Belleville Club.

BROADWORTH—STORRING

Trinity United church, Madoc, was the setting on Saturday, November 3, at 1.00 p.m., for a lovely autumn wedding, when Joyce Evelyn Storring, of Madoc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Storring, became the bride of Douglas Percy of Harold, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Broadworth. The Rev. J. F. Lane officiated at the double-ring ceremony, before a background of white chrysanthemums, pink snapdragons, and ferns.

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. E. Reid, and the soloist, Mr. Raymond E. Smith, of Madoc, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. John Storring, the bride was radiant in a floor-length bridal gown of white pleated nylon net over taffeta, with bouffant skirt. She wore a chapel length veil of tulle which fell from a halo of iridescent sequins and seed pearls, and carried a white Bible crested with red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Gretchen Storring, gowned in waltz-length pink nylon net over taffeta and wearing a pink floral headdress, pink shoes and gloves. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink roses and baby 'mums.

Mr. Morvin Sine of Milton, Ont., was groomsman, while Mr. Thomas Bline and Mr. William Broadworth, both of Madoc, were ushers.

Following the reception and dinner, which took place in the church parlors which were attractively decorated with pink bells and pink and white streamers, the bride's traditional three-tiered wedding cake, with pink and white trimmings, was cut by the bride's mother, who wore a two-piece sonnet blue silk crepe, with navy accessories, and corsage of yellow roses; the young couple left for the honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and New York State. The bride chose as her travelling costume, a navy blue suit with white hat and accessories and corsage of Lily of the Valley for their return they will reside in Bancroft.

The bride's table, which was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, was appointed with white damask, and the bridal bouquets. Four of the bride's associates of the Bell office, Misses Betty Devolin, Margaret Chapman, Molly Crawford, and Peggy Ellis, served.

Guests were present from Toronto, Milton, Peterborough, Wing, Harold, Armprior and Madoc.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at a showers, one at the home of Mrs. Ken Sine of Minto, and one at the home of Mrs. Bert Devolin of Madoc.

White Shasta chrysanthemums, interspersed with ferns adorned the altar at the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, for a pretty, double wedding on Saturday, October 30th, at 10.00 a.m., when Veronica Mary Kearns, and Mary Theresa Kearns, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kearns, of Kingston, became the brides of Patrick Edward Finn, Erinsville, and Mr. Gerald J. Finn, Enterprise, and the late Mr. Finn, and of Raymond Patrick Murphy, son of Mrs. J. Murphy, of Marysville, and the late Mr. Murphy, respectively. The Reverend J. F. Feeney, P.P., officiated in the double-ring ceremony, and sang the Nuptial Mass. The Reverend J. P. Gallagher of Kingston, and the Reverend J. Whalen, of Enterprise, were present in the sanctuary. Masters Martin Finn and John Rawson, nephews of the brides, were altar acolytes.

Mr. Ambrose Kidd presided at the organ, and the organ, and Mr. Harold Davidson, soloist, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," O Sacred Mother," and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy."

Veronica Mary, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of imported French Chantilly lace, beautiful lace over satin with long lily-pointed sleeves, the tulip yoke, featuring a fine, dainty darin collar, was etched with seed pearls, and the full-length skirt bears, and the full-length skirt bears, and the full-length skirt bears

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU NEED HELP TO ADJUSTING YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 30 years old and have been married a year. The marriage did not work out. I have no grounds for divorce and I've asked my husband many times to file against me, but he won't give me up.

I thought I loved him when I married him, but afterwards I realized I'd made a big mistake. You see, I break easily. My wife, seeing my father died, file took his own life and I still feel that I'm to blame for his death. I was in shock at the time and don't know what got into me to marry, because I didn't really want to go through with it.

Now I want to be free from this man, but he won't let me go. I went to a lawyer once to my wife for divorce, but found I had to live there for a year, so I came back. Please tell me what I should do. — Ann

Dear Ann:

Are you trying to handle this complicated problem entirely by yourself? It sounds to me as though this is just what you're doing, but you need help and guidance very urgently from those close at hand who can show you, step by step, just how to proceed.

The first thing from which you need to free yourself, I think, is not your husband—who apparently is good to you, since you say you have no grounds for divorce—but the sense of guilt you have about your father's death. I would doubt very much that you were in any way responsible for his death. What I think is that like almost everyone else after the death of a loved parent, you have deep regret over things you somehow failed to do, and you think you may have made your father temporarily unhappy at some time or over things that you feel you might have done, and didn't do. Now it is too late, and Unless your case is vastly different from the usual one, you may just be suffering those normal regrets and exaggerating them out of all proportion.

So I think the very first thing you should do before taking up any other part of your problem, is to have a talk with your doctor about it all and let him advise you on getting further help in straightening out your emotions. You had a dreadful shock when your father took his own life and it upset you tragically. Until you get yourself adjusted, everything else in your life is also going to worry you, for any great grief throws its pall over one's whole world. It may even be, that, if you would be willing to let some expert help you adjust to your tragedy, you might find that your marriage isn't really as bad a problem as you now feel.

However, if, after you get straightened out emotionally, you still feel that you married in a state of shock, at a time when you didn't see anything clearly, and that it would be better to end the marriage, you should then go to a competent lawyer, and let him tell you what steps you should take.

This is the best opinion I can give you without having any details of your very big problem. You don't tell me why you felt yourself to blame for your father's death, nor have you given me any special reasons for not wanting to live with your husband. But, in any event, I feel sure that if you follow my first suggestion—to talk with your doctor—you'll get the help of which you stand in the greatest need at this moment. After that, what you should do in the future will become clearer to you.

GIVE YOURSELF A CHANCE.

MARY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

There's a fellow, 21, that I was going steady with for some time. I'm 18 years old.

My parents objected to my going with this fellow, and I finally realized they were right, because he's not the type of boy for me. He was always telling me how much he cared for me, yet he neglected me and acted as though he didn't care. Finally I stopped going with him, but I can't forget him. I've tried going out with other boys, but I can't seem to care for anyone else, and I seem to have lost interest in my friends and usual activities.

Can you give me any advice on how to forget this fellow and be happy again? — Mary G.

Dear Mary G.: This is the time for you to show you're not a child, but a young woman and her way toward real maturity. Only those who are very immature emotionally talk about not being able to "forget." Real adults know that, however hard it may be temporarily, life eventually takes care of the "forgetting" if they'll do their part and have the will power, and the strength of character to combine time and work and will and refrain from living their unhappiness over and over again in their minds.

So keep up with your friends and your regular interests even though you have to force yourself to do so for awhile. Gradually you'll find that you enjoy them more and more, and think less and less about the boy who, after all, wasn't really the right one for you. The only thing that can keep you from being happy again would be unwillingness on your part to give yourself a chance.

WALLBRIDGE W.A. and W.M.S.

WALLBRIDGE — Wallbridge W.A. held its regular pot-luck dinner Wednesday in the church hall with 31 members, two visitors from Stone appointment, the teacher, Mrs. Rilkey, two Normal school teachers and school children present.

Mrs. M. McMullin was also welcomed as it was her first opportunity to meet with the Wallbridge W.A. since coming to this circuit.

After the dinner hour, the W.A. meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Sam Nicolson with Mrs. Charlie Hall at the organ.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Frank Hall and the topic lesson, "A Deeper Note Than Victory," was given by Mrs. Fairy Lane, Mrs. J. McNaught, Mrs. J. Sine, Mrs. M. Phillips and Mrs. E. Nicol. Prayer by Mrs. Clarence Wood closed the devotional part.

Mrs. Cecil Sine gave the secretary's report, and also read two bazaar invitations from Stanley Frankford and Centenary to attend their bazaars; also, Mrs. G. Evans, who was present from Stone W.A., invited the Wallbridge W.A. members to attend their bazaar on November 22th. Wallbridge W.A. members extend thanks to all who helped at the parsonage repairing.

Mrs. Barton Hinchcliffe, treasurer, gave her report and over $160 has been collected to date, instead of the chicken supper, and $23.42, the proceeds of the potluck dinner. The next dinner will be held on December 5th.

Mrs. McMullin closed the meeting with prayer.

The W.M.S. meeting followed with Mrs. Lawrence Ketcheson presiding, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Hudson Ketcheson. Mrs. Tom Ketcheson the secretary read their reports and it was decided to hold an afternoon tea and exchange of gifts at the home of Mrs. Hudson Ketcheson in December.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

TODAY'S GOOD HINT FOR GOOD MANNERS

When you acknowledge an introduction you say "How do you do." How do you know? When you give in your facial expression as you say your "How do you do"? To what should your expression be thought, ladies and gentlemen? Please let me help you. The way you say that so-important "How do you do" will either inciting people to like you and want to know you, or will make them lose all interest in knowing you. According to the impression you give when you acknowledge an introduction a door may be opened to a wonderful friendship . . . or it may be closed at once to the possibility that may never again present itself to you. Now this is worth thinking about, seriously thinking about . . . isn't it?

CRITICISM SENT A "PEACEFUL" WAY FOR THIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

We have a very serious problem, and we would so much appreciate it if you could help us. We are not right or wrong in our thinking, so please help us to find the right in our thoughts. Our son was married recently to a girl whose parents were of foreign birth and the wedding was patterned after a foreign wedding. There were at least 800 guests at the reception. The gifts, in money, were shocking to the bride and groom, and all the money was used to pay the expenses of the reception. The parents of the bride are well off, it was certainly not necessary to do this.

I asked why this was done, and I got for an answer that all weddings of people from this country are like this. I have strongly resented the pain from these money gifts. I always read your column in the paper, so please tell me if this was the right thing to do. Since our son's wedding we have not had a minute's peace, because we think such a procedure was not right. Is your point of view about this, Mrs. Beeckman? — Mother-in-law

My point of view coincides with yours—that this procedure is not attractive nor really proper since it means that the wedding reception guests pay the expenses that should be paid by the hosts. The bride's parents are the hosts of the wedding, as hosts they send the invitations . . . and therefore, as hosts, they should pay the expenses. This is the proper idea and the proper procedure customarily followed in this country.

However, I do realize that sometimes a wedding reception of this kind is planned according to the procedure you saw, and if this is the plan, this you must accept, must gracefully accept, and never, never say a word of criticism. It doesn't make sense for you to be upset about it (after all, it's all over now) . . . it would be most unfortunate and unfair to you to display critical behavior to your son about the procedure of this occasion. The best idea, the least said, the soonest mended." Instead of giving thought to what's done, give constructive thought to the future of your son and his wife—continue their friendliness by lovingly showing your cooperation and understanding.

TODAY'S TIP . . . ON "SMALL" TALK

If you're inclined to be shy, a bit self-conscious, "can't think of a thing to say" to start a conversation after an introduction, don't keep quiet just because you can't think of something original or impressive to say. Get started . . . even if you only make a comment about something as commonplace as the weather, the good-old casual conversation standby. Take a quick dive into the conversation, and you'll soon find yourself swimming into some subject interesting to your companion, perhaps particularly interesting.

DO HOSTS TELL GUESTS IT'S THEIR ANNIVERSARY?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are planning quite a large but very informal party to observe our Tenth Wedding Anniversary, so I'm proper to say on an informal invitation (or an invitation via telephone) that the party is to be given to celebrate our wedding anniversary? (We don't want our guests to feel that they must bring a present.) — E.R.

No matter how the invitation is given . . . by cards, informal notes, verbally or by telephone . . . it is entirely proper to mention the happy fact that the party is to celebrate your Tenth Wedding Anniversary. This is proper, is usually done, but it is not necessary, and depends entirely on the wishes of the hosts. I must add that occasionally no mention is made of the anniversary-motif of the party, so that guests won't feel that gifts are expected, and the fact that it is a wedding anniversary is not announced until the Wedding Anniversary Cake is brought in, or perhaps a man relative or a close friend of the couple (sometimes the best man at the wedding) rises to propose a toast "To the Bride and Groom." Personally I think that when guests should be told about the anniversary-idea when they are invited. Why not?

MUST BRIDE AND GROOM GIVE EACH OTHER WEDDING PRESENTS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My prospective groom is just recently out of the Service, and we have both been saving most carefully to furnish our new home, a small, simple apartment. Is it really true, as we have been told, that the groom must give the bride a wedding present, and that she must give him one? If so, what sort of presents? — We Two

If isn't at all necessary that the bride and groom give each other wedding presents. So please don't let this worry you. Today, when a wedding budget may be very limited, quite often the bride and groom decide against giving a wedding gift to each other and save, as you wish to do, toward house furnishings.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

SWAN-LIKE NECK ESSENTIAL FOR NEW REVEALING FASHIONS

The new fashions inspired by the Edwardian Era, with lush romantic fabrics draped subtly to highlight shoulders and bosom, call special attention to every woman's neck and throat line. Your neck must be as smooth and as beautifully shaped as a swan's to set off these exciting clothes properly.

According to one famous beauty scientist, no feature gives away a woman's age as quickly as a sagging chin and wrinkled flabby neck. Her powerful weapon for this all-important area is a "contour-lift and throat treatment." The contour lift, referred to as a "lift," is coupled with a special throat formula and used faithfully, said to do almost unbelievable wonders to restore a drooping chin contour and lined throat to the clean, smooth column that is so much a part of feminine appeal.

The special throat formula is an overnight beautifier which, penetrating quickly, lubricates deeply and smoothes crepiness and wrinkles. One famous complex (A, D and E) which it contains helps moisture surface dryness, while a special skin-ripe ingredient brings new firmness to relaxed contours. In rich, fine cells in their beautiful work thoroughly and with highly satisfying results.

"In making sure to look younger, contour is every bit as important as color," our expert explains. "In every few women seem to be aware of this, or have specific help to go about correcting a drooping, relaxed contour. You see, plastic surgery is really unnecessary today."

Ig the place of the rather drastic step of surgery, the beauty scientist recommends the contour-lift-throat treatment, the film of which is left on a perfect balance with the special throat formula. It is a day and night firming lotion, or scientifically blended rich lubricating oils, of potent astringents and stimulating herbal extracts for use on face and throat.

Applied in the morning after cleansing, contour lift film provides an invisible mask under make-up, helping contours firm all day. Then, used at night following cleansing and stimulation, it works while you sleep to tighten and uplift sagging, lined tissues. That is a 24-hour treatment to combat puffiness and flabby skin.

Featuring Oranges-a la Mrs. Brunt

By Mary Moore

Providing everything goes along as smoothly as it is and is my job properly, between now and Christmas Eve there will appear here 97 columns. Golly! Maybe I should not have counted! I have to write them all and do the cooking for them, though today I have a big assist from Danny's brother. How am I going to get my Christmas shopping done and me with a new grandson to buy for this year?

Okay, Okay, I'll stop and get on with the first of the 97. The majority of these will be on the Christmas theme but I'll insert some good health notes too. For instance we had a never-to-be-forgotten dinner at Danny's home last Sunday. Here is the exotic menu that Danny's Mum prepared: Tomato Juice (to match the table centre of fire-engine-red geraniums), roast duck with orange glaze, wild rice with herbs, asparagus (in November!), tossed green salad, a fruit-filled ice cream cake dessert that melted in our mouths, and disappeared in the last crumb and we were only six.

It is the orange glaze that Mrs. Brunt served with the duck that I want to speak to you for two reasons: it was delicious and festive-looking and the nutrients in oranges are on my side.

ORANGE GLAZE FOR DUCK

(Or Ham)

Remember this when you are serving fowl during the Christmas season. Simmer together 3-4 cup orange juice and 1-3 cup sugar for about 5 or 10 minutes to boil it down a bit. Reserve 1-4 cup of this for last-minute glazing of duck (or ham) when it is on the serving platter. To the remainder add 2 tablespoons finely grated orange rind and 1-4 cup water. Blit together 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 3 tablespoons cold water and stir this paste into the orange sauce until thick. Cook over boiling water another 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. If desired sections of orange may be added to this sauce during last part of cooking. Mrs. Brunt did and they were very decorative. Or you might prefer to serve your Duck or Ham with

BRAISED ORANGE SLICES

Cut whole unpeeled oranges into slices 1-4 inch thick. Marinate (soak) 30 minutes or more in French dressing (made with lemon juice). Drain and broil about three inches from broiler for 5 to 10 minutes, or until edges are slightly browned. Lovely with poultry or pork.

NOTE—It is an overaimplification to say that the protopeetin in whole oranges is an aid to digestion. It also increases the body's tolerance to toxins. Start every whole orange-a-day breakfast instead of the squeezed juice. If you want me to tell you the why of this write to me and I'll quote from a paper given by a research chemist at a food editors' conference.

Don't Despair Over Scratches And Dents

By EUGENE MILMOE

Scratches or dents scarring his shining car will bring gloom to any owner. Fortunately, many can be repaired to blend with the rest of the finish—without calling for professional equipment of skills.

Car dealers carry touch-up paints for many models. If you need a finer and softer for dents or deep spots, your auto supply store or service station should have them, as well as the matching finish color.

Wet-sand the damaged spot lightly to remove loose paint and feather the edges. Then clean with naptha or a similar solvent. Apply a primer on bare metal, then wet-sand and clean again. If filler is used, and lightly when it's dry, clean thoroughly and spray on a prime coat. After sanding and cleaning, you're ready to spray on the finish color. Finally, smooth and blend the area with rubbing compound.

P.G. writes: "While lubricating my car, I was advised by a mechanic to skip the bushings on the spring shackles because they are rubber. He said they should never be greased, but another friend tells me that's a no-no. Who is right?"

(A) If the shackles become noisy, there is a special lubricant which can be used on these rubber bushings. Your gas station probably has it on hand.

From G.F.: "My automatic transmission makes a whining sound when the car starts off until it reaches about 20 m.p.h. After reaching higher speeds, the noise seems to diminish, but there is still a faint whine or hum. Please advise."

(A) The usual reason for this noise is wear in the front oil pump. A transmission oil pressure test can determine if the front pump is at fault in your case, too.

F.B. asks: "Last spring, I had a mechanic check the automatic drive on my 1952 model. It doesn't upshift properly, it smacks right into neutral at a stop and I have to speed up excessively before the car moves—then it takes off with a sudden jerk. The mechanic said I couldn't drive it another hundred miles. Despite this I have used it all summer. I'm a mechanic too, but I haven't worked on the automatic transmission. Wonder if it could be a governor?"

(A) Your hunch is probably right. All the symptoms you mention point to a defective governor.

G.I. writes: "Just a few months ago, I bought a guaranteed 1951 used car from a reputable dealer in town. It's the first one I've owned with automatic transmission and I'm puzzled. Whenever it shifts it says there seems to be a slight bumping noise. The dealer assures me it's nothing serious to worry about—all of these particular automatic drive models had the same noise until the engineers finally licked the problem recently. This is only explanation—how should I accept it?"

(A) Its dealer is being quite honest with you. This thumping noise is quite characteristic and does not indicate transmission trouble.

The Ornamental Japanese Quince

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The ro called Japanese quince, or Japonica as it is often called is really a native of China. The Japanese conquered it and used it so extensively that it came to be known as Japanese quince, it is a very attractive member of the rose family and each year finds it becoming more popular. Cydonia Japonica as it was formerly called has now been re-named Chaenomeles Japonica. It has maroon or scarlet blooms in May. Other members of the ornamental quince have soft rose red, pink, yellow or white blooms.

Bailey produces large deep red blooms, Simoni has semi-double blossoms in a rich glowing red. For large slagle white flowers the best is Nivalis.

A true Japanese quince is the variety Chaenomeles Japonica. Its fruits in autumn are considered a great number but each flower is smaller than the first named varieties. The shrub remains quite dwarf, a round mound of twigs, and clusters of flowers—never more than three feet high.

The hybridizers have used these two species to develop several new shrubs of fine quality. Simoni and Knaphill scarlet are two of the best. They grow to an intermediate size and tend to be rather wide bounds. Of course the older type and the newer ones may be pruned but the hybrids tend to develop slowly into pleasing shrubs which is little or no pruning.

Wellington United Church was filled to capacity on Sunday morning for the first of the anniversary services. Rev. Stephen, the Rev. A. Pealter conducted the devotional part and introduced the guest speaker the Rev. J. A. Davidson.

His address was taken from the text, "We're condemned to fumble it, these terrible times for the main road ahead is too black for us to see", also, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

In the evening, Mr. Davidson chose for his text, "They all with one consent began to make excuse..." Both sermons were a challenge.

At the morning service the choir was assisted by Mr. Opthof, of Trenton.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Guild was held recently at the home of Mrs. Ward with the president, Mrs. Tripp, in the chair.

The treasurer's report was given and dues and flower fund money collected.

The following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the St. Andrew's dinner on Novem. ber 30th. Mrs. Lavender; Mrs. Gair; Mrs. Springrose, Mrs. Spencer; Mrs. Herrington and Mrs. Tripp.

Conveners were also appointed for the domestic table, tea tables, apron and fancy work, country store and food and take table for the annual Christmas bazaar which is to be held in the town hall, December 6th, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. Davern.

The hostess served tea, assisted by Mrs. Springrings.

soil if it is well drained. They will not tolerate wet feet. When planting mix in some bone meal and manure if it is to be done this fall. Bone meal is a slow acting fertilizer specially recommended for feeding shrubs in the fall. Spring planted shrubs can use a faster acting balanced chemical fertilizer.

Flowers are formed on second year, or older wood. Once the shrub has been established the buds seem to form on all parts of the wood in thick little bunches. The flowers last well and have good substance which makes this shrub excellent for border, foundation, or specimen planting.

The larger type can serve as a thick hedge at the back of a garden, or be used as a background for lower growing plants. This type is known to become thick at the base where new shoots come up each year. They will become dense unless pruned out. For the front of a mixed shrub border you could choose Chaenomeles Japonica both for their habit of growth and for its brilliant show of blooms in May.

The continental gardener occasionally trains a fruit tree against a building, a trellis or on wires to a fan shape, or like a branched candlestick. The larger types of flowering quince are suitable to be used as espaliers. Grown as a shrub they would have some protection and the necessary sun. Their only enemy seems to be the San Hose scale.

NEED FAL CLEANING

Every rock garden should have a good cleaning each fall. Cut back primulas, dwarf iris, fern, thymes, and sedums. As the hardy bulbs are crowded take them up and divide them. Make divisions and take cuttings now. Rock plants are well established before freezing weather arrives.

Creeping plants such as campanulas, iberius, sedums and other rock plant plants should be divided and old, and dead parts removed. Tuberous plants such as iris should be cut into sections at natural divisions.

Put up the ice cutting, and divided plants and winter them over in the cold frame. They will be sturdier plants than if they had been set out in the rock garden in October over there in an exposed position

Mrs. Charles Dunham recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wallace, Campbellford.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Carlisle spent a recent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson at Springbrook.

Y.P.U.

Rawdon Young Peoples' Union convened Thursday evening in Wellwood United Church with about 25 in attendance. Miss Betty McConnell presided and gave the call to worship. Miss Jean Reid read the Bible lesson, and Miss B. Boulten gave the prayer. Misses Janet and Jean Tompkins contributed a vocal duet. Miss Barbara Hadley gave the highlights of the Y.P.U. conference held at Port Hope and Mr. Craig Watson led the singing. A number of games were enjoyed in the basement of Miss after which the young people from Wellwood served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Potts and David at Mount Pleasant.

Gore

GORE — A large crowd attended the supper at Victoria Church on Monday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John MacIntyre (nee Shirley Broadworth, of Bowerman's). They were the recipients of a number of useful gifts. Refreshments were served and a fine time enjoyed following the presentation and unwrapping of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Miss Audra attended chicken supper at Carlton Place on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the United Church W.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redner, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Pulver and Marilyn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bew. Grey, Port Hope. Friends here are glad to know that Mr. Grey is home from the Peterborough hospital and improving after an operation.

Don't Despair Over Scratches And Dents

By EUGENE MILMOE

Scratches or dents scarring his shining car will bring gloom to any owner. Fortunately, many can be repaired to blend with the rest of the finish—without calling for professional equipment of skills.

Car dealers carry touch-up paints for many models. If you need a finer and softer for dents or deep spots, your auto supply store or service station should have them, as well as the matching finish color.

Wet-sand the damaged spot lightly to remove loose paint and feather the edges. Then clean with naptha or a similar solvent. Apply a primer on bare metal, then wet-sand and clean again. If filler is used, and lightly when it's dry, clean thoroughly and spray on a prime coat. After sanding and cleaning, you're ready to spray on the finish color. Finally, smooth and blend the area with rubbing compound.

P.G. writes: "While lubricating my car, I was advised by a mechanic to skip the bushings on the spring shackles because they are rubber. He said they should never be greased, but another friend tells me that's a no-no. Who is right?"

(A) If the shackles become noisy, there is a special lubricant which can be used on these rubber bushings. Your gas station probably has it on hand.

From G.F.: "My automatic transmission makes a whining sound when the car starts off until it reaches about 20 m.p.h. After reaching higher speeds, the noise seems to diminish, but there is still a faint whine or hum. Please advise."

(A) The usual reason for this noise is wear in the front oil pump. A transmission oil pressure test can determine if the front pump is at fault in your case, too.

F.B. asks: "Last spring, I had a mechanic check the automatic drive on my 1952 model. It doesn't upshift properly, it smacks right into neutral at a stop and I have to speed up excessively before the car moves—then it takes off with a sudden jerk. The mechanic said I couldn't drive it another hundred miles. Despite this I have used it all summer. I'm a mechanic too, but I haven't worked on the automatic transmission. Wonder if it could be a governor?"

(A) Your hunch is probably right. All the symptoms you mention point to a defective governor.

G.I. writes: "Just a few months ago, I bought a guaranteed 1951 used car from a reputable dealer in town. It's the first one I've owned with automatic transmission and I'm puzzled. Whenever it shifts it says there seems to be a slight bumping noise. The dealer assures me it's nothing serious to worry about—all of these particular automatic drive models had the same noise until the engineers finally licked the problem recently. This is only explanation—how should I accept it?"

(A) Its dealer is being quite honest with you. This thumping noise is quite characteristic and does not indicate transmission trouble.

RAWDON

Mount Pleasant W.A. Holds Most Successful Bazaar

RAWDON — On Thursday over 150 ladies and several children were in attendance at Mount Pleasant, Rawdon tea and bazaar.

The church hall was decorated with lovely baskets of chrysanthemums in various shades, and the booths were nicely arranged along the walls and on the platform.

The president, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, welcomed the guests as they arrived.

The tree were in charge of Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Mrs. Grant Hubble.

Guests were in attendance from Tabernacle (English line), Carmel, Burnbrae, and Hoard's, Wellmans, Springbrook, West Huntington United and Presbyterian, Eggleton, Bethel, St. Paul's, Stirling, Hallaway and other points.

Mrs. Mac Sharp contributed a piano music and the president was in charge of the short program.

Mrs. Don Johnson conducted the devotional and led in sang, "Would be True." Mrs. E. Spencer read the Bible lesson and Mrs. James Hoard gave the prayer.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen extended a gracious welcome to all the guests in attendance.

Mrs. Harry Orrin, English line, and Mrs. Leslie Dunkley, Hoards, each contributed a piano selection.

Mrs. Percy Orrin, St. Paul's, Stirling, read two poems, "A Kitchen Meditation," and "I'm Glad I Touched Shoulders With You." Mrs. George Watson and Mrs. Lorne Wilson of Wellman's sang, "Drifting Over Life's Sea," with Mrs. Carleton Potts as accompanist.

Mrs. Warren Harlow read a story about "Mother" and the Rev. W. G. Fletcher pronounced the benediction.

The bazaar then opened and there were good sales at every booth.

The candy table was set up along the east wall and was in charge of Mrs. Will Jeffs and Mrs. Ernest Spencer. Bags of assorted fudge were rapidly sold to eager buyers.

The country store occupied the south east corner with a large blackboard outlining articles for sale and price. There were baskets of apples, carrots, potatoes, onions, turnips, cabbage, pumpkins, new-laid eggs, cheese, fresh butter and cream, pop corn, chocolates, baked goods, jars of jellies, jams, pickles, relishes and numerous miscellaneous articles. Mrs. Gordon Linn and Mrs. Frank Spencer, Jr., convened this booth.

PLANTS AND FLOWERS

The flowers and plant booth occupied the south west corner and here was a large assortment of cacti, babytears, African violets, Mrs. Merle Spencer and Mrs. Oscar Merrick were in charge.

The west wall was used to display a large assortment of aprons, of all sizes, shapes and colors. There were large coveralls, half-size, and medium. The material was dotted and flowered print; organdy and ginghams, with various trimmings of rick-rack braid. This booth was convened by Mrs. Ira David and Mrs. Thomas Sarles.

Gift table booth. Mrs. Don Johnson was in charge of a nice array of wrapped parcels and several other articles suitable for gifts, which included crochet work and novelties.

Fancy work and children's wear were convened by Mrs. James Hoard. There was a large assortment of children's knitted mitts, bootees, crocheted baby outfits, children's dresses and sweaters, embroidered articles, numerous hand and tea towels and cushions.

HOME COOKING

A long table across the platform was laden with home baked articles. There were pies of all varieties, taffy tarts, fresh buns, various small cakes, drop cakes, cookies, angel cake. This luscious mouth-watering food soon found a ready market. Those in charge were Mrs. Milford Wrightman, Mrs. Harry McAdam, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Ross Jeffs and Mrs. William McAdam.

AFTERNOON TEA

The traditional cup of tea together with relishes, cheese, dainty sandwiches and one-bite cookies, was served by Miss Ruth Linn, Mrs. Doug Campbell, Mrs. Carleton Potts, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Mac Sharp, Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, Mrs. R. McConnell.

Rawdon

LONG DETOUR

RAWDON — Several Carmel folk are now in the midst of heavy traffic since a detour was made on Highway 33, owing to the closing of the bridge across the Trent River at Frankford village for repairs.

When going to Trenton the motorists can follow the road along the east side of the river from Frankford. If they wish to go to Frankford from Stirling, the special detour road goes up the town line road between Rawdon and Sidney townships to Ed. Pyear's corner, from there they journey through the concession road down to the Arthur Pyear property, thence to Glen Ross bridge, and on to Frankford and Trenton following the west side of the river all the way.

The maintenance men have been busy widening the concession road to enable the heavy traffic to have a suitable way of travelling and they have also put on considerable calcium chloride to overcome the dust.

A few motorists are taking a short cut through by the river but that road has not been put in shape for extra traffic and would soon be like a washboard. The usual quietness has disappeared and folks who live along the detour road see a big difference in noise and traffic. There are also numerous enquiries as strangers wonder where "Glen Ross" is situated.

Carmel W.A. in Rawdon was hostess to a rally for Centre Hastings with approximately 100 in attendance from various groups in the area.

Mrs. Arthur Pyear furnished quiet music and Mrs. Russell Hubel and Mrs. Ray Hagerman were in charge of registrations.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. C. Jackson of Madoc and Mrs. C. F. Airhart of Deloro.

Salem W.A. was in charge of the devotional on the United Church motto.

Mrs. W. K. Pace and Mrs. S. R. Connor, Tweed, contributed a vocal duet.

An invitation to convene in Cordova in 1957 was accepted.

Various reports were presented and Bethel W.A. ladies gathered the offering.

Mrs. J. E. Marsh, Belleville, president of Hastings and Prince Edward W.A., gave the special address based on the theme "The Qualities of Leadership."

The Carmel ladies served refreshments at the close of the meeting when all enjoyed friendly fellowship.

Mrs. Arthur Pyear attended a W.A. rally at Picton United Church on November 1st for Northeast Prince Edward WA's.

Mrs. Grant Hubble and Mrs. K. Weaver.

The tea was prepared by Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mrs. John Holmes and the plates replenished, along with other kitchen duties by Mrs. Will Potts, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs, Mrs. Harvey Couch, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Burton Sharpe and Mrs. Allan Reid.

The afternoon was a decided success and the financial returns will net the W.A. over $200. The weatherman, who had presented a blustery forenoon, reversed the schedule and the afternoon was much brighter, with no storm clouds.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the friendly fellowship and the visitors carried home a large assortment of souvenirs.

The special project is to provide new tables for the church hall.

NORWEGIANS ON WAY TO SERVE WITH UN.

En route to Egypt to serve with Danish forces as advance units of the United Nations police force in the Israeli-Egyptian crisis are these handpicked Norwegian troops, shown here as they prepared for action. According to United Nations spokesmen in New York, six countries have offered to supply military units with Canada supplying a complete unit of 1200 men. (Central Press Canadian.)

Talk No Help To Drowning Man Says Mindszenty

Ed. Note: The following interview with Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty is the joint work of correspondents of The AP, Reuters and UP. Written Nov. 4 it reached Vienna today.

BUDAPEST, (Delayed), (AP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty said today Hungary can expect only "greater oppression if the United Nations does not save us."

"Far quicker and more effective steps are needed," the Roman Catholic prince primate of Hungary said. "A man who is drowning needs no messages.

"What we need is that the secretary-general of the United Nations comes to Budapest today and not tomorrow. There has been much too much vying and oratory. What we need is action now."

Speaking to reporters shortly before he sought sanctuary in the United States legation here, the cardinal said: "The Russians have disregarded the United Nations. Every day they have lived has been almed at the United Nations."

Cardinal Mindszenty, who was released from a Communist prison Oct. 30, said he had "suffered torture in his life" at the hands of the secret police.

"It is God's protection that I am here and am as I am," he said.

He refused to give details of his arrest and imprisonment, saying he was engaged "in a detailed report of these things which are unspeakable and defy the imagination of every normal man."

Before he sought refuge in the legation, the cardinal sold the story of his imprisonment to an American magazine for $250,000, he said he regime headed by Janos Kadar had let "the Hungarians be slaughtered by the Russians" and added he was "profoundly shaken, watching the power of the Russians crushing the freedom of the Hungarian nation."

Asked if he supported the Kadar government or the administration of Premier Imre Nagy which preceded by the Soviets in a dawn attack today, the cardinal said he preferred that "rather than be the called government of today he chose Nagy's government was for the an independent Hungary while that of today was installed by the Russians."

However he added: "ax prince of the church it is not my duty to endorse any government."

Universities Urged to Keep Standards High by President Of U. of T. at Conference

OTTAWA (CP) — President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto said today that universities cannot meet Canada's needs for trained men "by dropping our standards, taking everybody in and shoving everybody through."

"That would be simply an attempt to fool ourselves and to cheat the public," Dr. Smith said in a paper presented at the first day of a conference on the situation facing higher education.

He said universities "will have to stand by our standards without standardization, and develop classes of graduates by other than mass-production methods."

Many universities were uneasy about expanding "but none will repudiate what appears to be its duty in the face of a crisis of national importance."

The three-day conference with its topic Canada's Crisis in Higher Education, had been called by the National Conference of Canadian Universities. The 35 member universities and colleges of the NCCU have sent presidents, principals and deans, and federal and provincial governments are represented by observers at the forum discussions.

The extent of the tasks facing universities was outlined in a paper presented by President Claude T. Bissell of Carleton College, Ottawa, and based on a survey of NCCU members—staking up most of Canada's universities.

He said the universities expect a 10-year rise in enrolments of 38,259 to 123,373 students by 1965-66 and a 63 - per - cent expansion in teaching staff. Annual operating costs would at least double and an estimated $285,000,000 would be needed for new buildings and facilities.

Dr. Bissell said that at a recent national conference on engineering and technical manpower, it was estimated that to meet Canada's needs for such manpower and to maintain the existing balance among the different faculties, the universities by 1980 would need an enrolment of between 375,000 and 490,000, and $1,750,000,000 spent for additional facilities.

Dr. Smith said one result of increased enrolments will be a strain on staff - student relationships.

"We cannot streamline the learning process," the University of Toronto president said. "We cannot teach them by the thousand."

There had been suggestions for more efficient operation of universities, with courses on a two-quarterly basis the year round and study aids: mimeographed and distributed.

"Efficiency defeats itself if the almr of the educational endeavor are lost," he said. "The result of assembly-line methods would not be higher education; indeed it would not be education high, low or medium."

He pointed to two trends which would help existing universities meet future demands. One would be establishment of new universities, and the other an increase in the number of "junior colleges" to give courses above the high school level.

In the next 10 years, when every student admitted to a university will be, in effect, keeping others out, I expect that the demand for junior colleges will become so great that more will be established."

The junior colleges would let high school graduates measure their talent for advanced studies before committing themselves to a university course. And they would help the universities provide preliminary arts and science education for those going on to more specialized education.

Dr. Smith said new universities in some centres will be a necessity "if not in 10 years, then in 25."

Arteries Scraped Clean in Humans For First Time

CHICAGO (AP)—Clogged arteries that cause heart attacks have been scraped clean in humans for the first time in the thrilling new surgery, two surgeons announced Sunday.

"Rusted" coronary arteries were bored clean much as rusted gun barrels are bored and reamed out.

The hollow instrument pushed through the arteries cut away plugs of fatty material that have built up in the walls and threatened to cause new ones.

The surgeons, both veteran heart attacks similar to President Eisenhower's, had this historic surgery done in the last few weeks [illegible] time the cleaning out increased the vital flow of blood to the heart muscle.

This pioneering step was announced by Dr. Charles P. Bailey of Philadelphia, and Dr. Angelo May of San Francisco. Dr. Bailey said it is too early to tell how many persons will be saved by the men, or how many heart victims might be helped this way.

Maj.-Gen. E.L.M. Burns, Commander of UN Force, Confronted by Many Problems

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Barely more than 12 hours after the United Nations voted last Wednesday to form an "emergency police force" for the Middle East, a quiet - faced Canadian soldier stepped from an airplane in Cairo into a unique and tricky assignment.

He is Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, 59, named to command the international military arm, whose task is to supervise the cease-fire in Egypt and the withdrawal of the British, French and Israeli forces —in short, to keep the peace.

Among the questions confronting him are:

How big a force will he have? Only a few governments have specified the number of soldiers they will contribute. Canada will send 1,200.

How many nationalities will it embrace? Thirteen countries have offered troops so far—Communist, non-Communist and some classing themselves as neutrals.

Will Egypt object to contingents from some countries? How long will the "police force" remain? What will it take over from the occupying forces?

Burns' command is designed for supervising, not fighting. Can clashes be avoided?

The complexities are many.

The UN assigned an unusual man to handle them — Tedcau Louis Millard Burns, professional soldier, student of Arabic, archaeology and Biblical lore, and administrator, an inventor, and by necessity, a diplomat.

Since 1954 he has been chief of the UN staff supervising the armistice in Palestine that ended the Arab-Israeli hostilities of 1947-48. He has been going over the almost incessant clashes between Arabs and Israelis. He rarely made a decision that pleased everybody. Frequently he failed to please anybody.

He maintained an almost Biblical patience and a position of inexorable neutrality, establishing his headquarters on a hill outside Jerusalem in No - Man's Land. Armed Arabs were on one side, armed Israeli on the other.

It is a lonely spot, difficult and often dangerous to enter, even with an armed escort.

Burns stayed there, however, rather, than risk charges of partiality by living in more pleasant surroundings on either Israeli or Arab territory.

He is a stocky, eagle-nosed man with a heavy — jawed, cool, level glance. He rarely unbends, seldom smiles.

Most of his life has been devoted to the army.

Born in Westmount, Que., he studied at Lower Canada College in Montreal and the Royal Military College in Kingston.

He went to France with the Royal Canadian Engineers in 1915, was wounded and received the Military Cross. He was the youngest staff captain in the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Later he was decorated again, for inventing techniques in aerial photography.

During the Second World War he was a brigade, a divisional and a corps commander.

He directed the 1st Canadian Corps during the Italian campaign. The days it was most difficult and painful chapters in his life.

He clashed with British generals over operations in the bloody, grinding drive against the German in the Italian mountains.

The Canadians In Italy, an official army history, details disagreements between Burns and Sir Oliver Leese, 8th Army commander. The story has a happy ending, however.

Burns' forces broke through the Gothic Line, a powerful defence-in-depth position, and the history says "Congratulatory messages came to the Canadians from many quarters . . . none warmer or more full of encouragement than those from the army commander [illegible]."

Burns became interested in UN activities soon after the war. He was national president of the UN Association of Canada in 1952-53.

The following year he was named chief of the UN truce-supervision organization for Palestine at a salary of $17,500.

Unlike his predecessors he moved in that [illegible]-Land area on a bill that bears two dissimilar names.

One is "The Hill of Evil Counsel," presumably because the plot against Jesus Christ was hatched there.

Burns translates its Arabic name, al Makhabir, as "The Place of Graves." He says he has searched ancient records and pored over the old Testament and does not believe the story about the conspiracy against Jesus.

In Palestine he rose at 6 a.m., spent two hours on personal correspondence, breakfasted at eight —then worked—often around the clock during a border incident—on matters relating to the truce.

He says he developed a mental technique to preserve his impartiality.

"When I am talking to one side," he said, "I keep thinking how very reasonable the other side is."

He studies Arabic by carrying a set of cards and most Israelis speak English or a European language, but he found it useful to be able to speak to Arabs in their own tongue.

Egyptians Kill Photographers In No-Man's Land

PARIS (CP)—An American and a French photographer were killed near Kantara in the Suez Canal zone Sunday when they went into no-man's-land, defence ministry officials said here.

They identified the men as David Seymour head of Magnum Photos and Jean Roy of the French magazine Paris Match.

French military sources said the two photographers attempted to cross from the Anglo-French to the Egyptian line with a party exchanging wounded.

They were in a jeep and were fired upon by the Egyptians. Their jeep ran into a nearby canal.

Nation's Veterans Honor Comrades At Cenotaphs

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

At hundreds of cenotaphs under wintry skies Canada's veterans and hosts of civilians Sunday paid tribute to their comrades and relatives who died in two world wars and in Korea.

The ceremony in Ottawa, though graced by more prominent figures was typical of those in communities across the country.

Like most it began in the early afternoon, instead of the traditional 11 a.m., in order to avoid conflict with morning church services, but in other ways it followed the pattern established through the years.

Nearly 10,000 persons attended the Ottawa ceremony, held at the National Memorial to Canada's war dead. Governor-General Massey placed a wreath at the base of the memorial, standing head bowed for a few moments. He was followed by Mrs. A. T. Reynolds of Chatham, Ont., whose wreath was for the mothers of Canada. Mrs. Reynolds' three sons were killed during the Second World War.

FLAG IN TATTERS

At Montreal 44 wreaths were placed at the city cenotaph in Dominion Square after a two-minute silence began with a cannon blast from Mount Royal.

At Fredericton, which kept to the morning observances, Major H. S. Wright urged a "living memorial" of continued service in the country's defence and help to survivors of dead veterans.

In London, Ont., the ceremony had an element of immediacy as 90 soldiers, only hours away from their departure as part of Canada's contribution to the United Nations police force in the Middle East, were unable to attend the ceremony with their comrades.

BALLOON SOARS TO RECORD ALTITUDE

Commander Morton L. Lewis and Lt. Commander Malcolm D. Ross (left) are shown as they entered the U.S. Navy's plastic "Sky Hook" balloon at Rapid City, S.D., for aflight which set a world's record height of 76,000 feet. The two naval officers made an emergency landing in the sandhills near Brownlee, Nebraska, 140 miles from their take-off point, where the aluminum gondola suspended from the balloon began to spin out of control and continued to rise. They were picked up by a navy helicopter which had tracked the "space laboratory" balloon during its four-hour trip. The flight was aimed at gathering data to improve flying safety at high altitude rather than to attempt a record. (Central Press Canadian).

All Rebellious Hungary Held In Iron Grip of Soviet Arms, Reds Control All Major Roads

Editors note: AP correspondent George Bookwood arrived in Vienna Sunday night with the following account of the Hungarian revolution's last tragic days.

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

VIENNA (AP) — The Soviet Army today holds all rebellious Hungary in its iron grip.

Foreign diplomats in Budapest estimate 13 Soviet divisions are now in Hungary. There were two in the country when the revolt erupted Oct. 23.

As the revolution went into its 21st day, there were about 4,000 Russian tanks on the Hungarian plain, with 1,000 more in reserve on the Soviet side of the Hungarian frontier. Foreign diplomats in Budapest estimated the Russian air forces included about 200,000 men. They control every major crossroad in the nation.

Western correspondents driving back from Budapest to the Austrian frontier were checked time after time by Russian patrols. While one car — going over a field to them, their cars were searched for arms.

People in the streets cheered the foreign cars in the convoys.

Hungarians shouted "Freedom for Hungary!" and "We want help!"

Budapest is a city in mourning. Black flags are flying from most buildings. At many streets corners there are hastily dug graves where those mowed down by Russian fire are temporarily buried.

A group of Hungarian refugees crossing into Austria said fighting was heavy in the streets when they fled the capital Saturday afternoon.

They reported the Russians were using new troops, mainly Mongols.

Soviet tanks fired phosphorous ammunition, touching off great fires in several Budapest districts.

They said the Russians were as hungry as the rebels. Soviet soldiers were seen leaving their tanks to beg for bread.

Hungarians are asking now whether there will be a reign of terror, with the puppet regime seeking to wipe out all traces of resistance. The Hungarians say the Communists would have to kill the whole nation.

One nationalist said: "We have stamped out communism and now there is only patriotic Hungarians left. The few who still follow Moscow's orders will never be able to rule this country without the Red Army to do the dirty work for them."

Even Soviet troops and officers were shocked at the spectacle of Soviet heavy weapons turned on the city's workers, said Peter Strasser, one of the refugees. One of the Austrian Parliament who left Budapest late Saturday night.

While some — guns were held to talk to many Russians.

Russian soldiers and officers appeared completely disgusted with this action against the Hungarians, he said. They commented: "They all said this war is 'nix gut' (no good).

He said one Soviet officer who had gone through the "liberation" of Hungary by the Russians in the Second World War, told him Russian soldiers were shocked "when they found themselves shooting plain Hungarian people — students and workers and women and children."

Another government, Strasser said, is in chaos, and "even Hungarian Communists themselves are fighting Russians now — in this revolution the whole Hungarian nation was up in arms."

Hungarians Have Lost a War But Revolution Not Defeated

Editors's note: Endre Marton, Associated Press resident correspondent in Budapest, escaped in the following story the result of Hungary's uprising against Soviet domination. A Hungarian national, Marton was released last August after 18 months in prison on "a Communist charge of espionage."

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Soviet-Hungarian war comes slowly to its end. The modern military might of a big power has crushed the resistance of 10,000,000 Hungarians equipped with obsolete weapons.

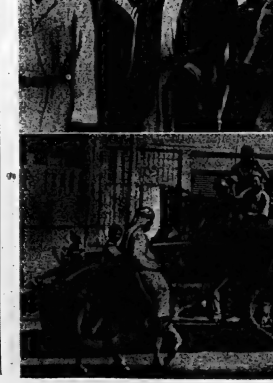
The war has been lost. But the revolution is not defeated.

The present government of Premier Janos Kadar is only too anxious to emphasize that it has nothing in common with Stalinism and its Hungarian representatives, Matyas Rakosi (now believed to be in Russia), .

Can the government persuade Hungarians to believe this? The answer is no.

Kadar has made desperate efforts to persuade other politicians —non – Communists as well as Communists—to join his "revolutionary" government. He has had no success so far.

Kadar's cabinet is snubbed by everyone. There is one reason: Kadar returned bringing a Russian tank. He is virtually no one can forgive this.



Neither Kadar nor the half-dozen Communist politicians forming his puppet government are anti-Stalinists although Kadar spent about four years in Rakosi's jail.

When I left Kadar in prison in August and was briefed on the political situation by Hungarian nationalists and other well - informed persons told me that Kadar—in spite of imprisonment—remained hostile to every trend of "liberalism."

It is amusing to note the passive resistance with which the youths who fought in the revolution wish Kadar and the Russians today.

Saturday I watched young university students pasting posters all over the city demanding Imre Nagy's return as premier and free elections. They threatened continued passive resistance.

UN General Assembly Starts Its Most Crucial Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The crisis in Hungary and the Middle East were the two main issues before the United Nations general assembly as it gathered for the opening today at 3 p.m. E.S.T. of its 1956 regular session. Hungarian charges and the British, French and Israeli military action in Egypt topped a list of 73 subjects awaiting assembly debate at the 11th annual three-month sitting, perhaps the most crucial in UN history.

The assembly stood ready to take up either crisis whenever Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold could report success or failure in his attempts to get UN observers into Hungary and a UN cease-fire police force into Egypt. External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson of Canada, who initiated the police force proposal, is reported flying from Ottawa for the session.

Admission of three new UN members and the annual Soviet bid to seat Communist China were expected at the opening meeting. Diplomatic sources said Canada already recommended for entry by the Security Council, were deemed certain to get the necessary two-thirds vote of approval in the assembly. This would raise the UN membership to 79.

But the yearly Soviet-bloc effort to oust the Chinese Nationalists and seat the Peiping Reds was another matter. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., head of the U.S. delegation, said on television Sunday night "I confidently expect that it will be defeated."

Besides the Hungarian and Middle East issues, controversial subjects on the assembly's agenda included the independence movements in French-ruled Algeria and the move for union with Greece in British-ruled Cyprus; the Indonesian claim to Dutch West New Guinea; the continued division of Korea and the big powers' vain efforts to agree on disarmament.

Alouettes Hold Nine-Point Edge Over Hamilton Cats

HAMILTON (CP)—Sam Etcheverry, the rifle man, became choosey of his targets Saturday and Montreal Alouettes overlooked hatchetmen smacked out a 30-21 win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The nine-point bulge for the Als was the biggest they held at any time in the first game of the Big Four Football final and Eastern Canada championship series. The second game of the two-game, total point series will be played in Montreal Saturday.

The eastern winner meets either Saskatchewan Roughriders or Edmonton Eskimos Nov. 24 in Toronto in the Grey Cup classic.

It was a pass-for-touchdown game almost all the way Saturday. Seemingly disdainful of Hal Patterson, ace Alouette pass receiver who was closely watched by the Cats, Etcheverry blithely tossed touchdown passes to Bob James, Joey Pal and Red O'Quinn.

O'QUINN SMOKES

The redhead from North Carolina—all but overshadowed this season by the brilliant Patterson—was in his element. O'Quinn took 11 passes for 153 yards, but Patterson had a field day of his real glory by snatching a lateral from fullback Pat Abbruzzi and scoring on 72 yards on a touchdown.

Defensively, the Als did a capable job. They stopped Cookie Gilchrist except for a few cases where he ramped the big Hamilton backfielder made.

But the Als had their hands full in trying to squelch the passing of Tony Curcillo. The Hamilton quarterback was on the tossing end of all three Tiger-Cat touchdowns—two by Garney Wrest and one by Hal Waggoner.

Bill Bewley helped the Montreal cause with a 36-yard field goal and three converts in four attempts. Hamilton's Steve Onchenchuk missed one convert in three tries and got a single when his bid for a 31-yard field goal went wide.

CATS LED EARLY

The Cats led only once in the game. Onchenchuk gave them a one-point margin early in the first quarter when his field-goal attempt sailed wide and Patterson conceded the point.

The Als snuffed this out. They went 61 yards in four plays for the first big payoff on Abbruzzi's lateral to Patterson. Tom Moran's interception of a pass by Cufcillo a few minutes later paved the way for Bewley's field goal and the Als' 10-1 first-quarter lead.

Montreal led 17-15 at the half and 26-21 after three quarters. It was a toss-up when the teams went into the final quarter but the Als had more offensive power left and O'Quinn scored the only touchdown of the last 15 minutes.

The second quarter was the Cats' best. They scored two touchdowns—both on Curcillo's passes to West—to Montreal's one. They finished off an 87-yard drive in five plays by popping the ball into West's hands from 26 yards out to whittle Als' margin to 10-8.

FUMBLE COSTLY

The precious points were lost when Curcillo fumbled on the Montreal 46. Joan Sheridan recovered for the Als and on first down Etcheverry hit James with a touchdown pass.

After the kickoff the Cats went 81 yards in seven plays for West's second touchdown, featured gains by Gilchrist, Tex Robinson and Curcillo and a pass to Ralph Toohy carried the Cats to the Montreal 43 from where Curcillo let go a pass to West deep in the end zone behind Montreal's Jack Dwyer.

Once more the Als came back after Cam Fraser's booming punt had driven them back to their seven-yard line. Passes to Patterson and O'Quinn carried the Als to their 39, from where Etcheverry hit Pal for a 71-yard pass-and-run touchdown play.

The Cats threatened again, cutting the Montreal lead to 24-21 when Curcillo passed to Waggoner for a touchdown from eight yards out, climaxing a 54-yard drive in which Gilchrist did most of the ballcarting and West took a pass good for 15 yards.

FINISH SCORING

The Als finally established their nine-point margin in the last quarter. Pal fumbled Fraser's kick on the Montreal 30 but Dwyer snapped up the ball and raced to the Hamilton 33. On second down O'Quinn took a pass in the clear but stumbled and fell on the 10. James made two yards through the line and Etcheverry then shot a short touchdown pass to O'Quinn.

O'Quinn's value on short passes was almost lost in the statistics, which showed Curcillo piling up 217 yards for the Cats through the air to Etcheverry's 221. Curcillo completed 20 of 35 passes and Sam 23 of 40.

By stopping Gilchrist at critical points, the Als had a surprising edge in yardage through rushing, 278 to Hamilton's 196. The margin was helped by James, who stole Abbruzzi's star role by lugging the ball for an average of nearly eight yards in 11 excursions along the ground. In all, the Als sounded 25 feet deeper to the Cats' 36.

EASTERN DIVISION TOP TEN

Bobby Attersley picked up two assists during the past week to take over the top spot in the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" scoring race. The Whitby forward now has five goals and 13 assists for 17 points. Last week's leader, Don Senior of Kingston, failed to get a point and dropped to second place with seven goals and eight assists. Ron Gagnon of Whitby, and Don Murray of Kingston, follow with 14 points each.

Gagnon, Pete Payette of Cornwall, Jack Giesebrecht of Pembroke, are tops in the goal department with eight each. Attersley's 13 assists leads that department.

Ottawa netminder Gillis Bolduc lowered his goals-against average to top the league with a 2.5 percentage.

DON'T PAY MORE FOR EXTRAS

When buying a used car it's quite easy to be impressed by extras and to somewhat overlook mechanical faults. We're all human — but a radio . . . a chrome plated spotlight . . . or a built-in ashtray can never compensate for a worn out engine or a faulty transmission.

Judge a car strictly on its appearance and mechanical merits, and if it has a few extras consider them as a bonus on a good deal.

At Pinder's we deal in QUALITY used cars and aren't particularly interested in the "trimmings". Radios and other extras are just as much a part of the deal as the tires or guarantee — WITHOUT ONE PENNY EXTRA COST.

Bulldozing Bruins Blast Way To National League Top; Win 6 In Row

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

TWO IN A ROW!

The McFarlands appear to be hitting their stride if two clean-cut victories over the weekend are an indication. Monday night they edged Belleville 4-3 and Saturday night Lambert Klose on Friday night and whipped their ancient rivals from Kingston 7-4 on Saturday evening.

Bep Guidolin's crew struck twice for a total of four-team goals and Gilbert and Minnie Menard fattened their scoring averages. The whole squad played heads-up hockey in both games and right now are commanding the respect of the whole league.

They should be in fine fettle for tomorrow night's tilt with the unbeaten Ottawa Canadiens, who hold three wins and a tie in the Eastern Senior "A" loop.

The McFarlands are the only team the starry Ottawa youngsters have yet to beat in senior hockey and with two straight victories under their belts the Macs should give Sammy Pollock's crew another spirited battle. Our side had the youngsters beaten in their first clash but a last second goal sent the lads into scoreless overtime.

Meanwhile the Cornwall Chevies sprang into life down east, coming up with a decisive 7-3 win over the league-leading Whitby Dunlops. The score indicates the Chevies could have won easily several times but Dunlops rallied and the near-unanimous opinion was that people would have you believe.

MINOR HOCKEY

Delegates to the twenty-third annual meeting of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association will see election by acclamation of a new secretary for the first time in thirteen years. Gary McLeod of Toronto will succeed Jack L. Christie as secretary of the O.M.H.A.

McLeod comes to minor hockey well equipped with administration experience. As employee of the Attorney-General's office for the past eighteen years, he has been secretary of the Toronto Softball League for twelve years. By co-incidence, Gary succeeds a man who has also been secretary of the Toronto Softball League prior to becoming connected with the O.M.H.A. Gary McLeod was also secretary of the Toronto Lacrosse Association for eight years and president of the Metropolitan Toronto A.S.A. for three years, resigning last spring to prepare for the O.M.H.A secretary's office. He is also a member of the OASA executive.

After thirteen years as OMHA secretary, Jack Christie is finally resigning. However, he has been nominated for the presidency, and will move into that office by acclamation. Other acclamations go to first vice-president Jack Bickle of Hamilton; second vice-president Frank Dodge of Thorold; third vice-president Ted Elmes of Galt; treasurer Leon Hyswell and registrar Jimmy Whisten of Toronto.

Seven sitting members and four new aspirants to office will contest the seven seats on the active executive. Present executive members Jerry Simmons (Grey-Bruce), Albert Watkin (Peterborough), Jim Austin (Stouffville), Doug Patterson (Stirling), Frank Cudmore (Wallaceburg), Jim Trott (Collingwood) and Ben Sanderson (Port Dover), will vie for election with George Haskett (Newmarket), Howard Hawes (Whitby), Bill Peachey (Parry Sound) and John Leask (Fort Erie).

Elections will take place at the OMHA convention to be held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on Saturday, November 17th.

Take Pair From Canadiens As Wings Beat Blues, Hawks; Leafs Win 4-1 Over Chicago

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings, tub-thumped as the big powers in the National Hockey League this year, were threatened today by the growing strength of a team that was supposed to be going nowhere—Boston Bruins.

The Bruins, expected by the experts to finish the 70-game schedule no better than fifth, have bulldozed their way to first place in the league race. It is the first time since 1947 they have been on top at about this time of the season. They have won six straight.

Nobody has felt their power more than Canadiens. Bruins took the Habs twice during the week-end, 3-1 in Montreal Saturday and 3-2 in Boston Sunday night.

The wins gave Boston a total of 19 points, one ahead of the second-place Wings and four up on the third-place Canadiens.

ALSO WON TWO

Red Wings beat Rangers 6-4 in Detroit Saturday and downed the Black Hawks 3-1 in Chicago Sunday night. In the week-end double-header, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Hawks 4-1 in Toronto Saturday.

The surprising Beantowners started their Sunday night feature 1:47 into the second period on Leo Labine's 672 baffled fans at Montreal. Boston goaltender Jim Henry took an unusual, stopping 25 shots after Claude Provost beat him with a 25-foot drive behind the net 14-second mark of the first period.

Bruins built up the score in the second period on goals by Jerry Toppazzini and Real Chevrefils. Don McKenney added the insurance goal on a breakaway in the third.

Saturday also was brilliant for the return game at Boston, before 13,909 fans. He made 30 saves while Canadiens accidentally directed 26 shots in the Montreal cage. The scoring came from Bruins' centre Lou Gardner, who got two goals, and Fleming Mackell. Bob Turner and Dickie Moore replied for the Canadiens.

BREAK GARDEN JINX

A turnout of 15,069 saw Wings break a year-long drought at New York Rangers. It was the first Detroit win in New York since March, 1955.

Left winger Lorne Ferguson produced two Detroit goals in Chicago as Hawks went down to their 11th defeat in 14 games. Lindsay picked up the other Wing goal.

Hawks had moved in front early in the second period when Johnny Wilson's 25-foot drive accidentally deflected into the cage by Howe.

Leafs, with a record of five wins and four ties in 13 games, were paced by left winger Sid Smith, veteran forward who almost didn't make the team this fall. Smith, who slumped to a mis-erable four goals last season after getting 23 the year before, scored twice.

Says Dublinski Will Be Ready Next Season

TORONTO (CP) — Quarterback Tom Dublinski of Toronto Argonauts, who missed the entire 1956 Big Four Football season, has had torn cartilage removed from his injured right knee and is expected to be in good shape for next year.

Dr. Larry Eckert, Argonauts' team doctor, said Sunday night he performed the operation on Dublinski last Thursday.

"He had a torn inner cartilage of the right knee as we suspected" Dr. Eckert said. "The operation was successful and I think Tom should be okay."

Dublinski, 32-year-old quarter who joined Argonauts two years ago from Detroit Lions of the National Football League, injured the knee in a pre-season exhibition game against British Columbia Lions.

Golden Gaels Whip Varsity Force Playoff Next Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Queen's University Golden Gaels tipped over well on their way to a second consecutive Senior Intercollegiate football championship.

They went a good part of the distance to that goal Saturday as they took coach Dalt White's previously-unbeaten University of Toronto Blues apart for a 19-12 win that forced a playoff next week for the title.

Blues lost seven men with injuries. Three of the players were so badly hurt they will miss the playoff. The win pushed Blues to play next week in Kingston's Richardson Stadium, where they have not won a game in three years.

Playing in semi-obscurity before 2,500 fans at McGill Stadium were two former powers in the league, McGill Redmen and University of Western Ontario Mustangs, both fighting to avoid the cellar.

Redmen, though outgained along the ground and in the air, edged the Mustangs 15-8, to move into third place with their second win in six games.

At Kingston, Al Kocman and Ron Stewart scored touchdowns for Queen's. Jocko Thompson kicked two field goals and a convert. For Blues Harry Wilson and Al Risk each scored a touchdown, both unconverted.

The 11,000 students and Alumni who packed Richardson Stadium saw Gaels start fast and hit hard as the first play told the story of the game.

Halfback Rich Bethune, on the first play from scrimmage, took a handoff and headed towards the centre of the line. Gary Lewis, hard, Bethune dropped the ball, half Kocman took it 40 yards for a touchdown and Bethune headed off with a broken arm.

The game was a personal triumph for two Queen's stars.

Stewart's touchdown gave him 36 points for his final year and put him among the all-time top scorers for Gaels. The fourth-quarter touchdown came after an afternoon that saw him gain 119 yards.

CASUALTY LIST

Thompson's seven points were an indication of the ability at place-kicking and punting that has made him the league's top booter for years.

For Blues the injured list read: Bethune, broken arm; Iackle Bill Miller, broken arm; centre Bill McIntyre, torn knee ligaments; all are finished for the year; Wilson, pulled calf muscle; half Ross Woods, torn shoulder muscles; centre John Chisholm, torn knee cartilage; half Norm Williams, torn finger tendon.

The Queen's ground attack was the big margin as quarter John Moschetti tried only four passes while the defensive team intercepted five of the 23 thrown by Gaels' captain and centre, hit him Wilson and Larry Joynt.

In the second half Moschetti and Bob Holland scored touchdowns for McGill and Sandrelius added a single. Both touchdowns were unconverted but Leo Kosyk made up the misses with a safety touch.

Bill Britton went over from the two for Mustangs' only touchdown and Neil Desborough converted. Mustangs outgained McGill 244 yards to 204 but could not carry through in McGill territory.

CANCEL GAMES

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss Ice Hockey Federation Saturday called off three matches which the Russian national team was to have played against Swiss clubs between Canada and New Year, to protest against the Russian repression of Hungary.

Sasky Riders Edge Eskimos In Thrill-Packed West Opener

EDMONTON (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders have a chance to wrap up their first Western Interprovincial Football Union title since 1951 when they meet Edmonton Eskimos here tonight in the second game of their best-of-three final.

Riders squeezed out a 23-22 victory over the 1954-55 Canadian champions Saturday in a thrill-packed opener at Regina which saw the winning points scored in the dying minutes of the game. If Eskimos square the series with a triumph tonight, the saw-off game will be played here next Saturday night.

Odds now have swung in favor of the Riders in view of Eskimo injuries in the first game. Halfback Kent Lindley is out of the series with a shoulder separation while all-star defensive end Frank Anderson and tackle Roger Nelson are doubtful starters.

Saturday's game, watched by 13,800 fans, was highlighted by brilliant passing, hard running, fumbles and a couple of pass interference call against Edmonton, which Eskimo coach Frank Ivy later termed as "lousy" and "ridiculous."

The usual mild-mannered Ivy protested the call which gave Riders possession on the seven-yard line.

Meanwhile, Frank Filchock, who was signed Saturday morning for another year as Rider coach, said he was "very happy" about the win although he considered his team played a "poor game."

Halfback Bobby Marlow and guard Reggie Whitehouse were the Rider heroes. Marlow plunged one yard for a touchdown which tied the score at 22-22 with only one second remaining in the game. Whitehouse booted the game-winning convert.

Ken Carpenter jumped Riders' other two touchdowns, while Larry Isbell kicked a single and Whitehouse added a field goal to his all-important convert.

Elusive Bellie Miles, with two, and Ted Tully scored Edmonton's touchdowns. Ted Joe Mobra converted two and booted a single, while quarter Jackie Parker also kicked a single.

The two most entertaining players on the field—although they failed to score—were Rider quarterback Frank Tripucka and Edmonton fullback Johnny Bright. Tripucka sparked Riders' fourth-quarter uphill drive which wiped out Edmonton's 21-0 lead. Bright, smashing into the Rider line with reckless abandon, picked up 130 yards rushing.

Eskimos had a 19-17 edge in first downs and had a fair margin in over-all territorial play, gaining a total of 415 yards to Riders' 327. Eskx made 267 yards rushing to Saskatchewan's 107 but were behind 220-148 on passing. Parker completed seven of 19 throws while Tripucka clicked on 15 of 25.

Weekend Stars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sid Smith, Toronto, scored two goals in Toronto's 4-1 victory over Chicago Saturday.

Terry Sawchuk, Boston, performed brilliantly in the Bruins' weekend sweep over Montreal, 3-1 and 3-2.

Cal Gardner, Boston, scored two goals in Boston's 3-2 Sunday victory.

Marcel Pronovost, Detroit defenseman, scored one goal and assisted on another goal in a victory over New York Saturday.

Lorne Ferguson, Detroit scored twice in a 3-1 victory over Chicago Sunday.

McFarlands Take Over 2nd Place With Rousing 7-4 Win Over Kingston

Gilbert Spearheads Attack With Two-Goal Performance; Ottawa Here Tomorrow Night

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Outplaying the opposition in every department, the Belleville McFarlands whipped Kingston CKLC's 7-4 in the Limestone City on Saturday night to take over undisputed possession of second place in the OHA Eastern Ontario Senior "A" hockey loop.

This was the second decisive victory in as many nights for the McFarlands and leaves them trailing only the Whitby Dunlops in the six-team group. They lead the third place Pembroke entry by one point. The loss was the fourth consecutive for the slipping Elcee's who have gathered only one point out of their last possible ten.

Belleville was in command most of the way dispite a brief 3-1 Kingston lead in the opening stanza. Guidolin's crew knotted the count before the period ended, took a comfortable 5-3 lead in the second and bottled the home team by a 2-1 margin in the final twenty minutes. Whenever Kingston drew close, the Macs would again widen the margin.

Although the winners did not check as closely as they did in Friday night's home victory, their attack was better organized than Kingston's, their defence was more difficult to penetrate and goalie Don Larin robbed the Elcee forwards when they did get through.

Lucien Gilbert spearheaded the victor's attack. The hard-shooting winger was the game's lone two-goal man, both coming in the second when his stick took the lead to keep. He also picked up one assist. Centreman Floyd Crawford and forward Minnie Menard each had a goal and two assists while Willie Menard added one and one. Andre Morrisette and John Muretich scored the other goals with Maurice Bellinger getting a pair. Roy Guidolin, Real Larouche and Lionel Botley also drew assists.

No Kingston player had more than one point. Bob Macey, Don Thompson, Don Bellringer and Chiarelli netted the goals while assists went to Jack Irvine, Archie Richardson and Jerry Moore.

Referee Fred Pevreau of Toronto handed out 12 penalties in all with Belleville drawing eight. This included a misconduct to playing-coach Bep Guidolin at the 5:30 of the third period for a heated discussion with the Kingston time-keeper. The centre clock stopped while play was in progress.

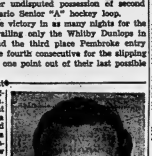
The 2,486 paying customers were just settling in their seats when Belleville opened the game-scoring. Crawford took a passout from back of the net by Minnie Menard and backhanded the disc by Brooks at 1.02. They kept the pressure on until Benoit was tagged with an interference penalty at 3.17, then Larin shone in turning back the Elcees.

Chiarelli evened the count at 11.59 for Kingston, slapping Irvine's pass along the ice. Larin partly blocked the shot before it trickled home. Less than two minutes later Don Thompson put his club in front when he picked up a loose puck as Belleville carried from their own zone. The surprise long shot arching over Larin's left shoulder as he moved a fraction too late.

Willie Menard, who turned in another sparkling performance, completed a three-way play with Benoit and Crawford at 12.39 for the 2-2 score. He went in alone on the Kingston defence, barged his way through and slid the rubber home with one hand as Brooks went down.

The McFarlands struck quickly in the second period. Lucien Gilbert netted his first at 1.54, drilling home Larouche's short drop pass after Crawford started the play at centre ice. Morrisette made it 4-2 at 3.13 when he wedged a close-in screened shot by Bert Brooks' short side, Botley drawing the assist.

Kingston took over the play at this point and Hub Macey received a pass from Richardson as he skated by the local net to slide it under Larin. Crawford was thumbed for high sticking at 5.30 but Larin's terrific saves and excellent checking by Botley, Benoit, Minnie Menard and Fayette halted Kingston's sustained drive.



Gilbert made it 5-3 with the prettiest play of the night at 9.21. Willie Menard passed to Benoit from his own zone after eveidding his check. Benoit relayed the pass to Gilbert at the opposing blueline and the latter caught the defence flat to go in alone and dyke Brooks.

The Belleville defence trio of Botley, Benoit and Crawford played most of the game without a fourth helper. Guidolin's skates were left to Belleville, not arriving until the third period, then he drew the penalty early in the final session. The three played outstanding hockey throughout.

Bellringer's high shot bounced off Larin's shoulder for the loser's final tally. The clock read 6.16 when the rubber fell to the ice and rolled into the twine. Thompson was sitting out a minor sentence at this time but Minnie Menard came back at 7.33 to bang home Gilberts rebound.tt

Gilbert's rebound before the defenceman returned.

Jean-Paul Fayette was off for hooking at 11.43 but Toppazzini fired directly at Larin with the netminder down when he was in alone. Minnie Menard came close to another Belleville marker shortly after. He went in, was hooked from behind by Thompson with the puck sliding behind Brooks and hitting the goal post. John Muretich added another goal at 18.01 of the third for the 7-4 score. He tipped in Minnie Menard's shot after Guidolin started the play.

Kingston's defence looked rather weak without the services of Joe Levrandoski, sitting out the game with a groin injury.

Belleville outshot the Elcees by a narrow 30-28 over the route.

The McFarlands face a weak, heavy action, They play host to Ottawa Canadiens on Tuesday, to Whitby Dunlops on Friday, then meet the Pembroke Lumber Kings in Pembroke on Saturday.

St. Michael's Winger Scores 5 Goals In 7-1 Victory Over Peterborough

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A young right winger who switched to Toronto St. Michael's College Majors this year from doing his best to uphold a fine tradition in Montreal they developed spectacular right wingers.

No introduction is needed for such stars as Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion of the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens.

The outstanding junior is Bob Boucher, an 18 - year - old Ottawa native who scored 70 goals and had 35 assists with the baby Habs last season. He fired five goals Sunday as St. Michael's dumped Peterborough Petes 7-1 at Toronto in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Boucher shot two goals in each of the first and second periods, added another in the third. In another game at Toronto, the Marlboros drew a chance to gain on league-leading Guelph Biltmores, bowing 3-0 to Hamilton Cubs.

TEXAS CLIMB

The only other weekend game saw St. Catharines move out of the cellar Saturday on a 6-1 victory over Barrie Flyers.

Majors took a 3-0 lead in the first period and never looked back. Other St. Michael's marksmen were Louis Angotti and Bob McMaster. Jim Mikol scored for Petes to break Bob Savage's shutout early in the third period.

The Marlboros-Hamilton game was a scoreless tie until 18:16 of the last period when Brian Smith connected to give Cubs a 1-0 lead.

FIRST SHUTOUT

Marlboros pulled goalie Les Broderick in favor of a sixth attacker, but the move backfired as John Roe scored.

Hamilton netminder Carl Wetzel handled 17 shots in recording his first shutout of the season. Broderick made 28 saves.

At St. Catharines Saturday, 22 penalties were called in a hard-fought game. Bobby Hull and Don Cosburn led St. Catharines with two goals each, Gary McDermott and Ed Hoekstra getting the others. Tommy Black fired the only goal for Barrie.

TENNIS STAR HURT

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. (AP) Art Larsen, former U.S. tennis champion, was in critical condition today with head injuries suffered in a motor scooter accident. He did not regain consciousness after his imported Italian scooter overturned on Eastshore Freeway Saturday night.

Dodgers Rout Jap All-Stars

TOKYO (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers bade farewell to Tokyo today with four home runs and a 12-2 romp over Japan's All-Stars.

Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges, Rocky Campanella and Pee-wee Reese each homered in Brooklyn's last appearance in Tokyo and next-to-last game in Japan.

TOWEEL BEATS HOWARD

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Willie Toweel, 131, Johannesburg, retained his British Empire lightweight title when he decisively outpointed Richie (Kid) Howard, 133, the Canadian titleholder from Halifax, in a 15-round bout Saturday night.

SUGAR RAY WINS

Hamilton Coach Scouts West After Larks Whip Cats 30-21

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats left Saturday just after his team was defeated 30-21 in the first game of the Big Four Football final to scout possible Western opponents in the Grey Cup game.

Trimble will watch tonight's second game of the Western Conference final between Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos. He then will return here to prepare his men for the second game of their total-point series with Montreal Alouettes. Assistant coach Nobby Wirkowski will stay to keep tab on Edmonton and Regina.

Before leaving, Trimble talked with quarterback Bernie Faloney, of 349 at Kensington, a spectator at Saturday's game. Trimble declined to say whether the ex-Edmonton Eskimo might be put plyed with Tiger-Cats next year. Faloney, now with the United States Air Corps, had a great year with Edmonton's Grey Cup champions in 1954 but saw no action in 1955 due to an injured knee. However, he was at top form this season as an all-army quarterback.

WINS PELACO GOLF

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia Saturday won the $5,000 Pelaco golf tournament with a 36-hole 11-under-par total of 349 at Kensington.

Frank Thorogood builds for the future

In 43 years, foreman carpenter Frank Thorogood has seen many improvements in building methods.

"Power tools, pre-fabricated sections and the use of new structural materials make all the difference," says Mr. Thorogood. "Developments like these have simplified our work—and make for stronger, more fire-resistant buildings."

In building for the future, Mr. Thorogood has enjoyed still another advantage — through the wider range of financial protection he can give his family because of modern developments in life insurance.

Life insurance gives today's families many new benefits. It not only affords them protection that is more flexible, but can also provide for the children's education, for safeguarding the home mortgage, for arranging retirement income and for other important purposes.

You'll get more help than ever from your life underwriter. He is a skilled adviser who acts as your personal representative, carefully planning your life insurance protection to fit your family's individual needs.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies in Canada have progressed with the times . . . meeting the needs of people in all walks of life.

Life insurance companies are a major source of mortgage funds for Canadian families — last year they invested four hundred and sixty-five million dollars in this way.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It has become customary this season for Owen Sound Mercurys to roll over and play dead every time they are scheduled for a game in the Western Division of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A series.

Saturday night the Mercs, who have won only one game this year, produced one of their best scoring shows, netting six goals. But the other team got twice as many.

Windsor Bulldogs won 12-6 as Joe Klukay and Reg Abbot each fired three goals and moved to within three points of the first-place Stratford Indians.

Meanwhile, at Kitchener, the Dutchmen moved into a second-place tie with Chatham maroons, two points behind Stratford, by dumping Maroons 4-2.

SAULT TAKES TWO

In the Northern Ontario series, Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds edged to within striking distance of the leading North Bay Trappers by taking two games, 3-1 and 4-3, from the cellar-dwelling Ste. Marie Indians.

Second-place Sudbury moved to within four points of North Bay, whipping Trappers 9-2 Saturday.

The Eastern Division of the OHA series saw Whitby Dunlops extend their first-place lead to six points. Dunlops defeated Pembroke Lumber Kings 5-3 Saturday but dropped a 6-5 decision to Cornwall Cheviies Sunday.

Belleville McFarlands whipped Kingston CKLY's 7-4 Saturday to move into second place.

REMAIN TIED

Finally, two games in the Porcupine Mines League left Timmins Flyers tied for second place with Alitibi Eskimos. South Porcupine Porkies lead the league by one point.

Last-place Kapuskasing Huskies dropped their sixth game in eight starts Saturday, a 5-3 victory by Timmins. And Sunday, Alitibi thumped South Porcupine 4-3.

At Windsor, Bob Brown and Kent Keyes each shot two goals for the rampaging Bulldogs, while Lou Bendo and Jerry McCallum had singles. Bill Magan and Ed Lozitit each had two for Owen Sound, with Jerry Field and Ansold Smith scoring the others.

HORECK LEADS WAY

Greyhounds had a profitable weekend. Pete Horeck scored two goals Saturday, Don McLean, Graham Joyce and John Lumley bagging the others. Russ Kowalchuck scored for Indians.

Sunday, McLean shot two more and Ron Lay and John Bailey had the others for Hounds. John Orlando and Eddie Joss potted goals for Indians.

Sudbury Wolves, North Bay's single-game winning streak Saturday, Andy Milne, Alf Baccari and Frank O'Grady each had goals for Wolves, while singles were scored by Bobby Forhan, Hub Beaudry and Yacker Flynn. Stan Maxwell and Don Hogan sank the North Bay goals.

Whitby's victory was sparked by Charles Myles who had two goals. Fred Etcher, Bus Gagnon and Frank Bonello scored the others. Jim Martell, Ted Hildebrand and Jack Giesebrecht fired the Pembroke markers.

LATE SPURT

At Cornwall, Chevvies exploded for four goals in the third period to down Cornwall, who had two, Rheal Savard and Mort Belmore.

It was Belleville's second straight victory at Kingston. Lorico scored a pair for McFarlands and singles coming from Lloyd Crawford, Willie Menard, Morriscttie, Minnie Mills and Norm Pilostich.

Kingston goals were scored by Don Thompson, Frank Chiarelli, Hub Macey and Don Bellringer.

At South Porcupine, Bill Scott, Gordie Onotsky, Chick Cecchini and Doug Gibson got the much-needed goals for Alitibi, while Eddie Montigny and Gordie McGinn scored for South Porcupine.

Athletes Leave For Australia

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first contingent of Canada's Olympic Games' athletes left for Australia by air Saturday after a two-hour delay caused by fog and a wait for the weightlifters to arrive from Montreal.

The 65-member party comprised the track and field team, rowers, the basketball team, weightlifters and officials.

Officials included Ken Farmer, Montreal, president of the Canadian Olympic Association; James Worrall, Toronto, general-manager of the Canadian team; Howard Radford, Montreal, assistant general manager; and Myrtle Cook Mcdonald, Montreal, women's chaperone.

Although Canada isn't expected to do much better than its 24th placing in the last Olympics, there was nothing unhappy or pessimistic about the contestants.

All thought Canada's rowing team might surprise everybody, particularly in the eights.

All told, Canada is sending 94 athletes, 36 less than the number who competed in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

The second and final contingent of 36 competitors and officials leaves here Tuesday.

Hungarian Flag Flies Over Gateway to Olympic Village

MELBOURNE (AP)—The traditional flag of Hungary flew over the entrance to the Olympic village today after the head of the Hungarian squad arrived in Australia and "requested" it be substituted for the Communist banner.

Philip Miskin, commandant of the village where the competing athletes are quartered, said the change was made after a phone call from the Hungarian chief de mission, on his arrival in Darwin, to the acting head of the Hungarian delegation here.

Presumably, the order came as a result of the new Communist regime's concession in Budapest that henceforth the official flag of Hungary would be the traditional red, white and green banner with the Kossuth crest.

The change may have cleared the way for Hungarian participation in the Games, which begin Nov. 22. Two athletes here, many of whom fought as rebels against Russian troops, had vowed Sunday that they would not compete under the Hungarian Communist emblem.

TAKE FLAG DOWN

Miskin said the Communist flag was actually taken down by two of the Hungarian competitors who had accompanied him and two of his officials to the flag pole.

"Two of the Hungarians were unable to hide their feelings. They produced a flag similar to the traditional flag we carried, took down the other and ran up the new one."

This flag had seven scrous it a thin, black strip, which the Hungarians said was in honor of those who died fighting the Communists in the revolution.

Later in the day, the flag bearing the mourning stripe was taken down by Olympic officials and replaced by a traditional Hungarian national flag without the stripe.

Meanwhile, several thousand Hungarian - Australians packed Essendon Airport to await the plane from Darwin. The visitors carried flowers and Hungarian flags with the mourning band attached. All the men wore black ties.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Corbin Lock defeated Holway's B.A. 5-3 in City Industrial Hockey League game over the weekend. In another game Osterhout Steels blanked Don's Delivery 5-0.

Providence Whips Buffalo 5-0

Providence Reds, bidding to repeat as American Hockey League champions, are making a rush on first place and the early slow start and, as usual, the key men in their move are goalie Johnny Bower and centre Camille Henry.

Bower gave up only one goal during the weekend as Providence defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-0 Saturday night and turned back Cleveland Barons 4-1 Sunday night. Henry was in on five of his team's nine goals—scored two, set two and assisting on two.

Hershey Bears, meanwhile, split with Rochester Americans, winning 7-5 Saturday and losing 3-2 Sunday. Buffalo Bisons beat Springfield Indians 7-1 Sunday and Springfield defeated Cleveland 4-2 Saturday.

At Buffalo Saturday, Paul Larivee got two goals—Henry assisting each time—while Ray Ross, Red Johnson and Henry got the others.

At Providence Sunday, Henry provided the Reds' winning margin by himself, scoring the first two goals before Bill Sheets got Cleveland's lone goal. Larivee and Roy Cyr got the others for Providence.

Gerry Ehman scored two for Springfield against the Bisons and Harry Pidhirny, Bob Sabourin, George Boudrias and Duke Anderson getting the others. Bo Elik and Fred Glover scored two each for Cleveland and the other was by Danny Poliziani.

Buffalo scorers Sunday were Ken Wharram, Chuck Blair, Pete Conacher, Ed Slowinski, Eric Pogue, Sam Bottari and Bob Bronson. Jimmy Anderson got the Springfield goal.

At Hershey Saturday, Willie Marshall and Arnie Kullman each scored three goals for the Bears. Bob Solinger got the other goal while Ken Hurst, Paul Masnick and Hec Lalanda scored for the Americans.

Rochester picked up its fourth victory in five games Sunday night, on a pair of goals by Gerry Hannigan and one by Joe Lund after Lorne Davis and Larry Zeidel had scored for Hershey.

Dutchies Defeat London Lords

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The devastating combination of quarterback Bob Celeri and halfback Billy Graham Saturday led Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to a 28-7 victory over London Lords in the opening of games for their bestof-three series for the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union crown.

Celeri set up three Dutchmen touchdowns with great passing and moved them deep into Lords' territory on three other occasions. Graham, a fullback high-scorer in senior Canadian football with 157 points during the regular schedule, plunged for two scores and kicked three converts.

The second game will be played in Kitchener Wednesday night.

Celeri unleashed an offensive that Lords couldn't handle. Dutchmen were ahead 21-0 before London got its only touchdown.

London quarterback Indian Jack Jacobs didn't throw a touchdown pass Saturday. He pitched out to halfback Jack Conway in the third quarter. Conway threw on the dead run to Ed Dearmon, who caught the ball at the Kitchener five and went over standing up for the lone London score. Jacobs converted.

Dutchmen ran wild in the second quarter to open the scoring, getting three touchdowns in quick succession.

A long pass from Celeri to halfback Don Loucks, taking play from the Kitchener 37 to the Lords 11 put Dutchmen in position to score their first touchdown. Three plays later, Graham crashed over for the score. He converted.

Then Lords bobbled the kickoff and Kitchener's Nat Pegman recovered. Celeri hit Syl O'Hara with a pass on the one and Don Salmon ran over on the next play to score.

Before the half ended, Graham scored on a 12-yard end sweep and converted to give Dutchmen a 20-0 lead. Celeri kicked a single for Dutchmen in the third.

Quebec League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Quebec Hockey League is rapidly boiling down to a battle between two teams—Quebec Aces and Chicoutimi Saguenecns.

The Saguenecns pulled to within three points of the first-place Aces Sunday by defeating Montreal Royals 5-3 while the Aces were playing to a 2-2 tie with Shawinigan Falls. In the third game Sunday, Trois - Rivieres Lions missed a chance to move out of the cellar when they bowed 4-3 to Ottawa Canadiens, associate league members.

The weekend results left Quebec at the top with 21 points, followed by Chicoutimi with 18, Montreal with 11, Shawinigan Falls with eight and Trois - Rivieres with seven.

"THE MOUNTAIN"

In Color and VistaVision

AT THE BELLE — Spencer Tracy portrays a French guide and mountain man in "The Mountain", playing tonight for seven days at the Belle Theatre. Filmed in the Italian Alps, the picturesque color VistaVision suspense drama is reported the highest peak of the French Alps.

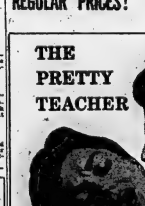
Swiss Back In Olympics

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss Olympic Committee decided Sunday to participate in the Melbourne Olympic Games, reversing its earlier decision.

The executive board of the Swiss Olympic Committee had decided to withdraw from the Melbourne Games as a protest against the Russian invasion of Hungary.

The decision led to a wave of protests throughout the country and finally caused the change of mind.

PROTEST INACTIVITY



MONTREAL (CP) — Some 800 Hungarian Canadians demonstrated Sunday in front of the United States consulate here in protest of "the unwillingness of the United States to give active help" to the rebels in Hungary. Three leaders were received by U.S. consul Paul T. Meyer. He said they were orderly and only wanted present their case on the Hungarian revolt.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, Nov. 13, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This can be an interesting and responsive day if you think smartly, make sensible plans and work consistently. But be careful in expenditures, investments, finances.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Stop long enough to examine carefully what is ahead of you, then handle tasks in the order of urgency, importance. Meet competitors, seek new accounts, clients, business. You can gain now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This is a good time for intelligent management, conferences, observing those who are advancing, and holding get-together with those in your own business or household to ascertain where to make improvements.

June 22 to June 23 (Cancer) — Though your Moon advises caution in personal matters, the Sun and Mercury sponsor keenness of mind, research, study, advancing in both new and familiar work, activities. Ahead!

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your Sun's and Mercury's fine positions make for fruitful, stimulating associations. Be mindful of essential details and plans, as you make the steady progress possible now. Avoid extravagance.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Bright, encouraging prospects for your special talents and interests. Without straining, step ahead in whatever your plans. Added work and responsibilities need not cause anxiety.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Heed advice to Taurus. Much will depend upon your disposition and sensibility. You are doing how you plan and work. Get essentials and urgent tasks done first, then quietly take other obligations in proper order. Fine mental matters can be handled productively now. A fine day for negotiations, for skilled and general work. Mechanics, builders, miners among many favored.

November 23 to December 21— (Sagittarius) — Your Jupiter's aspect stresses caution in suggestions, assuming new responsibilities. Otherwise, the day will be fine for hard work, improvements, everyday essentials.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn)— Your Saturn's helpful aspect and other friendly rays offer fresh opportunities for new achievement. Your especial interests and work of a general useful nature sponsored.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Be as ambitious and acquisitive as your prospects warrant and you can have more gains (perhaps unexpected advancement) than anticipated. It's up to you and your efforts.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Day can be either gainful or otherwise — depending on how you plan and work. Get essentials and urgent tasks done first, then quietly take other obligations in proper order. Fine prospects.

You born today possess tenacity, determination and very high principles; are usually fair and honorable. Curb a tendency to think your way the only right one. You may be inclined to overwork. Guard against this; safeguard health sensibly and mental resources will remain potent. You can accomplish in any field you choose and for which you train. Birthdate: Robert Louis Stevenson, novelist; Edw. Booth, tragedian.

FIRST TROOPS

While the UN troops marched time, Moscow kept drumming out threats to send "volunteer" Communist airmen, bankers and artillerymen to fight alongside the Egyptians unless the British, Israeli and French soldiers quit Egypt quickly.

Communist China said 250,000 Chinese volunteers—"sons of thousands of them former soldiers"—were willing to go to Egypt.

Uneasy quiet returned to the cease-fire line 25 miles south of Port Said, with Egyptian, Israelian and British-French forces are entrenched. The armistice was broken Sunday by three hours of fire from Egyptian lines and an answering concentration from the British and French.

Officers of the UN police force forming at Naples, Italy, made plans to take over occupation duties in Egypt. A total of 180 troops from three of the 17 countries participating in the force were ready to fly to Egypt to begin the job. They said they were scheduled to leave Tuesday, but Maj.-Gen. Burns said the force will remain in Italy until Egypt gives consent for it to land.

WANTS DETAILS

EGYPT gave "provisional approval" Friday to the idea of the police force but wanted the details of its operation first. It also spelled out before giving the final approval.

Asked at a press conference in Jerusalem, his former post as head of the UN truce supervision organization in Palestine, whether force had been set up and the training arrangements with Egypt, Gen. Burns replied:

"I do not believe anything that cannot be cleared up."

The general said he had been co-operative and had not, to Burns' knowledge made prior British-French withdrawal with the Suez Canal Zone a condition for entry of the UN force.

With Egyptian approval, Burns said, 10 observers from the Palestine truce supervision organization already are en route to Egypt.

DIRECT TALK

In Cairo, acceptance of the police force was reported to be the major topic of discussion in a minute meeting of Nasser's cabinet Sunday night. The Egyptian government spokesman said Egypt is continuing direct negotiations with UN representative Dag Hammarskjold in New York about the formation of the force, its tasks and the withdrawal of British and French troops.

Israel, which has promised to turn over to the UN troops the vast Sinai Peninsula it occupied in lightning operations a week ago, hurried to haul home captured Egyptian equipment before the UN forces arrived.

There was speculation in Western circles in London that the Soviet Union might be shifting its main attention from Egypt to other Arab countries. These observers doubted Moscow would send "volunteers" to Egypt, but the other Arab nations are outside the sphere of the UN police operation. President Kiementi Vorcahllov's recent promise to give Egypt "all the necessary assistance" was seen as a possible clue to a new Soviet drive in such Arab lands as Syria and Jordan.

RADNERS LEAVE

NEW YORK (AP)—Prince and Princess Rainier of Monaco boarded the liner Constitution for Europe Wednesday after a two-month U.S. visit. They said they were still undecided on names for their child, expected in February, but had purchased plenty of baby clothes.

Eldorado

ELDORADO—Mrs. Rd. Post and Mrs. Arthur Acorn, Karen and Gale, of Marmora, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCann.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Robinson, also Mrs. Frank Robinson, and Mrs. Martha Robinson spent the weekend in Chatham, and attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Browning. Mr. Donald Fox, of Trenton, spent the weekend with his father, Mr. Jam. Fox.

The community was shocked on Sunday to hear of the accident of Wilbur Bullock, up to go to Egypt. Unsay quiet returned to the cease-fire line 25 miles south of Port Said, with Egyptian, Israelian and British-French forces are entrenched. The armistice was broken Sunday by three hours of fire from Egyptian lines and an answering concentration from the British and French.

WHITE'S DISTRICT
Bayside W.M.S. Presents Gift to Departing Member

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Casey Ketcheson was hostess to the ladies of the Bayside Woman's Missionary Society on Wednesday afternoon with the 1st vice-president presiding.

The devotional service was taken by Mrs. Clifton Rush, who gave a reading in preparation for the Scripture, Revelations 2: 1-10 and 3:14 - 21 read by Mrs. Walter Jones.

Mrs. Everett Nicolson gave the first chapter of the study book, "East from Burma."

The secretary, Mrs. Donald Reilly gave the minutes of September and October meetings which were approved. The roll call was answered by eight members with three visitors present.

The thank-offering and collection amounted to $7.10 and a systematic collection was also taken. One member paid for the missionary monthly.

It was decided to hold a tea at the parsonage at the December meeting with Mrs. Robert Percival as hostess and to invite several societies. There will be a sale of candy and cookies. The menu was planned and a partial program was arranged.

After the meeting closed a presentation of a hand-wrought aluminum tray and a set of dishes was made to the secretary, Mrs. Donald Reilly, who has moved to Wallbridge, by members of the Bayside W.M.S. and White's Woman's association and a few close friends. Mrs. Reilly, although taken by surprise, thanked all for their kindness.

The hostess served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Mrs. H. Rutter moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality.

QUAKE HITS MEXICO

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An earthquake shook five southern Mexican states Friday. There were no casualties and little damage was done. The shock was felt in varying degrees of intensity in southern Vera Cruz and Puebla, Oaxaca, Chiapas and Tabasco.

CAMPBELLFORD

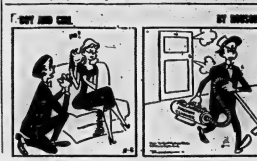
CAMPBELLFORD — The public school speaking contest elimination took place at the school on Monday and Tuesday, and from 22 finalists, fourteen contestants were selected from a panel of judges, convened by Mrs. Madeline Simpson, assisted by teachers, Mrs. Rannie, Mrs. Linton and Mrs. Brackenbridge. The finalists were: Heather Thompson, who placed third in the contest; Karen Fralick, Janet Wallace, Cheryl Smith, Gaele Petherick, Sandra Ness, Doug Wickens, Gail Begg, Linda Grills, Sheila MacMillan, Esther Jones, Jim Cryderman, Barbara Fraser and Ronnie Begg.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST

The contest took place in the high school auditorium and judges were; Mr. Roy Smith, B.A.; Dr. M. Smith, the Rev. J. G. Hornby, Mrs. William Scott and Mrs. Hector Macmillan. Scrutineers were: Mrs. Mervyn Napper and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stephens.

Chairman for the evening was the Rev. Owen G. Bardye, president of the Home and School Association.



Mr. Ron Pierce rendered two baritone solos, "Bells of the Sea" and "Great Wide Open Road," accompanied by Miss Donna Sharp at the piano.

Mr. Barrow showed unusual colored slides. A group of them were of a town named "North Joy," in the state of New York. This town is made entirely on a child's scale, and is a child's town. Children are allowed everywhere, adults stay out. These were much enjoyed by the audience.

TROPHY PRESENTED

The presentation of the Senator Fraser trophy to Sheila MacMillan, who spoke on "Speeches," was made by Mrs. P. H. Macmillan, and the Public School Board trophy to Gail Begg, who spoke on "Children," by a member of the school board, Mr. Leonard Begg, the contestant's father. The Senator Fraser trophy replica was presented to Sheila by Mr. Barrow, along with the Home and School Association trophy to Heather Thompson, who spoke on "Parents."

Mrs. Ward Ellis, on behalf of the Home and School Association, presented books to each contestant.

Hundred Million Dollar Federal Aid To Culture Praised

P.M. Announces Details To University Presidents

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government proposes to launch a $100,000,000 aid-to-culture program early next year, a move hailed by university presidents as an historic fulfilment of a great dream.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a 7,000-word, hour-long address, announced these details to an appreciative audience of university presidents Monday night:

1. Parliament will be asked at the next regular session, reported to open in January, to renew the long-awaited Canada Council and to arm it with $100,000,000 in federal funds to aid Canadian culture.

2. The council, to operate independently of the government and parliament, would get $50,000,000 as an endowment. Revenue from this investment would be used for cultural works. It would get another $50,000,000 to distribute in universities as aid for the expansion of buildings and equipment over a 25-year period.

3. Parliament also will be asked to double federal grants to universities to $18,000,000 a year from $9,000,000. The National Conference of Canadian Universities is to take over distribution of the funds if it approves. Grants are to be kept in trust for those universities which currently feel they cannot accept gifts.

4. Canada's National Museum is to be split, to create two national museums, one to concentrate on natural history and the other on human history. Both are to be concentrated in this capital. Exhibits will be made available for cross-country travel. Officials said later this project may take some years to complete.

FOLLOWS MASSEY REPORT

The sweeping program, incorporating the far-reaching recommendations of the 1951 Massey commission report, was outlined before university heads gathered at the NCCU meeting dealing with the Canadian scene in higher education.

While Mr. St. Laurent spoke in the ballroom of an Ottawa hotel, Mrs. St. Laurent looked on from a balcony. NCCU officials said later there was no doubt the NCCU would be glad to have the distribution of university grants. An announcement was to be made in the next two days.

Mr. St. Laurent's remarks received prolonged applause. Dr. G. E. Hall, NCCU president and head of the University of Western Ontario, said he is sure the Canada Council proposal will get the wholehearted support of every Canadian.

"AMBUSH" DUKE

BULOLO, New Guinea (Reuters)—War-painted tribesmen Sunday "ambushed" the Duke of Edinburgh as he stepped ashore to the New Guinea hills. The natives leaped from behind rocks and from behind boulders and began ritual chants. Earlier, the duke observed a memorial service at Bulolo Lae War Cemetery where hundreds of Commonwealth troops are buried.

Today's Chuckle

"This crime was the work of a master criminal," the prosecutor told the jury. "Si-zer carried out in a skillful, ingenious manner. . . ."

The defendant jumped to his feet. "Flattery won't get you anywhere. I ain't going to confess."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Snow, caused by a rapidly moving storm, reached Northern Ontario this morning and is moving toward Quebec. The snow is expected to skirt just north of the Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario areas. Strong southerly winds caused by this storm will bring a rapid return of milder air to Southern Ontario. Low temperatures early this morning were mostly in the high 20s.

Wednesday will see colder air again moving southward across the province. A few showers and snowflurries will accompany this cold f- -

Mexican Gunboat Wounds Captain Of Texas Vessel

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The American shrimp boat Pescador radioed from the Gulf of Mexico Monday night it had been fired upon by a Mexican gunboat, seriously wounding the captain, Tom Wilson.

The Pescador's radio operator, Charles Wilson, nephew of the wounded captain, said the boat was about 11 miles off the coast of Mexico and about 120 miles south of Brownsville at the time of the shooting.

The United States Coast Guard cutter Tyrlon was speeding to the scene this morning.

The Mexican gunboat was identified as the C-28, one which had been mentioned in complaints last month by the Texas Shrimp Association. The association claimed the Mexican gunboat had stopped shrimp fishermen and demanded money or gifts not to capture them.

Several incidents have been reported this year between Mexican gunboats and Texas shrimpers. The Mexicans claimed the Texans were fishing in Mexican waters, which the shrimp boat captains denied.

U.S. Opposes Big Three Talks At Present Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported Monday to have advised Britain and France it opposes any quick Big Three "summit" conference to deal with the Middle East and Hungarian crises.

President Eisenhower and his top aides, informants said, believe any such meeting should be delayed until the United Nations Assembly has had further opportunity to tackle these two urgent problems.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said there is no "summit conference" for any Big Three conference. Snyder, in response to questions, said reports that Eisenhower had agreed in principle with Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Mollet to such a meeting.

Expect Boy, 11, Will Be in Coma Rest of His Life

HAMILTON (CP) — Michael Sherry, 11, a boy who has been unconscious in hospital since Labor Day, 1953, is being moved today to hospital in Toronto.

Michael suffered severe brain injuries in a two-car crash. His father and the driver of the second car were killed in the crash. His mother and sister were injured.

Ever since the accident Michael has remained unconscious. Doctors say that he will probably remain in that state for the remainder of his life.

Says Nelson's Trafalgar Message Would Have Taken Hour to Send

LONDON (Reuters)—A former Royal Navy man is trying to explode one of the most cherished anecdotes in British history—Admiral Horatio Nelson's message to the British fleet before the Battle of Trafalgar.

Ernest Walder, 78, says Nelson never signalled his fleet: "England expects every man will do his duty."

Walder, a former signalman, did not jump, to conclusions. He made the announcement after 59 years of research.

"I am convinced the signal is a legend," he said. Using the signal methods used in 1805, the year of the battle, "It would have taken an hour to send and still longer to pass round the fleet."

In any case it could not have been seen. What admiral is going to waste that much time when going into battle?"

But the present commanding officer of Nelson's ship, the Victory, now a dockside museum piece, insists that the signal was made "according to records." It was "mentioned in all the narratives of the battle."

HUNGARY REFUSES TO PERMIT UN INVESTIGATION

Efforts to Intervene In Situation Blocked

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The United Nations, its forces already on the move to Egypt to maintain the peace it negotiated there, today appeared blocked in its attempts to intervene in the Hungarian situation.

Hope of bringing peace and freedom to the Hungarian people through UN action suffered a severe blow Monday night when the Communist government refused to permit a UN investigation of the situation.

The Hungarian communication came at the conclusion of the first session of the 11th General Assembly at which the Middle East and Hungarian problems have been given priority on the agenda.

There were carried over from an emergency session last week at which the assembly called for and got a cease-fire in Egypt and promises from Britain, France and Israel to withdraw troops.

WOULD MOVE OUT

They would move out, they said, when the UN police force they suggested by Canada's External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson is set to take over.

The first contingents were moving into Egypt today, and under the UN-Egyptian agreement will be stationed along the Suez Canal Zone as soon a the Anglo-French troops there withdraw.

The speed of the force thus will be confined to the demarcation lines established after the 1948 Palestine war.

In its reply to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, the Hungarian government said the UN request that observers be allowed to enter the country "is groundless and reiterated the claim that a settlement of the situation was a purely Hungarian affair and should not be considered at the General Assembly.

ASKED WITHDRAWAL

The emergency session resolution had asked for the immediate withdrawal of Russian troops from Hungary, the holding of free elections there under UN auspices and an investigation by Hammarskjold of those observers. All points were rejected.

Prior to receiving the reply, Hammarskjold had gone ahead with the organization of a team of observers.

The Hungarian reply said in part:

In view of the fact that Soviet troops are in Hungary at the request of the Hungarian government, the Hungarian government is decidedly of the opinion that the sending of observers mentioned" for appointed by the secretary-general "is not warranted." The government did agree to accept food and medical supplies offered by the UN.

Three Members Of One Family Killed in Quebec

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP)— Three members of one family were killed Monday night in a three-car collision seven miles west here.

Dead are Alcide Plante, 28, of the Nazaire d'Acton, Que., his 26-year-old wife and six-year-old son, Roger.

Injured and brought to hospital here, where their condition was reported critical, were Mr. and Mrs. Roch Brousseau, both 26, of Drummondville, Que. Also injured in the crash was Laliberte, 28, of St. Simon, Que.

SECTIONS OF PORT SAID RUINED BY BOMBS

Sections of Port Said, at the northern end of the Suez canal were badly battered in the pre-invasion bombing by the British and French air forces. Fire completed the devastation and thousands of residents now wander among the ruins of their former homes and businesses. (Central Press Canadian).

Hungarians Continue Passive Protest Against Russian Arms

Only a handful of bitter-end rebels still fought on against the tanks and guns of 200,000 Soviet troops. But the destruction of their homes and defeat of those who sought to fight off the invaders with meagre arms failed to stem Hungarian defiance of the Soviets and their puppet government.

The country clung grimly to a general strike, alternate back-to-work pleas and threats from the Soviet-imposed regime of Premier Janos Kadar were ignored.

Usually reliable quarters in Budapest reported that a delegation of high Soviet officials headed by the Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev, was in the Hungarian capital seeking a means to end the resistance and shore up Kadar's regime.

M. A. Suslov and A. I. Mikoyan, the Kremlin's chief satellite troubleshooters, also were reported in the delegation.

Most Hungarians refused to accept the Kadar regime because it was installed by Russian tanks. Reports from Budapest told of hundreds of thousands wandering aimlessly through the ruins of a once-beautiful city, stoically ignoring the maniac Soviet armor and troops standing guard every few hundred yards.

Associated Press correspondent Endre Marton said Leaflets were passed out in the streets exhorting the population:

"Do not work under the command of the occupiers and the illegal usurping government. We shall ration our supplies and help each other, but we shall continue to strike. Let us show that in the fateful hours our nation is united. Our liberty and our honor are at stake. . . . The eyes of the whole world are on us. We shall not betray it."

The leaflets, signed by "The Hungarian Army of Freedom Fighting," called for withdrawal of alien forces from Hungary and the formation of a free Hungarian government which acceded to the rebel demands for freedom at the outset of the revolt.

Informed sources in Budapest said Kadar had tried—and apparently failed—to win Nagy's support for his program of rigged elections, subservience to Moscow and continued one-party rule.

Retiring NATO Chief Warns Russians Not to Use Rockets

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Alfred Gruenther, retiring supreme NATO commander, today warned the Soviet Union that if rocket weapons were used against the West, retaliation would follow "just as surely as day follows night."

Speaking at a farewell press conference at his headquarters, near Americana outside Paris:

"Whether these rockets exist or not is not the issue. But should they be used the West would destroy the capacity of the NATO forces to retaliate.

"And just as surely as day follows night retaliation would take place and the Soviet Union would be destroyed.

"I emphasize that point because I feel that when these blackmail threats come about it is naturally a matter for speculation by people which alone could be affected right from the beginning. I feel that no nation is going to press the button if it means suicide, as it will."

Gruenther continued: "I do not say this will be true in five years time, but as of today the offensive has got a great advantage over the defensive and we have that offensive capability.

"I say this because I fear is that injudicious criticism inside the Atlantic alliance might mislead the Soviets about our determination to use our offensive capacity, and that could be a disaster."

In an attack on the military intervention in Egypt, Russia last week indicated in a warning to Britain and France that the Soviet Union would be ready with long-distance rockets should a world war develop.

Other points made by Gruenther in answer to correspondents' questions were:

1. He is one proof of the success of NATO that the enemy has been forced to go round the world by subversive action and local attacks, but I agree that unless the Middle East problem gets settled it will have an adverse effect on the European defence."

2. "If there have been overflights (of Soviet planes) over Turkey, we should have . . . indicates that these overflights were not authorized.

"But that does not mean that Soviet planes have not got to the Middle East by other means."

Gruenther was asked what he thought were the chances of military intervention to help any satellite country, and replied in particular, in a new rising against Soviet domination occurred.

"I think the likelihood of military intervention seems to me slight because the impact of trying to settle this matter by force has tremendous significance for the whole world," he said.

NO DISHONESTY IN HIGHWAY 401 CONTRACT HERE

Allan Gets Report By Private Engineer

TORONTO (CP) — Highways Minister Allan said today charges of alleged failure to meet contract specifications on a Highway 401 construction contract near Belleville arose from "a clash of personalities," and there was no dishonesty or fraud involved.

He released a report from Dr. C. R. Young, consulting engineer and former dean of the engineering faculty at University of Toronto who was asked to make a private investigation of the charges.

The report says in summary that "for the contract as a whole the quality of the work done by H. J. McFarland Construction Co. Ltd., is comparable with that achieved by other leading highway contractors."

MADE BY INSPECTOR

The charges were made October 16 by Joseph McLaren, an inspector on the contract for a five-mile stretch of highway and nine miles east of Belleville.

He said failures to meet contract specifications included putting tree stumps in fill, improper grading, faulty construction and insufficient compaction of fills.

Dr. Young's report said his investigation had revealed faults on the part of the contractor and these "have been or will be remedied."

"The number of such discoveries is not out of proportion to those in any similar road contracts in Ontario."

Dr. Young said there is "no doubt" that Mr. McLaren showed "marked diligence in his search for instances of improper material being used, or of the indifferent performance of workmen."

Mr. Allan said he is putting Ross Clarke, a senior engineer, in charge of supervising the contract until it is completed.

WANTS NO DOUBTS

Mr. Allan said there is no reflection on L. E. Walker, the resident district inspector, but is because that failure to resolve any partiality in the completion of the contract.

He also said that Mr. McLaren, who is getting a $500-$600 a month slander suit from the McFarland company, will be offered re-employment as an inspector on another contract.

Mr. Walker's salary would be paid in full from the date he left the job on the Belleville contract to the finish.

Dr. Young's 12-page report was presented to Mr. Allan last Friday, but not made public until today.

First Fifty of Queen's Own Rifles Board 'Flying Boxcar' for Halifax

CALGARY (CP)—Fifty cheering soldiers-turned-police boarded a huge boxcar-like flying craft to start a journey half way around the world, their spirits as bright as the sparks their cleated boots created on the cement runway.

The fifty were the first of about 1,250 members of the 1st Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada to take off on the first leg of a trip to Egypt where they will take up duties with the United Nations Emergency force.

At intervals of three hours the whole force is to be flown in C119 Flying Boxcars to Halifax in the greatest air lift in the RCAF's history.

Few wives came to the airfield to see the men off and most farewells, especially the tearful, had been said several hours earlier when the men formed up at Currie Barracks and boarded buses for the trip to the plane.

At the airfield the youthful riflemen, who averaged about 20 years of age, were impressed by their high spirits.

One soldier pulled a guitar from a duffle bag and posed while the other men clowned for photographers. Another soldier was about the tight straps of unfamiliar parachute harness, which were "like ladies' corsets."

Rifleman Reginald Blackpane, Blind River, Ont., farewell party, said about the trip: "I guess we will see. I feel it's my duty, that's all."

The others to a man echoed his words.

Rifleman Ulrich Bickelt of Bremen, Germany, has been in the Queen's Own for 3½ of the 3½ years he has been in Canada. Most excited than the rest, he said his wife would return to her parents in Bavaria to have the baby, expected in seven months.

UN Observers Take Up Duties In No Man's Land

Departure of First Units Of Police Force Postponed

LONDON (CP)—A 12-man team of United Nations observers moved into the Suez Canal zone no man's land today to watch over the cease-fire between French-British and Egyptian forces, but the departure of the first UN police units for Egypt was postponed.

Spokesmen said the reason for the postponement was "flight and scheduling" but at the same time, a major dispute over Egypt's terms for admission of the police force was reported developing.

Egypt consented to receive the UN observers several days ago. Her agreement to the olive force was announced only Monday by Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold.

The 12-man observer team, including Norwegians, Swedes, Australians and Danes, landed at Port Said in the British - French occupied sector of the canal zone from a landing ship which had picked them up at Haifa. They had been part of the corps of truce observers in Palestine.

AIRLIFT DELAYED

Postponement of the police slipped Wednesday at Swiss air line, which is to transport the troops to Cairo, and the British Colts wanted to make a daylight reconnaissance of Cairo's international airport before attempting landings. A UN spokesman explained also that it would have been a race today to land the first troops in Cairo before 6 p.m., when the airport is closed for the night for military security reasons.

Hammarskjold's announcement Monday that the Egyptians had agreed to admit the UN police was followed up Monday night by Egypt's Middle East news agency with a report of five conditions for which it said the secretary-general had agreed.

There was no immediate official comment from Britain on these conditions, but British newspapers have labelled them "impossible."

Some of the British papers say the "Egyptian dictator" is acting as if he had won the two-day battle in which British and French forces seized the northern third of the Suez Canal.

TO VISIT CAIRO

Meanwhile - Hammarskjold arranged to fly from New York today and visit the Canal Zone staging area en route to Cairo, apparently to iron out any snags in the agreement. Brig. - Gen. E. A. Burns, Canadian commander of the new police force, arrived in Italy from Jerusalem to meet Hammarskjold.

The five conditions listed by the Egyptian news agency were that the international police would have no duties in the canal zone area after the withdrawal of British and French troops, that their work would then be confined to the 1949 armistice line between Israel and Egypt, that Egypt would determine what Israeli posts were on that force, where it will be stationed, and how long it may stay.

France's Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said the French-British forces would "remain in the Suez Canal area until they have been relieved by an international force in essential places." That appeared to be Pineau's answer to the fifth condition.

FORCE BUILDS UP

The police force continued to build up with the arrival today by the airlift, which may not start before 4 p.m. Wednesday (10 p.m. EST tonight) at the earliest.

By that time, a spokesman said, the force may have grown to 1,000 men. They will wear their regular British uniforms, along with distinctive blue and silver armbands with the lettering United Nations and distinctive berets flown from New York.

Sybil Bennett, PC Member for Halton, Dies

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (CP)— Sybil Bennett, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Halton, died Monday at her home here after a long illness. She was 52.

Mrs. Bennett was first elected to the House of Commons in the 1953 general election after being defeated as federal candidate in the 1949 election.

Eden Decides Against Speech On Middle East

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Anthony Eden conferred with his cabinet today and decided against making a major speech on the Middle East crisis to Parliament this afternoon.

One reason given for the change in plans was that many members of Parliament wanted to continue discussion of colonial affairs, including the Cyprus issue.

The House of Commons meeting will complete the six-day debate on the speech from the throne outlining the Conservative government's program for the new session.

Three times in the last two weeks the Labor party has acted and failed to censure the government for intervening in Egypt. The latest move aimed to condemn the government for aggravating British-French troubles through intervention.

But Monday night the opposition move was voted down by a majority of 62. The vote was 321 to 259. Most of the Labor amendment and 229 against.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan admitted, however, that this year's bill for Suez aid would amount to between $35,000,000 and $50,000,000.

He said: "It would be foolish for me to try to suggest that we shall not suffer on the material side a serious set-back. We believe we can overcome the difficulties which confront us. We have done so before."

TV FOR KOREA TROOPS

SEOUL, (AP) — Television will be brought to U.S. troops stationed along the armistice line in Korea next year, Lt.-Gen. J. B. Wilke, commander of the 8th Army, has announced. Construction of a transmission station at Seoul and relay stations to carry programs to major troop areas.

COMBINED WREATH AND POPPY SALE TOTALS $4,200

Proceeds of $4300 from the combined wreath and poppy sale have been announced by Reeve Liddle, secretary of the Belleville Poppy Committee.

Mr. Liddle said the $3700 realized from the sale of wreaths was a record contribution from Belleville. "When colder weather set in on Saturday things looked bad for the poppy sale but despite the inconvenience of stopping in the nippy air, sales picked up as the day went on to mark up $1500. This was just a little less than the figure of last year but we are highly satisfied with the results and wish to thank the people of Belleville for their remembrance thoughts."

LABRADOR PUPPY TAKEN FROM RIVER

Rescued, shivering and wet, from the Moira River on Sunday, a black six-months old Labrador puppy is in the city dog pound and waiting for its owner or some other interested party.

City poundkeeper Chas. Price rescued the puppy from the river near the lower bridge, wading out into the cold water to bring the animal ashore.

Also in pound are two kittens.

TWO FARMHANDS AGAIN REMANDED ON MURDER COUNT

Two Warkworth farm hands, charged with murder, were again remanded yesterday in one week by Magistrate R. B. Baxter-Cobourg.

The two, Clifford Brough, 25, of Bloomfield, and Robert White, 18, of Fort William, appeared before the magistrate in Brighton, earlier this month for their preliminary hearing.

Last week Kenneth G. M. Ross, Brough's counsel and Stuart Ryan of Oshawa, White's representative held an argument at Cobourg. Magistrate Baxter preferred to reserve his decision.

They were charged following the fatal shooting of Warkworth farmer, Roy Rogers, last August.

Month, 14 Days Given Accused On Assault Count

Appearing for sentence on charges of assault against a city woman and a taxi driver during a Hallowe'en night fracas outside a Dundas Street hotel, Howard Arthur Sanford, 20, was given one month and 14 days in the county jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Sanford was given one month on the charge of obstructing a police officer and for assault of the woman, and a month 14 days, the terms to run consecutively. Sanford has been in custody since his arrest.

On a charge of joyriding, Colin Cooney, of Brighton, was fined $1, and assessed $19 costs, by Magistrate Wills. In default he will serve 10 days in the jail.

Cooney pleaded guilty to taking a car owned by Howard Sanford from the Central Taxi stand on Hallowe'en night. The car was taken following Sanford's arrest on the assault charge. The car was driven to Napanee where it was involved in a minor accident.

Plain clothesman P.C. Jack Kent told the court that Cooney would face a charge for failure to have a driver's licence.

BROKE GLASS DOOR

A former Bancroft youth now working in Toronto, was fined and $26 costs, including restitution for breaking of a glass in the door of a local hotel.

Samuel H. Davidson, 17, pleaded guilty to breaking the glass. Police said the youth had been ordered from the hotel, but the accused claimed the glass breaking was an accident. In addition to $26 costs and restitution, Davidson was given suspended sentence of six months.

A Station St. man appeared on a charge of assaulting his wife and had his case enlarged until Friday.

Driver of Car Charged After Man Is Killed

James Scott, 58, of Maynooth, was killed Monday afternoon when the school bus he was driving overturned on No. 62 highway following a head-on collision with a truck 12 miles north of Bancroft.

Five school children on their way home in the bus following school, were uninjured in the accident.

Driver of the car, Clifford Arno, 55, of Bancroft, also escaped injury.

Provincial police at Bancroft said that the school bus was northbound, when it collided with the south-bound vehicle driven by Arno who recently moved from Brudenell in Renfrew county to Bancroft, where he has been working in one of the mines.

Mr. Arno has been charged with criminal negligence. Investigation is in charge of OPP Corporal Grayling of Bancroft.

Special Session Of Parliament Likely Next Week

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A special session of Parliament appeared possible next week as a huge air lift began to get Canadian troops from Alberta to the east coast in preparation for their dispatch to the Middle East as part of a United Nations' police force.

The session call hinges on a cabinet decision to send a 1,000-man Canadian contingent for the overseas UN police duty. The order-in-council may be signed Wednesday when the cabinet meets for its regular weekly session.

Kenneth Holmes Not Guilty of Leaving Scene

Kenneth H. Holmes, 43-year-old Madoc real estate and insurance agent was acquitted by Judge W. J. Rans, of Picton, this morning on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

"I realize that a life was snuffed out unnecessarily. In my opinion there is no doubt whatsoever that Mr. Holmes is the man who caused the death of Calvin Wellington Reid," said the judge. However, he was obliged to acquit Holmes because the indictment read that he left the scene of the accident in an attempt to escape civil and criminal liability. The Crown was unable to produce such evidence.

Holmes' defence was that he suffered a loss of memory, and that he did not know an accident had occurred in which he was involved.

Holmes entered the witness box this morning and told the court that driving had been his livelihood for the past 17 years during which time he had covered close to one million miles.

He testified that he did not remember anything from the time he left Belleville at about 7.30 p.m. on September 7 until he vaguely remembered coming to at a pub somewhere on the Madoc county road.

"I don't remember anything about an accident" asked Crown Attorney Ivan Pringle.

"I do not," answered the accused.

Holmes said he learned of the accident in which young Reid was killed at about 8 a.m. on September 8, when his daughter told him. He saw the headline of a Toronto paper, but did not recall being near Hallowy the previous night.

"I have no idea how I got into the car," he told the Crown.

At about 9.30 p.m., Eighteenbed Thomas Moorcroft and Mrs. Charles Pigden entered his Madoc home where the latter told him to report the damage to his car to the police. Mr. Moorcroft testified that he was the one who gave Holmes' car, which had been parked on the street, a push into the village the previous night.

TYPE CAR IN GARAGE

Holmes further testified that he put his car in his garage on the night of September 7, but later moved the car to the front of his house, in plain view of the public.

Crown Attorney Pringle asked the accused that he would go to the police if he learned of an accident. Holmes said, "It is your duty to do so. I'm not going to stop now. You do you have to go now? I think I should talk to a lawyer first." Mr. Pringle then gave Holmes until 3 p.m., the following day to report. Holmes made a full report to O.P.P. Corporal Douglas Sears at Madoc. Holmes was arrested at 7.30 p.m. on September 8 after he had just climbed into bed.

Crown Attorney Pringle asked, police?"

"Were you going to report to the police."

"It certainly was," answered the accused.

"Would it be fair to say you suffered from a loss of memory?" queried the Crown.

"I don't know what it was."

"Have you had it before?"

"Yes."

"This year?"

"No. But I have had to stop on several occasions beside the road until I felt better."

"Do you feel that the damage to your car was not consistent with striking a permanent object?"

"I do," said Mr. Holmes.

Mr. John D. O'Flynn, representing for the accused, introduced five character witnesses who testified to Holmes' unquestionable honesty, value to the community of Madoc and added that he was tireless worker especially in Kiwanis club projects concerning the benefit of underprivileged children."

The charge against Holmes was laid two days after the hit-and-run death of Calvin Wellington Reid, 18, of Hallowy, who was struck down by a car on the Madoc County Road on the night of September 7.

Yesterday Judge Lane had dismissed a defence motion for dismissal of the charge.

Defence counsel John O'Flynn, who was being assisted by his son, John, moved for dismissal of the charge because "Holmes was not in the care or charge of the car that war in the accident" as the indictment reads. He added that the distances from the scene to where five witnesses testified they saw Holmes between 8.30 p.m., and 9.30 p.m., were so great that it would be impossible to convict Holmes of being the driver of the car which struck young Reid. Other witnesses testified they saw Holmes between 7.30 p.m., and 7.45 p.m., just north of Belleville's city limits.

Crown Attorney John A. Pringle argued that a piece of metal found at the scene by the neighbor, Mr. Prest, which was examined at the Attorney General's laboratory in Toronto and found to be part of the right headlight of the Holmes car, was enough evidence to prove that the car had been at the scene that night.

"I submit, Your Honor, that the evidence is circumstantial; there is no quarrel about that. We have ascertained a definite broken chain of circumstances. A chain that ties Holmes and his places the car at the scene, and I submit that Holmes was the driver of the car," he said.

Judge Lane favored the Crown's rebuttal because "I am satisfied that the car which killed Reid was owned by Holmes." He was also satisfied that witnesses seen the accused shortly before the accident and then after and which elapsed from then until Holmes was seen by others is sufficiently long enough to exclude Holmes from being the driver of the car when it struck Calvin Reid.

"I cannot come to any other alternative than to say the accused was the driver of the car," he concluded.

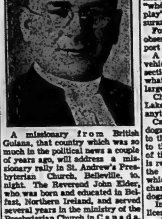
The Crown introduced 20 witnesses.

Form Committee To Arrange for U.E.L. Museum

Throughout the Bay of Quinte area there exists a wealth of material suitable for the establishment of the proposed historical museum at the United Empire Loyalist Memorial Park at Adolphustown, in the opinion of Mr. William Todd of the Ars and Archeology department. Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto.

Speaking to members of the Bay of Quinte Branch U.E.L. meeting at Adolphustown on Wednesday evening, Mr. Todd urged early steps be taken to set up such a museum and then proceeded to outline the best procedure to be followed.

"Your first move would best be the setting up of a committee made up-of members who fully appreciate the value of such an institution especially to the coming generations," Mr. Todd said. "Naturally this will be a never-ending task the tourists who would be interested in an exhibit of books, records every day of the ingenuals of the pioneers who came here more than one and two centuries years ago. These articles are fast disappearing into the hands of collectors, when they belong in a place where the coming generations may see and appreciate them."



Miss Kaye McFarland of Napanee, who has been an active member of the Ontario Historical Society and The Lennox and Addington Historical Society for some time, was named chairman of the museum committee. The first meeting of this committee will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dempsey, Redmerville, very shortly.

Twenty-six new members were accepted into the branch, this bringing the membership roster to nearly ninety. It is confidently expected the membership will be almost double that figure by the time the annual meeting is held in May next.

The next meeting of the branch will be in Picton on Wednesday, January 2nd. Place of meeting is to be announced later.

Rev. John Elder

A missionary from British Guiana, that country which was so much in the political news a couple of years ago, will address a missionary rally in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, tonight. The Reverend John Elder, who was born and educated in Belfast, Northern Ireland, and served several years in the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, has been in British Guiana since 1941. He is now district-evangelist in Demerara County, B.G. Mr. Elder is known as a forceful speaker and all who are interested in hearing this direct message from the frontiers of the Church's mission are invited to be present. The service will begin at 8 p.m.

Hunter Exodus Reported Large; Moose Shot in Bancroft Area

Obituary

REGINALD STANLEY SCHEVEN

Following an illness of one week, Reginald Stanley Scheven, 136 West Dundas. Street, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Monday afternoon.

The late Mr. Scriven was born in Belleville, 64 years ago, being the son of Albert Scriven and the late Nellie Carter and he has resided in this city all of his life. He received his early education in the public school and Collegiate Institute of this city and during his school years develop a talent for music, a career, which he followed most of his life.

He with other members of the Commodore Orchestra formed the band some years ago and for many years, this orchestra has entertained many thousands of people at their commodious home at the Exhibition Grounds and Rex Scriven was the regular drummer. His cheery smile, kind personality and readywit brought him a wide circle of friends, who will sincerely regret his death.

Reg Scriven was also an outdoor man. He loved a good boat, canoe, tal friends and a bass fishing trip down his beloved Bay of Quinte. He and Mrs. Scriven and other fishermen have benefited from his expert guiding. He was never happier than when working on his cabin cruiser or helping some friend get his boat ready for the summer's activity. He took a great interest in the Bay-of-Quinte Yacht Club and gave of his time and ability for its advancement.

Besides his wife, he was a member of Holloway Street United church and Hermitage Lodge, number of Moira Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 11.

While the deer hunting season is over all the kill, the deer are reported to be of normal population density and the hunt is said to be deterrent to the growth of fawns.

According to Mr. Dornan, moose are said to be in the north-land in fair numbers and shot by Bancroft over the weekend. Four deer were shot by hunters in Northbrook by another party at the present time unidentified, said Mr. Dornan.

No reports of success of city hunters has been received at this early date but the city's exodus was commensurate with that of other centres.

From Peterborough and Hallburton districts came similar reports.

The first kill reported was a 125-pound doe shot by Malcolm Fitzsimmons, Peterborough, early Monday. It was shot on the Peterborough-Hastings boundary in Asphodel Township. Fitzsimmons said the "district is swarming with hunters, about 30 to a half-square mile."

A Lands and Forests official reported Monday he had no record of two alleged elk herds that are said to be roaming the nomadic forests in the Apsley district. He did say that "moose are on the increase" with the protection of the Kawartha Lakes.

Six Children Left Homeless In Deseronto Fire

Six children were left homeless and without any clothing except what they wore when their home burned in Deseronto The children, the youngest less than two years old, are the family of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hutchinson.

Mrs. Hutchinson was admitted to Belleville General Hospital on Friday.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion in Deseronto are taking care of the children and have issued a plea for clothing for them.

Any persons interested in seeing that these youngsters have clothing are asked to forward such items to the Legion in Deseronto or get in touch with the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Mabel Moore.

Many Receive First Shot of Salk Vaccine

With roughly 1,000 pre - school age children receiving first dose last week, the current program of the city department of health against polio, swung into its second week yesterday.

Pre - school children were brought in droves to department of health offices at city hall last week and yesterday 606 students and teachers at Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School received their first shots. Medical Health Officer Dr. McColl Metcalfe and his two nurse assistants had the job at B.C.I. completed by 2.30 p.m.

On Wednesday students at St. Michael's Academy and at St. Michael's high school will receive their first polio shots.

In a month the schedule will be repeated with "first dosers" to get their second shots.

Bata Shoe Firm Buys Property It Had Leased

PICTON.—Bata Shoe Company officials reveal that negotiations have been completed for the purchase of the plant and two acres of adjacent land on the west side of North Main Street. The property has been held by the company on a lease basis for many years and used in the manufacture of various types of shoes.

With the completion of this transaction the management and staff of the local plant now share to even a greater extent the feeling of community pride in the success of Picton. It was more than ten years ago that Mr. Thomas J. Bata, president of Bata Shoe Company of Canada Limited and Dr. C. K. Herz, along with Mr. Carleton Cleland, visited Picton and decided that this town was an appropriate centre at which a branch plant might be established to advantage and secured a lease on the present property.

Since that time a continual training plan for developing expert craftmanship has been in operation and Bata workers here rank among the most efficient of the entire Canadian operations.

Dr. C. K. Herz, vice president and general manager of the Canadian company, looks upon the recent purchase of property in Picton with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The Picton operations are under the capable direction of Ronald Durward who came to Picton when the services of John Mackenzie were required to take over a much larger plant in India.

IN MEMORIAM

LAYHANGEE. — In loving memory of Mr. George Layhangee, who passed away November 14th, 1954, two years ago.

Lost were you were suffering,
We knew you would never get better
Sad was the parting,
But comforting the thought,
The hills were hard to climb.
But with God's help you conquered
And whispered, "Peace be mine."
You left us dear Father,
Who loves you most sincere,
Your memory is our treasure,
Forget you father never.
—Sadly missed by wife and Carl, Vera, Shirley and Lorne, daughter, son and Wilbert also granddaughter Susan.

LAURENSON — In loving memory of our dear brother, William Wallace Laurenson, who passed away November 13th, 1953.

Two years hours and days of pain,
Two years of heartache and loss,
And in our aching hearts we know,
He's one we never shall forget.
—Sadly missed by Herbert, Russell, Blanche and Enid.

McINALLY. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret, who passed away November 13th, 1954.

You are not here, Treasured memories,
Nor ever will you be;
But in our hearts and memory lost,
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by her son and daughters John and Frank.

Rotary Members Witness Film

Rotarians saw a movie at their weekly meeting in the Hotel Quinte yesterday noon which illustrated the important part played by Rotary Foundation Scholarships in creating better understanding among the freedom loving countries of the world. The film was entitled "The Great Adventure" and was projected by John Buchan.

Mr. Buchan, in introducing the movie, said that Rotary provides scholarships to students in every country in which there are Rotary clubs. These scholarships allow their recipients to study abroad for one year.

Since 1947 more than 834 students have been awarded Rotary Foundation Scholarships. Among them is Edward Bigger, Ontario Dairy Commissioner who spoke to the Rotary in September.

In 1956, 39 years after it was established, the Rotary Foundation has exceeded $4,500,000 in monies set aside to better the education of top ranking universities students throughout the world.

President R. C. Dorsett extended the club's thanks to Mr. Buchan.

Urges National University Be Set up at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Establishment of a national university at Ottawa dedicated to advanced studies was proposed today by Dr. H. S. Keirstead, economics professor of the University of Toronto.

He said the university would be invaluable in maintaining Canada's lands in the face of the heavy task facing present universities in training post-graduate students.

"It might not make any very great contribution to the problem of numbers," Dr. Keirstead said, "but it could make a very great contribution indeed to the problem of quality. It would be a haven of protection for some of the best scholars of the country."

The federal government was the only agency which could create such a university.

Curling Rink Of Four Sheets Assured for City

Members of the curling fraternity will have a curling rink of four sheets in the city within the next few months. This was the decision of a well attended meeting of the Quinte Curling Club held in the City Hall on Monday evening with president Bill Gault in the chair.

Jim Jarrett of the Bank of Montreal and treasurer of the club outlined the work of the directors since the project was first proposed and told the meeting that the directors had decided to build a rink without outside assistance and that the club was not breaking faith with the Fair Board in any way.

After some discussion it was moved by Pat Hewson and seconded by Pete Acton that the Quinte Curling Club approves the action of the directors in terminating negotiations with the Fair Board and that this club now purpose a policy of building a four-sheet curling rink on an independent basis." This resolution was carried unanimously and the members then proceeded to discuss the financial arrangements to make the project possible.

Again there was a lengthy discussion on the means of raising the required funds, but this was brought to a head by a motion of Ben Cork and John Lennox, "That the club directors be authorized to incorporate the Club with a minimum capitalization of $40,000 divided into 400 no - par value shares, 300 of which are to be sold by the Club at $100 a share unless further issue is authorized at a general meeting of the club."

The meeting thanked the Parks Board for their offer of a piece of property on the fairgrounds to erect a rink and a committee was formed to meet with the Parks Board and the Utility Commission with respect to getting water and sewer to the site proposed. The committee was also authorized to look at other property and to also secure ice and type of building to be erected.

This spade work will require at least a week and the committee will meet again next Tuesday night at the city hall to receive a report of the progress made by the directors.

At the present time there are 200 members, who have signified their intention to join the club as the rink is erected and of this number the fee of $100 has been collected from 175 and it is the intention of the directors to make a concerted effort during this week to secure the other hundred members. Three hundred members are all a four sheet rink will accommodate and when the number has been secured it is more than likely the list will be closed. At the present time it is believed the rink will be constructed and it is the hope that curling will be started before the end of the season and anyone wishing to join should see Mr. Jarrett at the Bank of Montreal or any of the directors or members. The project is entirely in the hands of the curlers now and it is to be hoped that everyone will pitch in and help to the limit of his ability.

No Decision On Fall Sitting Of Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Monday no final decision has been made yet on whether to cancel a proposed special fall sitting of the Ontario legislature.

Commenting on reports last week that plans for the sitting had been dropped, he said the matter will be kept open as long as possible.

The session, which had been expected to start Nov. 20, was to deal mainly with Ontario's farm marketing legislation, now being challenged before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The court is to start re-hearing arguments Nov. 19, and several Queen's Park officials said no decision was expected in time for a special session to be called.

Canada Squandering Human Resources of Young People Say Two Educational Experts

OTTAWA (CP) — Two educational experts said today Canada is squandering its human resources of gifted young people. They estimated that no more than one-third of such young people get university education to develop their talents fully.

The statements were made by Dr. R. B. W. Jackson and Dr. W. G. Fleming of the educational research department at the Ontario College of Education, Toronto.

In a paper presented at a universities conference on the arts and sciences, they said the present pattern of university attendance "is disturbing enough to leave little room for satisfaction, even among the most complacent."

"We seem to be doing an admirable job of squandering the priceless human resources available to us. It may, in fact, be argued on the basis of fragments of information at hand that we are utilizing to the full the talents of probably no more than one-third of our unusually gifted young men and women."

MORE DATA NEEDED

They said much more data on the situation is needed before any sensible planning can be done to correct it.

"If we are short of trained personnel, it is our own fault. The abilities and other abilities are present in sufficient quantity in every generation, but we only fail to use them, we fail even to recognize them."

The Jackson-Fleming paper was one of three on the topic presented at the conference sponsored by the National Conference of Canadian Universities.

Dr. Arthur Tremblay, professor of education at Laval University, Quebec City, said the first problem in French-speaking schools is not at the university level. The problem was to bring more students into the secondary schools.

Dr. Tremblay registered at McGill University, dealt with the rate of failures at university undergraduates: About one-third of freshmen do not graduate. He suggested more competition and discipline in early years to make students work hard.

MOST CRITICAL

The most critical review of the situation, however, was made by Dr. Jackson and Dr. Fleming.

"Despite improvement in recent years," they said, "it is quite evident that the university enrolment is still a far cry from the 25 per cent of the age group . . . which American studies indicate comprises the group of young people capable of profiting from higher education."

They estimated that in Canada, of 100 children who begin school life, seven or eight enter university and not more than five or six will graduate.

"Obviously, not all of the academically gifted complete high school and go to university. Right over, since some of the less gifted do so, the losses in quality human resources are considerably greater than the above summary figures would indicate."

LEAVE FOR TALKS

KARACHI (AP) — Prime Minister H. S. Suhrawardy will leave here Friday for urgent conferences with the governments of Iraq, Turkey and Saudi Arabia, President Iskander Mirza will accompany the prime minister.

Travelogue Will Feature Italy

The Kiwanis Club's second travelogue of 1956-57 series on November 15th will feature Curtis Nagel and his co-producer William Moore with their latest film "Italy—Tale of Ten Cities."

CURTIS NAGEL

These gentlemen have produced another gem in the showcase of travel masterpieces. The film is a beautifully coloured panoramic of the marvels of Italy; its cities, scenery, art, music, people and its history and antiquity. Naples with its beautiful bay, famous Pompeii, the ancient Appian Way to Rome, Pisa and its leaning tower will be shown.

Words fail to describe the unique beauty of Venice. All ten cities, and much more, are vividly brought to reality with the new special deep-dimension lenses used exclusively on Nagel-Moore travelogues.

A few series tickets are still available and will be on sale at the Collegiate auditorium on Thursday evening.

'Empty' Pipeline Full of Oil When Blown Up

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Western firm's supposedly idle pipeline from the Iraq oilfields to Israel's Mediterranean port of Haifa was blown up in two places during the night, Jordan announced today.

The government said it had ordered an investigation to find out why oil was running through the pipeline—supposedly out of use since the 1948 Palestine War.

The official announcement did not say who blew up the pipeline or why, it gave this account:

Oil was seen leaking from the pipeline as a result of "normal damage." Later, explosions wrecked the line in two places south of Irbid, Jordan. A huge fire followed the explosions. Jordan was asking the owner, the Iraq Petroleum Co., the source of the oil in the pipeline.

Champion Jersey Cow Brings $4,500 At Auction Sale

TORONTO (CP)—Milk drinkers meet Rivers North Paragon's Brigid. You owe her a lot.

She owes her fancy name, because she has produced 35,000 pounds of milk since she was born two years ago. Monday night she brought top price at an auction of top Jersey cows, entered in the Royal Winter Fair here.

Owner Edison Mutch of North Rivers, Que., received $4,500 and buyer Campbell McKay of Hotheringham, Ont., received a pedigree cow with a string of prizes behind her and probably more to come.

River North Paray's Bright was one of 24 Jerseys sold from the block by auctioneer Tommy Hays for a total of $20,450 and an average of $852. Buyers were from five provinces and five states of the United States.

GIVEN TO CHILDREN

Cattlemen demonstrated their generosity when the bidding was opened with a Jersey bull on the block, agreed that the Canada Society for Crippled Children by exhibitor John Mowat, Ottawa.

They bought the animal 11 times each of the buyers reselling him until it, for the second time, reached $625 and kept him. With the $900 of previous bids, the bull brought a total of $1,525.

It was the third day of the 34-year-old fair. Cattle continued locked to be much higher than last year's sales. Officials said Saturday's afternoon horse show was the first sellout for a matinee performance in years.

TOUR THE FAIR

In other activities Monday, 125 girls and boys from every province but Newfoundland toured the fair as members of Canadian 4-H clubs.

Some 250 club members across the country will compete Thursday for the Queen's Guineas—a prize of a guinea (worth nearly $5) for the grand champion baby beef steer exhibited by a club member.

The fair was inaugurated nearly 50 years ago by the late King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales.

EDGES MEXICO

The United States edged out Mexico to take the first team trophy in the international jumping event Monday night at the fair here.

The American team had only three faults, when one of its horses balked. Then it received three faults for a jump not down.

Chili was third with 12 faults. Ireland had 15, Canada 22.

The U.S. now has a powerful lead in the all-day equestrian competition. U.S. riders Billy Steinkraus and Hugh Wiley won the individual events Friday and Saturday night.

The U.S. victory was clinched by team captain Billy Steinkraus. He came up with the clean and three-fault performances of teammates Frank Chapot and Hugh Wiley behind him and only Mexico's four faults to beat.

It required a clean performance. He provided it.

London Confident Contacts With Egypt Will Improve

By PAMELA MATTHEWS

LONDON (Reuters)—News that United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold will go in person to Cairo to take part in negotiations for the arrival of the United Nations police force has raised confidence here that the current delicate contacts with Egypt will improve.

Informed quarters in London believe that the secretary-general's decision concerns the hand in glove behind the scenes about the conditions posed by Egypt for the entry of the United Nations force.

Britain and France have undertaken to withdraw their troops from the zone if they are confident that the international body moving in will be "effective."

A foreign office spokesman said Monday that Hammarskjold has not consulted the British government about the composition of the United Nations force.

MOST TERMS ACCEPTABLE

Britain and France already have agreed that the force now being planned by Hammarskjold and the United Nations chief supervisor, Maj. - Gen. E. L. M. Burns, should not include contingents from the permanent members of the Security Council: the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China.

Of the conditions for entry of the UN force stated Monday by Cairo radio to represent the views of the Egyptian cabinet, some but not all are believed to be acceptable to Britain.

Britain already has undertaken to withdraw troops from the canal zone on the arrival of an "effective" United Nations force. The force's composition is assumed here to be under discussion between Egypt and Hammarskjold through Gen. Burns.

NEGOTIATE CLEARANCE

Every indication here is that the government would not be prepared to accept a settlement of the Suez problem based on Egyptian operation of the canal.

The official British position is based on the 18-power plan for international control of Suez in conjunction with the operations of the 15-member Suez Canal Users' Association.

Clearance of the canal, grievously blocked by the sinking of Egyptian blockships and other obstacles, is considered here to be also a question for negotiation through the United Nations.

Britain and France have offered their assistance in clearing the canal and have made a start in the area controlled by them at Port Said.

Some observers here believe that remarks made in the statement carried Saturday by the Soviet news agency Tass and Monday by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, the Soviet volunteers might be sent to Egypt unless the Anglo - French force pulls out—were intended to influence negotiations between Egypt and Hammarskjold. . .

ANCIENT TAXES

Nothing, we are told, is certain except death or taxes. People complain more about the latter than the former, perhaps because there are so many more taxpayers in our midst than there are dead people.

Some slight solace can be obtained by the reflection that death was invented before taxes—but if there be comfort in this thought it is minimised by the reading of an article by Gwyneth McGregor in the Canadian Tax Journal. Death may have preceded taxes, but not by much.

"Taxation is as old as civilization, for as soon as there came into existence an organized civilization, there had to be taxes in some form or other for its support," says this article.

As many have suspected, tax methods have not changed much in 6,000 years.

"The main taxation principles of the oriental monarchies were that all land belonged to the king; that its tillers paid their rent as a kind of levy; and that every member of a community must contribute to its welfare, sacrificing private to public interests. The first two tenets are outmoded but the third is still the basis of taxation everywhere."

Incidentally, if the "single tax" theory of Henry George that gained many advocates around the end of the century had actually been put into effect, would it not have resembled the first two, discarded, tenets of the ancient world?

The ancient world, though, did not believe in a single tax. It had many. "In all ancient civilizations land was the main source of revenue," writes McGregor. "All of them had custom duties; several had some form of death duty; and each developed other fields of taxation according to their individual needs and resources." There is no mention here of income tax, but it is doubtful whether modern taxpayers can claim the world has improved.

Certainly some of the ancient regimes resorted to what we should term a "capital levy," generally considered in today's western world as the most iniquitous of taxes.

In the early days of civilization, taxes were not paid in money, but in labor or goods. The poor contributed the labor. If this seems strange, it is to remember that not so many years ago in Ontario there was a law providing for statutory labor on the roads. The poll tax was a substitute for this statutory labor. But the poll tax was a Canadian invention. It was used by the Romans in Egypt.

Served the Egyptians right, too, for according to McGregor they were the ones who first "invented" taxes, perhaps as much as 6,000 years ago. By 3,000 B.C. they had a full-scale tax organisation functioning. In those days, though, tax collectors were not paid, their work being part of their contribution to the state.

"One of the things that strikes the reader of ancient history is the surprising modernity of many of the tax methods of assessment and administration thousands of years ago," writes McGregor.

We do not know whether this statement should be interpreted as praise of the modernity of the ancients or criticism of the ancient methods employed by the moderns.

The penalty for graft by a tax collector in the days of the Pharaoh Harmhab was to have his nose cut off, a fatal handicap for a tax collector he then had no nose to poke into other people's business.

Few modern-day tax collectors are handicapped in this fashion. That is not solely because the penalty for graft has changed. Tax collectors have improved. There is now little graft. But some taxpayers still try to cheat, just as some did in ancient times. Fewer get away with it. This is well. Taxes may be almost as unpleasant as death—but they are just as necessary. And not nearly as fatal.

NEW-STYLE GEOGRAPHY

There's always something for which to be thankful. We have just noted an additional reason to be happy that we learned our geography in days when things were not so confusing.

Siam, by its association with cats and twins, is a much easier country to remember than Thailand.

Indo-China comfortably lumped together a collection of states which we are now required to identify separately as Laos, Cambodia, Viet Nam and Viet Minh.

Perhaps the appearance of Idonesia to cover a handful of islands, Sumatra, Java, the Celebes and others, is some compensation.

If it is any help, the scales have now been heavily tipped out of balance again. Persia becoming Iran was bad enough. Now, however, we have the appearance of West Irian, which is not west of Iran, that being a position held by Iraq, the western part of what, in our school days, was known as New Guinea.

It is really too much to keep track
Of Irian, Iran and Iraq
They change these names
As if playing games
We fear our old brain will crack.

SUPPOSE

Suppose you were down in the depths of despair
And all of a sudden had gone wrong,
Suppose you were getting far more than your share
Of trouble as you went along;
And suppose you were getting a bit of quitting it all
And turning your face from the fray,
Would it rouse you a bit if your baby should call:
"Come daddy, I'm waiting to play."

Suppose men oppressed you and jeered at your work
And never a friend came to smile,
Suppose every face that you saw seemed to smirk
In a cynical way all the while;
Suppose men maligned you wherever you went
And jostled you out of their way,
Don't you think you'd forget all your grim discontent
If your little one wanted to play?

You'd forget the harsh things that some stranger had said,
And the cynical smiles you'd not see,
You'd be wrapped in the charm of the wee curly-head
That had clambered astride of your knee.

And the velvety touch of that little fat hand
Would smooth all your furrows away.
You would vow there is nothing that you couldn't stand
For the baby who wanted to play.

Control of Waterways

By Dr. F. S. Northedge in London Calling.

In the Suez Canal crisis, we have an example of how national sovereignty may conflict with claims of the international community. Countries depending for their livelihood on trade routes such as the Suez Canal naturally want guarantees that it will remain under efficient management. And yet the state in which territory the canal happens to lie will want to be master in its own house. How can this be reconciled? What does this "internationalization" mean in relation to the control of waterways? Some light may be thrown on this by looking at the other great waterways to see what has been done there.

We should begin by distinguishing between canals, rivers, and straits. The general rules for all of these are much the same, but different regimes for each have been established. In the case of international interest arises with purely internal canals, such as the Erie Canal in America or the canal links the high seas freedom of navigation has generally been secured either by custom or convention.

The position of the Panama Canal is unique in many ways. Strictly speaking, the territory in which it lies is under the sovereignty of the Republic of Panama, which seceded from Colombia in 1903. By an arrangement in that year, however, Panama surrendered to the United States in perpetuity the authority in a strip of territory ten miles wide in which to build the canal, receiving annual payments in return and an annual rental now amounting to $1,930,000 gold. Today the canal is run by a company and the zone by a governor, both appointed by the United States law. Since 1940 the Canal Zone has been treated as an integral part of American territory.

It may seem that the Panama Canal is a United States monopoly. But the same principle of freedom of navigation applies to the Suez Canal was extended to the Panama Canal by the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty of 1901. This provision is strictly valid only in peace time, but the vital commercial artery that the Suez Canal is, and with Panama and Colombia—whereas any one of nine Powers may invoke the Suez convention. But, as a matter of history, freedom of transit has been successfully maintained by the Panama Canal authorities. We should remember that the American "right" is not

Residents Requested to Give Freely to Community Chest Canvassers on Blitz Night

Others help to make life just a little bit easier for unfortunates; why don't you, through giving generously when the 1956 Belleville Community Chest canvasser calls at your door next Monday night?

The local Children's Aid Society makes life considerably happier for about 230 underprivileged children in and near Belleville. The society removes from neglectful parents, children who undoubtedly would eventually turn toward juvenile delinquency as an escape from home domination to a short-lived freedom. Neglected children are potential criminals. Statistics reveal that the majority of people behind bars in the country's thousands of jails originally had unhappy childhoods. They were never taught to respect other people, but rather learned by instinct that if even their own parents wouldn't look after them nobody else would, so they turned to the animal way of survival by preying on society.

The CAS makes a valiant attempt to provide these unfortunate little people with a normal happy home so that they may grow up to take their rightful places in society. Without such institutions as the Children's Aid Society and youth movement groups this city could be a perfect lair for youngsters looking to crime as a way of life. We should be very grateful that we have a CAS, Boy Scout Association, YMCA and Navy League. These organizations base their principles on helping needy children. That help rubs off on the adult group as well. Whenever you see a young Cub, Scout, Girl Guide or Brownie walking to his or her weekly meeting try to realize the value of these young people to Belleville and Canada as a whole. Many of Canada's greatest statesmen at one time were members of Scouts or the "Y", and many of our skilled seamen were once Sea or Navy League Cadets.

Perhaps your children would like to join the world-wide Scouting organization. Scouting teaches boys and girls the fundamentals of woodcraft and citizenship. All of our ancestors relied on a thorough knowledge of woodcraft for survival in the Indian-infested woods. So too do the youth of today learn this lore, not for survival but for helping others in distress.

LEARN TO LIVE PROPERLY

What, you ask, do boys and girls actually learn and what do they get out of Scouting? Perhaps most important of all is they learn to live properly among other people. They learn the fundamentals of mixing in harmony with all types and all classes of people. Furthermore, these youngsters soon develop a sense of true sportsmanship, not only in sports activities but in their everyday lives. Most of their wood lore training is given in the city during the cold winter months with several trips to the countryside where, under supervision they put into practice the things they have learned. For a few weeks each summer Scouts, usually at their parents' expense, go to camp where they have a wonderful time swimming and living in tents. There they are able to further practise the woodcraft they learned during the winter. Summer camp gives these youngsters a better appreciation of nature, and if they can truly appreciate nature at its best they will surely live in peace beside their fellow men. That, in a nut shell is what Belleville's youth learn and what they get out of Scouting. This city has about 1,000 youngsters in Scouting.

Of approximately 300 Sea and Navy League Cadets in Belleville each one learns something of benefit to him and to his associates. These boys who wear semblances of the uniforms worn by members of the Royal Canadian Navy, in their own small way "go down to the sea in ships." At their Belleville headquarters they learn elementary seamanship, leadership, knot tying and splicing, pilotage and navigation, besides giving the "parade square" a good dusting. It is from these groups that Canada's floating defence force draws many of its recruits. In Sea and Navy League Cadet corps boys between the ages of eight and 18 years soon realize the significance of a Canadian navy. The R.C.N. is far above any reproach and offers a magnificent future for any "retiring" Sea Cadet. One of Belleville's cadets could duplicate Lord Nelson's feats.

V.O.N. BUSY

It was mentioned in an earlier article concerning the work of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses that it had a busy year in 1955. If you think last year was busy take a glance at what the local branch's three full-time nurses and one relief have accomplished so far in 1956. At the end of October they had made 4,222 visits to the homes of 387 patients, in addition to scores of special activities' visits to schools and clinics. They have averaged 38.7 new cases each month so far this year and 423 visits. There is another month and a half remaining in 1956, therefore it is reasonable to assume, judging from past figures, that the VON will make 633 visits to 58.1 new patients in addition to keeping up their work with the older cases before the new year is ushered in. All of this takes money, and a portion of it comes from your Community Chest.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade is the oldest organization in the world which employs voluntary help. It was formed as a military nursing order to care for the sick and wounded at the time of the Crusades in the 15th century. Since then the Brigade has founded many hospitals and dispensaries and has been influential in numerous health reforms.

There are branches of the Brigade in every country in the British Empire and is purely a British organization. It has been teaching home-nursing and first aid in Canada for 80 years.

The Belleville Brigade, which is known as St. John Ambulance Nursing Division No. 150, has 30 senior members under superintendent Mrs. R. J. McLuskie, and about 40 girls in the cadet nursing division, under Mrs. C. Ashley.

Last year the senior group averaged two hours and 15 minutes of free public duty each week to make a grand total of over 3,000 hours in 1955 spent in that manner.

TRAINED 1,000 STUDENTS

Each year the local St. John Ambulance division offers one week in the spring to teach, free of charge, artificial respiration to children and adults. However, the division usually finds itself giving these classes for the rest of the summer. In 1955 the cadets trained over 1,000 students at schools in Belleville, Avondale and Trenton, in the technique of applying artificial respiration. The seniors taught nearly 300 adults the same thing at Belleville, Trenton, Batawa, Frankford, Stirling, Tweed and Melrose. The local St. John Ambulance nursing division was formed in 1941. Mrs. W. H. Poston was the first superintendent. Dr. J. J. Robertson was the first divisional surgeon. Mrs. Frank Cushing succeeded Mrs. Poston and at the termination of her term of office turned over the reins to Mrs. R. J. McLuskie, the present superintendent. Mrs. McLuskie is a certified first aid instructor.

After the death of Dr. Robertson, Dr. Russell J. Scott was appointed divisional surgeon.

At present Mrs. E. Anderson is the divisional officer, Mrs. Frank Grandame, the treasurer and Mrs. Donald Dafoe, the secretary. Mrs. Barbara Haynes is the sergeant of the division.

The highest honor bestowed by the Priory of St. John is to be decorated by the Queen or Governor General as a member of the Order of St. John. Mr. R. D. Adams, is an officer Brother of the order St. John. Mrs. R. J. McLuskie has been decorated a Sister of the Order of St. John.

'Mental Disease, Arthritis' Topic At Moira W.I.

Moira Women's Institute met at the home of the president, Mrs. William Collins with the ladies from Bethel Institute as guests.

Correspondence was read and discussed.

The health convener, Mrs. George Ewald, presented the following program: reading, "Health is Wealth" by Mrs. Collins; "Conflict" by Mrs. Gordon Foster; "Talk More; Live More," by Mrs. Don McIntyre; "Your Doctor," by Mrs. Kenneth Thompson; "What the Doctor Ordered," by Mrs. Wesley Farrell.

An accordion solo was given by Mrs. Lorne Mumby and piano solo by Mrs. J. Vanderwater.

The guest speaker, Dr. Hart, spoke on "Mental Disease and Arthritis," urging that both time and money be put on the budget system.

Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clifford Ray thanked Moira Institute for the invitation to an interesting meeting.

'Martyred Men' Film Shown At Y.F.C. Meeting

A challenging missionary appeal was extended to the 250 Belleville young people who attended the Youth for Christ rally at the Masonic Temple on Saturday night.

Visitors present from Vancouver, Toronto, Pembroke, Kingston, New York State, and the surrounding area were welcomed by director Mr. John Blackwood.

The song service was conducted by Mr. Ross Kilpatrick, accompanied by Miss Linda Pritchard at the piano. A choir numbers "Jesus Saves," was directed by Mr. Carl Green, with a trumpet duet assisting.

Against a musical background Mr. Douglas Stark read an effective prayer, entitled "Jesus Came to Your House," followed by a solo "What Shall I Give Thee Master?" rendered by Miss Donelda Day.

The film, "Martyred Men," an accurate account of the events surrounding the murder of five missionaries in Ecuador, was then shown.

"Did five missionaries die in vain as they attempted to reach the pagan Auca Indians of the Ecuadorian jungles? If you have been troubled by that question, if you wonder at the wisdom of God in the affairs of His children, then it would have been well for you to see this motion picture."

In "Martyred Men," the wife and father of one of those slain men tell their side of the story. From beaten alliance with the same compassion that sent Ed McCully and his four companions to the banks of the Curaray River, they showed why the Auca incident is one of triumph rather than tragedy.

Mr. McCully shared with Y.F.C. his experiences during the tense days before it was definitely known what had happened. He showed how, moment by moment, the Lord sustained him and his wife through the counsels of the Word of God, adding "then when Marilou opened her heart and told us what it means to give up the dearest person in the world for the sake of the Gospel, we saw for ourselves the need of a tool world and our own personal responsibility to God, as we had not seen before."

A hymn of consecration "Where He Leads Me, I Will Follow," closed the service.

MOUNTAIN VIEW WI

Mrs. Ross Fairman of Hurl's Island, opened her home for the November meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute. There were about 25 members and visitors present.

The meeting was opened by the president Mrs. S. Barber. Arrangements were made to collect for the blind. A thank-you letter from the Sunday School in memory of her mother, the late Mrs. P. B. Hamilton. Plans were also made for the community banquet to be held in the church basement on the evening of Nov. 16.

Mrs. Stanley Barber gave the report of the Area convention.

The topic for the meeting was 'Historical Research' which was under the convenorship of Mrs. Clark Sprung. Mrs. Sprung gave interesting readings on Niagara Falls and also on the termination of Mountain View telephone exchange.

After the meeting closed the hostess assisted by her daughter and Mrs. Best, and several other ladies, served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Willet Barber thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

FOXBORO W.I.

Mrs. James Reynolds was the hostess when the Foxboro Women's Institute met for its recent regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Hubbs presided and opened the meeting in the usual way.

Correspondence was read and it was decided to have Miss Brandt visit the branch. It was also decided to get some cards for the euchre parties.

Mrs. Waller reported that with the donation from the Institute the canvass for the blind was $100. It was also decided to have some of the articles made for the blind for sale at the December meeting.

REPORTS READ

Reports on the area convention were given by Mrs. W. D. Simmons, Mrs. Kilpatrick, Mrs. C. Hubble, Mrs. M. B. Shorey, Mrs. M. C. Jamieson and Mrs. W. C. Johnston. These proved interesting as each member found something different of special interest.

Mrs. C. Bamber gave a most interesting report on "education," stating "it isn't the amount of education we have that counts but the use we make of what we have."

An interesting report on health was given by Mrs P. Kilpatrick.

Mrs. G. C. Shorey gave a pleasing demonstration on the use of sequins in making pins and earrings and use of brilliants for trimming on dresses, scarfs and sweaters, using a small hand machine.

The motto "Backward Glances into Foxboro History," was most capably given by Mrs. M. B. Shorey, with a short account of the history of the farms and homes from the former Fred Burd farm, now owned by Mr. Rekker, a new Canadian from Holland, to the railroad tracks.

Since Mrs. M. B. Shorey was in charge of the program Mrs. G. C. Shorey's demonstration was part of same. Each member was given an advertisement to read, to the tape recorder, this was then played back to the members and provided much amusement.

Following the closing of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed during the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Reynolds and the lunch committee.

Schiaparelli Says Haute Couture a Mess

MONTREAL (CP) — Fashion today is like politics—in a mess—says Mme. Elza Schiaparelli of Paris, an acknowledged authority on women's styles.

At a reception to mark manufacture of her designs under license in Canada, Schiaparelli—small, dynamic, and immensely sure of herself—outlined the state of affairs in the world of haute couture.

"There is no line: the line is here, there, all over the place," she shrugged Monday night. "A woman today does not know what effect she wants to achieve.

SPIRIT LACKING

"Perhaps that is a good thing. But nowhere is fashion the way it was. From Paris, all the old spirit is gone.

But Schiaparelli, who put zippers in dresses, manufactured a "shocking" perfume, and told women they should dare to be different, is still an example of uncompromising fashion.

Here, she greeted hundreds while attired thus: A huge, stiff red velvet turban, a tight red and black brocade dress, black satin gloves nearly to her shoulders and a mass of pearl and diamond jewelry.

To make her creations tempting to hundreds of thousands of women—instead of to a handful of boutique customers — Schiaparelli incorporated.

LICENSED IN 10

Her name designs are licensed in 10 countries, to approved manufacturers, and produced with modifications for volume sales at a moderate price. Canada is newest on the list. Makers here are set to turn out a line of Schiaparelli-inspired furs, bathing suits and lingerie.

Schiaparelli is tired of making clothes for rich ladies, she says. Besides expanding into other lines of feminine apparel, she is turning her hand to home furnishings.

"Flair and fashion run through" she explains. "If you wear a stunning dress, you want the things you live with to be in keeping."

Christ Church W.A.E.B. Plans Coming Events

Members of the Evening Branch of the W.A. of Christ church met Monday evening in the parish hall for their monthly business meeting, with vice-president, Mrs. L. Mason in charge.

Mrs. J. Ling read the Scripture portion and Mrs. W. Edwards gave the minutes of the previous meetings, and read a letter of thanks for flowers and kindness shown from Miss Frances Reid in the illness and death of her mother.

Mrs. R. Ragsdale expressed her appreciation for the rose and good wishes she had received. Mrs. E. Smith read a letter from the principal of the boys' school in Tirupattur, India, thanking the Evening Branch for the encouragement and financial assistance they had rendered and asked for continued support. Mrs. mentioned the wonderful work that had been accomplished by the former principal, the Rev. T. M. Poonan, who is now with his wife in Canada, on furlough and who recently spoke in this city.

Mrs. S. Beggs gave a splendid report of the finances and Mrs. E. Eaton the Sunshine Fund.

Packages of salted nuts were offered for sale by the Contact Club to supply money for the purchase of a new refrigerator for the Parish Hall kitchen.

Members were reminded of the rummage sale later in month and arrangements discussed for the bazaar and tea late in November with the conveners, Mrs. G. Cherry and Mrs. Furzen.

Mrs. C. Fuzzen with the aid of maps, gave a most interesting chapter of the study book, "East of Burma," dealing with Formosa, its early history and people.

Mrs. J. Lang and Mrs. J. Ling hostesses for the evening, served dainty refreshments.

Club Activities

NEIGHBORS' AID

Mrs. H. Wright, Trent Road, was hostess to the members of the Avondale Neighbors' Aid on Thursday afternoon.

Words of welcome were extended to all by the president, Mrs. Cameron.

Mrs. S. Lough conducted the worship period, in the absence of the vice, and was presented with a gift by Mrs. J. Mason in charge.

With the theme of 'Remembrance Day' in mind, the Scripture was read by Mrs. E. Bush, Mrs. T. Anger read a poem on 'Remembrance Day" and two appropriate hymns were sung.

A short prayer closed the devotional part of the meeting.

The nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers for the coming year, which were installed by Mrs. P. Windover of Belleville; president, Mrs. K. Bird; vice-president, Mrs. D. McLean; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. Wallbridge; social convener, co-conveners, Mrs. Cline, Mrs. T. Anger and their assistants, Mrs. R. Hall and Mrs. G. Day; secretary, Mrs. H. Denike; treasurer, Mrs. D. Kridge; flower and gift convener, Mrs. J. Ling; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Wettlaufer; press reporter, Mrs. G. Ackerman; pianists, Mrs. G. May and Mrs. J. Chambers.

A home baking sale followed with Mrs. D. Kridge acting as auctioneer and the amount realized was most gratifying.

Refreshments served to the 28 members, eight children and three visiting present, were hostesses by Mesdames Bird, Day, Denike and May.

It was decided that an executive meeting would be held at a later date to discuss plans for the Christmas meeting.

MT. VIEW MODERN MISSES

The Mt. View Modern Misses held their first meeting at the home of Frances Young on November 8. There are 18 members in the club of which 15 were present.

The leaders are, Mrs. Frances Young and Mrs. Pat Nightingale.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

President, Hilda Joyce; vice-president, Helen Stinson; secretary, Janice Taft; treasurer, Betty Wallbridge; press reporter, Jean Waterhouse.

Home assignment: begin record books; each member check her figure to discover any defects and study best lines for herself.

Mrs. Nightingale talked on "Requirements for Each Member."

Audrey Turcott demonstrated how to equip a sewing box. Mrs. Nightingale demonstrated on colors and lines for the individual, sweaters, using a small bead on making clothes for suitability to the occasion and style; color; weave; laundering qualities and lines.

The next meeting will be held at Hull's Island school on November 30.

ENDORSES PROPOSALS

OTTAWA (CP)—The executive council of the Canadian Association of University Teachers Sunday endorsed Prime Minister St. Laurent's proposals for increased federal grants to education. Dr. St. Laurent announced in an Oct. 7 speech at Sherbrooke University that he intends to ask Parliament to double federal university grants from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000 a year.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

CENTENARY W.M.S.

CENTENARY — The November meeting of Centenary WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Woods, Belleville. Mrs. H. Hancock opened the meeting with the poem "Child of Mercy." The treasurer's report showed a balance of $107.26. It was decided to send money to "Cure" for food packages and to send for a bundle of material to be made into little girls' dresses for overseas relief.

Mrs. Fred Edmondson invited the members to attend the Mission Band party to be held in early December.

Mrs. R. Edmondson was in charge of the study book on Malaya and Indonesia. She was assisted by Mrs. R. Thrasher and Mrs. F. Aikens who gave the historical and geographical situation of the countries and told of the races of people who live there. The Christians find that they have to work together in the Christian Council of Churches because the Hindu, Buddhist and Mohammedan cults all have firm roots in the religious life of the people. They find that the Communists have made great strides in the jungle country, and that there is insufficient trained personnel, schools, teachers and public health services. There has been a good deal of help given to pay teachers' salaries and visual aids, also Bibles and Testaments but the need is very great.

Mrs. Edmondson closed her program with the words "We are indeed one in Christ."

Mrs. Hancock read the Korean version of the 23rd Psalm to close the meeting.

CENTENARY W.A.

Mrs. Gordon Woods was hostess to the members of Centenary W.A. for the November meeting.

During the business period, Mrs. Nobes read an invitation to Wesley for their bazaar on November 20 and an invitation to the W.A. rally to be held at Aikens Church on November 22. The treasurer reported that the turkey supper netted $414.36. Several ladies contributed to the birthday box. Final plans for the bazaar were discussed. Mrs. Nobes thanked Mrs. Woods for her hospitality of the afternoon and announced that the December meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. R. Percival.

Mrs. G. Sills opened the worship service with a poem on "Armistice," followed with the poem "Roll of our Fathers," and prayer. Mrs. F. Edmondson read the Scripture, Romans 13. Mrs. Sills read an address prepared by the Rev. John Appleyard, chaplain of the RAF, entitled "Standing at Arms."

Mrs. H. Harder gave a reading, "What We Say About Others," and Mrs. W. Sherritt read a poem entitled "Strong Oath."

Mrs. Sills closed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Sills and her assistants, and a social time enjoyed by all.

INFANT FEET

The complicated bone structure of the human foot is not generally complete before the age of 10.

SHANNONVILLE UNITED CHURCH W.A.

The monthly meeting of Shannonville United church W.A. was held at the church hall on Thursday evening, with an attendance of 14. The president, Mrs. K. B. Irvine welcomed the members and Miss Sara Sickney presided at the piano.

Mrs. Malcolm Little, group leader, took charge and Mrs. Robert McFarlane read the 34th Psalm, and gave a fine thought for Remembrance Day.

Mrs. Little read the devotional leaflet, the theme for the month being "Perfect Trust and Perfect Peace."

Mrs. Kenneth Juby offered prayer, and the president read a patriotic poem., appropriate for the occasion.

Mrs. Vivian thanked Mrs. Little and her group for their fine devotional and took charge of the business portion. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Frank Doxtator and Helen, for cards and many acts of kindness in their recent bereavement. A letter was also read from Mrs. Doris Davidson, regarding the evangelistic mission to be held in Peterborough. A collection was made for good used clothing to be sent to the people of Nova Scotia coal mine victims of the recent fire and decided that the W.A. would cater for a banquet later on in the season.

Mrs. Archie Greatrix gave an interesting and enjoyable motor trip she and Mr. Greatrix took last summer to the West Coast, and the United States. Mrs. Greatrix illustrated her talk with a map and pictures which made it most interesting.

The group thanked Mrs. Greatrix for her fine travelogue and a hearty hand-clap showed appreciation of her kindness.

Following the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Little and members of her group. A social time was also enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. K. R. Vivian on December 6.

V.O.N. Reports Month's Activities

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held Monday evening at eight p.m., with the president, Mr. H. A. Parker in the chair.

The nurse-in-charge reported that during October 426 home visits were made to 79 patients. Three hundred and eighty-six or 85 per cent of the total visits were nursing care. The remaining 70 visits were health instructive visits to mothers and babies.

The case load for October was as follows: medical and chronic 43; maternity and newborn 26; infants over six weeks of age, and school children for health instruction, eight; one.

A total of 33 hours was spent in special activities which consisted of four weekly visits to Holy Rosary school; two visits to Canniffon-Corbyville school, and assisting the local department of Health at four weekly Child Health conferences.

CRICKET ANYONE?

Fishermen who begrudge the effort involved in catching live crickets for bait can buy a quart of them, by mail, from a Georgia cricket farm.

We learn that it takes fifteen days for cricket eggs to hatch, eight weeks for the insects to grow to bait size. We note, too, that the brooders where they lose about in 85° temperature, sapping up chicken mash, are made of aluminum. But we confess we're not too surprised. It simply seems that this busy metal has found still another use in the busy housing industry at this time you can't blame it. ALUMINUM COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD. (ALCAN)

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'LL LOSE HER QUICKER IF YOU TRY TO TIE HER DOWN

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

There's a girl I've been going with for over three years, and we had planned on getting married next June.

Most of the time we've been very happy together, although, of course, we had our tiffs. The main trouble was that I was very jealous and complained about everything she did that didn't include just me. I've been trying to change, and have been doing a pretty good job, but it seems to be too late, because yesterday she told me she wanted to break off. She said she'd still go with me, but she wanted to go with other boys, too.

I guess we started going together too young, and she has a right to go with other boys, but I simply can't bear the thought of sharing her with anyone else. I've done everything possible to make her happy, and, of course, that could be part of the trouble, as I might have been too nice to her. She usually got her way about things and I guess maybe I shouldn't have been so easy to wrap around her finger.

This girl has meant everything to me since I first met her, and she has also been a great influence in my life. Moreover, I don't think there could be a couple better matched than we are. We're both good Christians, of the same faith, our family backgrounds are very similar and we have practically the same interests. Her family thinks the world of me and my family thinks the world of her, and they've all been taking it for granted that we'd marry.

You'll probably say I should go with other girls, but I just can't. Any time I'd be with another girl I'd be pretending it was my real girl, and it wouldn't be fair to the girl I was with. I know I'll never progress against jealousy' is to love another girl, and I'd appreciate any advice you can give, because without her I'd be completely lost. — A.B.Y.M.

Dear A.B.Y.M.: Whether or not you've made the mistake of being "too nice" to this girl, I have, of course, no way of knowing. But I do know that the very smartest thing you could possibly do is to accept the situation as it is and go along with it for awhile in whatever way your girl wants. You'll get absolutely nowhere arguing with her about it. Almost certainly it would only make her more determined to do things her way.

You say that some of the trouble has been your fault because you've shown jealousy. You also say you have been trying to improve, and that you feel you've been making progress. I feel that the best way to prove that you've been making progress against jealousy is to agree to the girl's plan. If you stop to think this out with your head, instead of with your emotions, I believe you'll agree with me on this.

What I'd do if I were you is to cover the second.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

NEW COSMETIC LINE MADE FOR LITTLE GIRLS

Her own cologne, sprayed on with an atomizer, makes a pretty pre-teener feel like a "fairy princess".

Where beauty's concerned, one of the greatest services you can render your little girl is to teach her the basic steps of good grooming. It's the habits you instill into her now which will become routine, as habits do, till much revered and feminine even when passing through the tomboy stage. And the best way to instill those habits is to inject a little fun with her daily cleansing routine.

On this well-confirmed premise, plus the knowledge that mothers and doting grandmas are in sympathy with the "everything nice" that little girls are made of, one famous cosmetician has come out with a whole galaxy of little-girl grooming aids, which will help her to become a "fairy princess"—and just in time for Christmas, too.

They start with the bath, of course. And make it fun by creating a special bubble bath for the tiny tot. To say nothing of the pretty pails, the shaped soap! All Mother has to do is shake the packet of "bubbles" into a dry tub. Then turn on the hot and cold faucets full force. When the bubbles have swirled into a beautiful froth, regulate the water to tepid on the cool side. Then, with soap in hand, tell her that the greatest desire of your heart is for her to be happy, and that you'll get used down, and in anything she thinks will make her so. It would be perfectly all right for you to suggest that she do this, say, for six months, and then, that, together, you review the situation and see just where it stands.

But don't try to tie her down to anything. Apparently, she's been feeling her oats, tied down, and wants freedom, now, to find out just how she does feel.

So give her the chance. If you show that you're big enough, and mature enough, to do this, it will impress her in your favor more than if you try to keep a tight hold on her. She'll be grateful to you for the first, resentful of the second.

Five Pounds Shrimp Serve Nine for $2.89

By Mary Moore

A 5-lb. box of frozen raw ("green") shrimp at $2.89 looked like a bargain to me. Several batches of company were coming. So's Christmas. With this double purpose type of program afoot I'm certainly tending to my cooking. Activity in the kitchen promises to continue at full steam for about two months.

That is why I am passing on these ideas for shrimp, for your entertaining schedule will be accelerated too. I am not stressing the economy of this, but I do say that for the results achieved and the number of people fed and the happy opinions passed, it was a whopping $2.89 worth.

For the first meal for four I made shrimp creole. For the second meal for two I made shrimp curry. For the third meal for three I batter-fried the shrimp and served them with sweet-pungent sauce. That last little item will go down in Moore cooking history as a minor triumph. That's enough talk.

HOW TO COOK GREEN SHRIMP

Fog all of the above dishes you thaw frozen raw shrimp in running cold water. Plunge into large kettle of boiling water containing 2 tablespoons salt, celery leaves, sliced onion, 1-4 cup vinegar, bay leaf and if desired some thyme, rosemary and whole cloves. Note 1) Some shrimp cooks say don't defrost and do not cook more than 2 lbs frozen shrimp at a time. But I don't detect any difference in flavor or texture when I thaw or do not, or cook 2 lbs. or 5 lbs. at once. When the potful returns to boil time it 10 minutes; remove from heat and cool in cooking water. Drain, remove shells, and back vein if necessary, using sharp-pointed paring knife and your fingers. Note 2) If the shrimp are to be deep-fried be sure it's covers tray or cocktails leave tails on.

SHRIMP CREOLE

To serve four count out 80 medium-large shrimp and make this sauce. Saute in three tablespoons butter or salad oil 1-2 cup each chopped onion, green pepper, celery and parsley, 1 chopped garlic clove until limp. Then add 2 tablespoons cornstarch, mix well, stir in 1 can tomato juice, 1 cup hot water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Stir until thickened, then add shelled shrimp and simmer gently, stirring frequently, for about 15 minutes. Serve in side border of fluffy boiled rice (1 1-2 cups raw rice to 3 cups water).

SHRIMP CURRY

Make a sloped-up white sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, stirring in 4 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, then when that is smooth, 1 cup each milk and cream until thick. Add 2 cups cooked, shelled shrimp and soups sauteed or canned mushrooms if desired. Usually served on rice.

BATTER-FRIED SHRIMP

Batter—Beat together 1 egg, 1-3 cup milk, 1-2 cup flour, plus 1 tablespoons, 2 1-3 tablespoons cornmeal, 1-2 teaspoon salt, until smooth. Let stand 1-2 hours. At last minute add 2-3 teaspoon baking powder. Dip cold shrimp in batter, and deep fry at 370 deg. Fahr. about 1 1-3 minutes per side. Serve with

SWEET-PUNGENT SAUCE

Simmer together 1 can crushed canned pineapple (or 1 cup chopped raw pineapple and 1-3 cup water) 1-3 cup chopped green pepper, 1 chopped garlic clove, 1-3 cup each vinegar, water and sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon soy sauce 15 minutes. Thicken with paste of 2 tablespoon each cornstarch and water. Boil three or four minutes stirring. Food for the gods. That's you.

MUST MAID OF HONOR GIVE SHOWER?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have worked for several years in the office with a dear friend of mine who is going to be married. She has no sister, and has asked me to be her maid of honor. Inviting one other girl in the office to be one of her four bridesmaids, to keep all honor bridesmaids very well. Today a friend told me that, as maid of honor, I have an obligation to give a shower for the bride-to-be. This has disturbed me very much, as I have heavy family responsibilities (which bride-to-be knows about), and it would be very difficult for me to give a shower as well as pay for my maid of honor costumes. Please set me straight about this.—I.E.

I'm happy to have the opportunity to tell you that you have no obligation to give a shower. Since you dear friend, the bride-to-be, knows about your family financial responsibility, she would of course not want you to even consider giving her a shower. Sometimes the group of attendants give a shower, and if the other attendants do suggest this, and one plans to have the shower at her house, you will doubtless want to join this group. If the shower is a simple one, as it should be, your share of the expenses would be small, I'm sure.

CONCERNING CHRISTMAS CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I were married last April, and so of course we have not heretofore sent Christmas cards together. We have two questions that particularly bother us concerning this:

1. When my husband and I send a card to a married couple, is it proper to address it to both husband and wife, even though we have only met one of them?

2. We have both been so very busy in our positions and also in trying to get settled that we have not yet had the opportunity to meet some of each other's friends, which brings up this question: When only one of us knows the couple, should only that one's name be signed? OR (as I think) should both our names be signed? —E. and T.

Very good questions, these two, and ones very often perplexing, especially in your circumstances.

1. Even though either you or your husband may not know both the husband and wife, it is the gracious and accepted gesture-of-courtesy to address the card to both husband and wife.

2. Both of your names should be signed to the card. As a matter of fact, addressing cards to both husband and wife, and signing cards by both husband and wife are appropriate gestures used "becoming" to the Greetings-of-the Season!

OLD FRIEND SENDS TICKETS TO A PLAY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just received by mail two tickets for a church play from a young man whom I have not seen or heard from for about two years. From the little note in which the tickets were enclosed, I take it that he is to take part in this performances. There was no mention of any charge on the tickets, and he did not ask me to let him know whether or not I would be able to use the tickets. (The play is to take place the middle of next month, so it may be a Christmas play.) What is it proper for me to do—write now to thank him and say whether or not I will be able to use the tickets, or wait until after I have seen the play and then write to thank him and speak about his part in it? —A.K.

You should write him at once to thank him for his kindness, and let him know whether or not you will be able to use the tickets. If you are sure you won't be able to use them, you should return them for him to pass along to someone else. If you do go to the play, then write him a friendly little note of appreciation, and congratulations on his part in the play. If you have an interest in seeing him again (you didn't say) you might add in your note that you hope to see him again, to talk about the play and about "old days and new."

"R.N." AFTER NURSE'S NAME ON ENVELOPE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In addressing an envelope to a registered nurse, is it correct to add R.N. after her name? —C.S.C.

It would not be necessary to write R.N. after the name when the letter is a social one; but when it is a professional letter, it would be correct, and often very necessary, to add the R.N. after the nurse's name.

Women's Institute

REDNERSVILLE W.I.

ALBURY—The monthly meeting of the Rednersville W.I. was held at Albury church on Friday evening with Mrs. Hugh Wesse acting as hostess. Miss Marilyn Anderson was the guest speaker, telling of her trip to Mexico. Refreshments were served.

A number attended the Albury Sunday School on Sunday with a presentation to June Bowerman and John Roper. June is attending Teachers' College in Ottawa, and John is going with the Bell Telephone Company in Montreal. All with both of them success.

Mrs. Lorna Bowerman and Mrs. Binford Peck attended Leaders' Training School at Picton on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Many attended the funeral of the late William Mastin, who died suddenly. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Many attended the Hallowe'en party held by Albury Sunday school on Wednesday evening. Everyone was treated to doughnuts and cider.

This community was deeply saddened by two sudden deaths on Friday and Saturday. Mr. Tyrell of Belleville, met death near Prescott, and Monty Walt, of Consecon, who was only 14. T'he sympathy of the community goes out to both families in their sudden bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Carnrike and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Wesse.

Child Welfare Work Topic at W.I. Meeting

ROSLIN. — The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening at the home of the Misses Wilson with 20 ladies present.

The president, Mrs. A. Bates, presided.

Several items of business were dealt with. It was decided to send $5 to care for a food parcel for overseas.

Roll call was "Who's Who in W.I.?"

Plans were made to invite Chapman W.I. to the next meeting.

A splendid report of the Area convention prepared by Mrs. William White was given by Mrs. H. Chisholm.

Of interest to W.I. members will be the special radio broadcast in February 1957, entitled "Country Calendar."

Mrs. F. Meeks, leader, was in charge of the program. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. N. White as accompanist.

Mrs. F. Gray gave a reading "Thank You".

The guest speaker, Miss Brant was introduced, who spoke on "Child Welfare Work." Miss Brant thanked Mrs. Bates for the opportunity she had given her of speaking to the group and explained the work the Children's Aid Society is carrying on in the county.

There is no main centre now. She explained that they have changed from institutional care to placing all children entrusted to them in foster homes. With one goal in mind, no child should be neglected or abused. She said all have a proper birthright.

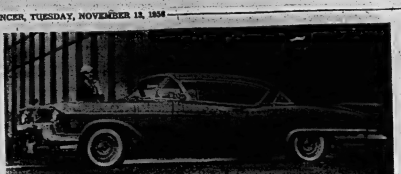
CHILD LIKE TREE

The Children's Aid acts on their behalf. The speaker took as an illustration the transplanting of a tree, and said, "it was much the same as moving a child from one environment to another no matter how carefully we lift the roots some are bound to be damaged. The younger the child, the easier to transplant; so also with a tree.

"Care is taken to choose the proper place. This is referred to as seeking out the soil. Some foster parents expect too much too soon.

"Their reward is in seeing the children they have placed blossom out and grow, and bearing them say 'nobody ever bothered about me before'."

The society feels it is in the home that the child's life is moided.



Thanks were expressed to the speakers.

The motto, "Start where you are with what you have", was given by Mrs. Meeks, who said, 'the W.I. was made for women not women for the Institute.' She spoke of relaxation, knowledge and education.

Mrs. H. Wilson read an article entitled "A Book".

The convener's reports on "Publicity and Community Activities" prepared by Mrs. D. Leslie was given by Mrs. John Fargey and was the highlight of the past few months for the W.I.

Later, refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time was enjoyed.

The 1957 Cadillac is described by General Motors as incorporating "the most complete model change in Cadillac history". The over-all silhouette has been lowered as much as three inches, yet the appearance remains unmistakably Cadillac. Pictured here is the 1957 Eldorado Seville Coupe, which features a tailored roof panel. Seville owners have a choice of two engines — the high-performance 300 horsepower Cadillac engine or a 330 horsepower modified version.

Diver With Bends Lives on Ocean Floor for Week

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP) — An American rescue ship was speeding here to assist a Japanese diver at the bottom of the sea with a painful, prolonged case of the "bends."

The submarine rescue ship Coucal was ordered to Nagasaki after newspapers reported the diver, Yoshio Oyama, has been living on the floor of the ocean almost continually for a week trying to recover.

The Coucal has a decompression chamber used for treating the bends—the painful, paralyzing ailment caused by too-rapid ascent from the crushing water pressure of low ocean depths.

Oyama, 37, was working on the Russian freighter Karanda, sunk off Nagasaki in 1887, when he was stricken a week ago. Since then his comrades have kept the semi-conscious diver at a depth of more than 100 feet as much as possible, raising him only to warm his body and feed him.

W.M.S.

MADOC — Trinity W. M. S. members held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. R. C. Jackson on Wednesday afternoon with a splendid attendance. Owing to the president, Mrs. D. Carman, being unable to attend, Miss Annie Holmes presided and opened the meeting by reading a poem "Peace," and offering prayer.

Mrs. R. C. Jackson, acting secretary, read the correspondence and the roll call which was answered by the word "Prayer" in Bible quotations.

An invitation to visit Ivanhoe W.M.S. for an evening meeting and their annual bazaar on November 8th was accepted.

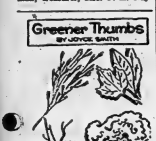
Mrs. A. Empey, stewardship convener, gave some valuable suggestions on the importance of special stewardship and offered prayer for Miss Kilpatrick.

Supply secretary Miss Holmes reported on baler sent overseas and announced that gifts for the port worker at Halifax would be accepted at the December meeting.

Mrs. F. Fleming reported on community friendship, and Mrs. C. B. Johnston, literature secretary, announced new books that had been recommended.

Mrs. P. H. Naylor and Mrs. W. McCoy of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the new year.

1957 OFFICERS



President, Mrs. Albert Empey; first vice-president, Mrs. F. Lane; second vice-president, Mrs. D. Carman; third vice-president, Miss Annie Holmes; recording secretary, Mrs. Earl Burnside; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Carman; treasurer, Mrs. P. H. Naylor; secretary of Christian Stewardship, Mrs. L. Bennett; secretary of Baby Band, Mrs. R. Jackson; Associate Members, Mrs. W. McCoy; supply secretary, Miss Holmes; Community Friendship, Mrs. F. Fleming; literature, Mrs. C. B. Johnston; Missionary Monthly and World Friends, Mrs. D. Tanner; Christian citizenship, Mrs. O. B. Jackson; press, Mrs. C. Whytock; expense fund, Mrs. C. Hayter; organist, Miss A. Keene; nominating committee, Mrs. Bennett, Miss Holmes; auditors, Mrs. E. Burnside and Miss Olive Ash.

Plans were made to have an open meeting for Baby Band members and their mothers at the church on November 26th. Mrs. C. B. Johnston took charge of the worship service, the theme "Not Your Own Doing," with Mrs. Bennett reading the Bible story from the second chapter of Ephesians and Mrs. Johnston commenting on the same.

Mrs. Albert Empey was in charge of the program, reading a poem, "Faith," by Elizabeth Green; assisting her was Mrs. W. McCoy, who gave a reading "If Don't Deserve That Medal."

Mrs. E. Burnside gave a reading, "Remembrance Day," and Mrs. Empey concluding with a reading "If You Ask Me, the Future is Now," by a padre in World War II. Mrs. F. Fleming gave a concise report on the missionary study with Mrs. Empey adding a few highlights of the rally. A pleasant social half hour followed.

HUNGARIANS

NAZY and other members of his government have taken refuge at the Yugoslav Embassy. Western reporters who tried to see him Monday were mobbed away by Soviet guards despite their credentials issued by the present Soviet-imposed government.

Zero cold has swept across Hungary prematurely, increasing the hardship of a people already haunted by the spectre of hunger.

Martson said it was questionable whether the people can continue their defiance for long.

"They have no reserves — no food, fuel or money," he reported. "They can get food and money if they return to work."

REFUSED DEMAND

Visiting a big state factory, Martson said he overheard the head of the enterprise's revolutionary committee reject the telephoned request of a cabinet minister to resume production—or else.

"Go to hell, along with your henchmen," he said the committee man replied.

He was sitting in an ice-cold office, surrounded by half a dozen bullen counters, the nucleus of 600 employees. And they came not to work but to watch the building.

Housewives stood for hours in the ruin-strewn streets outside foodstores, hoping that they would be able to buy bread. The food stores were the only businesses open.

The government, after refusing help from any but its Communist neighbors, finally accepted food from Western countries. An International Red Cross convoy of 15 trucks arrived in Budapest and the food it brought was to be distributed today.

COUNCIL MAKEUP

As envisaged by the Massey report, the Canada Council would be composed of 15 members, drawn mostly from the field of arts. It would be freed of political control, would provide awards of scholarships; aid painters, musicians, dancers and others, and generally direct and channel aid to help create a more distinctly Canadian culture.

The $100,000,000 which Mr. St. Laurent proposes to give it would come out of the next federal budget. This may be one way of whittling down a large federal surplus without increasing the spending power in the hands of taxpayers at a time of inflation. There have been reports the government will not make any large tax cuts next year.

In making his announcements, Mr. St. Laurent, speaking in both English and French, agreed Canada's cultural development is lagging behind her industrial progress. He defended federal aid to culture generally and particularly the grants to universities which Premier Duplessis of Quebec has criticized as an invasion of provincial jurisdiction over the field of education.

QUEBEC REJECTED

The federal university grants were started in 1951 and in the first year all universities including those of Quebec accepted them. But thereafter Quebec universities rejected them, following Mr. Duplessis' charge the grants encroached on provincial rights.

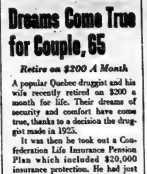
Dr. Sidney Smith, University of Toronto president, said in introducing Mr. St. Laurent that federal aid to universities has been given "without a hint of a tendency of a suggestion of a suspicion of a trend towards a desire to undermine their academic freedom."

Apparently it was Quebec province which Mr. St. Laurent had in mind when he said the grants not picked up by universities will be held in trust for them.

"In this way, no institution would be penalized in the future for a previous refusal of the grants and there would be no unjust discrimination against any group of taxpayers in Canada in this respect."

The current grants, to be doubled, are distributed by the federal government directly to universities on the basis of 50 cents per capita of provincial population.

IN NEGATIVE WAY



In the cultural field, Canadians appeared to be developing in a negative way, Mr. St. Laurent said.

"More often than not Canadians still describe themselves in a negative way by recognizing they are neither British, nor French, nor American. They are finding it more easily of their differences than of their common features."

He suggested three fundamental principles for collective effort: strengthening of regional cultures and particularly the two main ones, French and English; development to be left to private initiative as much as possible; the state to provide means aid to individuals and institutions without attempting to control them.

CLASH OVER HUNGARY

LONDON (Reuters) — Police clashed Sunday night with more than 100 students and Eastern European exiles protesting outside the office of The Daily Worker, London's Communist newspaper, against Russian actions in Hungary. Earlier, several thousand students and Hungarians met in Hyde Park, passed a resolution condemning Russian atrocities and treachery in invading Hungary."

Dreams Come True for Couple, 65

Retire on $200 A Month

A popular Quebec druggist and his wife recently retired on $200 a month for life. Their dreams of security and comfort have come true, thanks to a decision the druggist made in 1955.

It was then he took out a Confederation Life Insurance Pension Plan which included $20,000 insurance protection. He had just opened his store . . . and with the baby and the payments on his house, he had only a small sum left for retirement plans. It was a pleasant surprise when his Confederation Man told him how easily his dreams could come true—without risks or investment worries.

Versatile Jackie Parker Leads Eskimos To Victory Over Sasky Riders

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

OTTAWA TONIGHT

The Ottawa Canadiens, with a gang of young stalwarts, who have been kicking up high hockey dukes in three or four league games, will be the guests of the McFarlands tonight—and the meeting of the twain should be productive of some fine hockey.

The clubs battled tooth-and-nail in their first meeting here, playing to a four-all tie after the yonkers fired the tying marker with a second to go. Tonight's clash should be just as thrilling.

The McFarlands, who swept into second place with a pair of neat victories Friday and Saturday, can draw within three points of the loop-leading Deadeye from Whitby and nothing could be nicer than to see them lower the Doughty Dunnies when the clubs meet in Memorial Arena come next Friday.

Coach Gerry Plamondon shot something or other into his Chevies from Cornwall and roaring in high gear the motor guys rattled seven pucks past the Whitby defence to come up with a well-deserved victory.

However tonight's game is another affair. The Canadiens will lee such brilliant stars as Captain Ralph Backstrom, Gerry Wilson, who caught the fans' eyes the last time out here; Bill Carter, Gillis Beliveau, John Annable and many others. These youngsters have been cutting quite a swath in Junior "A" ranks as well as the Quebec League. They have been playing exhibition tilts with the National Hockey League teams, none of which have beaten the boys by top-sided scores.

There is a movement afoot, spearheaded by Bill Little of Northern Electric to start a fund to give the McFarlands, their wives, children and sweethearts a Christmas party, including a dinner. Bill brought up the suggestion a good one since the majority of the club will be spending the holiday in the city. They play on December 22, 23 and 26 in a tough spot in the schedule. The idea has met with the approval of a number of fans to whom we passed along the suggestion. A small committee will be formed in the immediate future and steps taken to get the fund going.

In the face of Belleville opposition, the senior "A" moguls in conclave in Cornwall yesterday voted in favor of each club having, if they wish, four reinstated professional players. The McFarlands were the only dissenting club. Teams must have the approval of the CAHA. Cornwall had beaten the loop to the punch and applied for and got the official Okay. Sunday the league approved the move.

The McFarlands were also the only team to vote in favor of the switch to the two-referee system instead of the one-referee two-linesmen set-up. It beats all what a difference a few bucks makes.

The league voted down the move to dress fifteen players plus a spare goalie. As it is now the clubs may dress fourteen plus the goalie.

MOLSON BOWLING

Eleven bowling alleys in the Kingston and district have signified their intentions of holding qualifying rounds in the forthcoming fifth annual Molson's Classic—Ontario's most popular bowling tournament.

The province-wide competition will be run on the same lines as last season, qualifying rounds in each region leading up to a general roll-off to end the declaring of a singles champion in both the men's and women's divisions and an all-star team composed of the top five average bowlers, excluding the singles winner.

And, like last year also, the regional representatives will journey to Toronto next year, to vie for all-Ontario honors at the Sportsmen's Show.

The ladies will hold their qualifying rounds on Saturday, December 1, and the men will roll-off one week later.

The main requirement is that all entrants must register one week in advance of the qualifying round date and there will definitely be no post entries.

Alleys holding qualifying rounds and the time of bowling are: Brock Amusements, Brockville (2 p.m.); Hough's Bowling Alley, Gananoque (1 and 7 p.m.); Bowladrome, Kingston (1 and 9 p.m.); Princess Bowl, Kingston, (2 p.m.); Brock Bowl, Kingston (3 p.m.); Circle Bowl, Kingston (9 p.m.); Napanee Academy, Napanee (7 p.m.); Bowladrome, Belleville (3 p.m.); Globe Alleys, Picton (1 and 7 p.m.); Lucky Strike Lanes, Deseronto (2.30 and 7.30 p.m.); Bowle-Way, Tweed (2 and 7 p.m.). Men and women will bowl at the same times but one week later.

Shifted to Halfback Spot Sparkles Going Both Ways; Third Game Played Saturday

By JIM PEADDOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, forced by injuries to shift the brilliant Jackie Parker to halfback and replace him at quarterback with Canadian Don Getty, defeated Saskatchewan Roughriders 30-12 Monday night and tied Eskie Interior-three western football final at a game to apiece.

Parker, the former University of Mississippi star who led the Eskimos to the Grey Cup the last two seasons, was outstanding on both offence and defence as Edmonton came back after losing the opener 23-22 in Regina Saturday on a last - minute converted touchdown.

The third game is scheduled for Edmonton Saturday night. Another crowdlet about 19,000 is expected.

Shortage of halfbacks, with Con Kelly, Don Simon and Earl Lindley out with injuries, prompted coach Frank (Pop) Ivy to shift his quarterback to the half line and bring in Getty, second-year Eskimo from the University of Western Ontario.

CARRIED NINE TIMES

Offensively, Parker punted for a single, carried the ball nine times for 100 yards, including a 42-yard cut off tackle that set up a touchdown, caught one of Getty's two pass completions.

Defensively, Parker smacked down Saskatchewan passes at the Saskatchewan quarterback Frank Tripucka on numerous occasions, once on a play that set up a touchdown march.

The 22-year-old Getty, getting his first starting assignment of the season, got off to a slow start but came on in the second half to score a touchdown on a five-yard end run and pitch out to fullback Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright, who crashed over wide for touchdowns. Kwong's 31-yard run off tackle set up Getty's score.

Parker kicked 37 yards for his single and end Bill Walker got Eskimos another point on another 37-yard punt.

Halfback Bobby Marlow shook loose from two tacklers and rolled over from 10 yards out for the first Saskatchewan touchdown, in the second quarter, giving Riders a 6-0 halftime lead.

CONTAINED TRIPUCKA

A major factor in the Eskimos' success was the effectiveness of the defensive backfield in hitting up the aerial attack of Tripucka, the former Notre Dame passing wizard. He completed only seven passes in 23 tries, One resulted in a touchdown, caught by end Harry Lampman with just 20 seconds remaining in the game that went 109 yards.

Halfback Larry Isbell completed two pass attempts to give Riders a record of nine completions in 25 attempted for 103 yards. Major cogs in the Edmonton pass defence were Parker, Bright and halfback Rollie Miles.

Eskimos, with Parker throwing five and Getty six, had four completions — two by each — for 43 yards. On the ground, where Parker, Bright and Miles each carried nine times and Kwong 10, Eskimos had 272 yards to Riders' 127. Marlow led the Rider gainers, getting 46 yards on nine carries, in first downs, Eskimos led 18-16.

End Joe Mobra of Eskimos and guard Reggie Whitehouse of Riders were knocked out in 15-minute-hour crosswind in the 35-degree weather and not a convert attempt was made.

Coach Ivy said he wasn't exactly using strategy when he put Getty in at quarterback. "We just about had to use him because we didn't have any halfbacks otherwise."

Over Kruger, who was to have taken Lindley's place, suffered a severe charley horse in the Saturday game and Ivy said "we had to have someone back there so we decided to let Don quarterback so Parker could run."

Getty wasn't told of the assignment until the club had gone into the dressing room after the pregame warmup.

Coach Frank Filchock, who said he would take Riders back to Regina to await the Saturday game, said the game was decided when punter Isbell, who averaged 41.3 yards in 11 boots, got away a short kick early in the fourth with Eskimos ahead 7-6. Four plays later, Parker went 42 yards to set up Bright's two-yard plunge to score.

"That was where we lost it," Filchock said. "Just the same, the boys played a pretty good ball game considering the opposition. They'll be up for the game Saturday."

Neither club had any further serious injuries to report after the game.

Eskimos' single fumble, by Kwong at the Edmonton 42-yard line, prepared the way for Riders' first score in the second quarter. John Wozniak recovered and on the first play, Isbell passed 25 yards to Williams to set up Marlow's plunge.

Trailing 6-0 at the start of the second, Eskimos began to loose up the Saskatchewan defence. Parker kicked for a single, then intercepted a Tripucka pass at the Edmonton 40 and ran it back to the Rider 20. Bright, Kwong, Miles and Parker moved the ball along the ground to the Rider 12, from where Bright scored.

Isbell's short punt early in the fourth opened the way for Parker's brilliant run after Bright's touchdown. Another Parker interception on the first play after the kickoff set up Bill Walker's single. Then Tripucka, up with the most sensational run of the night, breaking loose 31 yards, but still one shy, Bright three and Getty five to score.

On the ensuing kickoff, Harry Lunn was chased back to his own 11 where Tripucka passing actually started a drive. With Rod Pantages and Marlow running and Tripucka passing successfully to Lampman, Riders moved to the Edmonton four in 9 plays. From there Tripucka passed to Lampman in the end zone.

Tweed Defeats Whitby 22-0; Enters Finals

TWEED.—This village's powerful high school, football team won the semi-finals of the COSSA (Central Ontario Secondary Schools) Whitby Trojans in Belleville by a 22-0 score. The game was played on Albert College gridiron, Saturday.

Next Saturday they meet Picketing for the COSSA senior "B" championship on the Albert College field.

Thus far Tweed HS have only seven points scored against them while racking up 106.

Tweed touchdowns were scored by Ted Cassidy and Hugh Lefore, each with a pair. Mike Lepage kicked a single point 70 yards from a kickoff.

Larry Boardman Wins Over Paddy DeMarco

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Boardman feels he could lick lightweight champion Joe Brown today but the sensational young fighter from Marlboro, Conn., says he isn't in any hurry for the title fight.

The 20-year-old Boardman says he wants to go on learning lessons like the one he picked up Monday night in defeating roughhouse Paddy DeMarco. He met one of the toughest tests for a young fighter—how to combat a mauler, a guy who makes you look bad even when you win.

DeMarco, the former lightweight champion from Brooklyn, used every roughhouse trick in the book in an effort to paste Boardman. He mauled, pushed, grabbed, threw forearm and head and charged in his famous billy goat style. Referee Dave Beloff took the fourth round from Paddy for attempting to punch as Boardman fell floorward from a push.

KEEPS HEAD

Through it all, Boardman kept his head. He smashed DeMarco with right and left from long range and refused to be goaded into fighting Paddy's style. In the fifth round, the hard punching Boardman caught DeMarco flush on the chin, sending him to the canvas.

As a result, Boardman received the unanimous vote of the two judges and the referee. The point spreads announced were 48-39, 49-41, and 48-39, an easy though perhaps costly victory for the National Boxing Association's top-ranked lightweight contender.

Boardman was cut above both eyes, suffered a cheek slash and a badly battered middle knuckle of his left hand. His handlers said he'll be sidelined about eight weeks, forcing cancellation of a date in Boston three weeks hence. DeMarco, 23, now has his first major fight in Philadelphia since May 6, 1953, when Bobo Johnson was drugged prior to a fight. A prolonged investigation of the fight game dealt the sport a stiff blow in this state.

Foe Boardman, who weighed 140, it was the 33rd victory against two defeats and his fifth win this year. DeMarco, who won and lost the 135-pound crown in fights with Jimmy Carter in 1954, dropped his 19th fight against 73 wins and five draws. He weighed 143.

French Horse Victor in International

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Master Boing, French winner of $70,000 in Monday's International race, is going after a steady diet of American money soon.

The three - year - old was sold quickly after the race for $110,000 by Andre Lombard of Paris to N. S. Hunt, Dallas oilman and Edward L. Stephenson, Warrenton, Va., thoroughbred breeder.

The new owners already have the next $100,000 race picked out for the brown colt which showed its fine French heels to nine other horses from six countries. It is the San Juan Capistrano, a grass race like the International, on March 9 at Santa Anita, Calif.

For the fourth time in the five Internationals, the betting public of 33,615 made an American horse the favorite. This time it was Mrs Jon Burke's Dedicate, which finished fifth.

Ron Stewart Heads College Point Getters

TORONTO (CP)—Ron Stewart of Queen's, one of college football's hottest pro prospects, led the individual scoring race in the Intercollegiate Senior Football Union this season.

The slight halfback wound up his last college season with 36 points on six touchdowns.

Stewart scored one touchdown Saturday in the last game of the college schedule. So did teammate Al Kocman who pulled into a second-place tie with Frank Loftus of the University of Western Ontario who was held scoreless. Each has 24 points.

Tim Reid of the University of Toronto Blues ranked fourth with 18 points on three touchdowns. Ross Woods of the Blues and Jocko Thompson of Queen's tied for fifth with 17 points apiece.

Stasiuk Sets Scoring Pace In Bruins Surge to Top Spot

MONTREAL (CP)—Vic Stasiuk set the scoring pace last week in Boston Bruins' surge to the top of the National Hockey League.

The rugged Boston winger collected four goals and two assists as the Bruins swept four games.

The six points sent Stasiuk from a ninth-place tie into a tie for third place.

Stasiuk now has seven goals and six assists for 13 points, four behind pace-setting Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens. Official statistics show Beliveau on top with 17 points, followed by Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings with 16 and Doug Harvey of Montreal with 14.

Beliveau failed to get a goal in four games but counted three assists. Lindsay popped in three goals and had one assist. Harvey, a defenceman, hasn't scored a goal this season but collected three more assists last week to run his string to 14, best in the league. He took over third place from Detroit's Gordie Howe, who is bracketed with Stasiuk and Montreal's, Maurice (Rocket) Richard at 12 points.

ROCKET ROCKET CLIMBING

The Rocket's two goals and two assists last week moved him up a couple of notches. His brother Henri, hitting stride after a layoff because of an injury, scored two goals and added two and is 11 points is tied with Tod Sloan of Toronto Maple Leafs. Bert Olmstead of Montreal and Doug Mohns, Boston defenceman.

Sloan has been the assist in three games, Olmstead picked up three assists and Mohns a goal and three assists.

The Bruins were the class of the league last week. Their eight points, the result of four wins,

TIES IN QUE.

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Bonin of Quebec Aces counted two goals and an assist last week to pull into a tie with teammate Alain (Skip) Toni for the Quebec Hockey League scoring leadership.

Toni and Bonin now have 28 points each.

Teddy Morris Rejoins Argos As Chief Scout for Canadians

TORONTO (CP)—Teddy Morris, who played for Toronto Argonauts for eight years and then coached them for 20 more, has rejoined the Big Four football team as its chief scout for Canadian players, managing director Lew. Hayman announced Monday night.

The 45-year-old former Argo great, a homespun little guy with a gravel voice and unruly crew cut, flew returns to the game he loves so much after an absence of seven years. He has had little to do with football since he quit as coach in 1938 and put all his energy into farming at nearby Malton.

His appointment is the latest move in the club's shakeup and brings him back to work for Hayman, under whom he used to play. Hayman a few days ago was given the task of rebuilding Argos after their last-place finish this season.

MINOR-LEAGUE SCOUT

Hayman said Morris will be in charge of recruiting Canadian and developing Argos' scouting operations in minor leagues.

"Teddy has all kinds of experience in this sort of job and I think it will be extremely productive," Hayman added.

Morris coached Argos for five years from 1945 to 1949 and led them to three successive Grey Cup titles with all-Canadian teams starting in 1947.

"I can't think I know what makes a good football player," he says. "My big job will be to go out and get them. Lew and others will end make sure they get a chance to make the club.

"I'll enjoy working with Lew. He'll work hard to get a winner and I have the same sort of temperament. I don't like to lose."

He said the job could expand into something more than scouting players but "I don't want to get too involved."

DOESN'T WANT TO COACH

"I have no ambitions to coach any more," he added. "I've had enough headaches and tension that I can do without. I'm all right. It's breaking right but when it isn't there's too many people that have to worry about for your actions. Besides, I don't need the money that much. If I was asked to help out, I probably wouldn't mind doing that."

Teddy's new job will be done without a signed contract, which he says he likes to operate in football. He had only verbal agreements in all his years as a player and coach with Argos.

Since he's been away from the game he has done extremely well financially. He has sold land, which he bought on the outskirts of Toronto several years ago, at a good profit as the city grew.

Morris was succeeded as Argo coach by Frank Clair, now the mastermind of Ottawa Rough Riders, when he resigned in January, 1950. The decision to quit came from Ted himself following two poor seasons.

The Argos named him business manager but before the 1950 season started he gave that job up to become coach of Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Football Union. He was with Beaches only a brief period, resigning shortly after the season opened.

THREE STRAIGHT CUPS

Morris' achievement of coaching three straight Grey Cup champions in 1945-46-47 matched a record that still stands. Billy Hicks, who piloted Queen's University to Dominion cygans in 1922-23-24, is the only other coach who has directed more than two consecutive cup teams.

Morris played on three Argo Grey Cup teams in 1933, 1937 and 1938, all of which were coached by Hayman. He came to Argos in 1933 and ended his playing career in 1939.

A pint-sized five-foot-nine halfback who weighed only 150 pounds he was Argos' sparkplug for years and was one of the most formidable plungers in the game.

GARDENS ANNIVERSARY

TORONTO (CP) — Maple Leaf Gardens, great indoor hub of activities in this city, was 25 years old Monday.

In the years since the arena was opened, about 31,000,000 persons have watched its spectacles.

The Gardens, usually thought of as a sports centre, has lived up to the description of its first president—J. P. Bickell—as an arena devoted to music and ballet as well as hockey.

When Conn Smythe built the Gardens, at a cost of $1,500,000, critics said it would eventually go bankrupt. However, it enjoyed tremendous success, particularly as the home of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

Says Norman Got Money For Expenses

MONTREAL (CP) — Sports columnist Dink Carroll of the Montreal Gazette says amateur golfer Moe Norman of Kitchener was left off the Canadian Amateur golf team last month for taking expense money.

Carroll says Norman doesn't think he's the only one to do so in Ontario.

The column is based on a story by Hilles Pickens of the publication Canadian Sport Monthly, out in a day or two.

The 37-year-old golfer, twice Canadian amateur champion, is quoted as saying he never took money for giving lessons or accepted prize money.

PAYING IT BACK

Asked if he accepted expenses or appearance money, Norman replied, says Carroll.

"A few times I told people who were after me that I could not afford to-day to their places. I don't have much money. Travelling costs a lot even when you are hitchhiking.

"Sure, I took dough to get to places and back, but I paid back every cent. But after I knew it was dangerous. I'm paying back the rest of how now as I make the dough.

"I don't want to stop playing amateur golf unless something worth while comes along."

SUDBURY MENTIONED

In answer to the question whether he knew other players doing the same thing, Norman is quoted thus:

"Sure, everybody just about got something in places like Sudbury. It's too long for the guys to go without."

President James P. Anglin of the Royal Canadian Golf Association had announced that Norman was barred from the Americas Cup team, but he gave no reason. He said Norman would know what it was all about.

In Toronto, Wes McKnight, president of the Ontario Golf Association, said:

"As I understand it the RCGA dropped him off because they thought it might embarrass the whole Canadian team if the United States authority began investigating. There have been a lot of rumors about Norman, but I don't think any of them have been proven.

"We investigated several rumors but we were not able to come up with any proof. The RCGA apparently got enough information that they thought it might embarrass the team."

Hungarian Flag Is Raised At Olympic Village Ceremony

By MURRAY ROSE

MELBOURNE (AP)—The red, white and green nationalist flag of Hungary was raised at the Olympic Village today in an uneventful official ceremony belying the international tensions still threatening the games, scheduled to begin in nine days.

In direct contrast to Monday's demonstration by Hungarian expatriates during which the Communist Hungarian banner was torn down and slashed with a knife, some 40 athletes and officials stood quietly as the traditional flag went up.

The chief of the Hungarian delegation, Julius Hegyi, had said earlier that the change of flag was ordered before he left his country. At the time, nationalists temporarily were in power and Hegyi said he since had received no instructions to restore the Communist flag.

POLITICS SEEN

But while calm surrounded the flag-raising ceremony, there were renewed indications that the International Olympic Committee would be unable to divorce the games from world politics as it had hoped.

There were these developments:

1. A spokesman for Syria's Olympic committee said the Arab nations will ask the IOC to ban Britain, France and Israel from participating in the games on grounds that "Anglo-French-Israeli aggression against Egypt constitutes a serious contravention of international ethics, principles and traditions."

2. A Swedish member of the IOC admitted that five Scandinavian countries—Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland—plan a meeting soon to consider the Suez crisis, but said that as of now they plan to compete.

3. Hegyi, himself, refuse to answer questions on the subject of whether Hungarian athletes would compete against the Russians.

FOLLOWS SUGGESTION

Egypt had suggested recently that the committee bar Britain, France and Israel. The Syrian announcement was in the nature of confirming that all the Arab states will back the move.

The Swedish announcement followed a story which appeared in Melbourne papers reporting that Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland were to meet today to consider withdrawal. Six nations — Spain, Holland, Iraq, Egypt, Red China and Lebanon—have withdrawn so far. Switzerland announced its withdrawal, then decided to compete.

Maj.-Gen. Sidney Dyrason, Swedish member of the IOC, said the Suez situation will be considered but this will not be the IOC's task. "Unless there are further major developments in the crisis, we will participate here."

Redskins Get Pair of Offers

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Preston Marshall, president of Washington Redskins, said Monday he has been approached about shifting his National Football League club to Buffalo, as well as to Louisville.

Marshall said last week that Louisville interests had made an "fantastic" offer for the Redskins' franchise. He said then despite the tempting proposition he was prevented from considering a move by a lease on Griffith Stadium that has four more years to run.

He reacted the same way to the Buffalo approach, Marshall said.

Kentuckians have since asked Philadelphia Eagles and Pittsburgh Steelers to move to Louisville. The Steelers also are considering a Buffalo offer.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell says Buffalo is interested in any club in the league. Marshall described it as "wonderful territory."

Tennessee Gets Top Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Tennessee a 6-0 winner over Georgia Tech Saturday in a battle of the unbeaten, was rated No. 1 today in the Associated Press U.S. college football poll.

Sports writers and sportscasters gave Tennessee 1,946 voting points —two more than Oklahoma, winner of 37 straight which had topped the weekly poll every week but one this season.

Where's Nina The Hat Girl?

MELBOURNE (AP) — What's happened to Nina Ponomareva, Russia's "hat girl?"

That was a intriguing question in the Olympic Village today as a new hide and seek mystery built up around the well-coutured Soviet discus thrower whose head chant for pretty bonnets almost got her put in the clink in London last summer.

She was accused of selecting five hats in a London shop and neglecting to pay for them.

A Pan-American Airlines pilot said Monday she was among a planeload of Russians he brought here Friday night. Russian officials insist she was not. Captain Robert Buechner of London insisted he met and chatted with her on the flight.

The Pan-American office said their passenger sheets showed no Ponomareva listed.

Dodgers Win Final Game From Japanese

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—Hits by Jackie Robinson and Don Demeter produced two runs in the ninth inning today as Brooklyn Dodgers rallied to wind up their 15-game tour of Japan with a 5-1 victory over Japan's Pacific League All Stars.

Robinson's hit scored Duke Snider and Jackie came around to score on Demeter's single after moving up on an infield out.

The victory gave the National League champs a record of 14 wins, four losses and a tie against the toughest competition Japan's improving baseballers ever have mustered against an American club.

Hamilton Nips Barrie 5-2

HAMILTON (CP — Hamilton Cubs Monday night moved into third place in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A standings by defeating Barrie Flyers 5-2 before 1,503 fans.

Brian Smith, Bob Mullis, Murray Oliver, Whitey Youngberg and Ed Litzenberger for the Hamilton marksmen while Murray Davison and Dale Rolfe tallied for the Flyers.

Caught on Danny Patrick's knee, Cubs' Smith fell heavily to the ice in the second period and was carried out on a stretcher with an undetermined knee injury. Patrick was given a major penalty for the offence.

—Cubs outshot the Flyers, 36-22 to take their second victory in as many nights.

BEARS BIG BURDEN

MELBOURNE (AP) — A Canadian major is going to be a very big man at the Olympic Games.

He is Maj. John Davies of Montreal, who arrived in Sydney Sunday "in the "Olympic liner" Orcades.

His official Olympic jobs are: Member of the British headquarters staff for the British team; member of the advisory board of the Canadian Olympic team; member of the records and rules committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation; member, of the IAAF congress which meets in Melbourne during the games.

He will also act as observer during the Davis Cup challenge round in Adelaide.

Beaches Lose Grid Gear In Fire

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly $5,000 worth of football equipment was destroyed Monday night when fire broke out in the dressing room of Toronto Beaches of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Firemen said the blaze started from a defective space heater. Team trainer Art Sargeant and assistant trainer Moe Love were packing equipment in the room at the fire.

Their call to the fire department saved about $50,000 worth of equipment owned by Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League. Beaches work out at Maple Leaf Stadium. The Leaf equipment was stored in 'a room adjoining Beaches' quarters.

AT THE PARK — A scene from the year's prize picture "Strange Intruder" now showing at the Park Theatre for its first Belleville showing and starring Ida Lupino, Edmund Purdom and Gloria Talbott. On the same program Alfred Hitchcock's "To Catch A Thief", in VistaVision and Technicolor starring Cary Grant and Grace Kelly.

At The Belle

Sir Laurence Olivier's Production Richard III, in Technicolor, Opens Today

Sir Laurence Olivier's production of William Shakespeare's, "Richard III", in which he is the three-fold capacity of producer, director and principal player, is playing Today, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Belle Theatre in Belleville. The setting is the truly beautiful composite set of the interior of Westminster Abbey and the adjoining throne room where in Sir Laurence, as the hunchback king, utters the soliloquy after the coronation of his brother, Edward IV and starts his scheme to replace his brother on the throne.

In order to follow Sir Laurence from the Throne Room into the Abbey and back across the Throne Room, the unique VistaVision camera was mounted on a specially constructed dolly, designed to move in every direction and turn within its own length. Members of the special unit of "Richard III", with most difficulties to overcome were cameraman Arthur Bushell who was in charge of the split-second timing of his assistant, and director of photography Otto Heller whose lighting had to match that of the star with his zooming cameras.

Although the dialogue for "Richard III" is drawn from Shakespeare's fascinating drama of the hunchback prince who, after displaying great courage in the Wars of the Roses, used every trick of deceit, superstition and treachery to usurp the throne from the rightful heirs, the settings and the costumes, particularly in the Battle of Bosworth, have been developed to give full sweep to the broader canvas of the screen and the spectacular depth and definition of the new VistaVision technique in which "Richard III" was filmed.

"Richard III" now playing at the Belle Theatre, is presented on a policy of two complete shows daily, matinees at 2.00 p.m., evenings at 8.20 p.m. The doors open at 1.30 and 7.00 p.m. The usual Belle prices will prevail with seats not reserved.

Took John Raitt Fifteen Years to Star in First Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Local boy makes good—15 years later.

Born in nearby Santa Ana and reared in Fullerton, John Raitt started his career within an octange throw of the film studios. But, though he has been under studio contract three times, he never got his big break in movies until now.

Raitt is a handsome, virile young man with one of the best dramatic singing voices in the theatre. These attributes made him a Broadway star in such hits as Carousel and Pajama Game.

Now he's co-starring with Doris Day in the film version of Pajama Game and, he sighs, "I never thought I'd make it."

The Theatre Guild several years ago latched on to the talented youngster and assigned him to the lead in the Oscar Hammerstein operetta. Richard Rodgers composed the score for him in mind, since his amazing range could handle such difficult numbers as the Soliloquy.

SIGNED AGAIN

During the Broadway run of Carousel, a producer named Louis B. Mayer came backstage to report the MGM box was sold on Raitt. And where had the singer come from?

"Right off Mr. Mayer's lot," Raitt replied.

He was signed again.

"But I didn't get out to the studio until 1947," he recalled. "By that time my movie business was facing rough times. Only one picture was shooting at MGM, and they had nothing for me."

He almost did Annie get Your Gun, but he lost out to a friend; he had studied with in a Pasadena singing group. He was the same fellow John had recommended for his replacement in Carousel — Harry Keel,' later named Howard by his studio.

Raitt almost lost Pajama Game to Keel. But producer Georges Abbott went to bat for him.

"I didn't think I'd get the part," Raitt admitted. "Producers are funny. They think if a guy has been in the business for 15 years and never made a big picture, there must be something wrong with him."

CHAMP AGAIN

HILVERSUM, Netherlands (AP) Sixteen - year - old Atie Voorbij of Monday recaptured the world record for the 100-metres butterfly swim. She recently lost the record to Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va.

Atie was clocked in 1:10.5. Her previous record was 1:11.8 from which Miss Mann clipped one-tenth of a second last summer.

In Six Years Four National Networks Had 13 Presidents

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that we've settled the matter of who is president of the United States, let's take up the matter of chief executives of television networks.

Despite rebellions and invasions and elections, 'several crowned heads and privy councilors of the networks have been much in the news recently.

Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver, set the pace several weeks ago when he resigned as board chairman of NBC. The hum had not long died out when J.J. Kintner tendered his resignation as president of ABC to Leonard Goldenson, president of the parent American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres.

Then Jack van Volkenburg resigned as president of CBS-TV and was succeeded by executive vice-president Merle Jones.

MOVES TO NBC

While the world was digesting this information, Kintner slipped back to New York, unheralded, and had a chat with RCA board chairman, Brig.-Gen. David Sarnoff. The next anyone knew, Kintner was appointed an executive vice-president of NBC, in case you wonder, by the way, who is now president of ABC, nobody is.

In the last six years the four national networks have had a total of 13 presidents.

With all good fortune to the fine gentlemen who run the networks, I personally no longer can become too excited about their careers. Because I don't think the people particularly care who is the president of any network. They don't read the label on the program, they like it or don't like it, and who is tending the store just doesn't matter to them.

Mountain View

MOUNTAIN VIEW — On Sunday Communion service was held with the Rev. H. H. Hillis and Mr. Farrow officiating. A baptismal service was also held. The parents of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Joyce of Belleville, and the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hamilton received the baptismal rites. A beautiful Communion table was dedicated by Mr. Hillis. The table was given in memory of the late Mrs. F. B. Hamilton. Mrs. E. Anderson, Miss Lillian Anderson, Mrs. E. Crook and Mr. Charles Sprague were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson on Wednesday.

The ladies of the church congregation catered for members of the Young People's Union of the county on Monday evening.

Mrs. Jack Smith and Pam of Ottawa, have been guests of her mother, Mrs. G. Neal for several weeks.

Miss Yvonne Poste of Belleville, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Poste and on Saturday evening Yvonne was a bridesmaid of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Storms and family of Victoria. A miscellaneous was in honor of their daughter, Joyce Storms who was celebrating her birthday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague on the birth of another granddaughter. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGachie (nee Eleanor Sprague) of Toronto on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Sprague, Betty Ellen and Grant motored to Toronto and Susan McGachie returned home with them for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Howell of Centre, called on Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson on Saturday evening.

Mrs. James Way of Bowmanville, spent Sunday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and family.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, Nov. 14, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Take ample time to think things over before acting. Don't anticipate what others are going to say; give them the benefit of exercising their individuality. Even if you're sure, contemplate.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Curb useless spending and do not take on needless obligations. Conduct and thoughts should be such that you would never be ashamed of them. Get some rest.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may be obliged to retrench, hold back some enthusiasm for the time being. Business or other surprises could disrupt your set-up if you don't remain calm during ordeals.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — It is possible to make advances in personal affairs, matters pertaining to home, family, income and investments now. Get facts first; then act.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Some prospects vague. Success, however, is not possible, through mere wishing. You must summarize, study, then act consistently and intelligently to win.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Aspects offer little outside encouragement, though there are many benefic avenues you could follow. The catch lies in your selection of the right road to take. Fortitude needed.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Problems, obligations may seem trying in the early hours. But be patient. Do not allow anything to sway your better judgment, natural desire to do right. Success is possible.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — If you are shrewdly alert and careful in expressing opinions you can move forward appreciably. Clean-cut action will be best. Be outspoken for principles but not over-forceful.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Make haste slowly, mentally referring to past experiences and the knowledge you gained through them. Be adaptable to quickly changing conditions and you can achieve top results.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — You may have to ferret out opportunities and new openings if you would meet today's keen competition. With Saturn's help, however, you can make rapid strides toward achievement.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius)—This is a day wherein you could take some chances. Aim high, but sensibly, of course. Nothing risked, nothing gained; wake up and show your "stuff." A pleasing attitude is a valuable asset.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Home matters, advertising, publicity, trading, banking, building, electronics, research highly favored. Methods of saving time, energy and money should be investigated.

You born today are endowed with foresight, perception, inner strength, force, magnetism and keen judgment. Keep your strength and force within bounds, directing it thoughtfully, and you will become a person of vital importance. Others are influenced by your words; think well before expressing opinions. Your persuasive power can be turned to excellent use in writings, orating, charitable causes. Curb a tendency to gamble unwisely. Birthdate: Sir Chas. Lyell, geologist.

RETIRING NATO

He did not think the West should intervene in the Soviet satellites at present. In dealing with a power so ruthless as the Soviet Union, the punishment of people involved in revolt, was a big factor to be considered. It was too early, he thought, to evaluate the Hungarian situation.

"They have been magnificently courageous and I am not saying that they were wrong to act at the present time. I am satisfied that no Western arms were sent to aid the Hungarians got their arms from local sources."

Gruenther rejected current pessimism . . . that NATO is disintegrating and collapsing."

NOT WRITTEN OFF

"Having recently visited all the countries belonging to NATO I must say that I found nowhere any tendency among responsible people to write off the North Atlantic treaty. There certainly is some fear that internal criticism may weaken it, but by and large I do not find that that is the case."

Writer Believes Book Fair, Accurate Story of Dieppe Raid

Lonsdale

LONSDALE — Friends of Mrs. R. Walsh, 4th line, are glad to hear she is recovering from her recent illness.

Dr. Empson was a caller at the schools this week in Administer polio inoculations to the pupils.

On Sunday evening of last week a number of the young people in the neighborhood gathered at the home of Miss Joyce Forestall in honor of a future bride-to-be, Miss Dorothy McAmbridge, of Marysville, who received a lovely lot of gifts. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Milligan of Melrose.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McHenry spent the past weekend in Marmora, the guests of their daughter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George McEelan and family spent Sunday after noon at last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo St. Pierre, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jenkinson and family of Belleville, spent the supper hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Reid.

Miss Joan Macdonald spent Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Miss Helen McGuinness.

Mrs. Kathleen Coffey of Read, was a caller in the village on Friday.

LONDON (CP)—R. W. Thompson, British author of a book about the Dieppe raid, says he believes that within the limits he set himself, the narrative is a "fair and accurate account" of what took place on the Aug. 19, 1942 landing.

Thompson, who lives in Sudbury, Suffolk and devotes all his time to research, writing and travel, was commenting on a critical review of his book, "Dieppe at Dawn," made by Col. C. P. Stacey, the Canadian Army's chief historian. Col. Stacey's review, appearing in the Canadian Army Journal, said the book cannot be relied upon as an accurate account of the raid.

In a letter received in London commenting on Col. Stacey's criticism, Thompson says that undoubtedly he could have written a fuller story of the Dieppe raid by getting in touch with "some hundreds or thousands" of survivors.

"Instead, I confined myself to a brief within my means, and I believe I have written a fair account . . . thanks to the diaries of some who were taken prisoner I now could add to certain passages, and slightly change others."

MAIL CONGRATULATORY

He says he has received many congratulatory letters from officers and men who took part in the raid. Some had noted "slight mistakes, or illuminated some minor obscurity." One of these was a Capt. Wills, whom Thompson "unhappily" killed off in the book but who actually survived miraculously though shot through the throat.

Thompson replies to some specific points of criticism.

On Stacey's remarks that almost all the men in the tanks survived, whereas Thompson says that no tank men lived to tell of their exploits — "I know, of course, that some tank men survived. They have written to congratulate me and thank me for my book."

On conflicting figures by Stacey and Thompson on aircraft losses by the Germans—"I was aware of these (final figures of aircraft) but I believe my account of the air force battle is largely correct. At any rate, several senior officers of the RAF who took part have sent me congratulations."

QUOTES OPINION

On Stacey's point that the story of shackling of Germans in Canadian camps was well known, against Thompson's statement on shackling that "to retaliate in any way was unthinkable"—"it was certainly war office opinion then, and is their opinion now, that 'to retaliate was unthinkable.' In any case this cannot add or subtract from the accuracy of my account of the Dieppe raid."

On Stacey's criticism that Thompson referred to "special mention" for "extreme devotion" of Canadian naval chaplain W.V. Foote, whereas in fact army chaplain J. W. Foote won the Victoria Cross—"It is strange that Col. Stacey does not draw attention to the many awards gained in this action. My book does not mention any of them," Thompson says he was aware of these things but did not mention them because he was describing what happened at the time, not what happened afterwards.

In a general comment, Thompson says "of course" his book is inaccurate in the fullest sense. All attempts at history, he adds, are inaccurate and there are few if any accounts of battles that can claim more than partial accuracy.

The author now is completing a book on the Battle of the Scheldt Estuary, in which Canadians also were involved, and he says no doubt this "will infuriate Col. Stacey even more."

"Goalie On The Spot!"

Ed Chadwick, rookie goalie on a rookie team, is a Toronto Maple Leafs hope for this Season's championship. He's the only goalie the Leafs have now, which definitely puts him on the spot. For the Toronto club which has not won the Stanley Cup since 1951 just can't expect to win this season unless this 23-year-old blond stops a lot of rubber. A hockey feature "Goalie on the Spot" in this week's issue of the NEW Star Weekly tells Chadwick's hockey career. That's just one of the numerous features you'll find in this week's issue.

Inco Metals at work in Canada

The development of stainless steel has produced many remarkable changes in both the appearance and convenience of Canadian homes. Stainless steel sinks made with Inco Nickel are a good example. They not only brighten and beautify the kitchen, they make household tasks far easier. The manufacture of stainless steel sinks, using nickel supplied by Inco, has become a thriving industry in Canada, providing employment for many Canadians.

Inco Nickel for half a million Canadian sinks*

Stainless steel sinks made with
INCO NICKEL help provide jobs in Canada

Ten years ago, hardly any homes in Canada had stainless steel sinks. But few Canadian housewives tried the new sinks and thought they were wonderful —wouldn't stain or chip, were so easy to keep bright and clean, and best of all, glasses and dishes that were accidentally dropped didn't break as easily.

That was the beginning of a new and thriving Canadian industry. Today, most of the new homes being built in Canada have Canadian-made stainless steel sinks. And practically all of these sinks contain Inco Nickel.

Ore from the mines near Sudbury, Ontario, is milled, smelted and refined by Inco here in Canada. Refined nickel is sold to other Canadian companies to make stainless steel. This stainless steel goes to the Canadian firms that make the sinks. And Canadian builders install them in the homes.

These operations—from the time the ore is mined until the finished sink is installed—provide jobs for thousands of Canadian workmen. That's how Inco Nickel helps promote the growth and development of industry in Canada.

Russian-Trained Defence Boss In Poland Ousted

Rokossovsky's Resignation Comes in Wide Shake-up

WARSAW (CP)—Poland's Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka today for Moscow at the head of a delegation for talks with the Russians.

The Russian ambassador to Poland, Panteleimon Ponomarenko, travelled with the party.

The departure followed a government shakeup Tuesday night in which a number of pro-Soviet elements were removed from office.

Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's resignation from the office of defence minister means that the main symbol of Russian power in Poland has gone, some observers say. The Russian-trained marshal had been commander-in-chief of the Polish army since Stalin appointed him to the post.

Rokossovsky, born in Warsaw but long regarded as the Kremlin's, put in a meteoric career in Polish Communist leadership, was removed from the Polish Communist Party politburo Oct. 21. He was a chief target of demonstrations during the October unrest that resulted in the election of Wladislaw Gomulka as head of Poland's Communist Party.

Since being booted from the politburo, Rokossovsky has officially been "on leave" from his posts of defence minister and deputy premier. His removal from these had been expected.

Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, announcing the resignation at the first televised session of the Polish Parliament Dec. 31, Marian Spychalsky has been named to succeed the marshal.

ARRESTED IN PURGE

Spychalsky, 50, was arrested in 1950 during a Stalinist purge and gained his freedom early this year. A close associate of Gomulka, he was named deputy defence minister Oct. 23.

Also, removed was Edmund Check, Communist minister in charge of the security committee which controlled the state's police. Parliament approved a government decree dissolving the committee and placing security under the interior ministry.

Other changes were announced in the ministries of agriculture, building, health, education and shipping, all the focus of much criticism for Poland's grave economic situation.

The East German news agency ADN reported that Stefan Jedrychowski, president of Poland's supreme court, had resigned because of ill health. He said Wasilkowski was appointed to succeed him.

Rokossovsky was absent from his usual seat in parliament when his resignation was announced. There had been rumors that he had gone to Moscow last month, but reliable sources insist he has not left Poland.

PRINTS CANUCK EDITION

LONDON (CP)—The Times Tuesday publishes a Canadian supplement consisting of more than 30 articles, mostly about the industrial history and Canada-to-Canada relations. The contributors include External Affairs Minister Pearson, Trade Minister Gardiner, Agriculture Minister Gardiner and other government officials. Newspaper men who have contributed include James McCook of the Ottawa Journal, Dennis of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Burt Richardson of the Toronto Telegram.

Today's Chuckle

A woman reported the disappearance of her husband to the police.

"Is there any message you wish to give to him in case we find him?" she was asked.

"Yes," she said, "tell him mother didn't come after all."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The weather was sunny and warm today across Southern Ontario with temperatures in the high 50s. Today and Friday's southward across Northern Ontario, but with persistent rain further south than central Ontario. Showers will fall in Southern Ontario Thursday.

Chances to Win Election Never Better—Hees

GUELPH (CP) — George Hees said the Progressive Conservative chances for winning a federal election never looked better.

In a speech Tuesday night before the Wellington South Conservative Association, the Progressive Conservative Commons member for Toronto Broadview said he bases this conviction on information he has gathered while travelling across the country in the last three months.

"In the next election, refusal of the federal government to assist in power development and to work on a mutually-satisfactory policy with the United States for developing rivers which flow through both countries, makes British Columbia's hydro-electric power another issue," he said.

"Ontario's government has already declared itself "dissatisfied" with the Ottawa government's attitude in the matter of seaway development.

"Their flat refusal to assist those provinces with the development of hydro — electric power while at the same time financing the American - owned Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. to the tune of $200,000,000 has caused deep resentment."

He said John Diefenbaker, Davie Fulton, Albert Rask, MP trying for the Conservative party leadership, is the man who can swing the vote to the Conservatives in the general election expected next June.

Supreme Court Refuses Apology

TORONTO (CP)—Defence counsel J. J. Robinette apologized for his client, civic official Allan Lamport, in the Supreme Court today but the Supreme Court of Ontario refused to accept it.

The apology for Lamport was made in the last day of a retrial of a civil suit brought by Thomas Ross, a taxi operator who claims Mr. Lamport, then mayor and head of the Toronto police commission, libelled him in 1953 by saying he trafficked in taxi licences.

Mr. Ross was awarded $40,000 damages in 1954 but the Supreme Court of Canada ordered a retrial, ruling the damages were excessive.

The jury hearing the retrial was to begin its reassessment today after being charged by Mr. Justice Wilson.

Big Ben, Silent for Past Four Months, Again Booms Out Over Sleeping City

LONDON (Reuters) — Big Ben boomed out over the sleeping city at midnight Tuesday after having been silent for four months, 11 days and three hours.

The great bell—Ben is not the parliamentary tower or the clock, only the bell—will not return to its famous nine o'clock spot on the BBC for a few days pending technical adjustments. In the meantime, the BBC will continue to use Great Tom in St. Paul's Cathedral as a substitute trade mark.

For a while it was a question whether Great Tom would not permanently replace its more famous rival. During its performance at understudy it won many admirers who insisted Tom was "sweeter" than Ben.

But Big Ben's admirers thundered back, deriding the "tinny and reedy" effects of the St. Paul's bells. One said Great Tom symbolized "how far we have declined from the days of Big Ben and Bow."

This is not the first stoppage for the 13½-ton bell which sports a sizable crack caused by its own hammer.

But only once before since it started working 97 years ago had the clock been stopped because of mechanical failure. That was when the original pendulum spring broke in December, 1941, after it had been weakened by a German bomb which destroyed the House of Commons three years earlier.

FIRST CANADIAN CONTINGENT AT ITALIAN BASE

Will Set up Camp For Special UN Force

CAPODICHINO (CP) — Three RCAF planes arrived at this Italian base today during a morning drizzle, carrying the first 35 members of Canada's contingent of troops for the United Nations Middle East police force.

The planes, which took off from Montreal Monday night, also carried equipment for the advance unit of the Canadian force which eventually may reach 1,200.

The first Canadians arrived to join the fast-assembling international group as word came that the Egyptian cease-fire in Egypt today of the initial units had been postponed. Earlier, 65 Danish Infantrymen and 53 Norwegians had flown in to join the force of Danish, Norwegian and Colombian troops already assembled here.

The first Canadian arrival was a guard of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, from Barriefield in Calgary. The commanding officer is Lt.-Col. G. R. Wade, Montreal.

NINE STAFF OFFICERS

The nine officers in the contingent are from the base which will set up battalion headquarters. The troops with them are hastily infantrymen, some of them veterans of Korea and the Second World War.

Some of the Canadians looked serious and some happy-go-lucky as they emerged in the land where the 1st Canadian Division made its name in the Second World War.

The Canadians climbed into buses and were taken to the barracks for troops of the original European headquarters of the North Atlantic alliance forces at nearby Bagnoli.

A 19-man crew brought the first plane in. The pilot was Flt.-Lt. D. J. Major, 27, of Leamington, Ont.

"We had an easy, uneventful flight," he said.

The Canadians arrived armed with rifles. Like the other UN troops, they had left behind what earlier, they also had other light weapons.

UN AIR BANDS

All wore the blue and white armband issued by the UN command.

After brief clearance formalities with officials of the Italian Defence service, a party of Canadian began unloading supplies from the aircraft while the followed the first one in.

Supervising the operation was 24-year-old Cpl. Edward Lempert of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, the only man from Ingersoll, Ont. Lampert is not new to UN service for the past year.

Col. D. Douglas, Canadian military attache from the embassy in Rome, was on hand for the first Canadian army. Neapolitan families stood on the perimeter of the buses near the airport to wave greetings to the troops.

"Viva Canadesi! long live the Canadians!," they called, when they caught sight of the red maple leaf painted on the sides of the RCAF planes.

Inside their barracks, the Norwegian, Danish and Colombian soldiers, veterans of three days in the staging area, shouted greetings to their new comrades.

Universities Call for Govt. Aid To Help Solve Major Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—A distinguished educational leader today called on all levels of government in Canada to meet the national problem of helping universities deal with the dilemma of growing enrolments and cramped finances.

Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, said the provision of adequate higher education is "an urgent task in the building of our nation."

"Such is the scope and urgency of the problem that continued delay in this matter will entail an increasing price in wasted talent and lost opportunities," he said in a paper presented at a conference on the problem facing higher education.

The executive of the National Conference of Canadian Universities, sponsors of the meeting here, agreed unanimously Tuesday to take on the job of distributing federal grants to university students. The government proposes to double these grants next year, to $10,000,000.

The grants now are paid directly from the federal treasury. The NCCU plans to become an incorporated body to carry out the distribution according to a government formula.

Canada's universities have not yet announced whether they will collect the federal grants, but Mr. St. Laurent said the extra money will be kept in trust for those universities which feel they cannot accept it now.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec has attacked the grants as encroaching on provincial rights and has refused to collect them. He accepted them since 1951.

The conference today heard a proposal to organize industrial donations to universities through a body representing all universities.

Msgr. E. J. Somers, president of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., made the suggestion and estimated the joint appeal could raise $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year at the outset, with more in following years.

Hitch May Have Developed In Moving Troops to Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The postponement of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's trip to Cairo brought speculation today that a hitch may have developed in moving the United Nations police force into Egypt.

Hammarskjold's departure, scheduled for 5 p.m. today (EST), was postponed 24 hours. Later a UN spokesman said he would depart "if circumstances permit."

Official reason for the delay was that Hammarskjold was turning his attention to handling reports from Canada's ambassador to Hungary. But the fact that the movement of the UN troops from their Italian assembly point had not started on schedule heightened speculation that the plan had run into trouble.

Britain and France were reported reluctant to move out of the Suez Canal zone until it was agreed that the UN force would continue patrolling the area.

Reports Say Hungarians Being Sent East in Sealed Cars

VIENNA (AP)—Radio Budapest said today that Hungarians are being deported to the east in sealed railway cars and Russian troops trying to end the rebellion in Hungary and get the workers back to work.

The Budapest station, controlled by the Russian-imposed government of Premier Janos Kadar, made the surprising admission in a broadcast monitored here in the general strike was continuing.

Reporting on the situation late today in Salonok County, southeast of Budapest, the radio reported that about 40 per cent of the railwaymen had returned to work and that some rail traffic had started.

"But," the station added, "according to the latest reports pieces have been transported to the east in locked railway cars and for that reason the railwaymen started to strike again."

The station added that various districts had been affected by the deportation of Hungarians and that "workers, therefore, now are leaving their jobs in increasing numbers."

Rumors that the Russians were rounding up rebellious youths for deportation to Siberia spread in the Austrian border for several days.

The Vienna newspaper Der Kurier quoted Hungarian refugees reporting the Russians also have arrested members of the wives and children of rebels in order to stamp out the last vestiges of the Hungarian revolution.

The refugees, who crossed the Austrian border Monday night, said the deportations began simultaneously four days ago in Hungary's two largest towns, Nyiregyhaza and Puespokladany. In both towns thousands of women and their children were dragged into heavily guarded freight trains which afterward left in an easterly direction, they said.

Attempts of the insurgents to stop these trains broke down under heavy Russian fire, the refugees said. Some of the transports were reported to have left the country for the Soviet Union at Zahony border checkpoint.

CREWS SCRAMBLE TO GET MAGGIE READY FOR TRIP

Aircraft Carrier Will Be Home for Canadians

HALIFAX (CP)—Hundreds of shore - based seamen swarmed over the carrier HMCS Magnificent after the night and started pulling down guns, unloading ammunition and hoisting aboard enough supplies to keep more than 1,500 men in the Middle East where they will help police the Suez Canal area.

At the bow of the big flood-lit carrier a team of dockyard workers was busy installing a new anchor.

At the stern of the big flood-lit carrier a team of dockyard workers was busy installing a new anchor.

Flying Boxcars of the RCAF Arvoell overhead at about three-minute intervals carrying troops with the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles to Halifax to meet the ship that will take them to United Nations police force duties in the Middle East.

Many of the eager-looking soldiers were on the aerodrome platform when the Magnificent churned into dock Tuesday night.

The carrier had been homeported at Greenock, near Glasgow, Scotland, for the past year. She will be home to a sense of urgency and the hundreds of wives and sweethearts of the ship's crew of about 1,100-man crew were forced to stand well clear of cranes laying off guns and ammunition, which are being removed to make way for tons of supplies.

The ship will become headquarters for the UN police force until permanent quarters are found.

The 600 members of the ship's air force, known as the "Maggie" were told to be back and ready to sail Sunday. Capt. Fraser-Harris said they will sail "by the 21st." Reports from Ottawa say the sailing date may be about the 18th or 19th.

Three Arrested In Oshawa

TORONTO (CP) — Three men were arrested in Oshawa Tuesday night and charged with breaking and robbing a Toronto businessman and his mother last Saturday.

Real Desnoyers, 23, John Mesbergen, and Joseph Karaf, 30, all of Toronto, were arrested by suburban Scarborough detectives investigating the robbery. They were charged with Jack Cragg and Mrs. Ida Cragg, who were beaten with a revolver butt and his mother's arms were bandaged before the detectives escaped with cash and jewelry.

MORE LEEWAY

LONDON (CP) — Some 400,000 telephones were cut off in Britain in the last three years for non-payment of bills. This was about two per cent of the accounts. The time allowed for paying bills is to be extended.

Eisenhower Gives No Hint Of Form Of Opposition

Egypt Has Asked Syria to Send Help Says Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States would oppose—probably through the United Nations—any intervention in Egypt by Soviet or Chinese Communist volunteers.

The president left up in the air just what form such opposition might take.

In a brief press conference, his first since re-election, that the nature of such opposition would depend upon the specific circumstances of any intervention.

There have been reports that up to 50,000 Soviet volunteers were ready to march into the Middle East if Moscow should give the word.

Dan Shore, a CBS correspondent in Moscow, said he broadcast from the Soviet capital today that there was reliable information there that Egypt had asked for Russian volunteers. Moscow was cut off the air when he started to broadcast the report (to the volunteer force.)

A week ago, the White House issued a statement saying that the introduction of any new armed forces into the Middle East would be the United Nations charter, and it would be the duty of all United Nations members, including the United States, to oppose any such force.

In the light of that statement, Eisenhower was asked today what form U.S. opposition would take under such circumstances.

He replied it was impossible for him to say at this point.

But he emphasized that the UN is not restricted, as he put it, to adoption of resolutions.

NEEDED MORE THAN TALK

The president added that he was not going to say the United States would take a unilateral decision—that is a decision by it—about how it would make intervention. He noted that last week's White House statement said it would be the duty of UN member countries to oppose intervention.

Eisenhower said the United States certainly would lend support to any UN action. That was at this point that he added that the action need not be restricted to adoption of resolutions.

The president said there was one case in which he felt he could not than pass a resolution. Although he did not name it, Eisenhower presumably was referring to UN intervention in Korea.

The president expressed hope and confidence that the current crisis in the Middle East and in Hungary can be settled through the United Nations.

He also said he believes that once those situations have been resolved, U.S. relations with Britain and France will be stronger than ever.

SOFT LANDING

HONITON, England (CP)—Laborer Michael Niewiadamski, 35, fell 30 feet from some scaffolding in this Devon town. He landed on soft ground next to a pile of concrete slabs, and escaped injury.

Prince Charles, With 10 of His Pals, Enjoys Advance Party for Birthday

Queen Elizabeth's mop - haired little son whose middle name is Philip somewhat rakishly late since he is Prince Royal children's party for 10 of his young pals at an advance afternoon tea party at Buckingham Palace Thursday.

After tea, Charles and his guests watched a movie.

The Queen missed the earlier part of the party. She had been to Butler's Wharf, near the Tower of London, to wish good luck to the Commonwealth Antarctic expedition ship Shackleton. But she managed to return to the palace to join in some of the fun.

It was just one of the planned birthday gatherings the prince ever has had. He was permitted to invite boys from the weekly gym class he attends in Chelsea, not far from the palace.

The prince's birthday party was advanced a day, the palace said, "because his royal children's day" crossing activities tend to clash, and today was found to be more convenient.

But a Hungarian baker in Soho, London's cosmopolitan area, is determined that another birthday cake went off to the palace today.

This baker has turned out such luscious and beautiful cakes in the past—in the shape of ships and castles—that on one occasion Prince Charles refused to cut it. "It may be that his second cake was for the quiet, always unpublicized family birthday tea which Princess Margaret and the Queen Mother usually attend.

Harvest Window Happy Place For Little Mouse

DETROIT (CP) — A large flower store on Washington boulevard spent several days arranging a harvest window, but they hadn't counted on its appeal.

Crowds gathered before the window and stayed late into the night, much to the pleasure of the owners.

An unscheduled attraction was a tiny mouse contentedly nibbling on the grain display.

The owners a n d g i r l s mouse today, but for the crowd.

Mentalist Gives Correct Vote For Eisenhower

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Swimmer, who calls himself a mentalist, had the board of supervisors' election today.

For inside a box, locked inside another box that had been locked in the county safe since Oct. 10. When it was opened by the chairman of the board of supervisors Tuesday Swimmer never was closer to it than four feet.

But there were the figures, correct right down to the last digit. It said he do it? Swimmer isn't saying.

Fatally Injured

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Glancola, 37, was fatally injured today when his car slammed into a shunting diesel engine at a railway crossing near the centre of the city.

New Agreement With Bus Line To Be Considered

City council at their next regular meeting will again consider its new agreement with the Rawson Bus Lines which calls for increased fares and a cutback in some of its services.

The agreement was held up at the by-law stage a week ago when two Ward III delegations asked that the matter be re-considered.

Since then the city solicitor has gone over the bus line books covering the last five years' operating and last night submitted a report and recommendation to council at their committee meeting. The recommendation will be considered at next week's meeting of council.

Police Blotter

Theft of lumber from the construction site at the new Albert College manor addition on Highland Avenue, has been reported by the general contractor for the job. The lumber, mostly two-by-fours, is being taken away small quantities at a time, according to the contractor.

And someone forced his way into the city hall market room during the night but was frightened at the police station. One of the doors was forced in pain entry, but police said nothing appeared to be disturbed.

Y to Feature Trampolining

Through the courtesy of Mr. Ali. Phillips and Mr. Don Webb, a former "Y" Leader, the Belleville Y.M.C.A. has the use of their trampoline for the 1956-57 Physical Education year.

Today's trampolining is one of the most popular and important sports in the world largely for acceptance as a gymnastic event, its various use in physical training and its place in the new field of television.

Basically a trampoline consists of three parts; frame, bed and suspension system. Each is necessary to make one complete unit. The frame is usually made of high grade welded steel tubing that folds and is portable. The bed can be made of one of two major types, a canvas bed or a woven nylon webbed bed. Recently an all nylon canvas flat bed has been developed which combines the best qualities of both beds. The suspension system is what really gives the bounce to any trampoline. There are two types—coil, metal spring and rubber cables. The suspension system connects the bed to the frame and produces an acceleration that makes possible a variety of stunts, better co-ordination, good exercise, and limitless thrills and amazing recreational activity for all ages.

Two Youths Face Car Theft Charge

Two transient youths neither of whom were able to give police any permanent address are in custody at Belleville charged on two counts of car theft.

Roy Tomlinson, 17, and William Tripple, 18, are charged with theft of a car at Gananoque and with another at Belleville. A third youth was given his freedom when police interrogation failed to link him at Pinnacle and Bridge streets and questioning the lone occupant was told the car was out of gasoline and that two others of youths had gone for more fuel.

When the youth's manner aroused suspicion he was taken in for further questioning and on checking the license number of the car it was found that the vehicle had been stolen in Gananoque.

Corporal Ray Kowal and Constable Calnan were then called in along with Crown Attorney Costello and Parker and Davis to look for the other two youths. They were apprehended in the East Hill area, driving another car which police said had been stolen a few minutes earlier on Forin street.

Engine Trouble Forces Plane Down at Regina

REGINA (CP)—An RCAF C-119 Flying Boxcar aircraft carrying 50 soldiers of the 48th Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, on the first leg of their journey to Egypt made an unscheduled landing here Tuesday night with engine trouble.

The incident was among the few hitches in the operation in which 1,250 members of the QOR are being flown from Calgary to Halifax en route to the Canal zone for service with the United Nations police force.

Early today the men were on their way again in a replacement aircraft flown from Edmonton.

Two Time Winner

Gilbert Wilson, L'Amable, near Bancroft, drives for the Ontario Department of Highways, shown just before taking the wheel to compete in the 3rd annual roadeo staged by the department in their Downsview yards on the north edge of Toronto. Wilson beat all competing truck drivers for the department attached to the Bancroft district, for which he won a bronze medal and the right to enter the department's Provincial finals. In these he won his second gold medal, to be topped by the best drivers from Kingston and Ottawa districts. For this fine achievement he received a silver medal and other recognition. For purposes of publication Wilson's facio is divided into 10 districts and Windsor, who up headed the top men from each of the other 17 districts. No less than 125 drivers took part in the original district roadeos, which were identical in every way.

While the roadeo requires great driving skill, its purpose is primarily to promote safe driving. Besides ability in handling a vehicle, the drivers are judged upon appearance, knowledge of safe driving rules, first-aid, fire fighting and mechanical know-how.

Nehru to Confer With Eisenhower At Washington

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Indian Ambassador G. L. Mehta said Tuesday Prime Minister Nehru of India will visit Washington within the next six weeks to confer with President Eisenhower on world problems.

Mehta set the date for the meeting would be announced within a week.

Nehru says, a government official said it is likely Nehru will be invited to come to Canada after his Washington visit. Prime Minister St. Laurent and Nehru are good friends and it was considered unlikely that Canada will up this opportunity to get together.) Serious differences of opinion exist between Eisenhower and Nehru on the question of the Soviet Union's brutal and bloody suppression in Hungary. Diplomatic sources here say that Mr. Nehru feels they watch a rising tide of bewilderment in the United States over Nehru's failure to respond as vigorously to the Soviet threat in Europe as he did when he condemned the Anglo-French attack on Egypt last week.

MRS. CHARLES FREDERICK

Ill for some time, Mrs. Frances Lillian Frederick, 24 Everett St., died Wednesday at her home. She was 87.

Born at Actinolite, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walsh and lived in that area until 1886 when she moved to Belleville. She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ and Latter Day Saints.

Her husband, Charles Frederick, pre-deceased her some years ago. She is survived by one sister, Miss Addie Walsh, at home.

Resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. M. G. McCULLOUGH Cookyville

Funeral service was conducted in the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home on Tuesday, November 13, at 2.30 p.m. by Rev. Jane Anale McCullough, wife of the late Mitchell McCullough. Rev. R. J. McCrae officiated, assisted by Archdeacon J. H. Creighton.

Interment was in Lonsdale cemetery.

Bearers were Francis McCullough, Murney Cook and Mr. C. Marlin, Frank Kent and Marshall Cochrane.

Mrs. McCullough died in Kingston on Saturday at the age of 77 years.

WILLIAM S. JUNIPER

A well-known resident of Picton in the person of William Skyles Juniper, passed away suddenly on Saturday, October 27th, 1956, at his residence, Main St.

Born in London, England, Dec. 15th, 1900, he came to Canada in the age of four. He was the elder of Mrs. W. F. Bradshaw and the late Mr. Juniper of Gananoque.

A veteran of both World Wars, Mr. Juniper was agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for thirteen years at Picton. At the time of his passing, he was employed with the building superintendent of the Prince Edward Collegiate. He was a member of I.O.O.F. 143, Picton Branch.

Surviving are his wife, the former Edith Mastin, five daughters and one son, also nine grandchildren.

Rev. R. B. Wright, rector of Mary Magdalene Anglican Church, conducted the service, with interment in Glenwood Cemetery.

Many floral tributes marked the high esteem in which Mr. Juniper was held by his friends and associates.

Mr. Juniper was well-known in Belleville, having resided here on several years before moving to Picton.

WILLIAM HENRY BRADSHAW

The funeral of William Henry Bradshaw, of 86 Dufferin Ave. South, Trenton, who died in Trenton Memorial Hospital in his 81st year, was held Tuesday from the Weaver Funeral Home to Belleville cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. T. C. Minnally and Rev. G. A. Puttenham.

Bearers were: Clinton Downs, William Hodgkinson, Fred Taylor, Harry Thurston, Henry Carswell and Cecil Dube.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradshaw, he was born in Lennox township and had lived in Sidney and Thurlow townships prior to moving to Trenton 28 years ago.

Mr. Bradshaw was a retired farmer and former mail carrier on R.R. 5, Trenton.

His attended King Street United Church.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Margaret Ann Crouse, Oshawa; Mrs. Myrtle Ostrander, Consecon, and Mrs. Percy Bent, Oshawa, and four brothers, Geddes, Rae and Donald of Belleville, and Harvey of Brighton.

Sweden Plans To Ration Oil

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's government today rushed plans to begin rationing oil at midnight to conserve dwindling supplies cut short by the Middle East crisis.

A sweeping government request for wartime economic powers was put before Parliament today. Quick approval was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Closing of the Suez Canal and sabotage of the oil pipeline through Syria has cut heavily into the amount of Middle East oil available for Europe.

Sweden hurried today to stock up on both oil and gasoline. Filling stations were blocked by long lines of cars and people with containers of every description.

After stocks ran out at one station, an elderly man with an empty barrel burst into tears. He explained that he had poured four gallons of wine from it down the sink to make room for gasoline.

Conservative Party Cheered By Recent Election Victories Says Don Fleming in Interview

A resurgence of spirit within the Conservative party following the recent victories at the polls in provincial elections in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick has heightened the prospects of the party for the next Federal contest.

This was the observation made today by Donald M. Fleming, Progressive Conservative M.P. for Eglinton, Toronto, in a newspaper interview following an address to the Women's Canadian Club here Tuesday night.

One of three aspirants for the Progressive Conservative party leadership at the federal convention to be held next month, Mr. Fleming said that the victory in the recent provincial election in Nova Scotia, following the P.C. victory in New Brunswick, had been a tonic to the party everywhere."

He observed that the liberals had been in power in N.S. for 68 of the last 74 years and had been continously in power for the past 23 years. Eight years ago there was not even a Conservative in the legislature.

Tribute for much of the rebuilding of the party in Nova Scotia was paid by Mr. Fleming to the new Progressive Conservative premier, Robert Stanfield whose leadership, he said had successfully combined youth, vigor, energy, hard work, and experience.

TWO MORE ASPECTS

Two other significant aspects stood out in the Nova Scotia election result, according to Mr. Fleming.

These were (1) that the Conservatives had won over labor seats with Mr. Stanfield carrying the labor seats in Cape Breton, and (2) that the election had been fought largely on federal issues.

"The people of Nova Scotia have rejected the policies of the autocratic attitude of the Ottawa government and the basic political policies which are seriously hampering development in the Atlantic provinces," Mr. Fleming declared.

"The restrictions in credit and interest rates imposed by the Federal government has brought about through the Bank of Canada have hit the Atlantic provinces a cruel blow in the development of resources urgently needed in that area to strengthen and diversify the economy."

The Federal government restrictive policies could not have come at a worse time, commented Mr. Fleming. He said this was not from just a local or regional problem — that it was a national problem.

"In a small wonder that the Atlantic provinces are smarting under a sense of grievance against Ottawa."

Having only recently returned from a tour of the Maritimes, including a stop-over at Quebec city where he met the Liberal caucus meeting, Mr. Fleming said he was "pleased and encouraged" by the support and support developing toward him as national party leader.

This was true, he said in the Maritimes as well as in other parts of Canada.

SUPPORT GROWING

"I am going to the convention next month in full confidence in the outcome," he said.

He was gratifying to receive support as I am doing from every part of Canada, Mr. Fleming declared. One of the factors developing quietly without a lot of fanfare, but very hand I am told there has been a very great change in the picture within the past several months. There is a definite swing of support toward me.

Mr. Fleming said he confident between the federal and provincial governments, Mr. Fleming declared that the federal government with its high taxes is contributing to pull up a large surplus while at the same time provincial and municipal governments continues to stagger along under burdens for which they have no adequate source of revenue to meet.

He noted that the cost of developments and the provision of services demanded by the people is largely falling on provincial and municipal governments whose sources of revenue are limited.

"The federal government on the other hand has unlimited powers of taxation," he declared. "In the three fields of taxation common to federal and provincial governments, namely—income tax, corporation tax and succession duties—the federal government is taking the lion's share of the tax revenues."

NEED NEW FISCAL DEAL

"What is urgently needed in Canada," he went on, "is a new fiscal deal between the federal and provincial governments which will assure provincial and municipal governments revenues adequate to meet expanding fiscal responsibilities."

One of the more important fields in which this type of deal is required was that of education costs.

Referring to the refusal of Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis to provide subsidies for provincial universities, Mr. Fleming said that no one wished to see any province being raised over the head of jurisdiction over education.

"Under our constitution, jurisdiction in education is vested in the provinces and it must remain there," he said.

"This country is facing a need for expansion of educational facilities, including education at university level. This fact emphasizes the imperative necessity for a new fiscal deal between the federal and provincial governments under which the provinces will have sufficient revenues to meet increasing need of educational facilities at all levels of our educational system, including universities."

Commenting on his stop in Belleville, Mr. Fleming said he found that the city is booming and was delighted to see the striking evidence of growth here. This morning he was scheduled to visit the big shoe plant at Bancroft, and this evening will address a meeting at Fort Hope.

Woman Biologist Defies Court

LONDON (Reuters)—A tropical fish expert married to a noted Canadian biologist was arrested today of drunkenness, assaulting a policeman and stamping on a cop's foot.

Mrs. Helen Haldane, 41, wife of Prof. J. B. S. Haldane, was fined 10 shillings for drunken behavior and £5 for assaulting the policeman Nov. 3.

The woman biologist, who lectures in Indian University College, told the court: "I refuse to pay. I hope to go to jail and I will be very much happier if I can tell my friends that I too have been in prison jail."

The court said if the fines are not paid she will go to prison for two months.

Policeman James Oldbury said Mrs. Haldane kicked him on the dog's tail, causing it to yelp. He said: "I saw the dog and I replied: "For fun. That's what dog's tails are for."

Mrs. Haldane's study of the female guppy fish, which produces young not even when pregnated from the male, recently led to a headlined controversy in Britain over the possibility of virgin birth among humans.

President Tito May Intervene In Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—Passive resistance against Russia's puppet Hungarian government continued today throughout the battered country as speculation grew that Yugoslavia's President Tito might intervene to solve the stalemate.

Much of revolution - wrecked Hungary remained idle in the throes of a virtual general strike. Factories were crippled, workers stayed away from their jobs, transportation was broken down, food was desperately short, and Russian tanks remained on the streets.

Opposition to the Soviet-installed government of Premier Janos Kadar spread even to the regime's own newspaper, Szabad Nep.

Journalists and printers at the paper's printing shop joined the strike and refused to put out today's issue. The newspaper had been the only one printed in Budapest since Russian tanks crushed the anti-Communist revolt and the Kadar government in power.

Many observers said the Hungarian politicians are looking to Tito as the only man who might solve the crisis. Tito and the Kadar government has been registered frequent by the passive resistances of the rebellious Hungarians and even of die-hard Communists.

The Yugoslav ambassador to Hungary, Veljko Belgrade Micunovic, while the former Hungarian Communist premier brought to power briefly by the Soviet, Imre Nagy, remained in refuge here in the Yugoslav Embassy.

Hungarian Journalists, mainly Communist party men in many cases, today abolished fully supporting the government Nagy formed Nov. 3, and which has been forced out two days later.

The journalists declared the Nagy government the "only legal government of Hungary," and swore to support the Kadar regime "neither with pen nor with words."

They joined other intellectual groups in declaring that the withdrawal of Soviet troops is the absolute prerequisite for internal peace in Hungary. The resolution appeared on public billboards today. It apparently was a factor in the collapse of the government newspaper to come out.

Lands on Highway

OSHAWA (CP)—A pilot whose plane iced up as he was flying between Toronto and Oshawa made a safe landing Tuesday on a heavily travelled dual-lane highway two miles east of here.

Joseph Colborne, 21, of Corunna, touched down the stricken passenger aircraft in rain and snow on Highway 401 just before dusk. He was cruising at 1,500 feet when a permit from the department of highways and have the plane towed to the nearest airport.

The attorney-general has banned take-offs from Malton.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Prices turned downward on the stock market today a few minutes after the open. Gains recorded in opening trading were almost erased as a wave of profit - taking swept across the board.

Industrials lost nearly a point on their index following yesterday's sharp 2¼-point climb. Western oils were down more than one-half point and base metals lost a bit less than one-half point on their indexes.

With the exception of a few banks' utilities and refining oils, industrials were generally lower. Bank of Montreal added 1¼ points, Bank of Nova Scotia one, Calgary Power 1¾ and Canada Permanent Mortgage 2½. Trans Mountain was up a point but other gains were fractional.

New Terrorist Wave Sweeps Over Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus, (Reuters) — Four persons were reported killed today as a new wave of terrorism swept over Cyprus.

Among those who died was John Pelaghias, 60-year-old Greek Cypriot lawyer who also published a weekly newspaper, Drassis, that was highly critical of the Greek Orthodox Church leadership in Cyprus politics.

It was believed that the new wave of terrorism was timed to coincide with the United Nations General Assembly in New York—at which the Cyprus issue is among the top subjects scheduled for debate.

Others killed included a Cypriot priest's son who was shot by unidentified gunmen this morning a few hundred yards from the residence of the British governor, Sir John Harding.

Police Tuesday shot and killed an unidentified Greek Cypriot youth, arrested in West Cyprus during a recent anti-terrorist operation, as he was trying to escape.

Drops Age Limit

OTTAWA (CP) — The army has dropped its age limit for overseas service to enable about 35 members of the 1st Battalion Queen's Own Rifles to travel to the Middle East with their comrades.

Lt.-Col. Gerald P. McPherson, commander of the 900-man unit, said Tuesday night the single overseas age limit was dropped from 19 so that the 18-year-olds in the unit, all fully-trained soldiers, could make the trip.

An army spokesman said the age limit is a matter of custom rather than regulation. The minimum age for married personnel remained unchanged at 21.

HITCH MAY HAVE

The Hungarian item was approved for debate after a day-long wrangle in the steering committee. The assembly which decided to eliminate the usual procedure of sending it first to the political committee.

The same procedure for handling the Middle East situation also was approved, but without objection from anyone, including Britain and France.

"CYNICISM, HYPOCRACY"

In the assembly, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov contended that what was happening in Hungary was a purely domestic affair.

The question, he said, was being brought up as a pretext to divert attention from the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt. The Soviet Union had brought its "brotherly, allied help" to the Hungarian people.

Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister, called the Soviet explanation "a strange mixture of cynicism and hypocracy."

"Do they take us for fools or cowards?" he asked.

Steel Shortages Become Tighter

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel shortages have become tighter in the United States during the last week and signs are that they will get worse, says Iron Age, weekly magazine of the steel and metals industries.

The Suez crisis has tightened the market, Iron Age says, and "edgy steel buyers are taking no chances." Orders are running as much as 10 to 15 per cent ahead of capacity in some firms.

Steel scrap prices have risen to all-time highs. The Iron Age composite price for No. 1 heavy melting scrap is a record $61.17 a gross ton.

Canada's Resources Present Great Challenge Says Fleming

"We, as Canadians, need to be more conscious of our opportunities, and of the challenge they present to the world," said Donald Fleming, Q.C., M.P., as he addressed the Women's Canadian Club, last evening, in Sir Winston Churchill school, on the topic of "Canada's Challenge."

Mr. Fleming, who was introduced by Mrs. D. T. Rollins, chairman, president of the club, prefaced his remarks by some pithy quotations from the ancients, the modern philosophers and poets concerning 'women' and their place in the scheme of things. According to Sophocles, women were to be seen and not heard, and from Tennyson, that "Woman was God's second mistake" leaving one to guess what the first was. Kipling made up for these by stating that "A woman's guess is more accurate than a man's: certainty."

He then went on to mention the high importance of Women's Canadian clubs, and the place they hold in Canadian esteem, briefly comparing the sphere of women in Canada with that in Africa where women till the soil, and men attend to the animals. Polygamy is widely practised there because of the amount of work women can do. When used, the men are first, the animals second, with the women bringing up the rear.

CANADA'S VAST RESOURCES

Canada is the second largest country in the world, with a population of 16,000,000, more by birth than by immigration, and her future is a dazzling one. Canada is rich in oil, and iron, with coal, uranium, natural gas, and water in abundance, as well as nickle, copper, lead, mica asbestos and stands in the forefront in the production of food.

Aside from the natural resources there are the human resources, comprising vigorous, enterprising and law abiding citizenry. Canada has achieved world recognition, and holds a high place in the middle nations. Her geography also plays a leading part in her proximity to the United States. Unlike the older nations, Canada is young, and has nothing to live down. Therefore, what Canadians have done, is a challenge to each one.

VISION NEEDED

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," quoted Mr. Fleming, "and for the future, we need individuals who can interpret Canada's status, and to understand our history, and assess it correctly.

"We should be proud of our ancestors: first the French, 60,000 of whom passed over to Canada, and in two centuries have become three and one-half millions today.

"Voltaire said that Canada was but 'a few acres of snow,' but it is rich in its two languages, and its two basic cultures, which we shall always have with us. We need tolerance and understanding. Another vast heritage came from Britain, which endowed us with the stamp of freedom; our courts, our laws, and our justice and our honor. Our parliament is of British institution.

"Many here came from Britain bringing rich and unique contributions to this growing country, and from this family of nations we derive cultural ties, and spiritual ties, and we enjoy independence, and a stabilizing influence. Let us not forget that we owe a debt to those who have gone before us, the Fathers of Confederation, and their tremendous achievement, and they built better than they knew—a triumph of determination was the building of the railroad which joined the east with the west.

"In 1919 Canada achieved her nationhood by the Treaty of Versailles," said the speaker, "and by her sacrifice of young Canadians. These elements bring an inescapable challenge in how shall our resources be used, not in a profligate manner, but wisely, as they belong to nations yet unborn. Canada has so much to give, do not forget the rest of the world.

MINORITIES' RIGHTS

"The next challenge is the minorities' rights; the world is grappling for a way in which the minority peoples can live in peace beside each other. We need to know each other better; prejudices, ignorance, never settle a question. Destiny says 'we must be a tolerant people, where brotherhood can reign within the Canadian family. We must show what we mean by our way of life and how much we appreciate it. Communists know what and why they believe their; they can explain it. So, we must know and be able to explain ours to others.

"We take freedom for granted: we need more appreciation for it; and the responsibilities which go with freedom. We will be a greater people for the full sense of freedom.

A CHALLENGE

"The challenge of materialism has but little appeal to the eastern world. What they see in western movies has little appeal; it must be a spiritual appeal; we must be sure of ourselves and of our mission to the world. The sense of greatness keeps the chin up; we need confidence in ourselves, and for the future wider horizons; a sense of responsibility and obligations, a going of the second mile.

"The greatest danger confronting democracy is the apathy, indifference, and cynicism, evil triumphs because good men do nothing. Franchise is neglected. Gratitude is the mother of all the virtues. Canada is not yet built; Canadians must carry on the builders, but especially as builders for future generations, remembering that: with privileges go much responsibility."

Mr. Fleming concluded his address with another quotation from the Bible. "To whom much is given, much shall be required."

Mr. George Allport, Tip Top's Woollens Buyer, says—

"This Fall the new Medium Tones will give your Wardrobe a real lift"

"And a welcome change, too. Medium Tones look well on everyone and brighten wardrobes that have been full of darker colours. They're perfect in Tip Top's "Trim Look" style."

"See Tip Top's new and different collection of all-wool Twist-Tweeds, British Flannel Worsteds, Twist-Weave Worsteds, Muted Glen Plaids and a wide selection of other up-to-the-minute all wool British fabrics. BUSY LIFE

The "increasing activities" the palace spokesman referred to were to the prince's "extras."

Apart from lessons all day—in the same palace schoolroom used long ago by the Queen and Princess Margaret—he has French lessons, music lessons in St. John's Wood, North London, dancing class, riding lessons and gym instruction.

In his spare time he is taken to London museums, parks and places of interest. He has taken a elegant grey flannel short pants and jacket, no one gives him a second glance.

Now that he is entering his ninth year, newspapers have been filling columns with advice to the royal couple on how to educate their son. Some plump for the leading English public (private) schools—others would like to see something more democratic—such as a ledger public school.

But a palace spokesman said today that the Queen is not contemplating any change in her son's education.

HOME OWNERSHIP SPARKS EXPANSION

A yearning to own a home and garden away from the rush and bustle of big cities which has suddenly grown into a reality for millions of citizens is one of the most dynamic factors in the burgeoning economies of Canada and the United States.

Following the war, in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver, the wholesale erection of towering apartment blocks to coop up millions as they do in New York was envisioned.

There are several reasons why this downtown apartment building program is being undertaken on only a limited scale and the mainstream of home building construction has been away from the city rather than in it.

One of these reasons stems back to a long standing distaste for the hustle and bustle, racial exodus of downtown living which has suddenly broken out into open revolt. People who are obliged by necessity to toil in such an atmosphere want to live in a different environment when they worship God is over.

Following the war, the home building loans made available to veterans and the greatly increased earnings of civilians almost overnight enabled thousands to realize a hope which hitherto had been little more than a dream.

The post-war development of Toronto affords a startling example of one of the greatest mass movements toward the suburbs ever recorded. Incredible as it may seem, the population of Toronto proper has actually declined by 13,000 during the last five years while the suburbs have become honey-combed with more than 200,000 newcomers. More than half of metropolitan Toronto's 1,347,905 population now lives beyond the confines of the city itself.

The longing for home ownership in a rural atmosphere has created a similar situation in Montreal where the census shows a growth of only 72,928 during the last five years while the population of the suburbs has shot up by 208,000, to give Greater Montreal a grand total of 1,595,327.

This situation is duplicated in smaller cities which tend to trade their residential traditions for commercial progress as they hit the 50,000 mark and the mass exodus to the suburbs. The old residential city of Victoria is an example of this trend. During the past five years the population of city itself increased by 1700 while 22,000 have sought homes in the outskirts.

This "spilling over" from the larger cities has been most beneficial in spreading and decentralizing the population which has created a host of smaller cities and towns have become cities and new communities have sprung up from coast to coast.

Since the establishment of two new cities of say 10,000 offers a far greater scope for new businesses, building and employment than would a similar growth of 20,000 in a single city this continual splintering process is a most important one in the future of Canada.

If the present ability to realize the ambition to own homes and properties far from the rush and turmoil of the big cities can be maintained, this fluid type of life country will continue to spark one of the greatest building and financial booms the world has ever known.

WHERE IMMIGRANTS COME FROM

During the first nine months of this year Canada welcomed 110,009 immigrants. Almost a third of them were from Great Britain, 22,036 being English, 7,254 Scottish, 1,761 Irish and 723 Welsh. What is more, the number of British immigrants who reached Canada during the third quarter of this year was over half the total number of Britons entering Canada during the first nine months of 1955. The total number of immigrants for the first nine months this year was almost 14,000 more than during the same period of 1955.

Another interesting, and encouraging, figures. Besides Britons, what are the leading groups of immigrants by ethnic origins? Well, second place is held by the Italians, with 19,708 immigrants, and third by the Germans, with 16,971. There is then a formidable gap, the fourth-place group, numbering 6,859, coming from the United States. The Dutch are close behind, sending us 6,296 citizens. Then comes another big gap with the Greeks being in sixth place with 3,077 immigrants. Danes numbered 2,612 and Belgians 2,302. The French were next with 1,985, which, in fact, is the largest non-white group, were the Chinese, numbering 1,723.

DURABLE SPECIES

Only in recent times has it become generally known that the name political scientist can mean literally on ghost-written speeches. Probably not many will dispute is the great number of times a politician on a whistle stop tour can deliver the same speech in a day.

A British correspondent accompanying Vice-president Richard M. Nixon heard the same speech eight times between morning and night, an ordeal from which scattered audiences are mercifully free.

This economy in speeches is not, of course, a special privilege of the "name" candidates. A Canadian federal candidate in this country some years ago used the same speech throughout six months of intensive campaigning. And for whatever it proves, he was elected. (Windsor Star.)

RELIEVING HIS FEELINGS

'Food's costin' more than it did
Jes' thirty years ago.
It costs me more to dress my kid;
Why nothin's quite as low
As what it was in days gone by
The digger in the ditch
Can't make ends meet, an' so, says I:
Consarn the man who's rich!

Jes' see the price of eggs today!
An' bacon's jes' as dear!
I'm gettin' more per ton fer hay
Than I got in a good year.
But shoes an' hats an' underwear
An' overcoats an' sich
Are costin' more than I can spare
Consarn the man who's rich!

Potatoes up? Of course, they be
I'm gettin' more fer wheat
Than wust I did? That's true, but see
The price they ask fer meat!
The more those wealthy fellers get
Fer more they seem to itch.
I never will get out of debt.
Consarn, say I, the rich!

It is a caution how the price
Of everything goes up.
We'll soon be buyin' by the slice
Make bread high, but jes' the same
I s'pose Consarn the rich!

Government by Tycoon?

By Harold Weir in the Vancouver Sun

So many nice things have been said lately about the acumen of Mr. Ross Thatcher of Moose Jaw that it was something more than surprising to find his potentia) political prodigy hawking in Vancouver such an old chestnut as the divine cult of the businessman.

Very soundly Mr. Thatcher told a Vancouver audience last week that public service is one of the finest and highest duties of man. Very properly he urged our more competent citizens to interest themselves in the political field. So far, so good. But when Mr. Thatcher embarked on the rousing theme that what this country needs, above everything else, is more businessmen in government, he jumped right up to the neck into fallacy and, what's more, into an ancient and pretty whiskered fallacy that was disproved, time and time again, long before Mr. Thatcher was even diapers.

The basic criticism of Mr. Thatcher's view is not to be taken as disparagement of business or businessmen. Some of the most successful businessmen have made a success of public service; some of the most flop of it, although, if one cared to be unkind or indiscreet, a list could be compiled of those who have would oul the hair.

The point is not and has to be disparaged here is the notion that the operation of government is essentially a business operation. It's nothing of the kind.

Government consisted solely of buying and selling at a profit and, as an added bonus, operating with an impeccable system of bookkeeping, it would be easy to applaud Mr. Thatcher's plea that all our shrewdest traders should offer themselves as political sacrifo rthwith. But there are several obvious catches in this theory, the primary catch being that the respective techniques of legislation and merchandising are about as far apart as any two basic techniques can be.

The businessman operates with the fundamental idea (and there's nothing wrong with it) of improving his own position. The legislator operates, or should operate, with the fundamental purpose of improving the position of society. The businessman deals basically with things. The legislator deals basically with people and ideas.

Mr. Thatcher's proposal that businessmen should start flocking into politics as the only hope of the country ever to get an unfortunate moment in that at this moment politics is at its lowest ebb in the matter of philosophical content. Everywhere in politics is a desperate scrambling for experience to replace idealism.

It's no reflection on business or businessmen to say that this lamentable lack can hardly be remedied by electing to parliament men whose sole claim to office is the ability to fell an inordinate number of trees or to sell a lot of a lot of soap.

So far, these objections to Mr. Thatcher's plea have been largely academic. But there is an actively sinister element in that plea as well.

Mr. Thatcher argues that businessmen should get into politics because they can be best operated according to the methods of business. It's not at all unfair to infer that Mr. Thatcher makes the ideal politician, the super-businessman should make the super-politician. That is to say, the bigger and better the businessman, the bigger and better should be his contribution to political life. If the more successful ordinary businessmen in parliaments, it must be fairly panting for the colonel businessman.

In brief, then, what Mr. Thatcher is really advocating (and you can't get away from it) is government by tycoon. In fact, Mr. Thatcher went out of his way to explicitly recommend a certain Vancouver tycoon to the attention of the electorate.

This may be what Mr. Thatcher wants. One begs leave to doubt that is what the public wants or even what the public deserves. One can't shake off the uneasy feeling that we not even yet discovered his real political home.

Letter to Editor

Some Thoughts on City Affairs

Editor,
Ontario-Intelligencer.

With the annual election approaching it might be a good time to discuss some of our future problems and get local opinion thereon. Belleville, as a city, before Ontario was considered to be backward and unprogressive, and it was. Not too many years ago a city building lot could be purchased for a song, there was also many old dwellings and other buildings that the city had repossessed for unpaid taxes were demolished by the city, being unfit for habitation.

Western Ontario meantime progressed purely by reason of the natural resources that were available in quantity. It now appears that Eastern Ontario has arrived and I hope our city and district authorities will take full advantage of it.

We have been asleep for too many years and many of our civic improvements are now crowding in on us and will have to be dealt with. In city and suburbs still, we either progress or retrogress. Modern improvements, as today's prices mean, more taxes. We have paved streets galore, but it might be better to progress and have the money to pay taxes, and even today there are streets with a more or less deserted village. We have been promised sewage and broadcasts as to what is being done locally, but it has not always been forthcoming and lacked in. It might be better to have these reports published in the local press so we have something more tangible than hearsay, or we might have to.

The city manager appears to have excellent ideas as to what should be done and I think his advice is very valuable, but the City Planning Board is accomplishing I do not know, but it should be made public since planning is essential to progress. The Mayor seems to be thoroughly conversant with the "questions" of the day, and no doubt has most of the "answers".

All other cities are providing parking space and we have certain streets one-way thoroughfares. This could no doubt be done with Front and Front Streets, and the railway on Pinnacle Street will have to be removed. Eastern municipalities, some of them still quiescent, seem to be offering spending the unfortunate necessity for completion of the long proposed four-lane highway running all the way from Toronto to Montreal. Canada is vast and west from Toronto but Highway 401 is being built by the mile, and every forty-two hundred it will probably be known as Canada, that's meddling.

as the Moccasin Road and be completed by 1956, a most shameful state of affairs. We had better get busy on a new Dundas Street bridge before traffic here grinds to a full stop. The Trenton-Belleville by-pass will help some, but many transport will be calling at the town they pass through and some of them have depots therein and the extra passenger buses will still be with us.

The matter of sewage disposal and also annexation should be tackled forthwith. There is the need for long drawn out discussion and procrastination, just be busy and do them, or at least make a start. We will never get 100 per cent agreement on anything.

Assessment is also urgently required. There are cases without number of properties being assessed as a mere fraction of their worth. Some properties worth $10 — $15,000 are only $20,000 are assessed at $3 to $5 thousand, and I have the evidence before me as to this latter.

Nobody seems to be willing or able to purchase and donate any suitable public park space. The city was offered a large tract of suitable land for a mere $10,000 and even today there are about 50 acres of low lying land for sale, but this is considered to be entirely suitable for our future needs. I have not personally checked up this piece of land but it is well worth looking into, if anybody is interested. Incidentally we may have to procure park space somewhere near Madoc. Space should also be acquired now for (eventually) a new city hall and new police station. The present police quarters are a disgrace to a city of this size. The land for these buildings might better be north of our present city limits, that is to where the new hospital should have been located.

The Ontario Dept. of Highways has recently taken action against people who leave a throw on the highway rubbish from their cars. This should also apply to Belleville where trash abounds in every breeze, although much of it is still blown into the river.

Finally we seem to have weekly burglaries. Is there any chance of the police catching this persistent local pest?

JAMIESON BONE.

There's a Difference

St. Catharines Standard

When the minister hits out and describes the sins of someone you know that's a real good sermon. When he hits out with his legislator operates, or should operate, with the fundamental purpose of improving the position of society. The businessman deals basically with things. The legislator deals basically with people and ideas.

Mr. Thatcher's proposal that businessmen should start flocking into politics as the only hope of the country ever to get an unfortunate moment in that at this moment politics is at its lowest ebb in the matter of philosophical content. Everywhere in politics is a desperate scrambling for experience to replace idealism.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BE A PLUS PERSON

It is tempting to know people who are always complaining to talk about their troubles, disappointments, hates or bodily aches. They are what we might call plus persons—people who live and think constructively. It is a joy to have such people as one's friends and confidants.

The only lesson to learn from the minus people is to stay away from them. They never inspire us one and believe in nothing that is uplifting, ennobling or wholesome. Even though a person may be wrong, so long as he has convictions and definite beliefs he is to be respected and respected. The "agin" person, however, is nowhere and is a pest in his community!

You can detect the plus person just from his talk. His opinions are positive and clear. He is the optimistic type. You will find him on the side of the thinkers, and independent in his town or community, as well as the nation of which he is a proud citizen.

It's the plus individual who is elected time and again to civic leadership in business or politics. It doesn't matter, for in all endeavors such a person is in the front lines among those who are doing what they can to make this a better world in which to work and live.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea to organize Plus Clubs in communities, devoted to good citizenship, worthwhile books, the betterment of children and their health and happiness, or in fact any enterprise for the good of others, and self-betterment.

We are happiest whenever there is the opportunity to pass ourselves around. In ourselves we are a medium of exchange. If we are full of plus spirit, ready to respond to any useful call, then we are performing one of the best earned commendation—if not from others, then from our inward being where satisfaction is highest of all.

Easier to Fly

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Red Flannel and Liniment

As the Bulletin on Rheumatic Diseases (published by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Inc.) has pointed out, "the quest for a foolproof drug that could be given to almost all not all arthritics with the least possible side-effects is likely to be in vain. It should now be recognized that treatment with the various drugs available today has not been shown to alter the natural course of the disease in significant manner."

The manufacturers of expensive "miracle" medicines, the doctors subsidized to report that the new medicines give "great promise," and the American Medical Association which collects a tremendous revenue from promotion of these nostrums are not going to like this acknowledgment of the inefficiency of the new medicines for "arthritis."

If I had indubitably developing joint disability, I'd want to use any remedy, medicine, treatment, diet, physical, or mental therapy that would give me comfort or relief without doing any harm.

If red flannel underwear or a flannel bandage on the lame joint or joints added to my comfort, my physical comfort, I'd wear it regardless of silliness or scorn, in weather. But if or when I get the chemical I do not believe I'd confuse mental with physical comfort. But who knows? Right now a lot of people are using flannel for a person of my age to tell something every time it rains.

Of course a cripple can't use this remedy, and anyway it is merely prophylactic, not curative. Why do you think I've been doing six rolls before breakfast every morning for forty years?

One of the insidious chronic joint disability by whatever name it may be called may get some comfort from any of the remedial measures other than drugs, such as rubbing alcohol; oil; liniments; massage; manipulation; plaster; splints; elastic bandage; baking; mud bath; mineral or salt water baths; avoiding "acid" foods or consuming gallons of citrus fruit juices; excluding "red" meat; carrying a horse chestnut; taking hot air, cabinet or sweat baths; drinking only distilled water; or wearing—pieces of copper and zinc on the soles to "draw acid out of the system."

COD LIVER OIL

Among the popular remedies for insidious chronic joint disability just one deserves commendation, in my opinion, and it is one I all but forgotten in the present scramble for a magic cure for "arthritis." Inherently is plain cod liver oil — a tablespoonful for a child, two tablespoonfuls (one ounce) daily for an adult, throughout the year, except, perhaps for a few weeks in the period of extremely warm weather. Dr. Surveyor, fishwives (what am I saying? Of course, I mean fishermen's wives), inherently learned that it kept their fishermen from getting ill up. Some modern statistics authorities today still seem to think cod liver oil is good remedy for rheumatoid, arthritis" at any rate.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Now, mark you, there are five people in my house. Even three months ago, we all five sat upright and alert while the $64,000 question program was on the TV. Last night, the housekeeper sat up in her room doing curtains on the sewing machine. I was in my den, with a glover's needle, repairing my hunting knife sheath.

Occasionally, I could hear the fateful theme tune of the program. It didn't even make me quiver.

I knew some poor genius was in the crate, solving the question. But I knew the quiver did I good.

I went upstairs and interrupted the housekeeper at her sewing.

"Why aren't you down listening to the $64,000 question?"

"I'm all on my nerves," said she.

"Oh," said I, "it gets on mine. I used to get a big kick out of hearing those wonder brains answering the questions. Now, forsawhile, the tension began to give me the jitters."

"Precisely," agreed the housekeeper. "There are enough jitters in the world today, without having jitters for entertainment."

"Right-ho, Dayhey," said I, "that's why I sneak off upstairs every time one of those creepy dramas comes on. You know what I mean. Poor white trash with problems, an elderly dipsomaniac and a man with a gargley voice and a large Adam's apple."

"Or rich people," said the housekeeper, "going to shoot each other. Everybody on TV has got the jitters."

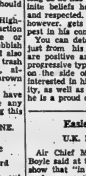
"Nobody waltzes," I concurred. "Remains nice and dry around the screen. They've all got to jump around." I grinned. "Was a nice unjittery year."

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A SOLEMN SPIRITUAL REQUIREMENT

Many people profess to be scandalized at the suggestion that spiritually a man can be born again. They look askance at people who speak of the "new birth" experience as twice-born Christians. Such people appear to object to be a bit on the lunatic fringe.



But why? Anybody who believes in spiritual things must believe that man is both a physical and a spiritual being. And certainly the Bible maintains that to be true. Man is made in the image and after the likeness of God. He has a soul, and that soul is definitely related to the spiritual Being who created him. And of course he has a body.

Through nature, birth occurs through the agency of a father. Our spiritual life is not the result of the life our earthly fathers gave us; it is something that is created by God upon the heart of the believing sinner. As it takes an earthly father to bring about our birth as physical beings, so it takes a spiritual, heavenly Father to bring about our birth as spiritual beings. Just as we receive our life in the womb of the fertilizing agency of the earthly father, so the soul of man receives the spiritual impulse of life by the spiritual Father. Bible students refer to these physical and spiritual—came into being.

The experience of spiritual rebirth does not bring about the same way for all people, but for everyone who would find his soul and keep it unto eternal blessedness, the impartation of spiritual life from God is a necessity. We come about. "Ye must be born again."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Children's Aid Soc.; St. John Ambulance Perform Great Service to the Community

Christmas is perhaps the one day of the year when almost everyone tries his best to make people, especially children, happy. Let's get into the "giving" mood a little early this year by giving generously to the 1956 Belleville Community Chest Campaign.

Most children in Belleville are fortunate in having parents who are unselfish, but there are a few parents who hardly give their children a passing thought, even at Christmas time. This year you can extend the Christmas spirit far into 1957 by opening your heart, as well as your pocketbook when a Community Chest canvasser calls at your door next Monday night. The money you give next Monday will help needy children get those things which your children have, and will provide the sick and aged with professional home-nursing services, which otherwise they would not be able to afford.

Belleville's Children's Aid Society exists for the purpose of looking into tragedies of this nature for the express purpose of helping unfortunate children who are being "raised" in an area of parental tyranny.

This morning a woman telephoned the CAS to say that the society had no right to go to her home and tell her how to look after her child. Quite true, they have no right to do that. However, the CAS does, by statute, and by its sincere concern for children in need, have the right to look into any situation where a child is being punished forcibly, beyond reason, or being disregarded or neglected to the point where its physical, moral or spiritual future is being jeopardized.

The job of the Children's Aid Society is to be helpful to parents and not to hinder them in their desire to raise their children properly, and so it is, through friendly counsel and guidance, and by discussing the many problems present in family life that the CAS is able to play its most effective role.

The St. John Ambulance Nursing Division No. 150, of Belleville, is comprised of voluntary help. Each member — and there are 30 in Belleville — buys her own uniform.

WORK DOUBLED

This year the brigade's work has almost doubled. Members give first-aid protection to the public at Belleville Fair, motorcycle races, picnics, athletic events for children, and emergency home nursing. Almost 300 adults were trained in first aid this year. Thirty women were trained in home nursing. A small charge for these adult classes was asked, which did not nearly cover the cost of books, bandages, instructors and doctors for examining. Junior classes in first aid, home nursing and child welfare are being held. Boys and girls under the age of 16 years were given books, bandages, instruction and examinations absolutely free of charge. Money is required for the upkeep of the headquarters on Front St., equipment, medical supplies and transportation.

First-aid posts are maintained by St. John Ambulance in conjunction with the Ontario Motor League on many highways. St. John Ambulance volunteers staff these posts.

Large and small companies use the facilities of St. John Ambulance to train their employees in first aid. This training helps to prevent accidents thereby reducing lost man-hours, and results in better relations between management and labor. This training is essential in industry today.

The Order was established in Canada in 1835 and has been serving the Canadian public continuously since 1895.

Throughout the Commonwealth St. John is active — "the sun never sets on the white cross of St. John". In Canada the St. John Ambulance Brigade trains over 45,000 people each year in 800 communities. The Order has over 7,000 volunteers. Its sovereign head is Queen Elizabeth 11, and Prior of the Order in Canada is His Excellency, the Governor General.

The Boy Scouts of Belleville, Navy League, Victorian Order of Nurses, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society and Young Men's Christian Association are agencies also included in the Community Chest. They need your financial support.

WOULD WIPE OUT ISRAEL

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The Iraqi government says peace cannot be secured in the Middle East unless Israel is wiped out. An official announcement Tuesday "appealed to all nations to remove Israel from the Middle East for the sake of security and peace." The same announcement said Iraq is dropping its support of the United Nations' 1947 proposals for a Palestine settlement because of the "latest Israeli aggression on Egypt."

P.M. Suggests Tariff Cuts by U.K., Europe

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has suggested Britain and Western Europe reduce barriers on goods from Canada and other countries while planning reductions for their own mutual benefit.

The scheme envisaged by Britain and her proposed European partners of exchanging tariff cuts to create for themselves a free-flowing mass market has merit, providing it doesn't turn into a plan to exclude goods from other countries, Mr. St. Laurent said in a statement issued Tuesday night.

The proposal, on which Britain last month asked Commonwealth countries for their comment, would link the United Kingdom with six European countries in a free trade area where tariffs are reduced gradually on a "prearranged basis.

STUDIED THOROUGHLY

The Canadian government decided to give the plan thorough study before making an official reply. Authorities said the Canadian view conveyed to the U.K. government is along the lines of Mr. St. Laurent's statement.

Britain has proposed that food, beverages and tobacco be excluded from the plan, but even so, said Mr. St. Laurent, the proposals would present "a number of problems for Canadian trade with the countries concerned."

These problems will be taken up for thorough discussions with the various European governments, he added.

The European free trade area, he said, could, if successful, increase the economic strength and solidarity of free Europe and to this extent Canada would welcome it.

But Mr. St. Laurent felt it would have its most beneficial effects if it were linked with an expansion of European trade with other countries.

ANNEXATION DECISION

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—London will go into high gear next year to annex large tracts of suburban townships, the council announced Tuesday after a closed session. The city and London Township have been deadlocked for the past few years on annexation talks. Most of the new port-war industries are located in the township.

SAYS RUSSIA SEEKING OIL

LONDON (Reuters) — Harold Watkinson, British minister of transport and civil aviation, says Russia might be running short of oil. He said Tuesday in a speech that Russia is at the beginning of a vast industrial expansion which will make immense demands on her oil resources. This fact alone must make the Middle East a target area for Communist intrigue. He supported British action in the Suez Canal.

Weddings

McNALLY—LETERSKY

MARMORA. — A wedding of considerable interest took place in St. John Chrysostom church, Arnprior on Saturday, Nov. 3, when Rosemary Letersky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Letersky, was united in marriage to Dr. Thomas A. McNally, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McNally of Marmora.

The ceremony was performed by the beautiful Nuptial Mass, assisted with full flowers. Rev. Father H. Dillon, parish priest, officiated.

The soloist was Mrs. N. Smith. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in a gown of white Chantilly over taffeta with fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

The bridesmaid, Miss Theresa Letersky, wore a pastel blue ankle length taffeta with matching headdress and carried pink carnations.

The groomsman was Dr. J. P. Letersky and the ushers were Mr. F. Chacboneau and Mr. N. Smith.

At the reception held in the parish hall, the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Letersky and the Misses Jane and Isobel McNally—and Mr. Bernard McNally.

For the honeymoon trip to United States, the bride wore a brown suit with mink jacket and beige accessories and corsage of gardenias. On their return they will reside in Trenton.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Hamilton, Toronto, Trenton, Belleville, Renfrew and Marmora.

Grand International Auxiliary Sponsors Attractive Bazaar, Tea

Autumn's queen of flowers, the chrysanthemum, in all her lovely gold, bronze and ruby shades, held sway over the attractive bazaar and tea held in the Odd Fellows' hall, Front Street, yesterday afternoon under the sponsorship of the Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Receiving the guests was the president, Mrs. Z. Fisher, assisted at the seat of custom, Mrs. M. Parsons, treasurer.

LOVELY TEA ROOM

The tea room was especially lovely with baskets of gold and bronze mums, while tall standards of orange-red Japanese lanterns, mingled with slender clumps of brown and burnished bullrush heads added their complementary touch to an already pretty picture.

The tea table with its white embroidered damask cloth, was centred with an rectangular ceramic holder in green, filled with sprays of asparagus fern and lovely, feathery, golden mums. Small bronze candles in yellow, flickering candles rose from lacy collars in the same shades. Completing the ornate silver services completed this lovely arrangement.

The little attendant tables were prettily appointed with white linen centred with bowls of chrysanthemums, flanked by candelabra

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LEAVE THE MATTER OF CHILDREN LARGELY UP TO GOD

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm expecting to be married soon to a fellow who was injured while in the army so that we probably can never have any children.

Because of this, and because of the fact that we both feel that if we can't have children of our own we wouldn't want to adopt any, he's afraid that I'll be very unhappy if we marry. But we love each other dearly, and don't want to be without each other, so I'm hoping you can help us both.

— Miss W.

Dear Miss W.:

Don't you think you're making the decision that you don't want to adopt any children a bit early? After you've been married awhile, your whole point of view on this subject is very likely to change, and it seems to me you'd be wiser not to take a stand on it at this time. Plenty of other childless couples have felt the same way—that if they couldn't have children of their own they wouldn't want anybody else's children—but have changed their minds very definitely later on.

Also, did you know that the number of couples who want to adopt children is so much greater than the number of children available for adoption that it's very difficult indeed to get a child to adopt these days? So, altogether, you may well postpone any consideration of this particular factor in your problem for some time to come.

It seems to me that before setting any date for your wedding you would be a very good idea for you and this young man to go, both separately or together, to a marriage counsellor and talk this whole matter over with him.

I'm sure such a conference would clear up many things that may be confusing both of you now, and make it possible for you, if you do decide to marry, to enter the marriage with much greater confidence than you now feel.

BETTER SAY NO, PUG

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and madly in love with a boy of 21. I know he's too old for me, but do you think it would hurt to date him? He's really tops and very popular.

I'm very anxious to date him and he has already asked me.

— Pug

Dear Pug:

No, 21-year-old is no longer a boy. He's a young man. And if he's as popular as you say, why would he be wanting to date a teenager? The average young man is interested in taking out young women, not very young girls, and if you're sensible, you'll pick boys of your own age to go out with, not young men.

Whatever this fellow's reason for asking you out, you can be sure that, if he's the right sort of young man he won't keep on asking you, and if he's not the right kind of young man, you don't want to have anything to do with him.

STRAPLESS FOUNDATIONS FOR DAYTIME WEAR GAINING IN POPULARITY

Strapless foundations are excellent for daytime wear, but proper fitting is important.

Apparently it didn't take women long to appreciate the freedom of strapless foundation garments. That wonderful feeling of ease and unharnessed comfort shouldn't be reserved merely for a strapless evening gown. More and more women are taking to strapless bras for daytime wear even with high-neck, long-sleeved clothes! Strapless slips are on the increase in lingerie departments. Why should anyone be burdened with any more strapping than necessary? Designers do such fine engineering jobs on intimate garments these days that practically anyone can find what she wants, as well as what she needs.

It's all-important of course, that strapless bras fit to perfection, otherwise they may not stay put. Actually, foundations and bras, and this goes for girdles, too, need more careful fitting than your suits and frocks since, if they are not properly modeled to your figure, the smartest, and even the most expensive clothes, will not show off to their best advantage, and you will have wasted your money in purchasing them.

It doesn't matter whether you're a size 40 or a size 14, you should wear a well-fitted foundation. Your tummy may be flat as the proverbial pancake, but you should still wear a girdle—even if it's such a tiny job that it could properly be classified as a garter belt. It will help you to maintain proper posture and will help keep hose in position without interfering with circulation as circular garters do.

Proper and frequent making help undergarments keep their shape. No bra should be worn more than once without being washed. Always shape a bra while it's wet, so that it's allowed to dry to its original contours. This, of course, means you should have enough of everything—enough bras, enough slips, enough girdles—so that you don't have to rush the drying. And so that you can always feel as fresh as you like to feel. If you haven't as yet gone into strapless undergarments for general wear, give them a try.

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP

People thrive on appreciation. It's the inspiring morale-vitamin that makes people happy, stimulates their spirits, brightens their hearts. And so often there is special magic in a few words of appreciation . . . they may give a person the courage or the confidence that he or she may be struggling for at just the moment when you say your kind and thoughtful words. Don't be stingy with your words of appreciation . . . you'll like yourself better if you spend them generously!

SIGNING CHRISTMAS CARD TO FUTURE SON-IN-LAW

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What would be a proper way to sign a Christmas card or the card enclosed with a gift for our future son-in-law? — Mr. and Mrs. E.D.

It would be proper, and the customary way, for you to sign the Christmas card and the card enclosed with a Christmas gift: Dearest Christmas greetings from Edwin and Dorothy Davis. (When you are the one who signs the card, remember that it's polite for you to write your name last.) If you know your future son-in-law (you didn't state), you might put on the card enclosed with the gift: "Peggy's fiancee and mother send you loving Christmas greetings, and we do hope this little gift will be useful to you. Happy, Happy New Year." Or you might sign the Christmas card: "Peggy's father and mother" here are sending devoted greetings to you there. Happy Christmas to you. Happy New Year to you!"

Because of the way you signed your letter to me (it is not correct to sign a letter, any kind of letter, or a greeting card, with the title before the name), I think a bit of warning is in order: Don't sign either a Christmas card or an enclosed-with-gift card "Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis" . . . this name-formality is not only incorrect but is also unsuitable to this relationship.

WIDOW TO USE INFORMALS FOR CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband passed on recently. We loved each other very dearly, and this year I would find it completely impossible to send out Christmas cards to our relatives and friends. However, I thought I might write little notes of good wishes to those who were most close to us, and who are most close to me now. For this use, and for many other uses I can think of, I would like to have some informals made, with my name engraved on the front. Would you approve of my doing this? If so, what form of name should I order for the engraving? — Reader.

Indeed I do most enthusiastically approve of your having these informals made. You could, as you plan, use them for the "little notes" of greeting and best wishes to relatives and friends, and you will find, I'm sure, that they will be most convenient in many, many other uses.

You will, of course, continue to use the name your husband gave you . . . (for example) Mrs. John Paul Jill . . . this name to be engraved in the center of the front page, with, if you wish, your address in smaller letters in the lower right corner.

Eat Your Vegetables Children

By Mary Moore

All of the space allotted to me I need for vegetable recipes today so let's skip the gossip—but don't skip

FRESH SPINACH RING

With Vegetables

This is the vegetable discovery of the fall season so if you trust Noomi's advice you will try this tomorrow. Wash, dry, chop coarsely 1 lb. spinach. Beat 3 medium-sized eggs with 1 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon each nutmeg and pepper. Slowly pour into them, stirring, 1 1-2 cups scalded milk. Mix half of this with the spinach, and press into 1 quart ring mold. Evenly pour over it the remaining custard. Stand ring in large pan containing hot water. Bake at 350 deg. 30 minutes but halfway through baking period remove from oven and press spinach down under custard to make sure it is all wet and submerged. Some of the excess spinach water will not be absorbed by the custard. When baked carefully tip out of mold. Then turn ring out on large round plate or platter. Fill centre with softer thin small slices of buttered barrots or mixture of carrot dice and kernel corn or candied sweets or sauteed mushrooms.

OVEN POTATO CHIPS

Wash and pare potatoes and cut into lengthwise strips as they are cut for French fries. Soak at least 30 minutes in ice water to cover. Drain and dry. Grease a shallow baking dish and spread chips over it in thin layer. Brush them on all sides with melted fat or oil. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. (very hot) for about 30 minutes, turning three times during baking. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle lightly with salt. Note: These are wonderful with, and may be baked at the same time as Grilled Halibut Steaks, which are spread with butter and sprinkled with salt and pepper before placing under the grill, and turned once.

FRENCH FRIED ONION RINGS

You can use ordinary cooking onions or Spanish or red Italian for these. The better the onions the better the finished product. Heat shortening or oil to 375 deg. Fahr. Peel and slice onions 1-3 inch thick and separate into rings. Dip in milk, drain, dip in flour. When fat is 375 deg. drop in prepared onion rings. Do not fry more than 1 layer at a time. Skim out with long spoon and absorbent paper. Sprinkle with salt. Serve them as soon as possible after frying, but since you must hold them until enough are ready for the family, keep them hot in warming oven or even with the door open. Frying time is only about two or three minutes. Exactly right with a succulent pot roast with fluffy mashed potatoes and plenty of rich gravy.

Treatment of Patients' Emotional Problems Heard at Lecture

"I have restricted my discussion tonight to those emotional problems commonly seen in the General Hospital, which I believe will be of greater interest to you", was the commencement of the lecture by Dr. Evelyn Williamson, to graduate nurses of this district.

"I will define it as any abnormal or exaggerated emotional response in an individual. Now what is an emotion? It has been defined as a mental state that manifests itself by sensible changes in the body. With every emotion, (and we are having some kind of an emotion every minute), changes are taking place in all parts of the body. These changes and the perceptive mental state that accompanies them are the emotions without these bodily changes, there would be no emotion. Some of the common emotions experienced by all of us daily, for example, anxiety, fear, anger, discouragement, hope and joy.

CHARACTERISTICS

"There are both external and internal manifestations of emotion. We recognize external emotion in anger, for example, reddening of the skin of the face, setting of the jaw, clenching of the fists. Example of internal emotion is increase in heart rate and blood pressure which may be markedly elevated. Obviously, these physical changes, which are a part of emotion, produce symptoms (which though of a transient nature), may persist for some time.

"It is remarkable that most lay people, as well as a good many professional people, fail to understand that comparable, physical hysteria may be the result of continued emotion often pent up for long periods, and that the conditions are greatly aggravated when the patient worries about the persisting symptoms, attributing them to serious disease. There is one outstanding symptom of all severe emotional disturbances which is almost pathognomonic. It is the complaint of weakness and exhaustion out of all proportion to the patient's appearance of ill health.

UTTER EXHAUSTION

"When patients, who look fairly well, complain of utter exhaustion, one can be satisfied that it is of emotional origin. This can be true, even in the presence of definite and sometimes serious organic lesions, for example, a patient, who has recovered from an attack of coronary thrombosis, remaining unable to enjoy their recovery because of the symptoms caused by anxiety. The recognition of the manifestations of emotional disorders becomes one of the most important things that a doctor must learn. The doctor must be completely convinced of his diagnosis. He can not help a nervous patient, and he fails entirely to reassure him if he has any reservations of feelin unsure himself. Nervous patients sense at once, any uncertainty in the doctor's mind and immediately either fear the worst, or lose confidence in the treatment. If the doctor can not satisfy himself, he should get help. The worst thing he can do is leave some doubt that the symptoms may be due to structural disease".

Dr. Williamson described the treatment of these patients. "Having established that the condition is either wholly or in part, emotionally induced, treatment must be decided upon. The treatment begins when the doctor meets the patient for the first time, and progresses as the history is taken. If the patient feels that the doctor is interested in him, is on his side, trying to help him, not acting as a judge, and not annoyed with his complaints, and not hurried, his confidence in the physician becomes great, and the faith engendered by careful history taking and examination is alone curative in milder cases.

"Furthermore, if he has a more serious nervous disorder he finds it easier to tell his story, and distressing ideas and emotions he has never expressed before. The relationships of his tension, anxieties, and fears to his symptoms, often dawns on the patient as it becomes possible for the doctor, they all learn together, and the resultant bond of sympathy is helpful in treatment. Much can and must be made to understand that a disturbance in his emotional life may be responsible for his symptoms. It is necessary to deal in principles and to give examples that will be understood by the patient."

THE NURSE'S ROLE

In conclusion, Dr. Williamson outlined the nurse's role in the treatment of emotional problems. "Primarily the nurse must have some understanding of emotional disturbances, as I have tried to outline tonight. She must realize that illness of emotional origin is not imaginary, that on the contrary, it is just as real as though it were a physical disease, to have symptoms as a result of emotion is not a sign of weakness. Very capable people, doing the world's most important jobs, have emotional conflicts. In your nursing it is important that you be aware of the disability arising from emotional upset and be tolerant with your patients. Be a good listener, but exercise caution in expressing opinions or offering advice. For without full knowledge of the patient's background and of the physician's plans and counsel, your advice, though given in the best faith, might be detrimental to the patient".

Mrs. Morley Linscott introduced the guest speaker and also thanked those responsible for the educational program.

This concludes the course of lectures being given as an 'Educational Program' for the Community Nurses' Registry of this city.

Minerva Officers Installed In Impressive Ceremony

Last Friday evening, the Masonic Temple auditorium was effectively decorated for the installation of the officers for 1956-57 of Minerva Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

The installation ceremony in which Mrs. Lillian Poitrulf was installed as Worthy Matron, and Mr. Larry Henning as Worthy Patron, was impressive and witnessed by many members and visitors of district chapters.

The Worthy Matron-elect was presented with a beautiful bouquet of red roses by her husband, Mr. Fred Poitrulf.

The installation ceremony was in charge of Mrs. Hilda Matthews, P.M., as installing matron, and Mr. Alf Cooper, P.P., as installing patron.

Those assisting with the ceremony were: Mrs. Edna Dobbs, PDDGM; Mrs. Bella Wonnacott, PDDGM; Mrs. Hazel Wilson, PM; Mrs. Christina Reed, PM; Mrs. Wilma Reddick, PM; Mrs. Bessie Marsh, PM; Mr. Lorne Hunt, PP; Mr. Tom Rainbird, PP; Mr. Fred Furmidge, PP.

The marshals were: Mrs. Rhoda Gray, PM; Mrs. Meta Williams, PM, with Mrs. Wynn Gunsolus PM, as floral marshal.

Mrs. Kay Pryor, soloist for the evening, rendered two appropriate solos. She was accompanied by Mrs. Alice Reid.

HONORARY OFFICERS

The honorary officers were: Mrs. Jean Adams, Worthy Matron of Belleville Chapter; Mrs. Anne Newman, Worthy Matron-elect of Warkworth Chapter; Mrs. Edna Broad, PDDGM; Mrs. Janet Twiddy, Mrs. Laura Hyde, Mrs. Mary Parsons, Mrs. Anne Little, Mrs. Grace Vanner, Past Matrons of Minerva, and Mrs. Dorothy Bloor, Mrs. Hila Henning, Mrs. Nellie McBurney, Mrs. Nan Cathcart, Mrs. Alice Reid, Mr. Dave Hollinger, Worthy Patron of Belleville Chapter, and Mr. Walter Batchelor.

The officers for 1956-57 are as follows:

Worthy Patron, Mrs. Lillian Poitrulf; Worthy Patron, Mr. Larry Henning; associate Matron, Mrs. Margaret Hunt; associate Patron, Mr. Leslie Finkle; secretary, Mrs. Vera Robson; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Latimer; conductress, Mrs. Frances Marner; associate conductress, Mrs. Mae Finkle; chaplain, Mrs. Alice Furmidge; marshal, Mrs. Joan Dillon; organist, Mrs. Lil Jordan, PM; Adah, Mrs. Audrey Stewart; Ruth, Mrs. Mary Burnell; Esther, Mrs. Merle Brennan; Martha, Mrs. Dorothy Tugnett; Electa, Mrs. Norma Milligan; warder, Mrs. Isabel Garrow; sentinel, Mr. John Hendrick.

The immediate past Matron, Mrs. Hilda Gray and the immediate Past Patron, Mr. Fred Furmidge, were presented with past officers' jewels by Mrs. Eva Thrasher and Mrs. Alice Furmidge.

Telegrams of congratulations and good wishes were received by the new Worthy Matron from relatives residing in Toronto, Ottawa and St. Catharines.

Refreshments were convened by Mrs. Janet Williamson and Mrs. Elsie Humphreys.

Dancing brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Bringing Up Baby

MEMO COLLECTED BY Mrs. Jean Smith

Is baby on the brink of that first birthday? It probably seems only a couple of yesterdays ago that your pride 'n joy was completely dependent upon you. Now independence is the order of the day for your self-styled Gulliver. Such fun feeding out what feet are for—that little hands can make a spoon behave—or that a coo really comes a long way toward, All part of learning coordination, control, confidence . . . basic ingredients for growing up.

More ingredients for growing up . . . table fare for tykes with teeth. Like Gerber Junior Foods, for instance —prepared with a tender, evenly minced texture that's just right for tots who can chew. Then too, they have the naturally good true flavor and eye-appealing colors baby's been used to in Gerber Strained Foods. And you have a grand choice to keep that appetite perky.

Bang-up ideas. 2 simple ways to cut toddlers' bangs, minus fuss, muss and tears.

(1) Apply a strip of cellophane tape across bottom of bangs and cut along tape edge. No prickly hairs in baby's eyes . . . a straight line is assured. (2) Hold a small flat-end cuvelope directly above baby's eyes and snip. Hair drops neatly into envelope and the fit and kaboodle can be disposed of easily.

No Boats on Bannermere—Treats

Why were boats forbidden on Bannermere Lake? Bill and Susan asked. The question led to others and after a series of adventures, to a dramatic discovery.

Sandbags—Clark.

Santiago is a story not only of one boy's endeavor to be "a good Indian" in today's world, but of a whole people striving to find its place in the sun.

Tornado Jones on Sentinel Mountain—Dick.

There's plenty of excitement and fun for Tornado and Paul and real satisfaction when the boys help old Jase to find his rich reward.

The Bird Talisman—Wolfsweed.

Though it owes something of its romantic flavor to the Arabian nights, it is a tale of adventure.

Wheel on the Chimney—Brewton.

Two storks built their nest on a wheel that the farmer bound to the chimney. There they raised their family of two white silent small storks and the farmer was glad because storks bring good luck to the house on which they build.

Lion—Dahsle.

Read this book page by page, and slowly but surely a huge lion will appear right before your eyes!

David and the Sea Gulls—Downer.

This is the true story of one boy and his sympathy for sea gulls.

Doctors and What They Do.—Coy.

This very human, accurate description of doctors and their work should appeal to boys and girls who plan to become doctors themselves.

Anansi, the Spider Man.—Sherlock.

Jamaican folk tales.

Men, Microscopes and Living Things.—Shippen.

Canadian College of Organists Centre Formed, Officers Elected

On Sunday evening, a group of Belleville and Hastings County citizens met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenton Boyce for the purpose of forming a C.C.O. (Canadian College of Organists), centre, with headquarters at Belleville to be known as the Bay of Quinte Local Centre.

The group was comprised of organists, choir leaders, and persons generally interested in church and organ music.

The guest speaker was Mr. Reginald Geen of Oshawa. Mr. Geen is a native of Belleville and is a distinguished Canadian organist, examiner and music festival adjudicator. He is a past president of the College.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

Mr. Geen addressed the meeting on the aims and objects of the College and recounted many personal experiences from his career as organist and choir leader. His address was most amusing and enthusiastically received.

The aim of the College is to promote a high standard of church music. Membership is open to amateur and professional church musicians, the clergy, and all interested in the organ, and church music.

Officers elected for the current year are: chairman, Mr. Robert Bell, Belleville; vice-chairman, Mr. H. Kendall, Trenton; secretary, Mrs. Lois Miller, Belleville; treasurer, Mr. Kenton Boyce, Belleville.

Executive committee: Mr. Andrew Bemrie, Picton; Mr. J. R. Herdman, Belleville and Mrs. G. S. Martin, Frankford.

The meeting was closed with refreshments by Mrs. Boyce.

Gets Deer r Five Hours Of Bloody Action

WARREN, Me. (AP) — Hunter Jim Thomas got his deer Monday — a 300-pound, 10-point buck—after five hours of bloody action.

The big-antlered whitetail finally succumbed after Thomas riddled him with two shotgun blasts, wrestled the animal cowboy-style, clubbed him with the gun and finished him repeatedly.

The Rockland hunter said he got a shotgun charge into the beast when he first spotted it. The deer bounded into the woods. Thomas caught up with him a half-mile away and scored another hit. Again the quarry fled.

Another quarter - mile and Thomas found his prey peacefully nibbling sprouts. Out of ammunition but believing the deer weakened by the wounds, the hunter flung himself on the animal's back. The buck tossed him into a thicket.

Thomas clobbered the deer with the gun, bending the barrel and breaking the stock. The whitetail remained erect.

Desperately the hunter pulled knife and plunged it again and again into the animal's side. Finally resolved the issue in favor.

Peace River Valley Farmlands Invaded by Men and Machinery To Finish Natural Gas Line

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—Farmlands of the Peace River Valley are being invaded by men and machinery of the nation's industrial age. Drawing-board plans of six months ago now are becoming reality in the thriving area, 700 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Big tankers, loaded with fuel from Canada's newest producing oilfield, rumble along the Alaska Highway to a new refinery.

Welders piece together the final sections of a 650-mile natural gas pipeline.

Bulldozers smash through the banks of the Peace River to clear the approaches for a steel railway bridge.

The framework of a $30,000,000 gas processing plant climbs skyward.

SUDDEN CHANGE

The fast-growing hunt for oil and natural gas, coupled with the area's basic farming industry, almost overnight has changed the North Peace into what residents call a new land of opportunity.

"The future is no longer talked about," says George Murray, publisher of the Alaska Highway News at Fort St. John. "People are at work building it in the present."

By night the flares of a dozen drilling rigs beckon the north-bound traveller approaching Peace River suspension bridge.

To the east of the 2,270-foot road bridge, longest on the Alaska Highway, another bridge, when completed, will carry two gas pipelines—one from the Peace River country over the hills to the coast, the other from Alberta's gas fields to a huge scrubbing plant.

The scrubbing plant—to clean the gas—is being built jointly by Westcoast Transmission Company and Pacific Petroleums Ltd. on the east side of the highway at Taylor Flats, just north of the bridge.

Across the highway, a "city" of cream-colored huts houses the several hundred men employed on the project.

Parallel to the highway a little farther on are the two main streets of Taylor Flats' new townsite. A modernistic service station a store and a trailer camp already are in operation.

About five miles upstream from the Alaska Highway, two 50-foot concrete pillars dominate a bend in the river. They are the north bank piers of a bridge on the projected northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway 250 miles from Prince George to the Peace River country. On the south bank, the approach has been excavated and another concrete support installed.

Overlooking the bridge, a row of drilling rigs from the heart of Fort St. John's gas and oil industry. Wide access roads, built by the United States army during the Second World War, lead from the Alaska Highway through the bush to the rigs.

At one side crude oil has been produced commercially in recent weeks for the first time in British Columbia.

Oil is processed at a new refinery opened this summer at Dawson Creek.

Amid this development, there has been no let up in the wheat-fields—among the richest in Canada. As the first heavy snow threatened, men, women and children worked together to get the harvest in.

"You must never forget the land," says Mr. Murray. "Wheat built the Peace and without our farmlands there would be none of today's progress."

BURSTING AT SEAMS

But the last six months have also produced new problems. Chief is that the town—Fort St. John and Dawson Creek — can barely keep pace with their growth.

Fort St. John, in 1951 a village of 900, has nearly trebled its population. Dawson Creek now has a population of 7,400; five years ago it had 1,900 inhabitants.

As a result, municipal services cannot spread fast enough. The streets of Fort St. John are a rocky mess after being torn up in a $500,000 local improvement program. As soon as a new school is opened, the district needs another.

A new $400,000 hotel is under construction in Fort St. John but more and more accommodation is needed for thousands in transients. Dawson Creek has a line of modern motels but every night after six o'clock a room is worth its weight in gold.

Fort St. John has already issued more than $1,250,000 in building permits this year and the Dawson Creek figure is expected to surpass $4,000,000.

But the residents, many of them "oldtimers," who came here in the 1930s are confident they can cope with the area's growing pains.

Canada Finds Self at Crossroads Says Bassett

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's stature in the eyes of the world has been pointed up by the attitude on the Middle East situation and her proposal for an international police force, John Bassett Jr., said Monday.

The publisher of the Toronto Telegram who also is president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association left open the question whether there is unity enough among Canadians themselves to accept a growing role in world leadership.

Addressing the Canadian Club of Montreal, Mr. Bassett said Canada finds herself now at a crossroads.

"We are faced with the decision as to whether or not we will accept an ever-increasing share of the responsibilities of world leadership, combined with an ever-growing political maturity and cultural development, or whether we will be content to remain in the background as a tremendously rich source of material to be exploited largely for the benefit of foreign owners; and with the great and vital decisions in the realm of international politics being made for us, either by the United Kingdom or the United States."

GIVES OWN VIEW

Mr. Bassett said it is his personal belief Canada should have immediately declared herself in support of Britain and France in the Middle East. Britain had the right to re-enter Egypt when Israel moved across the desert.

But whatever Canada should or shouldn't have done, with opinion on the question still divided, "the compelling fact that must come home to every Canadian is that the attitude of this country was a most important factor in the political and military decisions that had to be taken by the British government. . . ."

"I hope you will agree, however, that as Canadians we have reached a degree of national maturity where we can examine, without any useless idea of fooling ourselves, the proposition as to whether or not here at home, we are united enough among ourselves, strong and ready enough to accept this role of leadership that is expected of us."

TO FLY TO MOSCOW

WARSAW (Reuters)—Wladyslaw Gomulka, Polish Communist leader, is expected to fly to Moscow on Thursday for further talks with Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet party chief, it was learned here Monday.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bowers, Miss Marilyn Bowers and Mr. and Mrs. B. Westover, were in Toronto on Saturday and were in attendance at the Royal Winter Fair.

Mrs. Leonard Young and Mrs. Norman Dueltis were Tuesday visitors of friends and relatives in Toronto.

The Bay of Quinte Institute members and friends attended a party at Allen's Hall on Friday evening. Mrs. Fred Aikens, of Centenary, was the lucky winner in the draw for a Kenwood blanket.

Mrs. Clayton Stickle and Mrs. W. A. Jeffery are holidaying in Toronto and will also attend the Royal Winter Fair.

Mrs. Norman Dueltis of Trenton was a Sunday guest of her niece, Mrs. R. Masse and nephews, Raymond and Paul.

Mrs. Casey Ketcheson opened her home on Wednesday afternoon for the November meeting of the Bayside Woman's Missionary Society.

Quite a number from this district attended Armistice Day services in Belleville or Trenton.

Mrs. Donald Reilly, of Wallbridge, was a Wednesday dinner guest of Mrs. E. Nicolson.

Mrs. William Linn reports that they have received a letter from Mrs. Carman Linn telling of their safe arrival in Germany on the Empress of Britain.

While in London, they were shown places of interest on a guided tour. A letter from Carman tells how pleased he was to be re-united with his wife and family.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Percival were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Deary of London, Mr. and Mrs. W. McClurg, of Ottawa and Mrs. R. McLellan, of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Ketcheson were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mrs. Jack Ketcheson and family of Trenton.

Her first stop —the bank

When Mrs. Wilson planned to go shopping, her husband Tom said: "Meet you at the bank." It was a natural thing to say, for going to the bank is just a part of everyday life.

In the bank, Mrs. Wilson noticed Miss Ellis the schoolteacher . . . Mr. Cooper the storekeeper . . . and her neighbour's son Bobby, adding to his savings account.

When Tom arrived, he grinned. "Seems like everybody goes to the bank." It's true. Canadians find the chartered banks such a safe and handy place to keep money that practically everybody has a bank account. There are now more than 10 million deposit accounts in the chartered banks—more accounts than there are adults in the country.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In case hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very large majority of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

White's Church Commemorates November 11

WHITE'S DISTRICT. — A fine Armistice Day service was held at White's church on Sunday morning with the pastor, Mr. Robert Percival preaching from the text, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." Mr. Percival said "Today we honor the sons of the two World Wars. God speaks to men in many ways; in trials and tribulations but also by the wonders of nature. God wants us to share with others in the gift of Jesus."

"Barnabas and Paul administered to the Jews and Gentiles in Antioch for a whole year and many Christians were added to the church. Today there is work for everyone in Sunday schools, in women's groups and as visitors of the sick."

The service opened by singing "Lord of the Lands," and closed with "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," with Mrs. D. Bowers as pianist.

WELLINGTON

200 Attend Remembrance Day Service

WELLINGTON. — About 200 people, including Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides, and their leaders, legion auxiliary of the local Legion, and members of the Canadian Legion, Branch 160, gathered at the cenotaph last Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock, to hold their annual Remembrance Day service. "O God, Our Help In Ages Past" was sung and the service, Alfred Poulter of the United Church led in prayer.

The Scripture lesson was read by Pastor Roy Running of the Pentecostal church. Two minutes' silence was observed followed by the "Last Post", and 'Reveille', played by Bugler Sgt.-Major Smith, LAA, Picton.

Wreaths were placed on the cenotaph by Mrs. Melvin Taylor, the provincial wreath; Reeve Clare Hall, Wellington council wreath; Mr. Kenneth Wood, Hillier, wreath; Barton Cronk, Hallowell, wreath; Joe Tuley, Air Force wreath; Otto Bowerman, Navy wreath; Jack Ogilvy, Legion wreath; Mr. Bernard May, Canadian wreath; and Mrs. Ralph Preston, Ladies' Auxiliary wreath.

Comrade Clifford McQuade was in charge of the laying of the wreaths. The Rev. C. R. Gale, American minister, introduced the guest speaker, Bishop Evans, who gave a splendid address, after which Mr. Gale pronounced the benediction.

Lt.-Col. William A. Divern was in charge of the Legionaires and others who paraded from the Legion hall.

DESERONTO

C.W.I.L. Holds Most Successful Tea, Bazaar

DESERONTO—An ideal autumn afternoon, with warm sunshine, ushered in the first bazaar and tea of the season on Wednesday, held under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League, in the Legion hall, when Mrs. J. Walsh, president and Mrs. Gregory Gorman, gave a warm welcome to the visitors.

The tea table with its lovely white linen table cloth was covered with a crystal bowl of colored chrysanthemums, tall candelabra and silver tea services. The attractive trays held small dainty bites.

Miss Agnes Martin poured tea.

The small tables, looked lovely with white covers, centred with small vases of colored flowers.

The convener of the tea, Mrs. Edmond Dowling Sr. was assisted by Mrs. Charles Brennan, Mrs. Pat Murphy, Mrs. J. Graham, Mrs. Anson Lord, Mrs. Gerald Milner, Mrs. Jack Therrien; Mrs. Edmond Dowling Jr., and Miss J. Carthew.

ATTRACTIVE APRONS

The apron booth was convened by Mrs. Alex Therrien, Mrs. Charles Doran, where many attractive styles of aprons ranging from the favorite coveralls of lovely print, the half aprons of crandy and frills trimmed with bows and ribbons.

The miscellaneous table in charge of Mrs. Joe Roach and Mrs. F. Tyrell, looked pretty with knitted gloves, soaps, pillow cases, tea towels, salt, and pepper shakers, luncheon cloths, dresser scarfs, pot holders, baby bootees, doll cloths and African baskets.

Home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. Ed. Roach, assisted by Miss Nora Fox, who were busily engaged in selling small and large cakes, tarts, candy, cookies and pies of all descriptions, also pickles and doughnuts.

The white elephant table had many varied articles and was in charge of Mrs. James Gaulin.

Mrs. J. F. McNeill sold tickets on a Christmas cake, which was won by Mrs. Gregory Gordon. Mrs. John Garland, Mrs. F. Tyrell sold tickets on a cheese and it was won by Miss Nora Fox.

Mrs. Ernie Dorey was in charge of the tickets on the draw and the winners listed: Mrs. Claude Thompson, fuel; Mr. Joe Lanting, turkey; Mrs. Fern Cole, luncheon set; Mr. William Watson,- Christmas cake; Shirley Heffernan, Pepsi-Cola.

To all the workers goes credit for a most successful bazaar, ably convened and capably managed.

HAZARD OF THE TRADE

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A demonstration of how poisonous snakes strike ended abruptly, police reported, when a six - foot diamond-back rattler gave an unscheduled performance. Luke V. Sawcier, Jr., was gesturing to two other snakes Saturday night in an effort to draw a strike when the diamond-back bit him on the left hand. Sawcier's condition is not considered serious.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis spent Sunday with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lobnes.

Mrs. George McLean spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Walker, of Bancroft.

The men of the neighborhood are busy sawing wood.

Mr. Arnold Meyers now has an art class which is held at his home on Thursday nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Vandervoort and Mr. Vandervoort's mother, Mrs. W. Vandervoort, attended the funeral of the latter's niece at Kingston on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert, of Stirling, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lobnes on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shields and Thelma were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Harder attended the Harry — White wedding on Saturday at Elizabethville and then went on to Sunderland for the weekend to be guests of Mrs. Douglas Harder.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Glover of Trenton, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Harder.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers.

Miss Nettie Harder has received her nurse's degree at Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Harder and children motored to Peterborough recently, taking Mrs. Allison to see her daughter, Mrs. Norma Oldfield, at the hospital there. Mrs. Oldfield, Sr., accompanied Mrs. Allison.

The Johnstown people wish to convey their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry (nee Miss Hazel White of Elizabethville). They will reside on the 3rd concession of Sidney. All wish them health and happiness.

Mrs. Thomas Lochead and son, Mr. John Lochead, of Montreal, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harry on Saturday night.

LESSON ON LOVE

Johnstown Sunday school was held on Sunday afternoon with the pastor, Rev. G. A. Puttenham, in charge of the service.

The Scripture lesson was found in John 1: 3. The minister reminded "the world needs to know the Word of Life. We seem to live in a world where war is used as a solution to our difficulties. The great barrier to peace is that men do not really have the spirit of God in them. The Egyptians are afraid of the Jews. The Arabs have not made any attempt to do anything about the refugees in their country, do not seem to want any but are using them as a political grievance against Israel — Russia does not seem to want to free Hungary or find a peaceful solution, but just wants to use them for her own purposes. If nations do not want to solve problems these things will always breed war. The right answer with all nations is spiritual, not material, for if we do not have the right spirit within us nothing will come out right.

We have a United Nations, a police force and whatnot, but if we do not have the right spirit, nothing will solve our difficulties, so it is up to all nations to change their attitudes.

"We are supposed to be a Christian nation. We can read our Bibles, go to church, but if the spirit of Christ is not in us it is of no avail. When a person is a true Christian his life should be transformed, not continuing on in the same old way. The world is not going in the right way today. We do not want to do what is right or there would be no trouble.

"To Communists, life doesn't mean anything, but just ends in nothingness. To a Christian, life has a great meaning for we believe every one is precious in the sight of God: 'Ye are not your own, ye are bought with a price.' The gospel has a great challenge, for it must assure men that life is valuable. A lot of people do not take God into scheme of things. We must live our life in God's way, not in our own way. God loves us so that we must love others. If we believe in God, love will radiate from our lives to others. We cannot get this love in our hearts any other way than by living day by day in fellowship with Him. We must live by love, not by hate. The Gospel must teach men to love each other and bring about a new day of brotherhood. This old world has not changed much since John the disciple lived in it."

WELLINGTON

$100,000,000 GRANT

Prime Minister St. Laurent tells the National Conference of Canadian Universities at Ottawa of a proposal to create a Canada Council. Mr. St. Laurent said the proposal, involving a $100,000,000 grant to aid the arts, will be submitted to the next session of parliament for approval. Salesmen Happy, Equipment Sells Well at Fair

TORONTO (CP) — Even the salesmen were happy as the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair moved into its fifth day today.

Despite crop surpluses and poor growing weather, Canadian farmers at the fair are taking a record interest in the 38-odd displays of modern farm equipment — equipment which indicates automation on the farm is just around the corner.

Nearly all the salesmen reported bigger sales this year. One said his milking machine is selling twice as fast as it did at the fair in 1955.

The equipment itself ranges from a machine that grades and cleans eggs to an automatic feeder and an automatic barn cleaner," said a salesman. "He only has to push a couple of buttons every day to care for his 80 head of cows. His eight-year-old son does the job."

The equipment is expensive, costing up to $3,700 for a diesel tractor. A milking parlor costs up to 7,000. A 275-cubic-foot refrigerator with an even 37 degrees is worth 1,700.

RATCHES $2,000 EGGS

Probably the most impressive item is a three-unit, combination chicken brooder and hatcher. It handles 62,000 eggs at one time.

In the fair's activities Tuesday, 123 top Ayrshire entered in dairy cattle competition were auctioned off for $16,945, an average of $313 apiece.

Top price was $1,375, paid for Carnduff Exeter Lad, a six-month-old bull owned by Burnside Farms of Howick, Que. Buyer was Macdonald College of Quebec.

Top prize at Tuesday night's horse show was the Governor-General's Cup, presidented in person by Governor-General Massey to R. L. Hutchinson of Regina.

The winning horse, judged on the line as the three-year-old non-thoroughbred most suitable as a hunter, was Fair Caps, a chestnut gelding standing 16 hands, two inches.

The governor-general reviewed a 100-man guard of honor from the Royal Military College at Kingston.

Possibility Ontario, Quebec May Become Members Of Great Lakes Commission

CHICAGO (AP) — The Great Lakes Commission, meeting in executive session, heard a report Tuesday on the possibility of Ontario and Quebec becoming members of the commission.

The six-state advisory body heard Robert E. Merriam, assistant to the director of the United States Bureau of the Budget, report on discussions with President Assistant Howard Pyle relative to overcoming objections to membership by the two Canadian provinces in the commission.

Earlier, Illinois had asked the U.S. Supreme Court to approve a 100-day emergency transfusion of Great Lakes water for the Illinois-Mississippi waterway to ease drought effects on the mid-continent shipping artery.

The action came as spokesmen for and against increased diversion presented arguments at the annual session of the six-state commission, an unofficial co-operative advisory body.

Attorney-General Latham Castle of Illinois asked the high court in Washington to modify temporarily its 1,200 cubic feet per second Chicago diversion limit of 1930 by permitting the flow from Lake Michigan to be upped 1,000 cubic feet per second, to 11,200.

He said the action was taken to help inland shipping interests, and to guard the health of city residents along the waterway, in the face of an expected record low water situation throughout the Mississippi and Missouri river systems.

Another diversion proposal to provide water for consumer use in a 13,500 square mile region of Ohio and Indiana by pipelines from Lake Erie was described to the commission.

John H. Byrne of Cleveland, executive secretary of the Lake Erie Watershed Conservation Foundation, said the pipeline diversion would serve a population of 4,000,000.

Byrne told the commission the proposed pipeline system does not violate the United States treaty with Canada limiting diversion for other than consumer and sanitary uses. He said that the pipeline water eventually would find its way back into Lake Erie.

Earlier, Oliver T. Burnham of Cleveland, vice-president of the Lake Carriers Association predicted opposition by Great Lakes vessel owners to "unnatural siphoning" of lake water.

Burnham said that the current minimum channel depth of interconnecting lake waters is 21 feet 6 inches, and that 45 large Great Lakes vessels have been built to be able to operate in 21 feet because of shallow channels. Each inch of lessened depth, he said "represents the loss of 1,500,000 tons of cargo per season."

The Army engineers are conducting a study to determine the effect of the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal diversion on the pro-Lake Michigan diversion.

The Michigan diversion project has been approved by congress. It was vetoed both times by President Eisenhower.

East-West Cold War Revived In Frigid Fury

OTTAWA (CP)—In the opinion of officials here, the East-West cold war is being revived in all its frigid fury.

This view is probably more prevalent in the defence department than in the external affairs branch which tries to keep the door open for any possible negotiations with the Communist world.

Four months ago Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons that changes in Russian attitudes and policies might have more than merely a feigned or superficial significance. He added:

"This situation offers opportunities for improvement in our relations with Russia and perhaps opportunities for the settlement of outstanding difficulties between Russia and the Western nations."

"NEW" LOOK VANISHED

Lately, External Affairs Minister Pearson said that since the death of Stalin the "new" Soviet regime had started to eliminate some of the more objectionable features of both Russian foreign and domestic policies.

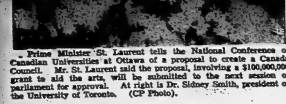
But that there is no government policy of exchanging visits with the Russians was in full swing by Khrushchev and Bulganin and talk of exchange visits here...now.

In the last few weeks Russia has trumped brutally on the Hungarian revolt, has spiritually threatened Britain and France with rocket attack and talked of putting "volunteers" in the Middle East.

DIVERSION ATTEMPT

Officials today say one of the most dangerous aspects of the current situation is that Russia is apparently trying to divert attention away from its military intervention in Hungary.

They said that when dictatorships get in trouble their instinction is to start an "adventure" in another field. The "defend-the-Nile" process of the new Soviet regime had resulted in the lid being blown off in some of its Communist satellite states. Russia now was trying to get the lid back on the pot.



Authorities said the Russian armies of last year have vanished and the so-called Russian emphasis on economic competition with West has gone out the window.

The current situation proves more conclusively than ever that there could be no relaxation in the West's defence program, now costing Canada $1,775,000,000 a year or 40 per cent of the federal budget.

Queen's Professor Says Role Of Universities Misunderstood

NEW METHOD FOR TREATING BREAKS

Dr. Michael P. Mandarino of a Philadelphia hospital examines John Doucher, the first patient treated with Mandarino's revolutionary method of mending broken bones. The broken bone is laid bare by surgery and a small trough is cut into bone ends. A plastic-like substance is poured in. It expands and fills every bone crack. In a half-hour the substance hardens and sets (like cement). Doucher is putting all his weight on broken leg here. A cast is necessary for only two or three days.

Fishing Industry In Great Lakes Is Declining

SIMCOE (CP)—Despite a favorable 20-million-lbs catch last year, the fishing industry in the Great Lakes is declining, Dr. A. O. Blackhurst of Port Dover, secretary of the Ontario Council of Fisheries, said Tuesday.

He told the Rotary Club that pollution, predators and parasites are hitting hard at fishing. Predators include smelt which are increasing in large numbers in Lake Erie. Lamprey eels are preying on valuable whitefish and lake trout.

Dr. Blackhurst said the lamprey problem is being tackled by government scientists, but in other so halt pollution in boundary waters more action is needed at the international level. He said detergents are among the top killers of fish.

COSTLY POLLUTION

CHELMSFORD, England (CP) Essex river boatmen have threatened 10,000 dead fish from the River Chelmer in one evening. Officials said the fish died of "accidental pollution."

MONTREAL (CP)—The function of Canadian universities is often misunderstood and taken for granted, a Queen's University professor said Tuesday night.

"Too few people realize that universities do not attempt to teach experience, but concentrate on preliminary training of the mind, which makes experience so much more valuable when it comes," said A. R. C. Duncan, head of the philosophy department at Kingston.

He was guest speaker at the closing dinner of the 10th annual conference of the Canadian Tax Foundation.

SOME HAVE DOUBTS

"One of the biggest obstacles in the way of successful functioning of universities," said Prof. Duncan "is dealing with those who begin to have doubts about the value of what they are doing and consider too much time is being spent on book learning.

"True, more knowledge cannot be rashed above experience in life . . . experience which can only be acquired by going out into the world and getting it.

"There is a vast difference, however, in the quality of experience gained by a man who brings to the business of acquiring it a trained and sensitive mind and experience gained by someone who has never bothered to train his mind, or body."

He said to teach a student sound judgment it may be necessary for the student to study subjects which on the surface appear to have little connection with furthering business policies, or governing a nation.

JUDGMENT TRAINING

The power of judgment, he said, is a peculiarly human faculty and universities are concentrating on such training.

Prof. Duncan said the university is expected to be a source of trained men of proven capacity should spend their time in a free-minded endeavour of increasing the world's store of knowledge and communication of that knowledge to the men and women of the younger generation."

He said any group which finds itself faced with a problem demanding thorough and detailed knowledge may look to the universities for assistance.

"I do not suggest universities are the only places where knowledge and understanding are found," he added. "However, I do claim that no modern society can hope to develop a satisfactory form of life unless most of its members attempt to equip themselves with what knowledge there is to be had."

TERRORISM IN JAVA

Negro Singer, Rector Special Targets of Pickets

NEW YORK (CAP) — Jeering anti-Russian pickets hurled tomatoes — filled bottles, tomatoes, eggs and sticks Tuesday night at the entrance to a rally of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. No one was injured.

Negro singer Paul Robeson and controversial Brooklyn rector, the Rev. William Howard Melish, were special targets of the pickets.

About 300 demonstrators, most of them Hungarians and Hungarian-Americans, banded together outside the Pythian Temple where the rally was held.

They shouted "Freedom for Hungary!" and "America will never be friends with murderers" as hundreds of persons entered the building.

POLICE KEEP BUSY

More than 250 patrolmen, mounted police and detectives kept the placard-waving demonstration in check.

Policemen flanked Robeson when he arrived. A brunette octogenia was flung toward him, but splattered harmlessly on the pavement close by.

The rally was called to mark the 39th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet Union and the 10th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and Russia.

In his speech Robeson hailed the achievements of the Soviet Union.

Pastor Melish said Americans must strive to achieve peaceful coexistence and friendship with the Soviet Union. He mentioned Soviet "armed coercion" in Hungary, however, and deplored operation and defects of the Soviet system.

Firemen Should Have Wages Cut Claim of C.P.R.

OTTAWA (CP)—The CPR said Tuesday that locomotive firemen are "wholly unsound" in their claim for a general 25-per-cent wage increase.

The company, before a federal conciliation board inquiring into a contract dispute, said firemen on passenger trains' diesel engines should have their wages cut because of reduced work requirements.

The railway also reiterated its contention that firemen should be eliminated from road freight and yard diesel locomotives. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engiemen is fighting the proposal.

The three - man board under Judge J. Anderson of Belleville has been sitting on the dispute for several weeks. It will hear final argument from the contestants Thursday.

The major proposal of the union is the 25-per-cent wage boost.

WOULD ELIMINATE JOBS

The company came back with its plan to eliminate firemen on freight and substitute a helper for the hisher-paid firemen on passenger diesels.

Firemen on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service, are "unnecessary", H. M. Goldage, CPR manager of labor relations said Tuesday.

"The duties required of a passenger fireman on diesel locomotives are such that a downward adjustment in the rate of pay is called for to bring it into line with the job's requirements."

He added that the union's contention that locomotive firemen have not had a full share in the increased Canadian economy is "wholly unsound."

F.D.R. Jr. Attacks Foreign Policy Of United States

TORONTO (CP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Tuesday night urged United States action in joining Russia to condemn the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt and the incredible example of U.S. naivete in international affairs."

Mr. Roosevelt, son of the late U.S. president, was speaking at a Progressive Conservative meeting here.

Michael G. Conway, Israeli ambassador to Canada, said it is doubtful his country will hand back the Gaza Strip to Egypt, possibly to become a Russian base less than 14 miles from Tel Aviv.

Mr. Roosevelt, former U.S. congressman, criticized Britain and France for not acting more promptly to help Israel.

He said a week, six or seven days to make a frontal attack on Port Said the Anglo-French armies could have landed easily behind the Israeli army.

"Every day a plan been better conceived and more poorly executed," he said. "It is high time Britain is slowing down."

Un St. Catharines, Mrs. Elea nor Roosevelt, Roosevelt's mother, defended the Anglo-French action.

"They took the action and were responsible for the action and hoped something would happen."

She said strong case of self-defence could be made for Israel.

New Regulations For Sale of Milk, Cream Now Ready

TORONTO (CP) — Agriculture Minister Goodfellow said Tuesday that new regulations governing all phases of the production and sale of milk and cream in Ontario will be effective within a few days.

He told an annual meeting of the Ontario Cream Producers that regulations which have been in effect for many years under the Dairy Products Act have been replaced by new and similar regulations which "have been brought up to date."

Mr. Goodfellow said the revised code is "designed to maintain a high standard of cleanliness in processing plants, as well as making provision for the licensing of all graders and testers to ensure that a thoroughly qualified man is receiving the purchased product."

His department, he said is also studying what can be done in preparing to make routine test checks of creameries with the intention of sending quarterly results of the checks to the individual producer.

Wants to Bring Whooping Cranes Back to Canada

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Natural History Society favors a whooping crane management program to bring the rare bird back to its native breeding grounds in Canada.

The society, in its annual report, expresses concern that settlement has pushed the birds out of their former breeding grounds in Saskatchewan and northward to the great marshes of the Northwest Territories.

One suggestion is a program for artificial hatching of eggs. In a few years a flock of captive birds might be possible without diminishing the flock of wild cranes.

Maximum Effort Being Made To Admit Hungarian Refugees

TORONTO (CP)—The government is making a maximum effort to permit Hungarian refugees to enter Canada, but must be sure "we don't let in any planted agents of the Communists," Canada Immigration Minister Pickersgill.

The minister told a Toronto audience Tuesday that the government is unable to do its utmost to those willing and able to come to Canada. But he thought it would not be to "the advantage of the Hungarian refugees to bring them all the way across the Atlantic to set them up in refugee camps here."

"Those who are assured of a reasonable chance to get along here will be admitted in the shortest time," he said. That is provided they can meet minimum health regulations.

WIDEN SPONSORSHIP

Mr. Pickersgill also announced most effective Jan. 1 prospective employers will be accepted as sponsors of immigrants from the United Kingdom and Europe. He said the government approved the step last week as a method to increase the flow of immigrants from the two areas this year.

He said the backlog of applications from those two areas, close relatives, has decreased in a number of European countries and Britain, and the main volume now is from persons who apply on their own.

Immigrants from the two areas, provided they can meet health and other standards, are admitted on their own if they fall within certain job classifications or if a close relative agrees to support them until they can support themselves.

"We feel the number of immigrants coming to Canada for employment can be increased by permitting employers to sponsor applications for admission of immigrant workers and their dependents," said Mr. Pickersgill.

ONE-YEAR CONTRACT

(An immigration official in Ottawa said the immigrants will be required to remain with the first boring employer for one year.)

Sponsorship would be accepted from reputable employers in a position to provide year-round employment at current wages in occupations where the National Employment Service was unable to satisfy demand for workers in Canada.

Immigrants sponsored by employers would be eligible for assisted-passage loans from government.

Mr. Pickersgill also said immigration teams will be sent to European refugee camps this winter on an active recruiting campaign.

CHALLENGES REDS

PARIS (AP)—French Premier Guy Mollet Monday night challenged the Soviet Union to follow the example of France and Britain in Egypt by ending Russian military positions in Hungary to a UN force. The premier, in a TV interview, reasserted France's sympathy for the Hungarian rebels and proclaimed next Sunday a European-wide "day of solidarity" with the Hungarian people.

BLUNT SPEECH BY NATO COMMANDER

A definite statement on the offensive capacity of Western nations was made by Gen. Alfred Gruenther, retiring NATO commander, in his headquarters in Paris. Referring to the threat by Russia of rocket attack on Britain, Gruenther said: "No nation is going to press the button (to start a rocket war) if it means suicide . . . Retaliation will take place a day before, at night, and the Soviet Union will be destroyed."

Labor Minister Guest Speaker At Legion Dinner

TRENTON (Special) — Introducing guest speaker, the Minister of Labor, the Hon. Milton Gregg, V.C., at the Armistice dinner in the Legion hall here Monday night Senator W. A. Fraser said he felt it was an occasion where certain statements could be made. It is not often I make notes, he remarked, but I have jotted down points both this afternoon and tonight.

He recalled the participation of Canadian soldiers in two World Wars and the action in Korea. Canadians are once again preparing to leave for a foreign field of battle he said once again to make their contribution when Canada is in the forefront of a movement to prevent a third World War.

He regarded the British and French soldiers as the first survival to the existence of freedom loving people. He pointed out that the whole Middle East situation became critical only after Russia had provided Nasser with weapons and supplies. While the enemy slaughtered Hungarians in Britain and France acted and the whole western world has come to thank God they did, the Senator explained.

I am not in the know, he stated, I have yet to talk with government people about the internal or external affairs but I regret nobody can tell me authorities in Ottawa either know when Britain and France were going to act. The Senator warned against a war that would be the end. He also warned about the treachery of Eastern people. I've lived with them, I've studied their religion. I can tell you they have committed themselves to abolish the Christian race.

ATTACKS U.S. POLICY

Accusing the 49th parallel our neighbor had an anemic foreign policy, he continued. Do we condemn Dulles sold us down the river. It came at a time when our very existence depended on action and not appeasement, the Senator declared. Let us not disremember changes things. I personally hope he gets some body else in the place of Mr. Dulles to shape the foreign policy of that great nation, Canada stated, scoring the U.S. foreign secretary's decisions.

"Tonight we are gathered here to commemorate the comrades of the war," he said, but we must not forget our comrades with broken bodies and memories of those who made the great sacrifice.

The Labor Minister asked veterans to pass along views on the Middle East and what Canada has been trying to interpret the thoughts and aspirations of ex-veterans. Canada stands for peace. The only hope of achieving it is through the United Nations. Britain's stand should strengthen the empire. He reported that the Hon. Lester Pearson, on a hurried return to Ottawa from the U.N., last week informed a Legion convention that the western nations and allies were not out of the woods by long odds but progress is being made along the right path. He noted that Canada had become respected among world powers because of the sacrifice of her sons and daughters. Mr. Gregg assured the veterans their matters had always received attention and consideration regardless what government was in power.

Quoting the Legion rally call: "They served till death why not we" the Labor Minister asserted free men must not be slaves. We must be prepared to go forward without fear or lose in faith.

Air Commodore J. R. Harvey thanked the Minister on behalf of Legion Branch 110.

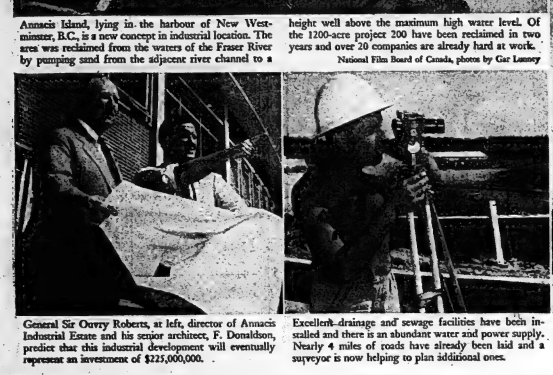
Annacis Island, New Westminster, B.C.



Annacis Island, lying in the harbour of New Westminster, B.C., is a new concept in industrial location. The area was reclaimed from the waters of the Fraser River by pumping sand from the adjacent river channel to a height well above the maximum high water level. Of the 1200-acre project 200 have been reclaimed in two years and over 20 companies are already hard at work.

Light industries like this pleasure boat factory will have the advantage of spur tracks connecting with all main rail lines in Canada and the U.S., and they may have their own deep-sea dock in addition.

Factory bays, each unit consisting of 6000 sq.ft. plus 700 sq.ft. of office space, are available on short-term lease. As business expands, or for larger industries, specially designed buildings may be erected.

General Sir Ouvry Roberts, at left, director of Annacis Industrial Estate and his senior architect, F. Donaldson, predict that this industrial development will eventually represent an investment of $225,000,000.

Excellent drainage and sewage facilities have been installed and there is an abundant water and power supply. Nearly 4 miles of roads have already been laid and a surveyor is now helping to plan additional ones.

Most types of industries have been provided for and the whole project is pleasing in appearance. Their custom built facilities are interesting many firms in these fully serviced sites and buildings which can be obtained without capital outlay on a lease basis. British Columbia was chosen as it was felt it was on the brink of a great secondary industrial expansion, and sub-trades and allied industries have already had a beneficial effect.

Next Year's Election Campaign Will Likely Revolve Around Trans-Canada Pipeline Debate

Six months are the Canadian House of Commons was embroiled in one of its most vigorous battles—the trans-Canada pipeline debate and the charges of partiality in the Speaker's chair that grew out of it.

With the debate finally laid down a matter of record—but its ghost and cause likely to be revived in next year's election campaign—The Canadian Press in two stories reviews the procedural points involved and the precedents called on by government and opposition.

This story deals with the general outline of the battle.

OTTAWA (CP)—A possible key point of opposition attack in the next federal election already is on the books.

It is the claim that during the last session of Parliament the Speaker of the Commons and his deputies, under pressure by the government and supported by its majority, manipulated rules of procedure to government advantage.

The Progressive Conservative and CCF parties likely will link this claim with the cry that the Liberals have been in power too long; that they have become complacent, contemptuous and arrogant.

The opposition undoubtedly will point to the session's pipeline debate as fresh evidence of this. They contend that after 20-odd years in office and with its big majority, the government now governs by force, trampling Parliament's rules and traditions.

CAMPAIGN WEAPON

Repeated opposition challenges to an immediate general election on the pipeline issue and all its ramifications were the tipoff that the Conservatives and the CCF consider this a major campaign weapon.

The government's pipeline bill, supported by the Commons' 170 Liberals and 15 Social Credit members, was passed, but only after a bitter procedural fight waged against it by the 75-member Conservative-CCF group, allied on this issue.

During the hectic three weeks of the fight last May and June the opposition forced 70 votes on the legislation. Twenty-four of them were appeals from rulings by the chair.

This state of affairs prompted CCF Leader Coldwell, as he announced yet another appeal, to remark in frustration:

"I think we must be right occasionally . . . Mr. Speaker, I think you are human like the rest of us and that you err. In some of these rulings I think that right has been on our side. . ."

Near the end of the long battle the opposition began stressing this argument: That wrong rulings made under partisan stress and confirmed by House votes may become embedded as part of Commons custom and be used to justify future wrong rulings.

HIGHLY REGARDED

Before the debate, there had been only two appeals against rulings by speaker Rene Beaudoin since he was made Commons speaker in 1953. He had come to be regarded in all political quarters as one of the best Speakers in Canadian parliamentary history. The 44-year-old native of Quebec is fluently bilingual.

But his conduct during the pipeline debate prompted the opposition to move a censure motion against him, the first in a Canadian parliament. He was repeatedly accused of favoring the Liberal majority, the party to which he belongs.

Never before had a Commons presiding officer faced so many challenges of his judgment, so many oral attacks upon his conduct, so much clamorous disorder.

His position eventually became so intolerable that, after the pipeline bill was passed and the censure motion defeated, he submitted his resignation in a statement denying that his rulings ever had been prompted by party considerations. Later he decided to stay on, at Prime Minister St. Laurent's urging, and his resignation offer never came before the House for decision.

What made the opposition charge its mind about Speaker Beaudoin's impartiality? On what did it base its charges that the government was destroying Parliament?

The opposition claimed he chair violated both actual rules and long - standing traditions, or precedents. They quoted the rule book and text-book authorities in support of this. The government and the Speaker did the same in its defence.

ROOT OF MATTER

In essence, it boiled down to a matter of interpretation and choice of precedents to suit the particular action. The government had the numbers, to win its way. However, the real trouble was not so much over clean - cut charges of rule violations as over the way the rules were imposed, particularly the Chair's consistent over-ruling of opposition attempts to debate points of order and privilege. In some points the Chair refused to hear any debate at all.

Points of order and privilege usually take precedence over all else.

The fuse to this explosive atmosphere, which erupted into what were probably the stormiest scenes ever witnessed in a Canadian parliament, was the debate limiting device of closure. It had been used on only seven previous occasions by Canadian governments, the last time in 1932. The Liberals employed it four times to push the pipeline bill to passage.

Closure had been used in the past to end prolonged debate, in some cases after several months of delay. This time it was used to ensure enactment of the bill between May 8, when it was presented, and the government's June 7 deadline for making a multi-million-dollar loan towards the trans-Canada natural gas pipeline.

And, in the face of opposition filibuster threats, the government took the unprecedented step of bringing closure into play even before debate had started.

Under closure, a cabinet minister gives notice of closure one day and moves the motion the next. When approved, it halves the length of speeches to 20 minutes each, fixes a time limit, of about 10 hours on debate and then forces a vote.

Rules of Parliament are numerous and complex. Their application is made difficult by the necessity of interpreting them in the light of constantly changing circumstances.

There are simple rules laid down for day-to-day application in respect to concrete situations and the mechanics of parliamentary conduct. There are the Standing Orders. They are revised from time to time, the most recent revision occurring with unanimous approval in 1955.

To aid in meeting special situations, the Standing Orders are supplemented by volumes of so-called citations and interpretations written by widely - recognized authorities on parliamentary practices. Among those quoted most frequently are Sir John Bourinot and Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, respectively the third and sixth clerks of the Commons since Confederation.

Heated interpretations of these rules and precedents, pro and con, put the Chair's occupant on a "hot seat," as Deputy Speaker W. A. Robinson described it.

At another juncture Mr. Beaudoin's other deputy, Chairman E. T. Applewhaite, said he considered his only responsibility has "not to rule upon the merits or demerits of a motion, not to rule upon the desirability of otherwise of procedure or of a Standing Order, but to try to come to a conclusion as - bloodedly as I can. . ."

POINTS OF CRITICISM

With this setting, these salient points of opposition criticism emerge from the record of the pipeline debate:

1. The manner in which closure was applied.

2. The Speaker's action on June 1, as stated by then Progressive Conservative Leader Drew in his censure motion, of "subordinating the rights of the House to the will of the government," supposedly reversing a decision without notice and without giving opportunity for discussion and heatedly refusing to allow members to address the House on occasions when the rules provided they had the right to be heard."

3. The active role of the Speaker in arguing against opposition procedural points, on contrast to the relative silence of the government.

There were other critigisms, some quite involved, but these were the main ones.

Trade Minister Howe, pilot of the pipeline bill, opened debate May 14 on the bill's introductory resolution, first of four stages of passage. This had been preceded by a prolonged procedural fight over propriety of the government's action in producing this resolution and not proceeding with a similar one it had presented back in February.

QUICK MOVE

At the end of his speech, Mr. Howe said "It is obvious that some members prefer to obstruct this motion (to approve the second resolution) rather than debate it." In the next breath—before a single opposition member had spoken in debate—he gave notice of closure.

The opposition was astounded, then incensed.

They flung back at the government the words of condemnation voiced by two great Liberals when Conservative governments had used closure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was "holding a terror over our heads." Mackenzie King said "with that weapon they strike at the very heart of the House of Commons . . . striking discussion."

When Laurier was prime minister in 1911 and a government bill had been blocked for six months by a tenacious Conservative opposition he preferred to call an election, which he lost, rather than impose closure.

And when closure was first applied in the Canadian Parliament by Conservative Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden—in 1913 after 2 days of debate on a single clause of a bill—Laurier recalled his 1911 decision with these words:

"Heaven is my witness that I would rather stand here today defeated and in opposition by that appeal to the people than stand over there in office by the power of the gag."

But the Liberals of 1956 were not deterred by these voices from the past.

ATTACK SOVIETS

TOKYO (AP) — Two hundred young stone-throwing demonstrators attacked the Soviet Mission Monday, crashing the outer gate and breaking windows before 100 police forced them out. The group marched from a rightist rally opposing the Japan-Soviet Second World War settlement.

Federal Aid To Universities Chief Question

QUEBEC (CP)—Aid to Quebec universities, from the federal and provincial governments, is the dominating issue to be placed before members of the Quebec legislature today when the annual session opens.

A simmering controversy over federal aid to universities, rejected for five years by Quebec universities after they accepted it for the 1951-52 school year, has boiled over in recent weeks.

Quebec's Union Nationale government circles speak of proposed legislation dealing with the universities question, perhaps placing some legislative barrier on federal grants to Quebec institutions.

Questioned about this speculation, a government official simply said: "The Quebec government has the right to legislate in matters of education since they are under exclusive provincial jurisdiction."

HAVE REFUSED

"The universities of the province —three French-language and three English-language institutions, as well as a number of colleges— have refused to accept the money because of Premier Duplessis' objections. He has described federal aid as a trespass on exclusive provincial rights in matters of education.

Prime Minister St. Laurent Oct. 7 launched what Mr. Duplessis and his Union Nationale government feel is a federal government "offensive" to overcome Quebec's ban of federal aid. The prime minister said he would ask the National Conference of Canadian Universities to distribute the money to qualifying institutions across the country.

Mr. Duplessis bluntly rejected the offer as an attempt to carry out the federal trespass through "a side door" instead of "the front door."

Claims He Was Drugged With Doctored Coffee

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—Dr. Otto John testified Tuesday he was "several times on the verge of committing suicide" during the 17 months he stayed behind the Iron Curtain.

The former West German intelligence chief told the federal Supreme Court trying him on treason charges that only by pretending to co-operate with the Communists could he have hoped to get back to the West.

John is accused of leaking state secrets and denouncing agents of his office after crossing into East Berlin July 30, 1954. He returned last December to surrender to West German authorities.

The presiding judge and the prosecution today tried to shatter John's claim that he was drugged with doctored coffee and then abducted to Soviet headquarters in East Berlin.

UNANSWERED QUESTION

He was asked repeatedly why he did not disclose that he was being coerced when he was presented to Western journalists at a Communist-sponsored press conference in East Berlin three weeks after he crossed over.

"If I had done this, the Russians would have had a reason to lock me up for 30 years," John answered.

"But you would have had the entire Western press as your ally," a judge insisted.

"I am not able to give a reasonable answer to that question other than pointing to the situation in which I was," John replied, seemingly irritated.

SPY CASE IN TOKYO

TOKYO (AP)—Police today arrested six Koreans and accused them of spying on American armed forces in Japan for North Korea's Communist government. Police said the alleged spy ring had been active since 1950.

Tax Collector Picking on Man, Wife Says Expert

MONTREAL (CP) — The tax collector isn't doing right by husbands and wives, a tax expert says.

L. J. Smith of Toronto complained, on behalf of husbands and wives, when he spoke at a panel discussion at the annual conference of the Canadian Tax Foundation.

Mr. Smith said the Income Tax Act seems to have been drafted on the assumption that a husband and wife are inherently conniving tax-evaders and that therefore the tax collector should exact his toll accordingly.

A resume of his remarks was released to the press in advance.

Mr. Smith gave specific examples:

1. When a husband looks after his wife and provides her with all the necessities, these may be treated for tax purposes less favorably than an unmarried man and a dependent sister who have established a home together.

If the unmarried man has an income, for example, of $2,000 and his dependent sister an income of $750, neither is required to pay any tax. But if a husband has an income of $2,000 and his wife an income of $750, the husband pays tax on $500.

2. If a husband needs help in his business and his wife dutifully works twice as many hours for half the wages he would have to pay anyone else, he can't deduct her meagre wages when computing his business income.

3. If a man marries a woman who has money and brains and she becomes his partner in business because it required both these assets, the revenue department has power—and in one case exercised it—to assess all of the income from the business as if it were the husband's income.

4. If a husband transfers money or other property to his wife—either as a gift or for valuable consideration — the Income Tax Act provides that he will continue to be taxable on the income derived from the property or for property substituted therefor. This will continue for so long as they are married and he is resident in Canada.

5. If a marriage is broken up and the husband does the right thing and makes payments to his separated wife for her maintenance, he must be careful how he arranges for the payments. Unless he executes a written separation agreement, drawn up by a lawyer expert in tax law and worded in exactly the right terms, the payments won't be deductible from his income.

6. If a husband fails to support his wife from whom he is separated and she obtains a court order for maintenance, the payments he makes to her are not deductible from his income.

CLOSE

Five gets you ten this big Ralph Backstrom of the Ottawa Canadiens is wearing a Montreal Canadiens' uniform before the governmental change too frequently. The starry forward of the Ottawas Canadiens was the thorn in the side of the McFarlands last night in a thrill-packed senior "A" battle that could have gone either way.

In fact it went both ways, with each team enjoying a two-goal lead only to have desperation offensives and strategy pay off in goals. It was one of theh best senior tilts played here this season, one that matched the thriller played by these clubs the last time they clashed.

There was nothing wrong with the McFarlands. They skated circles for stride with the starry Ottawa youngsters and had a decided territorial edge in play on them in the opening period. The defence might have lapsed a bit in that second heat when Backstrom stung home two goals to tie the score in less than a minute. It doesn't pay to let guys like this fellow and Carter stay on the loose too long. And don't forget this chappie Hartwell in the Ottawa nets is no juvenile when it comes to puckstopping. He stopped a few last night that would have beaten any other goalie in the league.

It looked for a moment like a bit of poetic justice had shaped itself. The first time the league met, our side had a 4-3 advantage with 45 seconds to go when Ottawa yanked the goalie and sent in their front line shock troops. It paid off with the McFarlands just a measly second away from victory.

It looked like a repeat last night with the situation in reverse when Coach Bep Guidolin yanked Larry with a half minute on the clock and Real Laroushe came through with the tying goal with bare seconds remaining. This after being two markers down in the period.

Came the overtime and Backstrom flashed out of the right corner fog and in 20 seconds had tucked the game away. It could have been the other way. The McFarlands came up with another hard-driving, hard-skating performance and would have deserved the win had it come their way.

This department is informed that a number of the fans are under the impression games with the Ottawa Canadiens are merely exhibition affairs. This is definitely not the case. Points won in victories or ties with the Canadiens count for the league teams. It is just as important to them that they defeat Ottawa as any other club in the circuit for the points count in the win column. The only difference is the Canadiens will not participate in the Eastern Senior "A" League playoffs.

MINOR HOCKEY

Possibly the greatest piece of organization since moppets first played organized hockey has just been completed by the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

It is believed an all-time record for puck-chasing youngsters has been set this season under President Bill Gault, Recreation Director "Red" Doran, and a group of loyal hockey-minded men who have taken over various duties.

A number of playing members of the McFarlands senior "A" hockey club and other athletes will coach some of the squads. They include Floyd Crawford, Minnie Menard, Paul Payette, Claude Carr, Jack O'Brien and Bill Boller, besides a number of others.

Eight squirt, bantam and peewee teams will take to the ice lanes, as well six midget squads and juvenile teams yet unnamed. The schedules have been published in part with the squirt and midget in today's editions.

The eight squirt, bantam and peewee squads will bear the names of the National Hockey League clubs, Rangers, Canadiens, Leafs, Black Hawks and Wings with the Barons and the Browns added. The six midget squads thus far have only team numbers.

Tonight the squirt and midget teams get into action with the Hawks meeting the Rangers at six o'clock; Wings playing Bruins, 6.30; Canadiens meeting Leafs at 7 and Barons playing Browns at 7.30. At eight o'clock the midgets play with Team 1 meeting Team 2. At 8.45 Team 3 meets Team 4 and at 9.30 Team 5 plays Team 6.

It is estimated that over 700 youngsters will be in the puck-chasing ranks this winter, and those do not include Speedy St. Louis' junior "B" squad, which, by the way, is rounding into shape and should be ready for their loop opener on November 26 against RMC in the Gananoque arena.

Too much cannot be said about men like Prexy Gault, Bill Hurst, Doran, Mel Richards, Harry Rollins, Boller Lloyd and a dozen or so others whose names are not at hand for the fine job they do year after year in the promotion of minor hockey.

Ron Stewart Already Marked For Pro Ranks

TORONTO (CP)—Ron Stewart, star halfback with Queen's University who led the Senior Intercollegiate Football League in scoring this year, may already be on a professional team's negotiation list.

It was reported here Tuesday night that Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, registrar of the Canadian Football Council, says he is "pretty sure" Stewart was placed on a team's negotiation list along with Gary Schreiber, a former teammate now with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Union.

It was understood that neither Schreiber nor Stewart were put on the college draft list last spring by Queen's University officials. It was not known what club had negotiated with Stewart.

Stewart scored 26 points on six touchdowns during the regular intercollegiate schedule this season.

The situation arises because both Stewart and Schreiber were left off the draft-eligible list submitted last spring by Queen's, though their classes graduated at the time.

Halter was reported as saying: "We're going to have to tighten up" the draft regulations so that all graduating college players are named to the list.

Simple Formula of Go-Get-Em With Plenty of Hard Work Is Coach Schmidt's Formula

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP)—The surprising Boston Bruins have mixed a simple formula of aggressiveness with plenty of hard work to surge to the top of the National Hockey League.

Seeking their first Stanley Cup championship in 15 years the Bruins have taken over first place with six straight victories—a feat unmatched by a Boston club for many seasons.

The season has a long way to go but the Bruins have surprised opponents, fans and even club officials by winning eight and tying three in 14 starts.

Boston hasn't any individual star but the Bruins do have flight. They lead the NHL in penalties with a total of 231 minutes.

Every Boston player must go all out on the ice—or face the wrath of coach Milt Schmidt.

"Last year I was just out of the player ranks and I wanted to be a good guy and apparently went too easy," Schmidt said. "This year it is different.

"There's hard work—and plenty of it—even when we are winning."

The hard conditioning workouts have paid off. The Bruins have not suffered any spells of severe injuries such as a year ago.

General manager Lynn Patrick credits several factors for the team's fine showing: (1) Schmidt; (2) the players' fine condition; (3) lack of any great number of injuries; (4) acquisition of four new players and (5) the successful conversion of Doug Mohns from forward to defence.

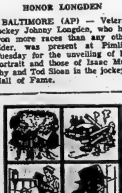
In the off-season, Patrick obtained defencemen Allan Stanley and Jack Bionda and forwards Larry Regan and Jack Caffery—all for $50,000. Stanley came from Chicago, Bionda and Caffery from Pittsburgh of the American League and Regan from Quebec Aces.

The shift of Mohns to defence has been an outstanding success. The rugged 23-year-old has bolstered the defence corps while adding punch on the offence. He has scored two goals and nine assists.

Two other reasons for the Boston success has been the brilliant play of goalie Terry Sawchuk and the team's fine defensive work in killing off penalties.

Sawchuk has allowed only an average of two goals a game.

Bruins get a chance to register victory No. 9 when they meet the last-place Black Hawks in Chicago Thursday night. Tonight, Montreal Canadiens, in third place meet the fifth place Rangers in New York.



Fights Last Night

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bolo-punching Kid Gavilan, 148, Cuba, booked and jolted his way to a unanimous decision Tuesday night over Chico Vejar, 157, Stamford, Conn., in a torrid 10-rounder at the Olympic Auditorium.

Both boys set a fast pace but Gavilan's impressively strong finish spelled the difference.

TWO-WEEK LAYOFF

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Gerry Brown of Hamilton Cubs said Tuesday a leg injury suffered in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game Monday night will keep right winger Brian Smith out for two weeks.

Dutchies Said Cocky Over Tonight's Game

KITCHENER (CP) — Harvey Johnson, coach of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, has a problem, but few other Ontario Rugby Football Union coaches will sympathize with him.

Johnson said Dutchmen are cocky and overconfident about tonight's game with London Lords for the Senior ORFU championship, but most observers figure they have every right to be.

Dutchmen won the first game of the best-of-three series 28-7 Saturday in London. A win tonight or in the third game next Saturday would give Dutchmen their third consecutive title. On top of that, Lords have yet to beat Dutchmen.

But Johnson insists Lords didn't play their best last Saturday and repeats "We are too cocky. It could be very bad. The whole team has got the cloud and could come down to earth with a thump."

The report from the Lords' camp Tuesday was that despite some aches and bruises they will field the game squad as last Saturday.

Five players—halfbacks George Elliott and Dale Creighton, guards Don Stiggwall and Harold Newton and end Bill Smith—were banged up last week but all are back in shape for tonight.

Indian Jack Jacobs, quarterback and coach, will lead the team again, backed up by Jack Conway, last-minute replacement from Wichita, Kansas.

Dutchmen also came out of Saturday's game with no serious injuries, a change after a hard-luck season which didn't manage to keep them out of first place.

Linemen May Make Difference In Sasky-Eskimos Saw-off

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Judging by the hardhitting, tight, defensive play in the first two games of the Western football final, the Interprovincial may make the difference Saturday night in the deciding game of the best of three series.

Football observers who watched the first two games of the Edmonton Eskimos-Saskatchewan Roughriders playoff are fairly well unanimous in stating they haven't seen such hard-nosed play in several seasons.

Surprisingly, serious injuries have not been suffered by the linemen of either club, although a number have been slowed up with charley horses. Every line man can show a lot of battle bruises.

The concensus, including opinions of coaches Frank Ivy of Edmonton and Frank Filchock of Saskatchewan and their line stalwarts, is that there will be no let up for the third game.

It's de or die for both clubs at 8:30 p.m. MST Saturday when they meet at Clarke Stadium in Edmonton for the deciding contest, a game that will either give the defending Grey Cup champion Eskimos a third straight trip to the Canadian final or send Roughriders into the final for the first time since 1951.

With the ballooning scores that have become usual in Canadian football in recent years, the low scoring in the first two games of the western playoffs is indicative of the unusually tough defensive line play that has taken place.

In the opening game in Regina Saturday, won 23-22 by Saskatchewan, the score was 8-6 for Eskimos after three quarters of bone-crushing line play. At Edmonton Monday night, when Eskimos won 20-12 to tie the series, the score was 7-6 in favor of Edmonton after three quarters.

Ottawa Canadiens Edge MacFarlands 6-5 In Overtime Senior A Thriller

Ralph Backstrom's Third Goal Breaks Five-All Stalemate; Gilbert Gets Pair for Macs

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

If Ottawa Canadiens' manager Sammy Pollock leaves starry Ralph Backstrom in the shadow of the Peace Tower next time they're scheduled to play the McFarlands, there'll be no tears shed in Belleville.

For the big forward added figurative insult to injury in Memorial Arena last night when he fired the winning goal in overtime after notching a pair in the third heat in the Canadiens' thrilling 6-5 victory over the McFarjanda.

Both teams blew two-goal leads in one of the best thrill-packed senior "A" tilts seen here this season. Backstrom scored in the second frame and Backstrom's pair in the third gave the Canadiens a 5-3 edge. Both leads were wiped out in desperation offensives.

The Canadiens' victory and Cornwall's 7-2 defeat of the Pembroke Lumber Kings has the league standing closer than your next breath. - Whitby leads with 14 points; Belleville, Ottawa and Cornwall are tied for second with nine points; Pembroke follows with eight and Kingston is in the cellar spot with seven.

Backstrom came out of nowhere to score the winner after 39 seconds of play in the overtime session. It was the hat trick marker for the big star. Scoring had the 1300-plus fans settled in their seats for the first-session when he whirled out of the right corner after a Canadiens drive and whistled the puck past Allan in the McFarland's net for the winner.

There was thrill after thrill in a game that fairly scintillated with fast, fine hockey. Probably the biggest "kick" for Belleville fandom was the last-second reversal of strategy that gave the Canadiens a 6-5 tie with the Macs in their previous tilt.

MINNIE MENARD
Started Rally

of helpers and Larouche, Guidolin, Minnie Menard and Muretich also being credited with assists.

Referee Dalton McArthur, of Toronto, had the game well in hand dealing out 18 penalties, with the squads splitting the sentences. Pelchat of Canadiens, was assessed a misconduct for grabbing the official.

Two penalties within the first two minutes gave the Canadiens a two-man edge and they quickly capitalized on it when Kowalchuk batted in Carroll's inbound at 2.31.

The McFarlands had a decided edge in the play after this and missed several chances. Midway through the period Lucien Gilbert took Larouche's pass at the point and blasted a sizzling, shoulder-high shot that Boisvert in the Canadiens' net hasn't seen yet. It was blazing fast hockey and Larin turned aside hot drives from Backstrom and Carter.

With four minutes left, Bep Guidolin spearheaded a McFarlands' drive, whirled, tolsed the puck to Gilbert and again the winger let go a sizzler that beat Boisvert after deflecting slightly off a Canadiens' player.

Keith MacDonald put the Macs two goals up after 23 seconds of play in the second period, his right-wing drive blistering along the ice to hit a corner.

The Canadiens hit a new, organized drive here and in a desperate drive scored two goals in less than a minute to knot the count. Billy Carter stickhandled neatly around McNeil and at 9.07 beat Larin cleanly at 8.38. Fifty-seven seconds later Annable picked up a loose puck at the blueline, weaved his way in close and hit the corner for the equalizer.

The game was more rugged in this period with Referee McArthur handing out seven penalties, one the misconduct to Pelchak.

Came the third period—and enter M'lsieu Backstrom. With the period half over and both teams travelling at top speed in an effort to break the stalemate the big forward suddenly unleashed a two-goal personal offensive that hit paydirt. He took Dumouchelle's pass just across the blueline and beat Larin with a drive that was partially screened by Bendiktenscens, one the misconduct to Pelchak.

Came the third period—and enter M'lsieu Backstrom. With the period half over and both teams travelling at top speed in an effort to break the stalemate the big forward suddenly unleashed a two-goal personal offensive that hit paydirt. He took Dumouchelle's pass just across the blueline and beat Larin with a drive that was partially screened by Benoit.

He scored one of the prettiest goals of the night four minutes later when he climaxed a brilliant goalmouth passing play with Balfour to give his team a two-goal lead. The McFarlands suffered through penalties in this frame, playing at one time with two men short.

The Macs drove hard in desperate sorties with Boisvert coming up with brilliant saves. Then Johnny Muretich slipped the fast-skating Minnie Menard the puck and Minnie streaked in, decked Boisvert out of position beautifully and netted the margin to 5-4.

The crowd was on seat-edge with the Macs carrying the play. Then came Guidolin's strategy, overtime and Backstrom's winning goal. That was it.

The Macs meet Whitby here Friday night in what should be another thriller.

Leafs Rated 2-1 Favorites Over Hamilton

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Aloueties have been installed as better than 2-to-1 favorites to defeat Hamilton Tiger-Cats here Saturday and sweep their two-game total-point series for the Big Four Football League championship.

But one fellow who doesn't agree with the odds is Doug (Peahead) Walker, coach of the Alouettes. He thinks the betting fraternity is underrating the Tiger-Cats.

"They can still take it all," says Walker. "We can't take them too lightly."

Walker ran his team through an hour-long practice Tuesday night and then had the players look over movies of last Saturday's game, won by Montreal 30-21.

NOT HAPPY

"Our ground attack wasn't working at all that day," he said. "We lost the ball four times on third down and we can't do that against a team like the Tiger Cats again."

All the members of the Alouettes were out for practice Tuesday night but Pat Abbruzzi, the league scoring champion, and Sam Etcheverry, the quarterback, were still showing the effects of injuries suffered in late-season games and aggravated slightly Saturday. Abbruzzi has a shoulder injury and Etcheverry has a bangedup knee but both are expected to be in shape Saturday.

A capacity crowd of more than 22,000 fans was already assured. Some 2,500 general admission tickets were put on sale Tuesday and were snapped up during the day.

No standing room will be sold for the game, which gets under way at 1 p.m. EST.

Bobby Hull Paces St. Kitts To 5-2 Win

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Teepees moved into a three-way tie for fourth place in Junior A Tuesday night with a 3-2 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cubs.

Led by centre Bobby Hull, who scored two goals and assisted on another, Teepees broke the lead in the first five minutes of play and never looked back.

Other St. Catharines goals went to Les Solomon, John McKenzie and defenceman Wayne Hillman. Hamilton goals were scored by Jerry Sullivan and Bob Mullin.

The game was rough throughout with referee Bill Balmer handing out a total of 28 penalties, 10 to Teepees.

Russian Athletes Handled Today Same as Germans in Hitler's Reign

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union uses sports and athletics as a riding crop on nationalism. In the hands of the Communist government, sports are an economical, quick and ready means of keeping close contact with tens of millions of people in their formative years.

Twenty years ago the man the Russians hate the most, Adolph Hitler, was doing the same thing in much the same way.

Few Russians have stopped to consider the similarity but it is there.

Visits to dozens of Soviet sports installations, contacts with sports officials and talks with athletes in Moscow make one point clear: that Soviet athletes, like German athletes under the nazis, are consumed with their way of life and the part sports play in it. They have no idea of changing it.

Under the present way of doing business there will be few if any defections among Russian sports men and women. Why should they defect? They make up a special caste in the communistic society. Russian athletes are not professional in the same sense as American baseball players, English soccer men, Italian bicycle riders or Canadian hockey players.

But the Russian government keeps its athletes content by giving them all the time they need away from what they call "work," for journeys to hundreds of sports events, for scheduled events, for training. The government provides equipment, competitions and coaches.

In Moscow, no Russian will admit that athletes are rewarded with better apartments, food, good jobs, clothing, higher rank or other amenities which make their life better and more comfortable than a great majority of other Russians.

But athletes do live better and by Western standards, they almost live well.

The address of the sports committee of the Soviet Union, the body which governs sports in the 15 Soviet republics, is Skatertny Pereulok R. Inside the grubby, yellow plastered building are filed thousands of four-by-six inch cards. Each athlete in the Soviet Union who has reached a small degree of efficiency has his card on file.

On the cards are, among other things, the athletes' name, age, specialities, address, marital status, usually his sports club or factory club affiliation, his best performance to date, titles and athletic record.

Also on the card is the athlete's party affiliation—whether he is a member of the Communist party or if he, like the great majority is a member of the Young Communist League, called the Komsomol. That seems to be an important piece of information.

Millions of records of lesser athletes are kept on file in committee branch offices in capital cities of the Soviet republics. As an athlete improves his card grows more impressive until it comes to the attention of officials and coaches who work under N. Romanov and F. F. Andrianov, the men who control the sports activities for the central committee of the Communist party.

There is no sports official in any country outside the Communist bloc who equals either of these two men in influence, prestige, power and position.

Many people realize the West cannot possibly afford or hope to compete on anything like equal terms with the Russians, Czechoslovakians and other Communist people.

Western victories over Communists in the past do not mean the same will continue, because every year governmentsubsidized athletics in the Communist world grow stronger at a faster rate than in the West.

Under the Communist system the best athletes in every sport in the Soviet Union are selected to represent the country in the Olympics and all other meets. Unless they are the very best they do not compete.

But that often is not true with Western countries and it will not be true at Melbourne in the Olympic Games.

For example, Russia has selected her 10 best boxers. Will the United States, Britain, Germany, France or Italy select their best?

They certainly will not. They won't send Rocky Marciano, Yolande Pompey, Archie Moore, or Sugar Ray Robinson.

Those fighters are the West's best but they are professionals. So when the Russians defeat the West's amateurs, remember that Russia's best will be beating the West's hundredth best.

Terry Sawchuk Hottest Goalie Last Week

TORONTO (CP) — Terry Sawchuk was the hottest goaltender in the National Hockey League last week and as a result, was the only one of the six regular netminders to better his mark in the league's efficiency ratings.

The three-time winner of the Vezina Trophy stopped 109 of the 115 shots fired at him in the four games for a .948 average, which boosted his season's rating six points and moved him closer to second-place Glenn Hall of Detroit. Hall has a .934 average.

Jacques Plante, the regular Montreal goalkeeper, was on the injury list all week but his .861 season's mark is still tops. Gerry McNeil filled in for Plante but recorded a poor .802 average as he was beaten 11 times out of 112 shots.

Lorne Worsley who has a .914 mark, was replaced by Johnny Bower in a game against Canadiens but the Habs fired 34 shots at him and scored four times, giving Bower a .833 average.

Ed Chadwick, rookie Toronto Maple Leaf goalie, is fifth with .909 and Chicago Black Hawks' Al Rollins has .907.

Mexican, Chile Riders Win

TORONTO (CP)—Mexican and Chilean riders captured first and second places in individual jumping competition at the Royal Winter Fair horse show Tuesday night.

Brig.-Gen. Humberto Marles of Mexico took first place with a time of 1:03.9 for the 218-yard, 13-jump course, one second faster than Robert Knoop of Chile.

Injuries Wreck Varsity Blues, Gaels Get Stronger Daily

KINGSTON (CP)—Day by day, in every way, Queen's University Golden Gaels are growing stronger and stronger while University of Toronto Blues are weaker and weaker.

Tuesday the Blues, who face Queen's Saturday in a sudden-death playoff for the Intercollegiate Rugby football title, found they had lost quarterback Harry Wilson with a broken leg, suffered last Saturday against Gaels. The extent of the injury was not determined earlier.

Coach Frank Tindall of Queen's announced, meanwhile, he expects to have end John Redfern back in action, bringing the team to full strength.

Blues have lost eight players as a result of injuries suffered in the last game of the regular schedule Saturday, which Queen's won 18-12 to force the playoff.

USED TO IT

Not that injuries are anything new to Dalt White, Toronto's freshman coach. He watched playing limp past him all season and still managed to get Blues within one game of an unbeaten record.

It started in the first game when Queen's and Toronto tied in the first half. The next Saturday quarterback Larry Hoyni was out and White fell back on Wilson, an underrated veteran who kept the starting spot even after the other two were ready to go again.

Through the season White lost five others at various times. The injury list now stands this way: Wilton, broken fibula; half Rich Bethune, broken ankle; tackle Bill Miller, broken arm; centre Bill McIntyre, torn knee ligaments; half Ross Woods, torn shoulder ligaments; centre John Chisholm, torn knee cartilage. Those were the players injured Saturday.

To replace Wilson White has Skrzypek and Joynt, Bethune's spot on the half line will be filled by Peter Maik, one player who has recovered from an earlier injury. Half Al Woog, who suffered an eye injury three weeks ago, may be ready to go in Woods' place.

Along the line White has Walt Schmida to fill in for Miller at defensive guard and will hope for a good performance from Pete Polycrase at centre.

Tindall, for one, isn't inclined to underrate the blues.

"They've got lots of tough replacements," he said Tuesday night. "They put some of their replacements in last Saturday and there wasn't much difference in the calibre of their play to that of the regulars."

Grey Cup Tickets For Clubs

OTTAWA (CP)—D. Wes Brown, secretary of the Big Four Football Conference, Tuesday night said the league playoff winner will get 3,485 tickets for the Grey Cup game.

Loser of the two-game, total-point series gets 2,485.

Montreal Alouettes enter the second game at Montreal next Saturday with a nine-point lead by virtue of a 30-21 win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the 10 opener at Hamilton.

Toronto Argonauts, as host club, get 2,747 tickets and Ottawa Rough Riders 1,748.

Here's how the totals are determined:

Each team gets a basic 1,000 from the Canadian Rugby Union, wite Toronto Argonauts, as host club, getting an extra 1,500.

In addition, the play-off winner gets 44.485—60 per cent of 7,475 tickets distributed by the Big Four among its member clubs.

The loser gets 30 per cent, or 1,485, and Toronto and Ottawa

Quebec League

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec 3nd Chicoutimi, the current Quebec Hockey League leaders, suffered setbacks before home crowds Tuesday night the Aces bowing 4-2 to Montreal Royals and the Saguenceens losing 3-2 in overtime to Trois-Rivieres Lions.

Montreal's win advanced the third-place club to within five points of second-place Shawinigan while the Lions took over fourth position by one point rom the idle Shawinigan Falls Cataracts.

Tiger-Cats Plan Changes for Saturday Game

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats today may be seeing Civic Stadium for the last time this year.

They'll leave Thursday for Montreal and the final game in their total-points series with Alouettes for the Big Four Football Union title Saturday. They are nine points down and carry with them the memory of two losses earlier this year in Molson Stadium.

Coach Jim Trimble may have received some inspiration from his just-completed scouting trip to Western Canada, where he watched the second game of the Western Conference final series between Saskatchewans Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos. Edmonton won the second game Monday 20-12 to tie the best-of-three series 1-1.

If Trimble did get any ideas, Tiger-Cats got the benefit of them today in their last workout of the season at Civic Stadium. Trimble is moving his players to Montreal early so they can become more familiar with Molson Stadium.

WON'T SAY MUCH

Trimble would only say he planned some "heavy changes." At any rate, Tiger-Cats will have two days in which to get used to the stadium, where Alouettes trounced them 32-14 and 82-14 this year.

Last Saturday observers figured Trimble would stick to a ground attack and try to keep the ball from Montreal. Trimble crossed them up and quarterback Tony Curcillo tossed three touchdown passes; but Hamilton still came out on the short end of a 30-21 score.

Saturday, nothing but an all-out offensive display, using every trick in the book, is likely to give them the 10-point margin they need.

PREDICTS SOME JUMP

MELBOURNE (AP) — "Chilla" Porter, Australia's high jumper, told reporters Tuesday he thinks he will jump seven feet in the Olympic Games—but he isn't certain he will win.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds, on a five-game swing through the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Western Division, may find the circuit tougher than they expected.

Greyhounds, third-place team in the Northern Ontario Association Southern Group, were all-beaten 8-1 by the Mercurys at Owen Sound Tuesday night in their first interlocking schedule contest. Mercurys are last in their league.

Windsor Bulldogs defeated Chatham Maroons 4-2 at Windsor in a Western Division game to jump into second place, in the Eastern Division, Cornwall Cheviers and Ottawa Canadiens moved into a second-place tie with Belleville McFarlanes, each notching wins.

Cornwall defeated the Lumber Kings 7-2 at Pembroke to gain its fourth straight win. Ottawa edged Belleville 6-5.

Ottawa's Bob Bay Trappers moved into a six-point lead in the NOHA by topping the last place Sault Ste. Marie Indians 7-4 at North Bay.

SCORING REARGUARD

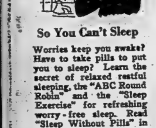
At Owen Sound, defenceman Kent Douglas was the big gun for Greyhounds with three goals. Others were by Jerry Reid, Ted Reid, Tom Wilson, Roy Lamb and Ed Lontitt. Marcel Clements tallied for Greyhounds.

Frank Battaglia scored the first two goals for Windsor and linemates Walt Pawlychuk and Gord Haidy added one apiece in the last frame. Jim Connelly and Cooper Leyte were the Chatham scorers.

Cornwall was paced by Gerry Plamondon and Bernie Limoges, who scored two goals each. Pete Payette, Moe Savard and Kitoute Joanette added singles. Jim Maxwell and Bruce Giesebrecht were the Pembroke marksmen.

Ralph Backstrom scored an overtime goal at Belleville to give Ottawa its victory. He scored two goals during regulation time. John Kowalchuk, Bill Carter and John Annable got the others. Lorden Gilbert scored a pair for the losers with teammates Keith McDonald, Minnie Menard and Real Larouche scoring one apiece.

Trappers got their goals in the first two periods, by George Gosselin and Walt Atanas. Laurie Peterson tallied the lone Indian goal, in the final frame.



SETS SWIM MARK

NAARDEN, Netherlands (AP)—Ada Den Haan, a 15-year-old high school girl, Tuesday night set an unofficial world record of 2:46.4 for the 200-metre breast-stroke swim.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find out what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, Nov. 15, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Your Mars is the only planet in suspicious position now. However, you can supply the impetus and encouragement needed to push ahead. Keep emotions under control.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—If you refuse to "just drift", but urge yourself forward, you will be pleasantly surprised at the good results you will obtain—even in new activities. Go forward!

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Fine rays for worthwhile endeavors—manufacturing, selling of artistic and theatrical interests, research, sciences, education. You can make good headway by hard work, unselfish motives.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Day offers opportunities and encouragement in all worthwhile undertakings if you remain serene and apply your talents and skills to the business of achievement. Don't just work; work hopefully.

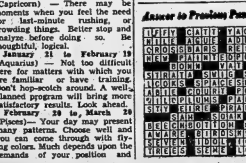
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Generous influences for worthwhile undertakings, personal and management; not for impatient times, informal people or poorly planned action. Accent your cleverness.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—No unusual planetary help now, but with your intelligent know-how, you can make much out of little. Aggressive tactics may be necessary in some matters. Seek your share of offerings.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Ponder sufficiently about the way, and at what speed you must function as you start day's schedule. It will save time, retracing steps, bring better, bigger results. Have faith.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Familiar matters, work for which you have training or special talent can succeed now, but it may take extra effort, patience, and a certain amount of aggressiveness.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Avoid emotional scenes and recklessness now. Calmness, serenity of mind are conducive to more accurate results. But push forward reasonably.



December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—There may be moments when you feel the need for last-minute pushing, or crowding things. Better stop and analyze before doing so. Be thoughtful, logical.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Not too difficult here for matters with which you are familiar or have training. Don't hop-scotch around. A well-planned program will bring more satisfactory results. Look ahead.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your day may present many patterns. Choose well and you can come through with flying colors. Much depends upon the demands of your position and how you regulate and handle matters.

You born today are endowed with energy, determination and power. You are most enterprising—at times bold and daring. Each success seems to spur you on to others, and the greater the obstacles the more determined you are to succeed. You are usually calm and practical-minded; reserved in manner and courteous but may be susceptible to flattery. You are guarded about revealing secrets, jealous, sympathetic. Strike a happy medium in all things for better living and happiness.

FRIENDLY GESTURE ON SINAI FRONT.

An Israeli soldier lights a cigaret for a wounded Egyptian soldier captured in the victorious Israeli offensive launched during the campaign to the Suez Canal, the injured of both sides were taken to the same hospitals and given the same treatment.

Tourist Business Now Major Income Producer for Indian, White Alike at La Ronge, Sask.

LA RONGE, Sask. (CP)—Nickel and copper fishing lures have coaxed enough Giant Lake trout to make this northern Saskatchewan settlement a famous fishing centre.

Today, the possibility of finding nickel and copper deposits of commercial value is coaxing hundreds of prospectors, geologists and big business to the area, 170 miles north of Prince Albert.

The residents aren't waiting for something big to happen. They are developing the tourist business that has become a major income producer for Indian and white alike, and the commercial fishing and trapping responsible for the establishment of La Ronge.

BUSY COMMUNITY

All the themes of Northern development find expression here. Frame buildings house the natural resources department staffs who figure out catch limits for fish and furs and issue hunting and fishing licences.

A radio tower provides communication with the "outside." Nearby are the summer headquarters of the "smoke jumpers" the fire-fighting parachutists, the fish filleting plant and fish hatchery.

Also in the cluster on the shores of Lac La Ronge are the Hudson's Bay Company post, free-to-coated trading posts, log cabins and white, frame churches.

On the waterfront is the main water base of the Saskatchewan government airways, whose bush pilots form an integral part of nearly all further operations.

La Ronge is the jumping - off spot for RCA and commercial airliner craft. Every hour of the day planes can be heard as they bring prospectors, tourists, and nurses, missionaries, trappers, traders and Indians to lonely spots in the 125,000 - square - mile expanse of glacier-pitted ancient rocks, countless lakes and streams, muskeg and bush that make up northern Saskatchewan.

HISTORIC SPOT.

History is buried in the sandy soil here and some northern portage trails are older than Toronto's Yonge street or Winnipeg's Portage avenue. But village talk is of the future.

The village, founded in 1940 by the Northwest Trading Company, 100 years after trading started in the area, feels its future lies in the mining camps and mineral pockets that surround Lac La Ronge, 430-square-mile lake that spreads north, south and east of here.

Thousands of claims have been staked and 11 companies have reported finds of copper and nickel. One has a mine producing 100 tons of ore a day.

La Ronge is near the geographical centre of Saskatchewan, but it is at the end of the road—a gravelled highway to Prince Albert that opened the tourist industry almost overnight.

Prince Albert, the province's northernmost city, is the end of the steel, but there are hopes that the mining possibilities will attract a railway to La Ronge.

"Tourism is the mainstay of our economy," said Stan Kowalski, a pool room operator elected village overseer after incorporation a year ago. "But eventually it will be mining."

MECCA FOR ANGLERS

Three - quarters of the 7,360 sports fishermen who come here annually are from the United States.

Today there are 15 lodges and two hotels. Rates are low and a good meal can be purchased for $1. A garage was built and two outboard motor repair shops opened. A half-dozen cafes also were opened.

Everyone benefited. The Indians and Metis now make $10 to $12 a day all summer guiding fishermen to where they can haul in 30-pound lake trout.

The population of La Ronge is about 300 but it varies almost daily. Half the residents are Indians and Metis who head for traplines in the fall and spring and spend days on the water in summer.

Money is spent freely. Miners earn $600 a month or more with overtime and production bonuses. An Indian can make $400 to $500 or more a season on the trapline and $250 a month in summer as a guide.

The hotel beer parlor and the combination dance hall-movie theatre are packed nightly.

Conservation officer Jim Cloutchier says one entertainment is unique. "Three or four businessmen get together and throw a shindig for the whole town including drinks, turkey and all the trimmings."

Religious life centres around an Anglican church, served by Rev. Stanley Cuthand, a Cree, a Gospel chapel and a Roman Catholic church. Nearby is a five-room school. An outpost hospital provides for medical facilities.

OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has announced it will offer at least 10 full tuition scholarships to qualified Hungarian refugee students. Columbia President Dr. Grayson Kirk appealed to other American universities to offer "free classrooms" to Hungarian students who have fled Communist terror in their own country.

KIWANIS ANNIVERSARY

MADOC — Madoc Kiwanians were hosts to their wives and girl friends on Friday evening to a turkey dinner in Bluey's dining room on the occasion of their eighth anniversary.

Chairman for the evening was the president, K. S. Nicol.

Following the dinner John Bristol proposed the toast to the ladies with Mrs. Artele responding. Bob McDougal, of Peterborough, comedy magician, provided part of the entertainment. Miss Fonseca, of India, a member of the high school teaching staff, gave an interesting talk on the life of Mahatma Ghandi.

The speaker was introduced by Carl Howse, principal of Madoc high school, and thanks extended to Miss Fonseca by Ray Binch. The lucky number on the door prize was won by Mrs. Ken Holmes, the gift being a vanity case.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

A pleasant party was sponsored by the Home and School Association and "B" Company of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment held recently in Madoc Armouries.

Both public and separate school children attended.

Lt. H. D. Sears was master of ceremonies for the evening and Mrs. Howse was pianist. Ghouts, witches, cowboys, fairies, rabbits, Indians and fairy impersonations joined in the fun and were later judged for prizes. The judges were: Lt. Sears, Mrs. Farrow and Mrs. W. Forestell. Prize winners were as follows: Pre-school girl, Pam Hawthorne; boy, Gregory Murray. Grades 1 and 2, girl, Judy Pigden; boy, Tommy Burnside. Grades 3, 4 and 5, girl, Barbara Lough; boy, Gordon Jackson. Grades 6, 7 and 8, girl, Sharon Bailey; boy, Lynn Hagerman. Comic girl, Marcan Livingston; comic boy, Keith Connor.

Prizes were donated by: C. R. Johnston, Ray Burris, K. S. Nicol, R. Dafoe, Ed. Armstrong, T. H. Rupert, Kel Kincaid, W. E. Connor, Geo. Dervolin and Mrs. R. C. Jackson.

An interesting film was shown by Gordon Pigden. All the children were given treats, donated by Madoc Legion, Madoc Kiwanis, W. Bateman and the Home and School Association.

VILLAGE OBSERVES REMEMBRANCE DAY

There was a fine attendance of the citizens of the village and community at the Remembrance Day service held in the armouries on Sunday morning. Music was provided by the Madoc band and the high school's band. The president of the Madoc Legion, No. 363, John Bristol, presided, with the Rev. J. F. Lane of Trinity United Church, taking the prayer, and Mr. Earn Taylor, Deputy District Commander, giving the oration.

Following the service members of the Legion and "B" Company marched to the Cenotaph in Thompson Memorial Park where many wreaths and floral tributes were placed in memory of loved ones in World Wars I and II. Last Post and Reveille were sounded by William Aylesworth.

Miss Margaret Derry, Reg. N. of Ottawa Civic Hospital, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Derry.

George White, M.P., and Mrs. White arrived home on Friday after a 14 weeks' trip around the world.

Mrs. Harry Breakall, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Breakall of Oshawa, visited Mrs. Robert Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Taylor, of Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Bristol on Sunday.

Mr. S. S. Ashley is a patient in Kingston General Hospital.

Dr. Grant Fraser is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Miss Rutherford of Toronto, spent the weekend with her friend, Mrs. W. Hawthorne. Bill Hawthorne, of Toronto, also spent the weekend with his parents.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was walking along with Pods Simkins, just walking along, and some man went past pulling a little girl by one hand, and she was crying and trying not to be pulled, and the man said, Quit that racket and come along nicely, or you will be sorry.

Being a big man with a mad face, and glasses said, Hay, G, he's kidnapping her.

Oh boy, he's dragging her to his car, I said. Let's follow him and take down the license number, and we'll get the reward when they catch him, I said, and Pods said, Yeah, let's follow him.

Which we started to do, and the little girl yelled, You let me be or I'll tell a policeeeman.

Stop that dragging and cut out that noise, confound it, the man said.

And he gave her hand a extra mad yank, and Pods said, He's going to take her to his house and then send the ransom note and demand 500 dollers or sits.

Maybe even 5 thousand or sits, I said. Oh boy, think of the reward, this is our lucky day.

And we kept on following them, and the little girl yelled, You're a big ugly man and I hate you.

Being real kidnapping talk, and I bet then the little girl broke away from him and ran up to some lady, yelling mamma, poppa was hitting me, and the man said to the lady, That's the last time I take care of this brat for you or anybody sits.

And they all got in a car and drove away, and I said, Oh boy, I bet he'll be glad if somebody really does kidnap her.

"Memory's Wall"

An Autobiography by Lady Eaton

. . . the Nostalgic Story of Half a Century of Canadian Life. Lady Eaton looks back on a full, rich life and draws from a wealth of exciting experience to paint a vivid picture of this country's growth. From childhood in a small Ontario town, she came to Victorian Toronto, where she met and married John Craig Eaton — a man destined to become head of one of the world's largest department stores and to be knighted by King George V.

"Memory's Wall" relates the fascinating growth of a nation-wide enterprise and recalls a broad acquaintance with many of the world's distinguished citizens.

An astute businesswoman, Lady Eaton was for many years an active director of the Company; and as a busy and devoted mother, raised a family of six children. Through her patronage of the arts and sciences and her tireless work for human welfare, she has become one of Canada's best-known citizens.

Copies of "Memory's Wall" will be on sale on November 15, 1956. Order your copy now.

10,000 Hungarians Mass To Protest Deportations

Demonstration Comes After Kadar Rejects Neutrality

VIENNA (Reuters) — Ten thousand Hungarian workers today demonstrated in front of the parliament building in Budapest in protest against the deportation of Hungarians by the Russians, according to reports reaching United News e of the demonstration, which took place this afternoon, was given to a reliable source here during a telephone call to the Hungarian capital.

The source here also was told that Kadar authorities today released 30 young Hungarians who were to have been deported to Russia.

Telephone contact was broken off at this point and the source received no further details of today's demonstration.

The demonstration came after Janos Kadar, Russia's puppet premier of Hungary rejected neutrality as a future policy for the country and refused further dealings with Imre Nagy. Premier Nagy as long as he remains in the asylum of the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

Kadar set the policy of his regime in a statement to a workers' delegation, broadcast by Budapest radio, which showed clearly that he has no intention of walking out of the Soviet-dominated Warsaw pact or giving up the close link with Moscow which set off the revolution three weeks ago.

Kadar claimed he had reached an agreement with Soviet military authorities in Hungary that "no one may be deported," and declared that the government would "hold no one responsible for participating in the uprising of the past three weeks."

This contradicted a Budapest radio broadcast Wednesday which said the Soviet Army was deporting Hungarians to the east in sealed freight cars in a desperate effort to stamp out revolutionary influence.

Kadar said that a neutral Hungary—which Nagy had proposed during his brief period in power —would be "exploited by the imperialists and lead to tension in international political situation, he added, does not favor a policy of neutrality.

As for the man the revolt had made premier briefly, Kadar said an agreement with Nagy "could be possible only if he changes his attitude and comes out of the (Yugoslav) embassy to negotiate." Nagy took refuge with the Yugoslavs when the Russians poured into Hungary and Budapest to suppress the revolution.

Soviet Embassy Fails to Get Hungary Films

LONDON (AP)—A British newsreel editor said today that the Soviet Embassy had tried—and failed—to get hold of films that could be used to discredit Hungarian freedom fighters.

G. T. Crawley, London editor of Pathe News, told reporters "the films could incriminate thousands."

Cummings said the newsreels, taken by Hungarian cameramen at the height of the fighting in Budapest, "show Hungarians shooting at the secret police in the streets of Budapest and setting fire to the hated Russian tanks. Some reels also show Russian troops fraternizing with Hungarians."

Today's Chuckle

During a severe electrical storm the other night, Johnny, age 5, thinking he might be awake and frightened, peered into his room.

He opened his eyes and mumbled, "What's Daddy doing with the television set now?"

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Very warm air is still moving into southwestern Ontario, giving early morning temperatures in the mid-50s, with scattered showers and thunderstorms. However, in Northern Ontario cold windy and snowy weather will persist.

The cold air should push over the whole province by Friday morning, with snowflurries accompanying it.

Three Men Die In Auto Crash Near Aurora

TORONTO (CP) — Three men were killed today at nearby Aurora when their car swerved off Highway 11.

Raymond England, 33, Charles Lloyd (Nick) Burnside, 56, and Ross Everatt, 22, died in the crash. All were employees at a Broadford groceteria.

Provincial policeman Bill McDonald said he was investigating an earlier accident at the spot when a car came off the road 100 yards from his cruiser.

The car, he said, swerved across the highway at the top of a small hill, plunged into a wide ditch and smashed against a tree. He found all three victims in the front seat.

Police said the cruiser's headlights were shining on a car overturned in a ditch and the driver of the second car may have lost control of his auto as he turned to look at the first wreck.

The three men were returning from a banquet in Toronto and it was believed England was driving.

England, father of two children, was the son of Percy England, former mayor and present alderman of Owen Sound.

Cop, No Laws Now Laws But No Cop

EAU CLAIRE, Mich. (AP)— This southwestern Michigan town of about 500 persons, which for five months had a policeman but no laws to enforce, now has laws—not no police.

For two years city elders "worked on a new set of ordinances to replace the old set which unexplainably had "disappeared."

But when they approved the ordinances, the village council fired the town's only full-time policeman.

They said they couldn't afford his $3,600-a-year salary.

Extends Age Limits For Anti-Polio Shots

WINDSOR (CP)—Dr. Mackinnon Phillips, Windsor's health minister, Wednesday announced that anti-polio shots will be available next year to all persons between three months to 19 years.

Vaccine for children from six months to 18 years, Dr. Phillips said, and by the end of 1957 an estimated 2,000,000 persons in the province will have been inoculated. Vaccine will be supplied free to every municipality in the province.

Girl, 10, Born With Hole in Heart Now Normal After Delicate Surgery

EDMONTON (CP) — Ten-year-old Susan Beattie has come home from the University of Alberta Hospital with a new lease on life.

Since she was born, the blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beattie of Edmonton had a hole between the right and left sides of her heart. She underwent heart failure in a few years.

Delicate surgical work to close the opening, the attendants about three weeks ago, aided by Canada's first successful heart-lung pump, which allowed doctors of the university's cardio-vascular unit to stop Susan's heart for about eight minutes.

While normal in other ways, Susan tired easily before the operation and was especially susceptible to colds, which she found hard to shake.

She returned home Wednesday as normal as her eight-year-old sister Barbara and her three-year-old brother, David. Her doctors said they expect she'll be back in school in about a month.

The heart-lung pump allowed the surgeon to stop Susan's heart completely and drain it of its blood. This kept the blood out of the functions of the heart and lungs, but kept it circulating in the body, about the size of a 25-cent piece.

Doctors explained that while such an operation might be successful if the heart was not stopped, the surgeon would be taking a chance. He would be working in a tiny area of the heart, because blood would still be coursing through the heart, in addition, there would be the possibility of more than one hole.

CANADA'S QUOTA UN POLICE FORCE READY TO GO

Magnificent Will Sail With Troops This Week

HALIFAX (CP)—The big movement of troops from Calgary to Halifax where they will board the aircraft carrier Magnificent on duty in the Middle East, was slowed today, when fog enclosed the nearby Shearwater airport where the troop-carrying Flying Boxcars have been landing.

The 13th flight landed in Moncton, N.B., this morning and the 14th troops prepared to travel here by bus.

The last flight of the RCAF airlift of 960 troops left Calgary Wednesday night and was due here late today. Airport authorities said fog was expected to lift shortly afternoon.

If the airbase is still closed the remaining flights, carrying the final 150 members of the Royal 22nd (Queen's Own Rifles, will likely land at Moncton or Greenwood, N.S. Air Force officials said they expected all troops to be in Halifax before late tonight.

Meanwhile the job of, preparing the aircraft carrier Magnificent to sail as readied for the headquarters was moving ahead and indications were that the ship will be ready to sail this weekend.

DAMAGE SLIGHT

Damage to the vessel after her homeward journey stormy Atlantic crossing from Glasgow was said to be slight. The ship's refrigeration plant was still "by Nov. 21" but several of guns and ammunition and loading of supplies was reported ahead of schedule.

Lt.-Col. C. P. McPherson, commanding officer of the battalion, arrived by an overland special train from Ottawa Wednesday just a few minutes ahead of the ninth planeload of his troops.

He said he was "elated and very proud" to have his battalion chosen to join other nations in the formation of an international police force in the Middle East.

The navy said the Magnificent will arrive in the Middle East area as a "strictly non-combatant troopship" which means she will carry no armament.

RESUME ROUTE MARCHES

The army said troops will resume training activities when they have all arrived, probably today. Lt.-Col. MacPherson said training consists mainly of "lots of fresh air and route marches" and added the force is as already are in good condition.

Troops that had arrived earlier Wednesday lined up for disease-combating inoculations and vaccinations. The men are being billeted at No. 1 Personnel Depot. Windsor Park and the Wellington Barracks.

Majority Reported Supporting Eden's Middle East Policy

LONDON (Reuters) — Some of the sternest critics of armed intervention in Egypt are conceding now that Sir Anthony Eden appears to have the support of a majority of the people for the policy he pursued.

Latest public opinion polls, suggest, in fact, that his action in Egypt has actually boosted government prestige.

The Liberal newspaper News Chronicle and the mass-circulation Daily Mirror, which both vigorously opposed the armed action in Suez, today are foremost in commenting on this development.

The Daily Mirror in an editorial says the campaign which it and others conducted "has not convinced the public of the perils of Sir Anthony Eden's policy on Suez."

"The tide of public sympathy at present flows with Eden—though not the oil," the paper adds, though it sticks to its opinion that the government's policy was "disastrous."

The News Chronicle editorial says:

"For the first time in 12 months the Conservatives are ahead. The political importance of this change in public opinion, even if it proves temporary, should not be underrated."

But it too says it remains convinced the British-French ultimatum and subsequent attack on Egypt were "indefensible."

Belief that the tide of public opinion was moving from the parliamentary Opposition toward the government was expressed also Wednesday night by Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the Labor party. Gaitskell is reported to have confided this to a private meeting of his parliamentary adherents, suggesting that one reason was the apparent view of many people that the prime minister had stopped a war.

Expect Friday Cabinet Meet To Commit Canada's UN Force

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet is fol expected to meet before Friday morning to commit officially Canada's 1,200-man force to help keep the peace in the boiling Middle East.

There was always the possibility that swift-moving developments could make this impossible, in which case the cabinet could be called into session on an hour's notice.

But following a long-distance telephone conversation between Prime Minister St. Laurent here and External Affairs Minister Pearson in New York Wednesday night, one source said it now was felt there would be no developments that would warrant another cabinet sitting before Friday morning.

Mr. St. Laurent and his ministers met for more than an hour Wednesday but decided to delay signing the order committing the troops until more information is forthcoming from the UN police force commander, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Ottawa and from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations.

"We are awaiting the green light," the prime minister told waiting reporters.

He said that up to that time arrangements had not been completed with Egypt for reception of the UN force.

But later in the day Mr. Hammarskjold, after consultations in New York, ordered the first of UN troops to move from their staging area near Naples into Egypt.

The secretary-general left later for Rome and conferences with Gen. Burns and then will go to Cairo. Gen. Burns is to go to New York for talks with Canadian officials before advising the Canadian government on disposition of the Canadian force. It is after this advice that the cabinet is expected to meet to sign the order-in-council committing the troops.

Signing of the order would be followed by the calling of a special session of Parliament to sit within 10 days. Thus such an order by Friday's cabinet meeting would bring Parliament together Nov. 26. The special session would be asked to approve outlay of funds.

Lead Us Not To Penn Station Children Pray

RED BANK, N.J. (AP)—"Harold be thy name.

"Give us this day our jelly bread.

"Lead us not into Penn station."

Those sentences, Red Bank supercilesident of schools Dr. M. Gregg Hibbs says, have been heard often in the children r e t i t e d the Lord's Prayer. He blames mumbling and coagulations for the revised text.

Hammarskjold Arrives in Rome To Meet Burns

ROME (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold flew into Rome today for one-de-airfield conference with Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the United Nations international police force.

A special briefing room with maps of the Middle East had been prepared so that Hammarskjold and Burns could between them complete plans for the new force, which has been assembling at the Capodichino staging area near Naples.

An Italian Air Force plane sloed by, ready to fly Hammarskjold to Capodichino for an on-the-spot inspection as soon as he and Burns finished their discussion.

Burns was to proceed directly from the airport to New York for meetings with UN officials there.

WARM RECEPTION GIVEN POLE BY SOVIET LEADERS

In Moscow to Discuss Polish-Soviet Relations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's highest leadership turned out today to give a full-scale reception to Wladyslaw Gomulka, hailed as a leader Tibilat during Stalin's regime and now the spearhead of Poland's drive for equality with Moscow.

Accompanied by a large delegation of military and economic advisers, Poland's new Communist leaders came to Moscow to discuss future Polish-Soviet relations.

Informed sources in Warsaw stressed that there was no likelihood of Gomulka suggesting any Polish withdrawal from the Warsaw pact, such as that proclaimed by Hungary during its brief spell of independence. Instead, they expect Gomulka to ask for an agreement to limit the number of Russian troops stationed in Poland and for his regime to be given the right to approve any movement of Soviet soldiers inside Poland.

Will Aid In Adoption Hungary Orphans

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government will do all it can to facilitate adoption of Hungarian orphans by Ontario citizens, Welfare Minister Cecile said Wednesday night.

In an interview, he praised way Hungarian refugees in the province have rallied to the aid of their countrymen in their revolution homeland.

He said there have been 116 applications for adoption from the Windsor area alone. The Ontario government plans to work with the federal government and Hungarian refugee organizations to find foster parents for orphans.

No Beginning and Will Be No End For Universe Scientist's Theory

LONDON (Reuters)—A British scientist says he has developed a theory which he believes will be good for belief in creation.

The theory would also destroy Einstein's theory of relativity.

Father of the new theory is Dr. E. R. H. Bondi, professor of Cambridge University, known in its simplest forms to every schoolboy, by which there is a four-dimensional universe in which three commonly-understood dimensions of space — length width and height—were inseparable from time.

Holmberg argues that space is only three-dimensional after all, but must include another, a perspective geometry.

This theory he introduces velocity as an independent and separate dimension. Velocity is a property of speed, in which the distance covered is divided by the time required to cover it.

According to his reasoning, points in space and velocities are related in such a way that if two observers were separated in space by a large distance, each would appear to the other to be moving at a speed proportional to that distance.

Egypt Won't Ask Red Volunteers If Troops Leave

UN Rushes Units to Suez To Forestall Russian Move

MOSCOW (AP) — An Egyptian Embassy spokesman said today Egypt will ask that Soviet volunteers be dispatched to Egypt only if British, French and Israeli troops do not withdraw promptly.

He said he did not know of any time limit on the British-French and Israeli withdrawal.

Egypt, he added, wanted to abide by decisions of the United Nations.

Wednesday an Arab diplomatic source said Egyptian President Nasser had instructed Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed el Kony to request the Soviet government to send military volunteers immediately.

All nations at the Egyptian Embassy clammed up immediately after that report, and refused comment until today.

The spokesman today apparently made his statement on direct instructions from Cairo. He said there "appeared to have been some slight misunderstanding" by the Arab diplomatic source. He insisted that a formal request for volunteers had not yet been made to the Soviet Union.

LONDON (CP)—First units of the United Nations Middle East police force landed in the Suez Canal today, rushed in on urgent UN orders in a move to forestall the threat of Communist "volunteers" being poured into the trouble area.

The first Swiss airliner loaded with 45 Danish troops landed behind the Egyptian lines at Abu Suweir at 9:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. EST). A second plane carrying 47 Norwegians landed at 10:02 a.m., Abu Suweir is on the west side of the canal near Ismailia.

A third plane carrying equipment for the international police force landed 45 minutes later. The Swissair planes were chartered by the UN to move the police units and supplies to Egypt.

Arrival word of the planes was received at UN advance area at Capodichino, Italy, near Naples. Swissair officials said the aircraft were making a quick turnaround, but it appeared unlikely that a second contingent would be ferried to the Canal Zone today.

MORE TO COME

Maj.-Gen. Burnsgard's takeoff, the international force at Capodichino had swelled to 467 men of four countries—Denmark, Norway, Colombia and Canada. More are to come, when the force finally totalling perhaps 10,000.

There still was no word immediate of a decision to appoint or the exact task of the police force in Egypt. This appointment appears to be worked out by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who left UN headquarters, New York Wednesday night for Rome and Cairo.

Takeoff of the first units had been stalled for two days by technical and political difficulties.

The departure came on urgent orders from Hammarskjold, who acted shortly after a report from Secretary-General Pearson that he had asked the Soviet Union to send to Egypt immediately the thousands of Russians reported to have "volunteered" to join the Egyptians against British, French and Israel forces in Egypt.

TO DO WHAT CAN

Before leaving New York, Hammarskjold said his mission was "to do what I can to assist setting up and getting going a United Nations emergency force in Egypt."

"It is the first experience of its kind," he said yesterday. "It is the first truly international force. Let us hope it will succeed. Let us hope we will succeed in establishing peace and order."

Brothers Had Little Sense; 'Badger' Had

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maldonado's brothers had a habit of using their bedroom. They called Maldonado's brother Manuel, who lives next door. After inspecting a portable closet, Manuel said:

"It must be a'badger. Badgers bite. We'll have to kill it."

The brothers pressed against the closet door to keep the animal from escaping. But the badger turned out to be a skunk. The animal died, but left memory lingers on. The Maldonados spent the night with brother Manuel.

Cypriots Kill British Soldier; Woman Slain

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — One Briton was shot to death and another wounded on Cyprus today as anti-British rebels intensified their campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece.

Wednesday night a 46-year-old Greek Cypriot woman was slain by unidentified gunmen at Episkopi, a village on the south coast.
